Harden Pleads for Allied Aid Against German Bolshevism

Upholds Vanderlip's Views on the Poverty of Europe and Justifies Desire of Rhine Valley to Escape Socialism by Setting Up a Separate Republic—New Order, Beginning With Destruction, Ripe for Wilson's Ideas.

BERLIN, June 12.

THE new order of Europe's economic foundation and political superstructure begins, as does all new building on earth, with destruction. Only after wrecking and clearing away the debris of what has become rotten can young life find room. Bolshevism, whose aim is not anarchistic nor communistic in the primitive Christian, Utopian sense, but is the socialization of the means of production of land, machines, seeks by the atomization of old property rights and of the social classes sucking privileged power from them, to clear quickly the necessary room for the new structure.

Bolshevism socializes every industrial enterprise in which more than 1,000,000 rubles is invested and every business whose working capital exceeds 10,000 rubles. Bolshevism takes their political and electoral right from the capitalits, gives only the smallest rations to the bourgeoisie, and by the mass production of ruble notes—which it is said has reached half a billion daily—depreciates the money capital still in circulation to the low level of the French assignat era, when 10 gourmets in Paris paid 500,000 francs for a good dinner because the franc had sunk to a thousandth part of its original purchasing power.

As the result of the formerly undreamed-of huge war expenditures, the paper money system has bloomed exotically almost all over Europe. The German mark has shrunk to a quarter of its former value, the Austrian kronen has sunk still deeper, and, since the poverty and indebtedness of states and communities will demand taxes eating up 70 per cent of all incomes and verging closely on the confiscation of capital, there can be no thought for the present of aggregations of capital on a large scale here. So, without the employment of Lenine's violent means, a condition is certain in which everyone who can possibly work will be dependent on the fruits of his labor.

Scriptures Foretold League.

Political atomization looking to the dissolution of empires and state unions has begun in our East on the bridge between Asia and Europe. In Russia the two basic instincts of primitive Christianity, the disestablishment of the state and the expropriation of personal property, are first to see the light. In the same hour, as if with a finer ear than the others who had listened at Time's loom, President Wilson coins the longing for an inner and outward freedom—not merely for a formal freedom—and for peace, justice and humanity, a longing which France was the first to feel.

Sully and Rousseau, Grotius, Kant, Washington and other wise men had felt, in effective formulae, the people's right of self-determination guaranteed by a league of nations.

Whoever would like to see his experience confirmed by the Bible, let him read the prophecies of Joel, Ezekiel and Jeremiah and the testament of the 12 patriarchs wherein he will find the announcement of the unity of peoples and of the new league whose laws are in the hearts of all. Or look in your newspaper, which almost daily brings all manner of news about the tendency toward communism and the splitting off of parts of the German empire, and ask yourself whether it is probable that the force which can produce such movements will suddenly disappear without trace into the boundaries of another country.

Prussia Never a Nation.

Is a third Rhine league in process of birth? Is the conclusion to be drawn that the Rhinelands can be chained only by force to Prussia and that, after every defeat, this state in 1919, as in 1806, tends to incline toward the Gallo-Celtic side? No. What is now taking place in the Rhinelands and coloring public opinion has, in the first line, nothing to do with national feelings. There never was a Prussian nation, there never was a bond of common feeling binding men of the Vistula and Pregel provinces, the Silesians and the men of the Rhinelands and the Moselle Valley closely together.

The Prussians were conquerors and colonizers and comported themselves everywhere as if in their colonial territories. Prussia became a great and seemingly unbreakable mutual benefit association. And since industry became the all-dominating form of kultur, the inhabitants of the Rhinelands, although basically differing in temperament from the old Prussians, no longer hesitated to go into this rich, income-yielding, mutual profit association.

The Rhinelands were separated from the agrarians and estate owners of the East by their wish to feed their industrial labor as cheaply as possible and by the efforts of the agrarians to sell their cattle and grain as dearly as possible by eliminating cheap competition. Shrewd calculators succeeded in bridging this class of interests in the era of commercial treaties and tariff fights and brought about mutual tariff insurance, from which grew an industrial-agrarian alliance, and, at the same time, a league against democracy and Socialism.

Thirst for Power.

This coalition for years dominated Germany's inner political life and harmfully influenced Germany's foreign policy, too, insofar as any serious, steady, foreign policy was at all possible under William II. For just as the land owners of the East stubbornly resisted every economic intimacy with countries of cheap agricultural production, so among the great industrials of the West, from year to year, as the tempo of their production increased, grew the craving to diminish the fields in the world markets of older and richer industrial and commercial Powers.

Prussianization was complete. Nowhere flamed war enthusiasm higher than in the Rhine provinces. Nowhere else did hate against the enemies assume such grotesque forms nor were more rubber stamps with the blasphemous "Gott strafe England" motto used. Every thought of kinship with Western peoples disappeared. Their unity of will with the junkers was complete, not only in antipathy and mistrust for the Kaiser, whom both found too black, too lacking in courage, too conciliatory toward modernization and too vain and greedy for applause, but also in their war aims.

Germany was to lay hands on the most important sources of raw material in Europe and draw the lands of the East, from Finland to beyond the black earth of the Ukraine and deep into Turkish territory in Asia Minor, so firmly into its sphere of power, that it could determine their production and tariff policy to its own advantage. The stretch from Antwerp to Bazias was to be under the pinions of the Prussian eagle. "Then one could live."

The war-time efficiency of Rhenish-Westphalian industry earned and merited great admiration. The strongest captains of industry, Thyssen, Stinnos, Duisberg, Ehrhardt and others live there and if Krupp lacked a dominating head its place was taken by privileges, tradition and tireless seeking after every possible technical improvement.

How Blockade Was Defied.

Despite the blockade, all essential army material was supplied. Iron was substituted for copper, silk and paper for cotton, oil was obtained from coal, substitutes were found for

Mrs. Hammar, Back From Red Cross Meeting in Paris, Says Our Troops Are Popular in Germany

WOMEN AND CHILDREN "CRAZY TO GET INTO U. S. ZONE"

Head of Organization in St. Louis Returns Greatly Impressed With Its Work in France and With Its Program for Greatly Widened Activity Designed to Increase the World's Health.

Gallantry and Consideration of Our Boys Attracting Many Interlopers—Predicts Early Intermarriages if Force Is Not Soon Withdrawn—Even French Fraternize With Population and Only English Hold Aloof.

By Marguerite Martyn.

HOW the Red Cross is not to rest upon its laurels after having so triumphantly met its great war emergency, but is to continue upon a bigger, broader, world-wide scale its work of mercy and alleviation of pain, will be announced at a mass meeting at the Odeon tomorrow night by Mrs. Frank V. Hammar, just returned from a conference at Paris of executives of the Red Cross from the five founder nations of the society.

At that meeting a peace program was proposed and indorsed not only by representatives of the existing national branches of the Red Cross, but by the Ambassadors from all other countries of the world (except the present outlaw nations), which were invited to join the association.

The chief aim and purpose of the program is the promotion of health, the eradication of disease, with first attention to the preventable diseases, such as tuberculosis, typhoid and malaria. Education, campaigns of sanitation, organizations to cope with epidemic, instruction to every school child in first aid and nurses' aid, are some of the methods to be put into immediate operation with, at length, the centralization of all medical knowledge and resources of the world, to which all people shall have access, so that medical advice shall become free instead of privileged.

SKETCHED UPON HER RETURN FROM FRANCE BY

Voluntary Work Where Necessary

There will be two other speakers at the mass meeting, Dr. Livingston Ferrand, chairman of the central district, A. R. C., and Maj. George W. Simmons, chairman of the Southwestern district, who recently returned from an inspection of Red Cross work in Russia.

Mrs. Hammar, as one of the group of five executives of the American Red Cross, which included Henry P. Davison, chairman of the national council; Elliot Wadsworth, Col. Olds and Mrs. W. P. Draper of New York, summoned to represent America at the world conference, will present the new plans in detail to Red Cross workers and supporters, who are urged to attend the meeting, and to executives who have been summoned from all over the Southwest district. Mrs. Hammar declined to make public beforehand these details beyond saying she did not expect the former working units can be held intact without the pressing demand of war and that voluntary workers, as has been the policy of the Red Cross in the past, will not be asked for service except where it really is necessary. Her tour of seven weeks afforded Mrs. Hammar the first glimpse she has had of effects of Red Cross work at the front, though she has had so much to do with causes back here behind the lines. Continuously, since the first months of the war, when she directed those first workrooms for Belgian relief before the Red Cross was organized for effective work here, and ever since as chairman of the St. Louis chapter, she has been on the job, seeing the work grow and grow to what proportions we know. Upon her return she has this to say:

Evidence of Work Well Done

"People who sacrificed, struggled and worked and gave would find themselves absolutely gratified and repaid could they see what I have seen of the effects of their efforts. I did not get to Rumania, Serbia, Italy and other countries to which the Red Cross work extends, but what I saw in traveling through Belgium, Northern France, occupied Germany and England was upon a scale so huge as to be beyond our comprehension back here so far behind the lines.

"The Hotel Regina, occupied as American Red Cross headquarters, is the busiest spot in Paris. You look down upon the foyer and it is a mass of color and movement, in which you can pick out the uniform of almost every nationality, typifying the range of our Red Cross. The revolving doors are whirling ceaselessly.

"Under the Eiffel Tower, on the Champs du Mars is another busy spot, where men brought to Paris in relays of thousands now for three days' leave make their headquarters. And I do not know what our army officers would do without the Hotel Louvre, reserved for their use by the Red Cross, since under ordinary circumstances hotel accommodations are impossible to get in Paris.

"The deference shown the Red Cross uniform, which I wore for the first time, was a revelation to me," she continued. "The blue tabs on the collars, which in this country mean nothing but over there are instantly recognized as the identification of an executive, meant preference everywhere.

"The appreciation of the American Red Cross by the French is everywhere apparent. There seems to be not the slightest jealousy, as there might be in a nation so proud, of another nation being credited with all this good work. Out in the devastated areas you come upon expressions of gratitude that are absolutely beautiful.

A Touching Story of Appreciation

"A touching story was told me by one our woman workers who had assisted at the birth of a baby in one of the rude shacks the refugees put up on their former home sites. 'Your emblem ought to be not a cross, but a star,' the poor mother said to her. 'A star because a star has signified hope since the Christ Child was born, while the cross is the emblem only of sorrow.' And if I were to mention the name of the woman who told of this experience as her own you would recognize it as one of the best known in this country and there would be another angle of the story.

"Everywhere army officers told of the wholesome effect of our women workers.

"Let there be the presence of but one American woman in a camp and immediately there is a different atmosphere. One told me of a certain pay day in an advanced position where no women workers had arrived; of how there was an unrestrained carousal. On the following pay day, when just one Red Cross canteener had arrived upon the scene, everything was quiet and well behaved. And the men admitted it was the presence of the American girl that had made the difference.

"Too much cannot be said of workers, men and women, too, in all the other relief organizations. The Y. M. C. A. activities are simply superb, on a splendid scale and beautifully done. The Y. W. C. A. work is specially popular. One of its new undertakings is an American school for French brides of American soldiers who are detained after their husbands have sailed. The Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army—every one of them deserves utmost commendation. How the Salvation Army attained the fame and vogue it did is remarkable. They have not more than 300 workers over there. They just seem instinctively to have known how to handle the men.

Photographing Every American Grave

"Much of our work is being completed now. The photographing of every American grave in France is a task just about finished. We have undertaken certain reconstruction work and some of it will be needed for years to come. Much of the land that was fought over will be untillable for 15 years, they say, although one observes individual spots rehabilitated in a way to make you marvel. You will see a piece of sheetiron and a dugout rigged up as a shelter and a crop flour-

E. M. House, the Man Before, Not Behind, the President in Paris

Wilson's Buffer and Peacemaker Whose Business It Has Been to Calm the Troubled Water When the Storms Arise—Hopes to Be America's Representative in League.

By CLINTON W. GILBERT,

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, June 9.

COL. HOUSE gave a little luncheon the other day at the Hotel Crillon here in Paris to the American newspaper correspondents, the men who have been seeing him every evening at 5:45 during the peace conference and whom he wishes to take to London with him, where, as he says, he will "go on the road" with the league of nations.

"I should like to have it made a law that when a nation goes to war its governors should be compelled to serve in the posts of danger."

Some one asked, "And when you say that do you mean not only the rulers, but the men behind the rulers?" The Colonel laughed.

This is the unreal Col. House No. 1. The Colonel is not "the man behind the President," but the man before the President. Mr. Wilson is too big to be made to owe much to any other man. Col. House is not the President's creator, but the President's buffer. He is the man who makes relations possible between Mr. Wilson and humanity. It is almost not to much to say that the peace conference would have ended in something more than gestures of withdrawal if Col. House had not been here to sympathize with the men who found the President hard, unreasoning, impracticable, a gospel saint or an autocrat. He is the complement of Mr. Wilson, the human side of an austere intellect, the man before the President.

The "Real" and "Unreal."

A book has been written entitled "The Real Col. House." I haven't read it, but I suspect from what I have been told that the person you will find in it is "The Unreal Col. House." About the real Col. House no book could be written. He is too simple. It is precisely because he is so simple that people make a mystery of him. The world refuses to believe in simple things. It demands other explanations. It gets them in the shape of long volumes.

The French thought they had another explanation and intended to give the Colonel a dinner, probably as to the best friend of France in the American delegation. The Colonel converted the French dinner into one for the American delegation and then absented himself from it. The unreal Col. House is a mystery.

Colonel and the King.

The unreal Col. House is actuated by the common human motive of variety. I remember a distinguished and envious Democrat saying to me in Washington apropos of one of Col. House's visits to Washington as the representative of the President: "Oh, those British are clever! They put House to bed in Buckingham Palace. They let him stick his feet under the same table with a King. And poor House, he falls for that sort of thing. Oh, those British!"

Probably the British did that very thing. But after seeing Col. House for several months in Paris, I cannot imagine anyone to whom it means less to stick his feet under a King's table and sleep in a King's bed than it does to Col. House.

In this vanity of the unreal Col. House—a man recently from Washington asked me—"Has House got the big head? They say so, and that biography of his bears it out. That book ought to have killed anyone about whom it was written."

At Paris House has been the only man of second rank who has had members of the Big Four rushing constantly to see him. Clemenceau, Orlando, Chinda, perhaps not Lloyd George, but certainly such important men as Balfour, Cecil, Venizelos (by many rated as the ablest man at the peace conference), Smuts (another of the great). But if a critical press is right, House has never forgotten that he was merely the buffer, the man before the President; not the man behind the President; the man who sits in the outer office of greatness.

Why We Went to Cornell.

In the biography of Col. House a story is told of how he came to go to Cornell University instead of Yale, for which he had prepared. It appears from the book it was the Colonel's profound democracy that led him to the younger and comparatively fresh water institution. This story seems to raise a question in comparative democracy. The Colonel told the story himself at the luncheon of how he went to Ithaca. He told it not as a correction. He seems quite unconcerned about the "real" Col. House.

"Morton, a son of Oliver Morton, and I were chums in prep school. It was through him I got my first contact with politics in the Hayes-Tilden election fight. Morton couldn't quite pass the Yale entrance examination, but did squeeze through at Cornell. I wanted to go to the same college with him and went to Cornell, too."

The Colonel is, doubtless, a genuine democrat, but not a prig about his democracy. Our well-known friend the unreal Col. House, is a prig.

The unreal Col. House is the man behind the President, a mystery, vain and a moral prig. He is also a great statesmen. The man I have seen at Paris is not a great statesman. He does not believe in statesmen. He says, with a rather religious accent:

"I would rather have the opinion of the masses of the people on one of these big questions than that of all the statesmen in Europe. At any rate, it is not affected with any selfish interest."

That reads a bit priggish, I must admit, but I think the Colonel believes it or at any rate thinks that he does, and what the Colonel thinks he thinks is unusually free from coloring matter.

"A Well-Informed Man."

I once asked a Democratic Senator in Washington about Col. House. At the time I had never met him. The Senator responded after hesitation: "He is an exceedingly well-informed man." Certainly not the description of a great statesman. Great statesmanship consists in having opinions and little information. Wasn't it one of our greatest statesmen here who asked a newspaper correspondent: "What was it, Lower Silesia or Upper Silesia that we have just given to the Poles?"

The Colonel doubtless is an exceedingly well-informed man. He has had opportunities since Mr. Wilson became President of acquiring information such as no other man in the world has enjoyed. The Colonel has had something more than opportunities. He is interested. He absorbs facts. He is curious. Some one described him as a blotting paper personality who absorbs facts and holds himself up before the mirror of Mr. Wilson's mind.

Probably the capacity to absorb facts is inconsistent with the capacity for great statesmanship. People look at our President and say so. Col. House takes up information and remains unchanged. He has stuck his feet under the table of Kings and he remains a little Texas real estate trader. He has as much background as blotting paper. He reduces European statesmanship to the terms of Texas real estate trading. He interprets Fiume and Orlando and the Jugo-Slavs in the terms of the man who has a corner lot in Punkville and is fighting to get his price for it from the great railway company that is going to start a new line and convert Punkville into the capital of the league of nations. He has seen everything.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Restriction of Immigration.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I had hoped to see an editorial covering the present "bill" at Washington, D. C., for the restriction and limiting of immigration. This subject should be of interest to the American public and especially important to American labor. A few of the many reasons for restricting immigration may well be given.

Before the outbreak of the world's war, immigration to the United States averaged some 1,250,000 yearly. Of this number 30 to 40 per cent returned and finally made their homes in Europe. Some 25 to 30 per cent were the so-called "birds of passage," who came during times of prosperity and left during times of depression. This class took every opportunity for their advancement, to the detriment of others, causing wages to remain relatively low and preventing the improvement of conditions of the permanent laboring class.

"There is a natural tendency for races having similar language and customs to live together, work together and to be employed in the same industries, and in these later years there has been a segregation in the larger cities and larger industrial centers. For example, of the total Slovak immigration to the United States in 1914, Pennsylvania attracted 44 per cent, as well as 13 per cent of the Ruthenians, 23 per cent of the Lithuanians, and nearly 20 per cent of the Italians. From 1900 to 1910 the native-born population of Pennsylvania increased only 16.3 per cent, while foreign-born increased 46.4 per cent. How long will it be, if no restrictions are made, that the entire racial composition of that State will be changed? In the earlier immigration there was an inclination for the following of the old occupations, yet in New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Illinois there were in 1910 47 per cent of the foreign-born then residents of the United States—clear proof that most of our immigrants add to an already overcrowded city life, and, despite our efforts, never reach the farms.

American labor unions have opposed immigration and approved every "bill" for restrictions. Finally, the recent U. S. Industrial Relations Committee, which studied the question, stated: "That the great mass of non-English-speaking workers, who form about one-half of the labor force in the basic industries, has done much to prevent the development of better relations between employers and employes."

Obsolete methods (attempted suppression of the red flag, free speech, press, etc.) will not establish the militaristic regime here. That was a light that signally failed in Germany.

Price of Coffee.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In a St. Louis evening paper we have an example of the poor excuses for the high cost of living. Here it is:

Chicago, June 5.—The shortest coffee crop in 20 years, due to heavy frosts in Brazil; a 45-per-cent drop in the visible supply of coffee in the United States and the increase in value of Brazilian money today were given as the reasons that the price of the popular beverage will not come down soon. * * * An official of the American Coffee Roasters' Association, who declined the use of his name, also predicted a further advance in price until the standard grades sell at 50 cents a pound.

The price has already, etc.

If that official was afraid to give his name, we have reason to believe that his report is untrue and is merely an excuse for an advance in the price of coffee. We all know that where the coffee secion in Brazil is located they are not subjected to frosts.

A step should be taken to ascertain the reason the commissioned trust are increasing the prices of our foodstuffs daily, and I think the Government could force them to explain.

H. H. COOPER.

The Daylight Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The daylight saving scheme is simply and entirely changing the working hours from 7 until 4—instead of 8 to 5, or 6 to 5 instead of 7 to 6 for long-hour workers. The biggest per cent of toilers prefer the one hour sleep and rest in the morning, rather than getting it in the evening. Most people sleep until compelled to arise. They also are not so prone to retire at their earliest, consequently daylight until 8:30, they will be about and abroad at least as long after daylight as they were before the changing of time, thereby losing the most restful and refreshing hour in the morning, because conscious of it. There is not one out of a thousand who spends the hour in the evening different than they did under the old natural time. To many it is irksome, causing impatience and irritation waiting for dusk to come.

B. NATURAL.

SHALL GERMANY WIN?

Shall Germany out of defeat win victory? Shall militarism reign?

This is practically the issue involved in the Knox resolution. If there is no peace covenant to guarantee peace and just settlements of the problem growing out of the war then the advantage in the European chaos will go to the strongest and the most cunning. To be sure the peace treaty ties Germany's hands on paper, but of what avail will be the terms of peace if there is no organization of nations to keep the peace? If Germany suffers for a time from the weaker nations' scrambling for advantage she is still the strongest among all the nations on the continent. In a general struggle for gain she will unite and reorganize her forces for defense and offense. Europe will be plunged into general war and militarism will again revive as the only hope of national survival. That we will again be drawn into war is inevitable. The last clause of the Knox resolution, while it meant war again, dealt with politics.

Senator Lodge, trying to devise a way to postpone the covenant of peace, said that European adjustments could be made by commissions. But wherein is a group of commissions better than a general covenant? What power will they have to enforce their decisions? Where will there be any guarantee of justice, or of peace which rests upon justice?

The leaders of the league to enforce peace were right in declaring that the Knox resolution gave aid and comfort to the enemy and menaced the peace settlement now on the verge of accomplishment. Its success would spell German victory. They were right in inaugurating a nation-wide campaign for its defeat and the success of the peace covenant—the only hope of permanent peace.

The resolution will be thoroughly discussed. It ought to have the fullest discussion. We believe it will be defeated. We believe a majority of the Senate is sane. But its defeat should remove all obstacles to peace. If a majority of the Senate votes for the peace covenant a minority of one-third should not block the will of the Senate majority and the will of the people.

THE MOTOR-TRUCK TOUR.

The demonstration tour of 50 motor trucks through Missouri and Illinois the past week, with St. Louis as the point of origin and destination, is in many respects the most ambitious enterprise in our motor-truck history. The itinerary of some 400 miles has presumably presented a wide variety of conditions. The "log" of the journey, when compiled, should furnish fresh and valuable data on this new method of transportation which should be of interest to the entire country, and especially to the Southwest.

As a transportation agency the motor truck, of course, has already arrived. In the United States, however, its utility has been restricted to the short haul, though one long-distance experiment in the East was very successful from the two vital standpoints of time and costs. And many of the large cities, including St. Louis, have regularly established motor-truck service with some of their suburbs.

The probable result of this St. Louis experiment should be to banish the short-haul limitation and to introduce the motor truck as a practicable and preferable means of transportation, regardless of distance.

Obviously, the motor truck is a good road vehicle. The good road is a prerequisite. Given that, its economic advantages do not have to be argued. It is free entirely of that burden of overhead inevitable to the steam road and the trolley. It liberates the farmer, too, from the fixed time of the train schedule, enabling him to consult his own convenience in the delivery of his products.

Someone has defined transportation as the "hallmark of civilization." The metaphor need not be too closely examined. Everybody knows that the more and better transportation a country has the richer and fuller is the life of its people. One unpardonable crime of which the American people have been guilty has been their more or less acquiescent dependence on the railroads while the great rivers have been left to waste away their incalculable worth in idleness. That day of ignoble content is about ended. The demand for joint river and rail service is now a national clamor and it will not cease until complied with.

Along with the river and the railroad, the equal of either, perhaps, in capacity to serve the people, is the good road, and here in the Southwest and Middle West the motor truck now comes vigorously in to swell and strengthen the argument for the building of good roads.

OUR DISMAYING STRAWBERRY CRISIS.

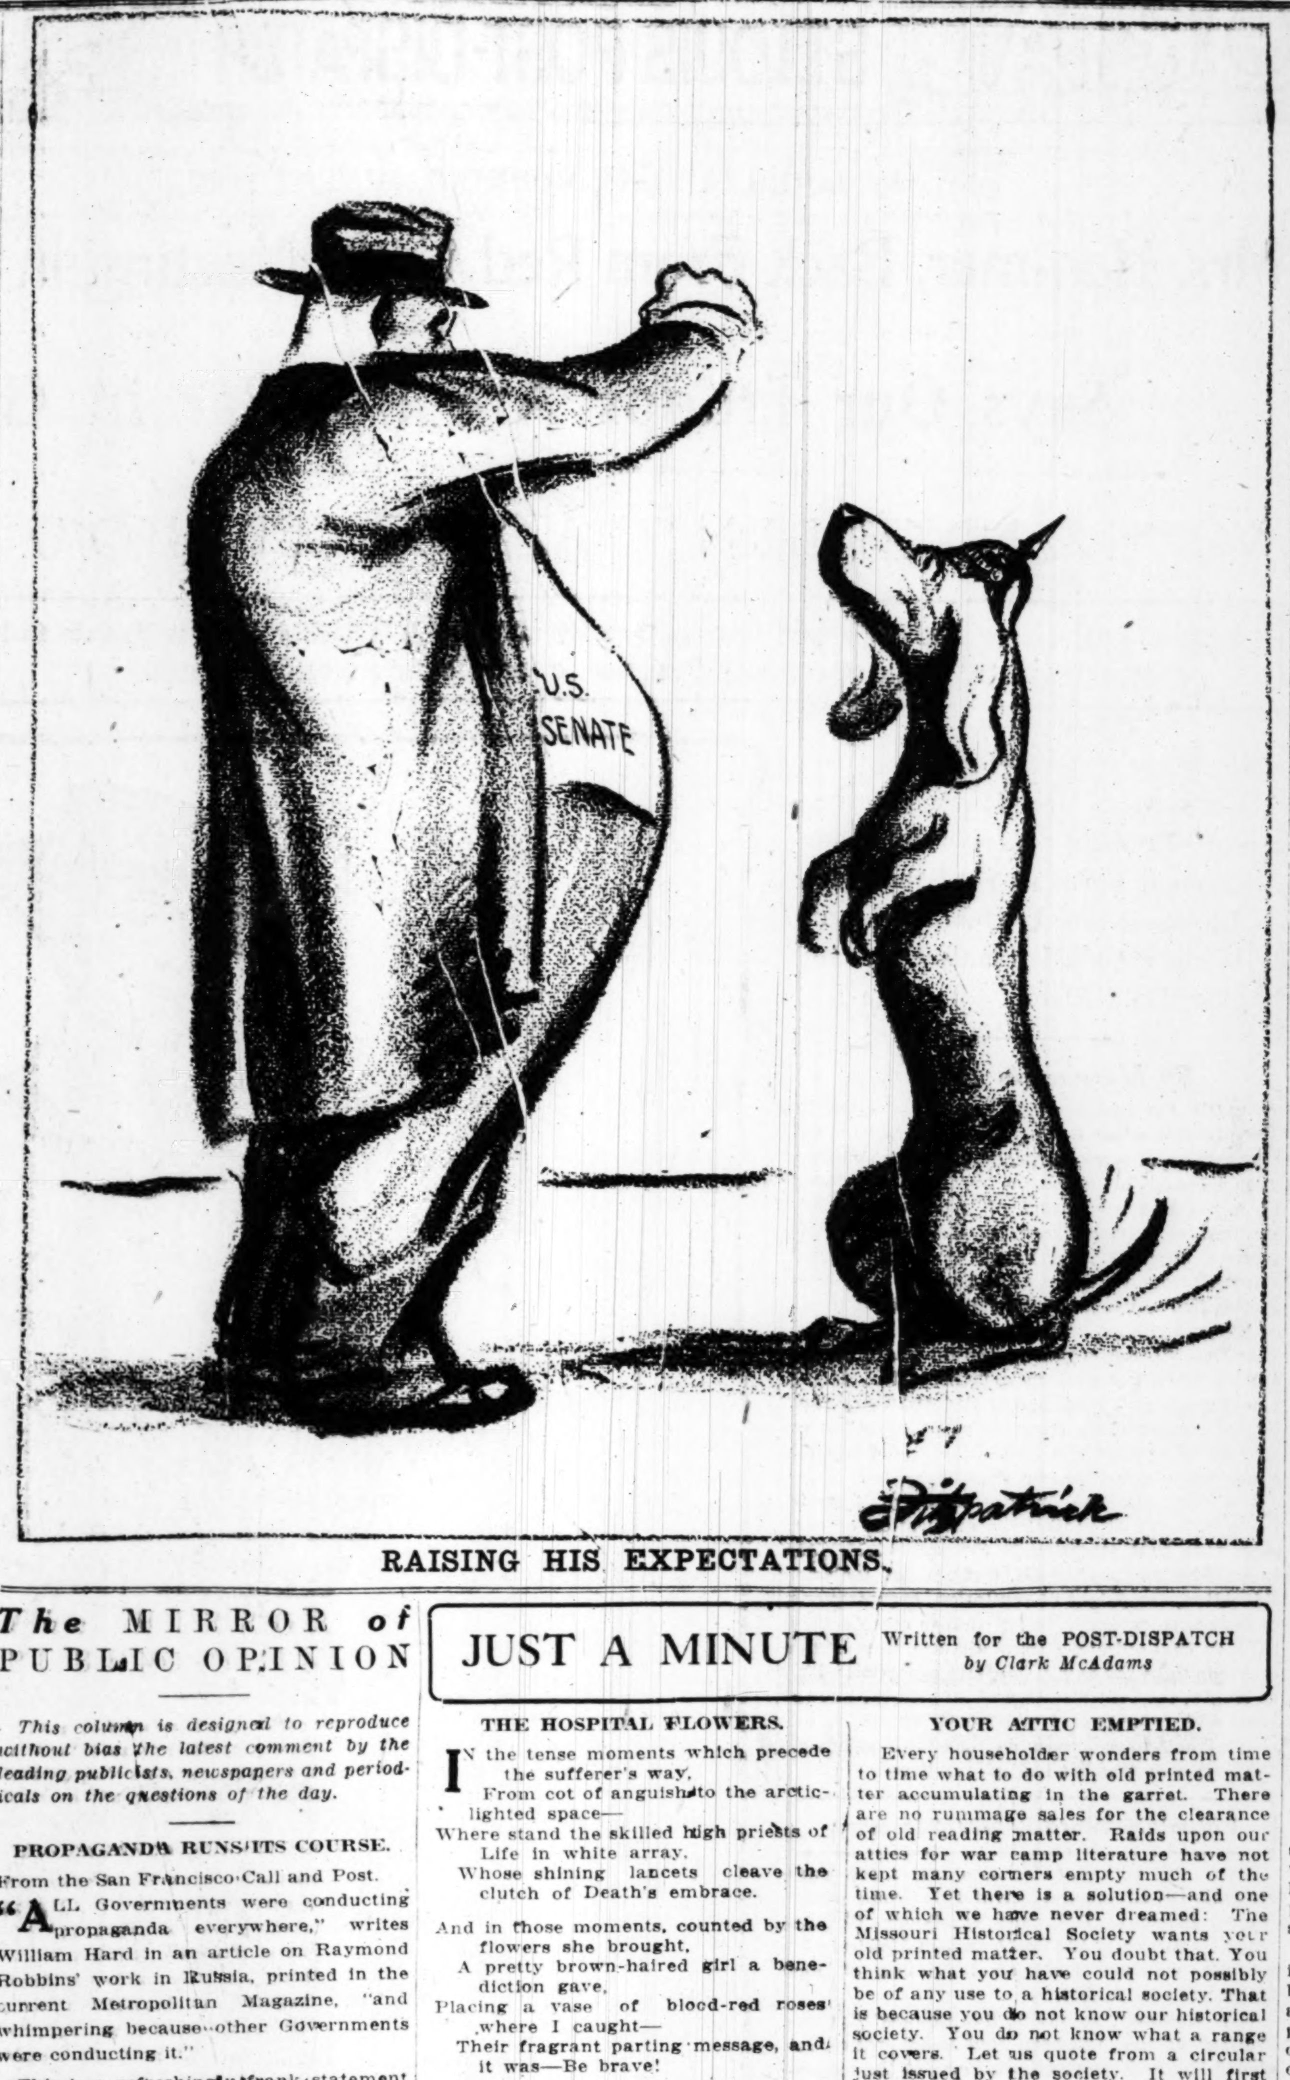
What's the matter with the strawberry?

The advance in the price of this fruit of almost perfect qualities has been viewed by the public with intense alarm and also with mystification. Some advance in price was to be expected along with the war advance in other things, but we did not ration our populace to feed fresh strawberries to the starving Belgians or supply the strawberry deficiencies of our heroic allies. Why, then, has there been a six or seven fold increase in its price?

While the appreciative ultimate consumer of strawberries is ever increasing, the grower of strawberries is constantly diminishing. The Federal Bureau of Markets tells us all about it in a seasonable review. Of 16 states growing early strawberries, the most northerly of which is Missouri, the acreage devoted to the crop has declined from 98,825 acres in 1916, to 51,255 acres in 1919. In forecasts the total crop in these states this year was estimated at 2,350,640 crates of 24 quarts each, instead of 4,332,218 crates in 1918, 6,920,369 crates in 1917 and 8,278,215 crates in 1916.

Five years ago 14,553 carloads of strawberries were shipped from these states. Last year only 7383 carloads were shipped and this year the amount will be much less. Last year Missouri shipped 620 carloads, but up to late in May this year had shipped only 213 carloads. Tennessee has shipped 850 loads instead of 1121 last year. The Missouri acreage devoted to strawberries has declined to 4370 acres. At this rate, how long will it be before strawberries cost $1 a box?

One of the easiest fruits to raise, barring, of course, late frosts, hail, drouth and excessive rains, strawberries are one of the most difficult to market. Picking them is one of the most laborious of all farm tasks. Their exceedingly perishable nature demands the very minimum in time between producer and consumer. If the professional strawberry grower is turning to other things—even President Nelson of our State Board of Agriculture has tired of it—the amateur grower must come to the rescue. Strawberries at from 25 to 40 cents a quart are a perpetual invitation to the consumer to set out a few dozen plants in his back yard—assuming he has a back yard.



RAISING HIS EXPECTATIONS.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

PROPAGANDA RUNS ITS COURSE.

From the San Francisco Call and Post.

"ALL Governments were conducting propaganda everywhere," writes William Hard in an article on Raymond Robbins' work in Russia, printed in the current Metropolitan Magazine, "and whimpering because other Governments were conducting it."

This is a refreshingly frank statement of a fact which is now obvious to everyone who reads. There has never been such assiduous propaganda, nor such assiduous lying and concealing of truth, as every embattled Government, not excepting our own, has been carrying on. Soon after the war began a blundering German publicity campaign was started here. An English and French publicity campaign was also started, and as it was managed with more tact and had a better cause behind it, it was more successful. Yet the truth was not always told, and the whole truth was never told.

Our own Government, after we entered the war, allowed such material to be printed as would encourage us to keep on with our great enterprise, but did not allow us to learn any discouraging or disillusioning facts. It treated us like children who had to be fed on fairy stories. We gathered around Uncle Sam's knees at bedtime and Uncle Sam told us stories about fairies, goblins, ogres and beautiful maidens rescued from dragons by golden-ringleted Princes in white satin, mounted on black chargers. If we believed these stories we grew up to be good and noble, and if we did not believe them we were spanked.

The Russian revolution afforded the most fertile field for propaganda of all kinds. The allied Governments have played upon the facts about Russia like a pianist on the black and white keys. It was adverse propaganda in allied countries that killed Kerensky's Government; it was adverse propaganda that made it possible for the Governments of Great Britain, France, Japan and the United States to send troops on a wickedly imperialistic mission into Russia; it was adverse propaganda that counteracted in the growth of the Bolshevistic power; and a deliberate campaign of misrepresentation has been carried on for some time, through the only news sources left open, in the interests of Admiral Kolchak's autocratic ambitions.

There has been one unlooked-for and saving result. People no longer believe what they are officially told. They do not even believe the truth if it has a governmental stamp on it. Propaganda has corrupted the sources of information, but it has defeated its own ends.

THE HOSPITAL FLOWERS.

IN the tense moments which precede the sufferer's way,
From cot of anguish to the arctic-lighted space—
Where stand the skilled high priests of Life in white array,
Whose shining lancets cleave the clutch of Death's embrace.

And in those moments, counted by the flowers she brought,
A pretty brown-haired girl a benediction gave,
Placing a vase of blood-red roses
where I caught—
Their fragrant parting message, and it was—Be brave!

In later hours as I came back to life again,
With senses tangled, vision vague,
still ether-bound,
Those lovely roses smiled with smiles
that eased my pain,
And in the air their perfume floated
all around.

But as I grew in strength their's seemed to pass away—
They slowly waned, each petal's
ashen curl I'd see;
So they bequeathed to me this memory of their day—
A posied story of the Cross—they died for me.

Sir: I have just read Mr. Antwine's opinion anent the league of nations. He makes it so beastly easy by comparing it to a society of individuals, people will fall all over themselves to indorse the plan. Would Mr. Antwine join in with a Jap, a Cuban, a Frenchman, an Englishman, an Italian, a Canadian and a Belgian, each to put up a certain sum of money to organize a bank? Would he enter such a partnership for any kind of business purposes? Answer, yes or no. Here is your league dope similie handed back to you. The people are not foolish; neither are they being fooled by Chairman Cummings of the Democratic party, who is trying to foist this false issue upon a noble party whose Americanism has always been of the highest type.

NON-SKIDDER.

We asked Mr. Antwine about it. He said: "Of course I would enter such a partnership. What would there be new about it? Have not our railroads been owned by people all over the world? It is a business proposition, without any relation to race prejudice or tribal dissimilarities in color or taste. Many such partnerships exist. Why not? The Scotch have been said to run the banking business of the world. They run the Bank of England for the British. What has one's clan, or one's tribe, or one's nation, or one's race to do with business?"

Mr. Antwine asked us to tell our correspondent that he is not interested in any of the respects in which the question touches party politics. He thinks politicians make only mistakes. How could one of them suddenly do the right thing, or a good thing, neither of which they ever do?

YOUR ATTIC EMPTIED.

Every householder wonders from time to time what to do with old printed matter accumulating in the garret. There are no rummage sales for the clearance of old reading matter. Raids upon our attics for war camp literature have not kept many corners empty much of the time. Yet there is a solution—and one of which we have never dreamed: The Missouri Historical Society wants your old printed matter. You doubt that. You think what you have could not possibly be of any use to a historical society. That is because you do not know our historical society. You do not know what a range it covers. Let us quote from a circular just issued by the society. It will first amaze you and then gladden you. You will know what to do with all the odds and ends of printing in your attic. The circular says:

The Library of the Missouri Historical Society will gladly receive donations of books, pamphlets, maps, newspapers, broadsides, handbills; city, town, church, club, committee and other directories and lists; personal and family memorials, "Who's Who," Blue Books for all sorts of places and purposes, society lists, scrap books and newspaper clippings, manuscripts of all kinds, especially diaries, journals, letters—personal, political or business—account books, records, muster rolls, commissions, certificates, passports, agreements, conveyances, wills, inventories, tax lists, poll books, emancipation papers, bills of sale, price lists, invoices, wedding and other invitations, and birth announcements.

Also, family Bibles, family records, genealogies, family trees or charts, whether in manuscript or printed. State, county, city, town, village or community histories, histories of organizations, military, civic, religious, business, professional or social, and the proceedings of societies of all kinds; books of travel and biographies. The Society especially desires everything new or old pertaining in any way to Missouri, or Missouri people, or printed in Missouri.

The Society is particularly anxious to prevent the destruction, or disposal of as waste, of papers, pamphlets, books and pictures such as are found in attics or storerooms, or in closets, trunks, drawers, boxes or barrels, in many homes, especially the older ones. Don't take the trouble to sort the things out, but write or telephone to the Society and it will send for them. Many such gifts have been received and none have proven to be without value.

We don't like "none have proven to be without value," but we like the general idea. The man who has so much liquor in his cellar that he doesn't know where he is going to put his winter coal has nothing on most of us whose attics have been waiting for this very chance.

Missouri Second Among States in Number of Drug Addicts Being Treated

Treasury Report Estimates There Are 237,655 Cases in U. S. With Habit Growing and Prohibition Expected to Increase It.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Missouri has more drug addicts under treatment by physicians than any other state in the Union except New York. In proportion to population it ranks far ahead of New York.

This unenviable distinction is set forth in a report just made by a committee appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury in March, 1918, to investigate the narcotic drug traffic in the United States. On the committee were Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, chairman; Reid Hunt, professor of pharmacology, Harvard University; A. G. De Mez of the United States Public Health Service, and B. C. Keith, former Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The committee sent out seven questionnaires, including one to all physicians registered under the Harrison narcotic act, requesting data as to the number of drug addicts under treatment by them at the time. On the basis of replies received from 14 2-5 per cent of the Missouri physicians, it was estimated that the State has 26,958 addicts under treatment. The total estimated for New York, with a population approximately three times that of Missouri, is 37,095.

How Other States Stand.

Other states ranking high in the list are: Louisiana, 17,620; Massachusetts, 13,770; Alabama, 11,690; Pennsylvania, 10,202; Indiana, 8436; Illinois, 8218; Tennessee, 8180; North Carolina, 8077.

For the whole country replies were received from 30 2-3 per cent of the registered physicians. They reported 73,150 addicts. On the assumption that the same average would hold good if all the physicians had reported, there are in the United States 237,655 addicts receiving treatment.

But the number of persons under treatment by physicians constitutes only a small part of the total number addicted to the use of habit-forming drugs. Various estimates have been made, ranging up to 4,000,000. All these, according to the committee, must be looked upon as mere guesses. On the basis of its inquiries, the committee estimates that the total number of addicts now in this country is more than 1,000,000.

Number Expected to Increase.

In the opinion of many who have studied the question, this number will increase when nation-wide prohibition becomes effective. On this point the report of the committee says:

"The consensus of opinion of those interested in the subject appears to be to the effect that the number of addicts will increase as soon as the prohibition laws are enforced. These opinions are based, for the most part, on the theory that drinkers will seek a substitute for alcohol and that the opiates and cocaine will be found most satisfactory for this purpose. This opinion apparently received some support from investigations made in some of the Southern states, where prohibition has been in effect for some years. It has been noted that in these states the sales of narcotic drugs and cocaine, and especially the sale of preparations exempt under section 6 of the Harrison act, such as Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial and Paregoric, have greatly increased during this period. Whether or not this condition will become general when national prohibition becomes effective is a question which cannot be answered at the present time."

Some Alarming Disclosures.

The committee limited its investigation to the traffic in opium and coca leaves, their preparations and habit-forming alkaloids. Its report contains a series of alarming disclosures.

It is shown, for instance, that from 10 to 60 times as much opium per capita is consumed in the United States as in any other country from which reliable records can be obtained. The total annual consumption in this country is 470,000 pounds, or 36 grains, per capita, as against 3½ grains per capita in Holland, 3 in France, 2 in Germany and 1 in Italy.

"As the average dose of opium is one grain," the report continues, "the amount consumed in the United States per annum is sufficient to furnish 36 doses for every man, woman and child. When it is considered that the greater portion of our citizens do not take a single dose of opium year after year, it is manifest that this enormous per capita consumption is the result of its use for the satisfaction of addiction."

Legitimate Use Limited.

The report states the amount of cocaine which can be produced from the coca leaves imported annually is about 150,000 ounces—sufficient to furnish every individual in the United States with two and one-half doses. It is estimated that only 25 per cent of this is used in legitimate medical or dental practice, and that 75 per cent, or 112,500 ounces of cocaine manufactured in this country, is used for illicit purposes. This does not include the quantity which is smuggled in, of which no estimate can be made.

By comparative figures, the report shows that the consumption of narcotic drugs in the United States has steadily increased from the date of their introduction. Whereas the population of the United States was only two and a half times as great in 1900 as in 1860, the amount of opium entered for consumption was five times as great.

This is regarded by the committee as of particular significance, in view of the fact that the use of large amounts of chloral hydrate, sulphonal, trional, veronal, etc., during the last 25 years would be expected to have diminished to a great extent the use of opium or its alkaloids for legitimate medical purposes. The committee draws the conclusion that the use of opium and its alkaloids for other purposes has steadily increased.

On the basis of answers to questionnaires sent to druggists, it is estimated that 18,299,397 prescriptions containing narcotic drugs were filled within one year. Druggists were also asked to furnish a statement of the quantities of exempt preparations dispensed, such as Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial and paregoric. Taking the replies of 52 per cent of the druggists as fairly representing the whole number, the committee estimates that one year's sales of Bateman's Drops amounted to 2508 gallons and 312,934 bottles; of Godfrey's Cordial, 2584 gallons and 441,056 bottles, and of paregoric, 143,328 gallons and 18,435 bottles.

Increases in Larger Cities.

Police officials in 34 cities reported an increase in narcotic drug addiction and in 287 cities reported a decrease. The increases were in the larger cities and the decreases in the smaller.

The causes for drug addiction in the order of their frequency were given as follows: Use of physicians' prescriptions, association with other addicts, prohibition, use of narcotic drugs for chronic diseases, curiosity to learn the effects of the drug, prostitution, use of patent or proprietary medicines, use of certain narcotic drugs as a stimulant, idleness and use by dentists. In order of frequency used, drugs were reported as follows: Morphine, cocaine, heroin, opium, laudanum, paregoric and codeine.

The police officials also reported 1800 drug peddlers, whose "occupations" were given as follows: Gamblers, taxicab drivers, domestics, solicitors, messengers, vagrants, lunchroom helpers, poolroom employes, porters and laundry men.

Heavy "Underground" Traffic.

The report states that there is an "underground traffic" in narcotic drugs estimated to be equal in magnitude to that carried on legitimately. "This trade," it adds, "is in the hands of the so-called 'dope peddlers,' who appear to have a national organization for procuring and disposing of their supplies.

"For the most part, it is thought that they obtain their supplies by smuggling them from Mexico and Canada, although smaller quantities are obtained from unscrupulous dealers in this country or by theft. Smuggling is also practiced to a considerable extent on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts."

The committee in its conclusions says:

"From the data obtained the committee is convinced that there is a nation-wide use of narcotic drugs for other than legitimate medical needs, and that such use for the satisfaction of addiction has materially increased in certain sections of the country despite the vigorous efforts exerted in the past four years in the enforcement of the Federal antinartoic law, and in the enforcement of the laws of the states and municipalities which have enacted such for the control of habit-forming drugs. Furthermore, it is apparent from the replies to questionnaries sent out that there has been no definite or concerted action on the part of the majority of the state and municipal governments to suppress the illicit traffic and use of habit-forming drugs, and that there has been but little, if any, attempt made to secure accurate information concerning the problem of drug addiction as a basis for the enactment of proper legislation and regulation.

Records Not Complete.

"The replies to the questionaires sent out to State, county and municipal officials show that a great majority of these officials kept no records and therefore had no information upon the subject. This condition is believed to be due principally to a lack of knowledge of the seriousness of the situation. In many cases it is no doubt partly due to the more or less general acceptance of the old theory that drug addiction is a vice, or depraved taste, and not a disease, as held by modern investigators.

"This attitude has had the effect of holding these unfortunate creatures up to public scorn, and thereby lessening any interest in their welfare. Records having a bearing on any and all phases of drug addiction are of sufficient importance to warrant immediate action for the purpose of remedying these conditions."

The committee states its belief that inasmuch as the Harrison narcotic act recently has been amended in accordance with recommendations made by the committee in a preliminary report, no further national legislation governing the manufacture, sale, distribution and administration of narcotic drugs is necessary. There are, however, it is pointed out, other phases of the narcotic problem which merit attention, foremost among which is the enactment of Federal, State and municipal legislation providing for the care, treatment and cure of addicts.

Events in the Social World

Summer Exodus to Mountains and Seashore Resorts Has Begun, and St. Louisans Are Departing in Great Numbers for Their Favorite Cool Spots—Narragansett Pier Still Very Popular With People From Here, but Many Other Places Will Have Big Colonies From This City.

THE time has come for the summer exodus to mountain and shore and already numbers of society's members have either gone or are preparing to depart shortly. It is said that not for several seasons have the summer resorts had so many bookings, because many, who for the past two or more years have been so deeply engrossed in war work will take advantage of the first victory summer and hie themselves to cooler climes for the recreation and diversion that has been denied them.

Narragansett Pier as usual will have Mrs. Albert Bond Lambert and her family and also Mrs. Lambert's mother, Mrs. George S. McGrew. For several summers past Mrs. Lambert has been one of the most admired young matrons at that fashionable resort and has taken part in all the prominent social affairs there.

Mrs. August A. Busch Sr. has taken a home at Narragansett for the summer, and will be joined during the season by her daughters, Mrs. Percy Orthwein, Mrs. Drummond Jones and other members of the family.

Another popular Rhode Island resort is Watch Hill, where Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. West, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Catlin, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kauffman and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Potter expect to spend the heated term. Mrs. Frederick Winthrop Allen of New York, formerly Miss Irene Catlin of St. Louis, will also spend part of the summer there, and will later join her mother, Mrs. Daniel Catlin, at her summer home in Dublin, Vt., where Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Mauran and her daughters are occupying their cottage, and where Mrs. Thomas H. McKittrick and her family are dimiciled. Mrs. George D. Markham will be there later.

Among those who will go to Biddeford Pool, Me., will be Mr. and Mrs. H. Blaksley Collins and her daughter, Capt. and Mrs. Samuel McPheeters, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Wear, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. D. Meier and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Niedringhaus.

Magnolia, Mass., also is a popular ground among St. Louisans. Some of those who contemplate being there this year are Mrs. William H. Scudder and her daughters, Mrs. John H. Overall, Mrs. Henry McRee and Mrs. Gustav di Rosa of Boston. Mrs. Samuel M. Kennard of Portland place will also occupy her cottage there this summer.

Hyannisport, Mass., will have Mrs. Kenneth F. Burnes and her sister, Miss Ida Mellier, Mr. and Mrs. Firmin Desloge Jr. and Mrs. Benjamin Chapman Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nagel will occupy their cottage at Marion, Mass., and during the summer the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edith Nagel, to Capt. Henry R. Putnam of New York, will take place there.

In the West, which is becoming more and more popular during the summer, there will be a contingent of St. Louisans at Estes Park, Colo. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Simmons, Mrs. E. C. Simmons, Mrs. Alonzo Christy Church and her three children, Mrs. James T. Drummond and Miss Doris Drummond, Mrs. H. M. McChesney of the Buckingham Hotel, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Limberg being among them.

At Long Beach, Cal., will be Mr. and Mrs. Douglas G. Cook and their daughter, Mrs. Edward Preetorius, and her little daughter, and also Gov. and Mrs. Frederick Gardner. who have taken a cottage there.

Other St. Louisans who will be in California are Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Steedman to spend the summer at Miramar, where they have taken a cottage.

At Harbor Point, Mich., will be Mrs. Asa Wallace, Mrs. Norris Gregg, Mrs. John Burton Kennard, and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Shapleigh Kennard, Mrs. Charles White Scudder and Mrs. Harry L. Block and her daughter, Miss Anne Block. Mrs. Charles F. Gauss and her daughter, Mrs. Adele Bullen, will occupy their cottage this summer and Mrs. Duncan I. Meier will also be there.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davis will be at Buzzard's Bay for the summer.

At Rye Beach, N. H., will be Mrs. Richard Kennard, Ambassador and Mrs. D. R. Francis, Dr. and Mrs. George S. Drake, Mrs. Henry Clarkson Scott, who will open her summer home there, and Mrs. Stuart G. Stickney with her aunt, Miss Annie Lewis. Mrs. George L. Allen and Miss Mary Allen of Westmoreland place, who will open their cottage for the season.

At Point-aux-Barques, Mich., Mrs. Albert Todd Terry and her daughters and Mrs. J. Sheppard-Smith and her family will spend the summer. Mrs. Daniel G. Taylor and her daughters, Miss Grace Taylor and Mrs. Edward G. Hotchkiss, will also occupy their cottage there for the summer.

Mrs. Hudson Bridge and her family have taken possession of their summer home at Walpole, N. H., and her daughter, Miss Marion Bridge, will join her after spending the winter in the East.

Kennebunkport, Me., will have Mrs. G. Herbert Walker and her family and Mrs. George S. Tiffany will pass the summer at Ilesboro, Me.

Among the St. Louisans at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., will be Mrs. Robert Warmack and her daughter, Miss Annie Laurie Warmack; Judge and Mrs. Henry S. Priest.

New London, Conn., will have Mrs. Edwin T. Nugent, who has opened her summer home there, and Mrs. Malcolm Thomas, who will spend most of the summer with her parents, who have a cottage.

Many other interesting and fashionable summer playgrounds will have their quota of St. Louisans.

AN INTERESTING engagement announced last week followed by the wedding yesterday, was that of Miss Mildred Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Donnell of 5840 Enright avenue, to Thomas Hunt Talmage of New York City. The ceremony took place yesterday at noon at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Martin Shaughnessy of 1 Washington terrace. Only members of the family were present and the Rev. Father O'Connor of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes officiated. The bride wore her traveling suit of dark blue cloth with hat to match, and wore a corsage of orchids.

A wedding breakfast followed and later Mr. Talmage and his bride departed for California, where they will spend the summer. In September they will sail for a trip to the Orient.

The bride was graduated from Mary Institute in 1913 and made her debut the following winter and since that time has been a great favorite. Like so many of our popular St. Louis girls, she went to Washington to do Government work during the war and only returned a short while ago.

Mr. Talmage is the son of Mrs. Winthrop E. Dwight of New York. He was graduated from Princeton in 1916 and is a member of the Union Club, the Racquet and the Knickerbocker Clubs of New York.

Before the United States entered the war Mr. Talmage served in a French ambulance unit and upon his return to this country entered an artillery unit. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop E. Dwight of New York, came here for the marriage.

ANOTHER wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Rosalind Jehle, daughter of the late Charles Jehle, 3534 Halliday avenue, to William H. Lampe, son of Herman L. Lampe, 3225 Shenandoah avenue, in the rectory of St. Margaret's Church. Only the immediate members of the families were present. Mr. Lampe will take his bride to Eastern seashore resorts, where they will remain until the latter part of July, when they will join Mrs. Lampe's aunt and sister in Chicago at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. They will reside at 3534 Halliday avenue until fall, when the home which Mr. Lampe is building in Hillcrest will be completed.

THE marriage of Miss Florence Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Grant of Sparta, Ill., to Capt. Fred Armstond took place yesterday at noon at the Sheldon Memorial, Percival Chubb, leader of the St. Louis Ethical Society, officiating. A wedding breakfast followed at the M. A. A. The bride wore a gown of white georgette crepe with hat to match and a corsage of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. In the afternoon the bride's sister, Mrs. A. C. Hilmer, 4161 Shaw avenue, entertained for the bride and bridegroom with a reception. Those who served were Misses Lillian Stupp, Wilma Grant, Louise Grant, Margaret Ewing, Martha Castles and Elva Hilmer. Capt. and Mrs. Grant will depart on an extended honeymoon in California and will reside in Seattle, Wash. The bride is a graduate of Washington University and Syracuse University and is a member of the Wednesday, College, Players and Dramatic clubs and of the Alpha Pi Phi Sorority. Capt. Armstrong is a graduate of Washington University law school, a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity and served two years in the army at Camp Funston.

A WEDDING of interest to St. Louisans which was celebrated in Paris, was that of Miss Isabel Doan Brownlee and Lieutenant-Colonel Wells Hoyt of the United States Medical Corps. A cable was received by the bride's brother, George Burr Brownlee announcing that the marriage had taken place Wednesday.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Brownlee of St. Louis. Her mother was Miss Henrietta Doan, and she is related to many prominent families of the city. She has been abroad for two years having been among the first St. Louis women to take up war work in France. She went over as a director in a surgical dressing school for the Red Cross and later became a searcher for that organization. She has recently been in charge of the Home Communication office of the Red Cross in Paris.

Mrs. Hoyt has known her husband for several years, but the acquaintance was renewed when they met in France. Before her departure from St. Louis the bride resided with her brother at 4392 Maryland avenue. She is a niece of Mrs. James B. Erwin, wife of Gen. Erwin, U. S. A. Col. Hoyt formerly lived in Chicago.

Panamas, Leghorns, Felt and Milan Hats for Ladies, Children and Men, cleaned, pressed and dyed like new. J. J. Ryan, 617 Lucas avenue.—Adv.

AMONG the weddings of the past week was that of Miss Ruth Esther Harkins to Lieut. Charles Edward Morrison, U. S. A., which took place Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Harkins of 5412 Cabanne avenue, with the Rev. Lewis M. Hale of the Delmar Avenue Baptist Church officiating. The ceremony was at 7 o'clock, with only members of the family present. A bridal dinner followed and later a reception from 8 until 10 o'clock, to which a large number of guests were invited.

The bride's only attendant was her little cousin, Virginia Fain of Oklahoma City, who was the flower girl.

Lieut. Morrison was graduated from West Point last November, and is attached to the Sixteenth U. S. Cavalry, stationed at Fort Mercedes, Tex., where he will take his bride to reside.

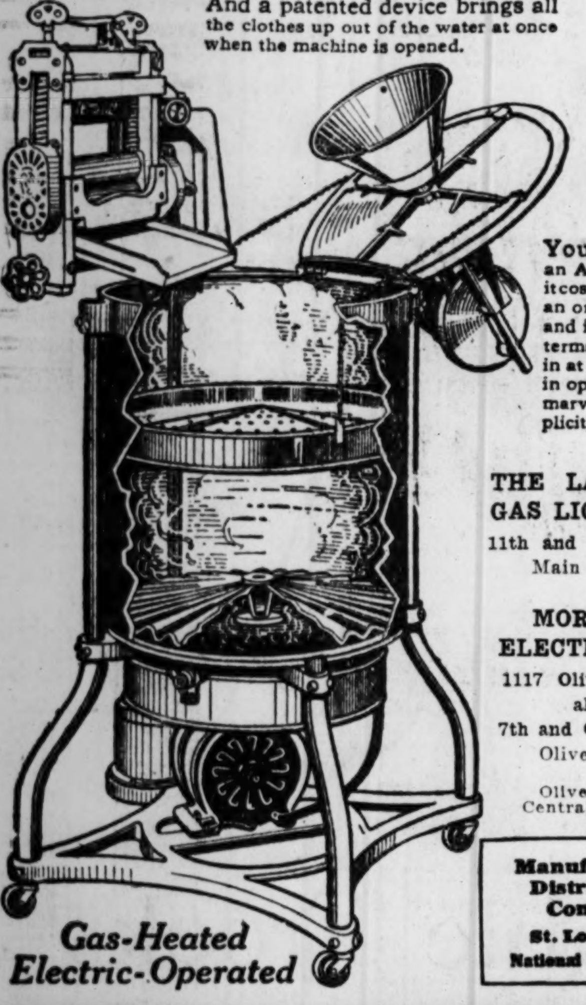
Almetal Household Steam Laundry

More Than A Mere Washing Machine

It saves more than half the usual operations of washing. It saves heating the water in a separate boiler. It saves boiling the clothes separately. It washes the dirtiest clothes so clean that going over them on the washboard is unnecessary. It washes fine fabrics or heavy blankets with equal care and cleanliness.

The Almetal heats the water in itself—and keeps it hot—generates hot "live" steam from soapy water. This steam is forced back and forth through the clothes by the vacuum-suction-heat method, gently but surely driving out all dirt. There's no rubbing, no pulling, twisting or tearing the clothes.

And a patented device brings all the clothes up out of the water at once when the machine is opened.



Easy to Own

You can afford an Almetal because it costs no more than an ordinary washer and is sold on easy terms besides. Come in at once and see it in operation. You'll marvel at its simplicity.

KOLCHAK'S REPLY TO THE ALLIED PROPOSALS

Reaffirms Intention to Call Election for Constituent Assembly of Russians.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 13.—Admiral Kolchak, the head of the all-Russian Government at Omsk, in his reply to the first letter from the Allied and Associated Powers, which resulted in a second letter promising him allied support, declared that he did not propose to retain power longer than required by the interest of the country.

He reaffirmed his intention to call elections for the constituent assembly as soon as the Bolsheviki have been crushed. The text of the Admiral's reply has been made public. The allied letter was handed to Admiral Kolchak at Titmon by M. de Martel, the French Charge d'Affairs at Omsk. The Admiral's reply was received in Paris on June 5. It reads:

"The Government over which I preside has been happy to learn that the policy of the Allied and Associated Powers in regard to Russia is in perfect accordance with the task which the Russian Government itself has undertaken, that Government being anxious, above all things, to re-establish peace in the country and to assure to the Russian people the right to decide their own destiny in freedom by means of a constituent assembly. I appreciate highly the interest shown by the powers as regards the national movement, and consider the wish to make certain that the political conditions with which we are inspired are legitimate; I am, therefore, ready to confirm once more my previous declarations which I have always regarded as irrevocable.

Interest of the Country.

"1. On Nov. 18, 1918, I assumed power, and I shall not retain that power one day longer than required by the interest of the country; my first thought at the moment when the Bolsheviki are definitely crushed will be to fix the date for the elections of the constituent assembly. A commission now is at work on the preparations for them on the basis of universal suffrage. Considering myself responsible for that constituent assembly, I shall hand over to it all my powers in order that it may freely determine the system of Government; I have, moreover, taken the oath to do this before the Supreme Russian Tribunal, the guardian of legality.

"All my efforts are aimed at concluding the civil war as soon as possible by crushing Bolshevism, in order to put the Russian people in a position to express its free will. Any prolongation of this struggle would only postpone that moment; the Government, however, does not consider itself authorized to substitute for the inalienable right of free and legal elections the mere re-establishment of the assembly of 1917, which was elected under a regime of Bolshevik violence and a majority of whose members now are in the ranks of the Soviet. It is through the legally elected constituent assembly alone, which my Government will do its utmost to convoke properly, that there will belong the sovereign rights of deciding the problems of the Russian state, both in the internal and external affairs of the country.

International Questions.

"2. We gladly consent to discuss at once with the Powers all international questions and in doing so shall aim at the free and peaceful development of the peoples, the limitation of armaments and the measures calculated to prevent new wars, of which the league of nations is the highest expression.

"The Russian Government thinks, however, that it should recall the fact that the final sanction of the decisions which may be taken in the name of Russia will belong to the constituent assembly. Russia cannot now and cannot in the future ever be anything but a democratic state where all questions involving modifications of the territorial frontiers and of external relations must be ratified by a representative body which is the national expression of the people's sovereignty.

"3. Considering the creation of a unified Polish state to be one of the chief of the normal and just consequences of the world war, the Government thinks itself justified in confirming the independence of Poland, proclaimed by the provisional Russian Government of 1917, all the pledges and decrees of which we have accepted. The final solution of the question of delimiting the frontiers between Russia and Poland must, however, in conformity with the principles set forth above, be postponed until the meeting of the constituent assembly. We are disposed at once to recognize the de facto Government of Finland, but the final solution of the Finnish institution must belong to the constituent assembly.

Fate of National Groups.

"4. We are fully disposed at once to prepare for the solution of the questions concerning the fate of the national groups in Esthonia, Lotvia, Lithuania, and of the Caucasian and transcaspian countries, and we have every reason to believe that a prompt settlement will be made, seeing that the Government is assuring as from the present time the autonomy of various nationalities. It goes without saying that the limits and conditions of these autonomous institutions will be settled separately as regards each.

"Even in the case that difficulties should arise in regard to the solution of these various institutions, the Government is ready to have recourse to the collaboration and good offices of the league of nations with a view to arriving at a settlement.

"5. The above principle, implying the satisfaction of the agreements by the constituent assembly, should obviously be applied to the question of Bessarabia.

"6. The Russian people once more repeat their declaration of the 27th of November, 1918, by which it accepted the burden of the national debt of Russia.

"7. As regards the question of internal politics which can only interest the Powers in so far as they reflect the political tendencies of the Russian Government, I make a point of repeating that there cannot be a return to the regime which existed in Russia before February, 1917. The provisional solution which my Government has adopted in regard to the agrarian questions aims at satisfying the interests of the great mass of the population and is inspired by the conviction that Russia can only be flourishing and strong when the millions of Russian peasants receive

The Twenty-eighth Annual Convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, which will be held in the Third Baptist Church, Grand and Washington avenues, July 3 to 6, promises to be the largest convention of young people ever assembled in St. Louis. Delegates from every state have already been registered, and the St. Louis Union alone will have a representation of approximately 3000.

Among the speakers will be Dr. J. W. Hoag, Woodward Baptist Church, Detroit; Dr. H. P. Whidden, president, Brandon (Manitoba) Baptist College, member of the Canadian Parliament; Dr. W. J. McClothlin, professor Church History, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

Choruses Are Rehearsing.

There will be three choruses, a mixed chorus, girls' chorus and a male chorus. The music in is charge of the Rev. H. N. Beistweit, assistant pastor of the Third Baptist Church. The choruses are rehearsing, Gounod's "Unfold Ye Portals," Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus," Mozart's "Gloria," from the Twelfth Mass; Donizetti's "Onward to Fields of Glory," Mendelssohn's "I Waited For the Lord," Beethoven's "Worship of God in Nature." The mixed chorus is composed of 150 trained voices. The music promises to be one of the big features of the convention.

Another interesting feature will be the exhibits composed of plans and methods used in increasing the attendance of local societies, to increase bible reading and to increase the memberships and other lines of activities.

Many Will Go to Assembly.

Many of the delegates will attend the annual Baptist Assembly at Arcadia, Mo., which follows the convention of the Young People, July 7. A special train has been arranged for the delegates to Arcadia.

The plans for the convention are under the direction of "The Convention Cabinet," J. A. Newekk, chairman; H. C. Noe, vice chairman; Miss Margaret Frost, secretary; J. Herman Moon, assistant secretary; W. W. Cole, treasurer, and the chairmen of the various departments, which are: Halls and Decorations, L. Winship; Exhibits, Rev. Wm. Edwin Darrow, A. P. Hufhes and W. H. Walker; Entertainment, Rev. Chas. Durden, Rev. Geo. P. Eadie, Rev. E. A. Main; Finance, Rev. N. E. Argood, A. W. Payne and Dr. Hudson Talbot; Information, Miss Anna P. all guarantees for the possession of land.

Liberated Territories.

"Similarly as regards the regime to be applied to the liberated territories, the Government, far from placing obstacles in the way of the free election of local assemblies, municipalities and Zemtvos, regards the activities of these bodies and also the development of the people in self-government as the necessary conditions for the reconstruction of the country, and is already actually giving them its support by all the means at its disposal.

"8. Having set ourselves the task of re-establishing order and justice and of insuring individual security to the population, which is tired of trials and exactions, the Government affirms the equality before the law of all citizens without any special privilege. (An omission here.) All shall receive without distinction of origin or of religion the protection of the state and of the law.

"The Government, whose head I am, is concentrating all the forces and all the resources at its disposal in order to accomplish the task which it has set itself; at this decisive hour I speak in the name of all national Russia. I am confident that Bolshevism, once crushed, satisfactory solutions will be found for all questions which equally concern all those populations whose existence is bound up with that of Russia.

"KOLACHAK."

Jugo-Slovakia has appointed M. Milioukovitch to be Minister Plenipotentiary to the Omsk Government which has designated Basil Strandtman as Russian Minister at Belgrade.

Diplomats are watching eagerly to see whether the great Powers will send plenipotentiaries to Omsk following their approval of Admiral Kolchak's reply to their offer of supplies and money to support his all-Russian Government. There is a difference of opinion in conference circles as to the degree of recognition the Council of Five has accorded to the Kolchak Government.

Some delegates insist that if the action of the council were really a recognition of the Kolchak Government it should be given representation in the conference. They hold that even partial recognition would entitle the Omsk Government to send delegates to Paris. Others maintain the conference cannot give recognition to any government as individual nations must take such action separately, as was done with Poland.

Prince Lvoff, chairman of the Russian commission in Paris, is, with his colleagues, delighted with the action of the conference. Prof. Boris A. Bakhmeteff, former Russian Ambassador to the United States, told the Associated Press today that it was the most vital step as yet taken toward the recreation of a united and democratic Russia.

Buenos Aires Papers Defeat Union.

BUENOS AIRES, Friday, June 13.—All the important newspapers of Buenos Aires have resumed publication, for the most part with new forces in the mechanical department, after the two weeks' suspension, caused by the printers refusing to set the advertisements of a boycotted British department store.

The publishers declare their victory over the union men is complete.

MRS. HAMMAR SAYS U. S. TROOPS ARE TOO POPULAR IN GERMANY

fishing around it. In the field there may be a stick waving a danger signal marking an unexploded bomb. Or there may be a cross marking a soldier's grave.

"It is our purpose now," continued Mrs. Hammar, "to turn over as rapidly as possible, our work to the French and Belgian societies. They entreat us to teach them our methods, which they never tire of telling us have been as much a revelation to them as has the spirit of the Red Cross. Never would they have supposed, they tell us, that a work could have been kept so practical and at the same time so selfless, so inspired. We shall leave our trained social workers there for that purpose and the rest shall be brought home as soon as possible.

Troops Coming Home First.

"Troops must have first chance at transportation, of course. Transportation conditions are just about as bad as they can possibly be. Our party was thankful when it had room to sit upon the trains. The good nature with which every discomfort is accepted is one of the conspicuous effects of the war as contrasted with memories of the same people under the same conditions before the war. I recall sitting one night in a compartment the floor of which was covered with sleeping soldiers. One of them would stir and all would be aroused. One would lige a cigarette and light and place one in the mouth of each of the other recumbent figures. Probably they never had seen one another before.

"The congestion seemed not to have been relieved by the German cars, though you see them in everywhere. Ship transportation is still more precious. In one month we had 1200 workers scheduled for home and succeeded in getting passage for 150.

"There are more reasons than one why conclusion of peace is important, and not the least imperative, it seems to me, is that we get our people home.

"The stories you hear to the effect that our soldiers do not get along with the French and that they are fraternizing with the German, are amply verified. There is no fundamental antagonism between the French and American, quite the reverse. When conditions are restored to normal there will be nothing but regard and respect, one for the other. Just now the American soldier has $30 a month, a dollar a day, while the French Poilu has but a few pence. The American is eager to spend his money, the Frenchman is perfectly willing to help him accomplish this end. Then the American grumbles when he is overcharged.

"The presence of American money works a hardship on the French civilian, and though the French tradesmen will miss us, it will be altogether better when the Americans have departed.

"Certainly our soldiers ought to be removed from Germany as soon as possible. The German natives are crazy about them. They are all trying to get into the occupied zone. Our men have not been brought up to wage war on women, children and noncombatants and these find themselves better treated by our army than by their own Huns. The British I am told, are obeying the order against fraternizing, but neither the French nor the Americans.

"Nothing more incongruous can be imagined by us here at home than our men coming home with German brides, but that is what we may as well be prepared for if that propinquity is not removed.

"All Europe is in a state of convalescence, sensitive, irritable, unable to get back to work, restless and almost helpless, so far as her industries are concerned, until peace is completed," was Mrs. Hammar's conclusion. "Labor problems, I think, have hardly begun.

"The May day riots in Paris, I found, were greatly exaggerated by the stories sent out. None was killed and not more than three or four injured. But what France is going to do with all the helpless and dependent left upon her hands I cannot conceive.

"I only hope peace may be completed soon, so that the readjustment may at least begin."

MEN OF 128TH F. A. MAY FORM CAMP OF AMERICAN LEGION

Organization of men of the 128th Field Artillery Regiment, into a camp of the American Legion is being discussed and those interested may sign their names as charter members on the petition for membership that is now on file at the Demobilization Bureau, 905 Locust street.

Col. Frank M. Rumbold, former commander of the regiment, is heading the movement and has called a meeting to discuss phases of this question and of the reorganization of old Battery A, for next Tuesday night at the battery, Grand avenue and Hickory street. No name has been decided on as yet, Col. Rumbold said, although Camp Doniphan and names commemorating members of the regiment's heroic dead in France have been suggested. This question will come up for discussion at the meeting. Following that, Col. Rumbold takes the petition to Jefferson City to obtain the necessary authorization for the move.

E. M. HOUSE IS MAN BEFORE, NOT BEHIND PRESIDENT IN PARIS

been everywhere, dealt intimately with the greatest problems of the age and remains delightfully provincial. Some one is going to write some day a thesis upon the great virtues of provincialism. He will take as his illustration Col. House.

Triumph of Provincialism.

Provincialism is coming into its own. That is what the league of nations means. That is what the American invasion of the world means. If Col. House is great it is because in spite of all he has seen and done he is a simple, unspoiled provincial and can translate the world into terms of common experience; can say sympathetically of France:

"Why, it's exactly like the time when Bill Houston wanted $80,000 for his property to come into the combination in Punkville. Let us see what did we do? We elected Bill secretary of the company or something on the side and he came in for $75,000."

You can't help feeling that the world is safe in such hands, if you were born somewhere west of the Mississippi.

Younger Brother of David Harum.

If I were compelled to describe this Col. House I had seen here in Paris, I should say that he was the younger brother of David Harum born when the family had become comfortable and quit horses to go in for real estate; educated in that environ of profound democracy, the most exclusive college fraternity at Cornell; getting through college with a gentlemanly closeness to the flunking line; to follow for a time the family line of real estate in Punkville; possessing an extraordinary interest in politics, and a perfect faith in his mirror which told him every morning, "Edward, you will never be President," (only a great man believes in his mirror) thrown into improving contact with a remarkable mind from Princeton, and in the profound upheaval of provincialism tossed to a high place where kings ran into see him, when not too busy, in his little office at the Crillon.

Most Typical American.

In other words, Col. House is the most nearly typical American among the Americans at the peace conference; a Middle Western American, one of the kind who could not see Europe in 1914; who voted in 1916 "to keep us out of the war," and one of the kind who in spite of the fact that there are now, officially, 22 wars in Europe, believes that a recipe has been found to end all war. He has the American optimism. From time to time he moved up the date for getting ready the treaty of peace, but it was always just about finished, next week would always see it done. Final? President Wilson could settle it in 10 minutes. Kaiou-Chou was a question of detail. An agreement upon it was easy. Never a doubt in the cheerful mind of Col. House. And there is not one there now. In spite of all that men have seen of internationalism here in Paris the Colonel believes, really believes, in the league of nations.

He is young is the Colonel, as every American is young. His mind is still in the age of faith.

"The politicians and the so-called statesmen fear the league of nations," he will say, "but they don't fear it enough. They don't half know what it will do to them."

And his voice in truly American fashion will run a bit to the reverent as he discusses his ideal, whether it be the new-born league or his belief that the voice of the masses is worth more than the wisdom of all the great men of Europe. The Colonel does not love the great men; he only loves one great man. He distrusts them. He aligns himself definitely with the common men of the world, whose voice somehow—it does not appear low to any one here in Paris—he expects to make itself heard here in Paris.

Ambition Hits Him at Last.

A great period of exploration is coming. The Colonel is about to fall from his high ideal of never seeking public office. Ambition is at last making him her own. The Colonel wants to sit in the league of nations for America.

For America, mind you, not as the personal representative of Mr. Wilson. To represent America means to go before the American Senate for confirmation, to have your qualifications canvassed in the press; to be investigated, catechised, pawed over by the politicians who resent the success of the man who has played the game in another way than their own.

It is going to be a great moment for democracy. There is first of all the great democracy of the politicians, who resent what might be called the aristocrat of politics. Then there is the wider democracy of the people, who may, perhaps, wonder why this man who loves them so much should have never sought them more nearly, should never have submitted himself to their suffrages or at least gone before their representatives for the approval of his qualifications for office; why he should always be acting outside of instead of within popular institutions; why he should have always been a "personal representative" rather autocratic in his origin.

State Department Not Friendly.

Then, too, there is the State Department. In the confusion of our institutions the State Department has suffered. Secretary Lansing was the nominal head of the American delegation here. House was its real head. All other Governments brought their State Departments here to help frame the treaty; the American Government brought a House organization, paralleling the State Department, but outside it, unofficial, personal, representing the people in some way not clear to the people themselves.

The State Department does not love House. The State Department has close connections with the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate before which House's name must go. Lansing has an old score to settle. A man whose trousers were not so carefully pressed as Lansing's would resign from the Cabinet and throw himself into the fight to prevent the choice of House to represent the American nation in the league of nations. But the creases in those trousers suggest doubt.

EDUCATORS TO CONVENE HERE

Catholics Will Open Convention at St. Louis U. June 23.

The Catholic Educational Association of America will hold a convention at St. Louis University beginning June 23, according to an announcement by Archbishop Glennon. The formal opening of the meeting will be celebrated with a pontifical mass at the New Cathedral, June 24.

In a letter to the Catholic pastors of the city the Archbishop urged them to include in their sermons on the Sunday preceding the convention the theme of "Catholic Education."

WASHINGTON U. STUDENTS TO ISSUE A THIRD PERIODICAL

A third periodical, supplementing The Hatchet and Students' Life, is to be issued by students at Washington University, the initial number to appear in October, followed by four others at intervals during the 1919-20 school year. It is to be a vehicle for the wit and humor at the university, and the fact that its title is to be "Washington University Dirge," is not to be understood as indicative of the real character of the contents.

The Dirge is to be a 40-page magazine, patterned after humor publications at many leading universities and colleges, with illuminated cover and meritorious typography and paper. Its editor will be J. Walter Goldstein; managing editor, Payne Ratner; business manager, Erwin Staudinger; circulation manager, Richard A. Whitton. Six other active workers, three each in the editorial and business departments, are to be chosen by the Executive Board, composed of the four students named.

These members of the faculty will act as advisors: Dr. Roy Mackenzie, Dr. Isaac Lippincott, Prof. Tyrrell Williams and Prof. Edmund H. Wuerpel.

manganese, saltpeter, even for rubber. The proud captains of industry scorned no means of gaining the favor of super-patriotic Socialists who conduct our trade unions and thereby reached an understanding with labor. At all times they had the ear of the highest leadership, whose creative brain, Ludendorff, had early recognized that in this material war the Rhenish-Westphalian industry was his most powerful weapon.

Its performance proved colossal, tremendous beyond all expectation. The lion's share of the billions expended flowed into the Rhineland and Westphalia, the gigantic profits in individual cases exceeding a quarter of a billion, and creating hundreds of new millionaires. The extended field of activity, the joy in successful work and, in the end, the increased political power all clouded the clear vision of these men and made them drunk among their wine hills. They were against every peace of understanding, against a "premature" end of the war. They swore by Germany's triumphal victory and dreamed of an El Dorado, with Germany as world-master.

Confirms Vanderlip's View.

The awakening was frightful. The whole Continent, as your Vanderlip has rightly recognized, is on the verge of bankruptcy and famine. Germany is the worst off, in debt, almost without ores, without the means to pay for raw materials, without the possibility of feeding by the fruits of export, one-third of the population which it cannot feed and clothe by its own production. Labor is rebellious, industry is ruined, steel production is reduced from 20,000,000 to 4,000,000 tons. There is no prospect of obtaining new machinery and turning war industries into peace industries. The strongest corporations have been forced to eat up rapidly their reserves.

All threads of foreign commerce are cut off, all property abroad is threatened with confiscation and, in addition, all our neighbors are hostile.

Just as understandable as was the joy in the long, glorious, interesting and over-richly profitable war, is now the wish not to be weighed down with the war's crushing heritage, not to be barred from the world with stocks of foodstuffs empty, with unlimited demands for wage increases, with stormy pressure for the socialization of the great industries, with the tax screw in the fist of the masses.

Under such conditions the industrial provinces could not live. Occupation brought at least tranquility, also foodstuffs and all manner of merchandise which had been long done without. Where the Americans, British and French gave orders the storms which had raged in Germany's eastern and southern parts, had to keep quiet. When working hours were prescribed, strikes were forbidden, and an attempted revolt was quickly suppressed; perhaps many a capitalist thought it was a good thing after all that God had not strafed England and its allies; perhaps the peoples whose armies preserve order, without military insolence, are better than our blind hate thought.

Good Will of Victors.

Figures are mercilessly severe educators to true realization. With all its thoroughness Germany could achieve unprecedented economic expansion only because the rulers of the markets for raw materials and finished products in America and England did not handicap Germany and, for the most part, even favored it. Even in 1914 the boundaries of Germany contained far too little food and raw materials to attain the rank of a great industrial Power with its own strength.

In 1919 this rank is utterly unattainable for Germany without the good will of the great world Powers. This suddenly became apparent to those who awakened from a meglomaniac dream in a united economic region, undivided by barriers, tariffs or enmity extending from the Scheldt, from France's principal streams to the Ruhr, even to the Weser. Under the mandatory of the United States and England in security against the too-violent pressure of Socialism, only then could one live, work and earn.

There indeed is being shown in detail how all the factors which influence capitalists in favor of dissolving relations with Germany, influence organized labor against rapprochement with the Western Powers. The worker wants to go unhindered in his fight for wages, he wants to fight to a finish and the strike appears necessary to labor as the most powerful means of warfare.

The worker wants to conquer the right of determination over the labor market and production and with his mass weight to sink the scale of the state. He wants no longer to serve for the enrichment of the few, but to materialize his ideal of Socialistic democracy. This hope is attainable in a completely demilitarized Germany, decapitalized by a paper money system and a skyscraper capital tax and slipping into the rule of factory soviets, but not in a Rhine League leaning politically and economically on the Western Powers.

Hence the strange picture. The most fiery patriots of yesterday are deserting Prussian Germany and the masses who yesterday sang the Internationale now, in an angry zeal, charge everyone with treason who, in this time of need, does not cling to the dear fatherland.

People Want Prosperity.

Everyone anxious about Europe's future must hope that the decisive answer to this important question will not be determined by Generals who must think nationalistically. The statesmen assembled in Paris cannot wish that Germany will fall apart nor that between a Germany extending from the Weser westward, and from the Oder eastward to the Vistula, another Germany will arise which cannot feed itself, can scarcely vegetate and must become an unextinguishable fever center.

The wisdom of these statesmen must and, I hope, will make it possible by a definite formulation of the conditions of peace, for all lands populated by a majority of Germans to enjoy modest prosperity by free work.

Would they be wise and worthy of the office of world judges if they did not feel that the curve of nationalism and capitalism is declining from its highest point and that only because of this the league of nations and the spiritual socialization of humanity are now made possible?

U. S. HAD 2251 CANNON IN FRANCE

Infantry Usually Beat Artillery Into Action, March Says.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Twenty-two hundred American cannon were either on the firing line in France on Nov. 11, 1918, or in reserve, the equipment of the 22[illegible]3 regiments of Field Artillery, 46 battalions of anti-aircraft guns and two large Naval rifles, reaching a total of 2,251 pieces.

American Infantry almost invariably beat the Artillery into the fight, Gen. March, Chief of Staff, said today, since the period of training for the guns was necessarily longer. In the cases of four divisions, however, this was not true, the artillery of the Forty-first, Seventy-Sixth, Eighty-third and Eighty-fifth Divisions getting into action before its divisional infantry got its opportunity.

CHRIST CHURCH TO OBSERVE CENTENNIAL

All Episcopal Rectors Will Speak Today on Celebration Planned for November.

Every Episcopal Church in St. Louis this morning will have an address by the rector on the centennial of Christ Church Cathedral, which will be celebrated next November. Bishops, clergy and laymen nfrom all over the United States and Europe will attend the celebration, and Episcopalians of St. Louis are urged to join in the preliminary arrangements and co-operate to make the centennial one that will do honor to the church, the city and the nation.

On All Saints Day, 1818, the first Episcopal parish west of the Mississippi was organized in a room of the little store of Thomas Fiveask Riddick, with the Rev. John Ward as the first rector of Christ Church. The first church building was erected in 1827 at Third and Chestnut streets, a site now occupied by the Merchants' Exchange. As the growth of St. Louis was very slow, a population of 3500 in 1819, and 5000 in 1830, the little church served the parish for 12 years, until in 1839 a larger one was built at Broadway and Chestnut street.

Early History of Church.

The early history of Christ Church is identical with the history of the city, because many of the men prominent in the growth of the parish were those who guided the early destinies of city and State. The names signed to the Articles of Association of Christ Church, which now hang in the Chapter Room of the Cathedral, include those of William Clark, Governor of Missouri Territory; Alexander McNair, first Governor of the State of Missouri; Thomas H. Benton, Missouri's first Senator; William Carr Lane, first Mayor of St. Louis; Henry Von Phul, John J. O'Fallon, Bernard G. Farrar and many others.

When in 1859, foundations were laid by the late Rev. Montgomery Schuyler at Thirteenth and Locust streets, the present location of the Cathedral, for a new church, one of the wardens resigned because of "the folly of building so far west of the city." The Rev. Montgomery Schuyler was rector of Christ Church for 42 years, beginning in 1854, and continuing until his death in 1896. During the Civil War he was a strong Union man, and although many of his congregation were Southern sympathizers, he held his post undaunted and never faltered in his work. He ministered night and day to the sick, wounded and prisoners of both armies and in the awful epidemic of cholera he was tireless in his aid to the stricken.

Was Made Cathedral in 1888.

Christ Church was made the Cathedral of the parish of Missouri in 1888 by the Right Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, two years after he was elected Bishop of Missouri. The Rev. Carroll M. Davis, present dean of the Cathedral, has been stationed there for 30 years, having been appointed senior assistant to Dean Schuyler in 1889.

Christ Church Cathedral will never move from its present location, by resolution passed by vestry and chapter. It is to remain the heart of the business section of St. Louis, to serve the community interests in every possible way, and to be a center for civic welfare and social betterment movements.

In the Cathedral St. Louis has one of the most notable church buildings in the world. It is the most perfect type of the early English gothic in America. The wonderful altar screen is unequaled in beauty of ecclesiastical sculpture, 35 feet high, built of Caen stone, every block of which was selected in the quarries by the sculptor, Harry Hens, of Exeter, England. It was executed in England, and the parts packed and sent to St. Louis. The altar screen or reredos, was designed by the late Kivas Tully, and was the gift of Mrs. Christine Blair Graham.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM J. FLEMING TO BE RELD HERE TOMORROW

Secretary of Democratic State Committee Died at Monett, Mo., Yesterday, Following Operation.

The funeral of William J. Fleming, secretary of the Democratic State Committee, who died yesterday following an operation for appendicitis in a hospital at Monett, Mo., where he lived, will be Monday from the undertaking rooms of Arthur J. Donnelly, 3846 Lindell boulevard. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Fleming was taken suddenly sick in St. Louis two weeks ago when attending the organization of the Missouri Democratic League at the Planters Hotel. He returned to Monett immediately, and there his ailment was diagnosed as appendicitis and an operation was advised by his physician.

He was operated on a week ago and for a few days seemed to be recovering rapidly. He suffered a relapse Friday, and that night the physicians informed his family he could not live.

He has been active in State Democratic politics for a number of years, and had become a political power, particularly in Southwest Missouri. He was 40 years old. He resided in St. Louis when a youth, but since he became grown has lived in Monett, where he served as Mayor for several years. He was elected secretary of the State committee just before the last campaign.

He is survived by his widow and a brother, John C. Fleming of 1314 La Salle street.

Truck Earning Power Doubled With Goodyear Cords

"Prior to Jan., 1919, I operated my trucks on solid tires, believing that the solid equipment was the logical tire to use.

"In January, 1919, I became interested in Goodyear Cord Truck Tires and had my truck equipped with 36x6 Front and 40x8 Rear.

"To my surprise I find that I am doing with this equipment as much work as I did with two trucks on solid tires, besides there is a big saving in gasoline, oil and upkeep expenses."

Liberty Transfer Company

DISPLACING solid tires on the Liberty Truck, the big Goodyear Pneumatics immediately produced economies by reducing the truck operating costs and increasing the ability of the truck to do more work.

These marked advantages are readily explained when it is known that the big Goodyear Cords have a remarkable traction and cushioning power that is combined with sturdy endurance.

Due then to these features, the easy rolling Goodyears, have enabled the Liberty truck to increase its activity in crowded streets, to maintain higher average speeds, and to do twice the amount of work formerly accomplished on solids.

Further, their superior cushioning has materially decreased the expense of repairs because the truck is protected from ruinous jars and jolts.

Note too, that there has been an actual saving in the consumption of both gasoline and oil.

This situation is not at all uncommon, for on many other St. Louis trucks, and on trucks in practically every city in the United States, these pioneer Goodyear Pneumatics are producing definite money savings.

On your truck, in all probability you too, can use them and secure similar profit advantages. Why should you delay?

Go to the nearest Goodyear Truck Tire Service Station, begin now to use the truck tire that will give you satisfactory long mileages plus the advantage of interested, competent Goodyear Service.

PUPILS OF 5 SCHOOLS HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Hundreds of Families Join Children in Big Outing at Carondelet Park.

Five public schools of Carondelet yesterday held their annual picnic jointly in Carondelet Park. The schools taking part were the Blow, Carondelet, Des Peres, Lyon and Woodward.

Parades were held from each school to the park, beginning at 9 o'clock. Routes of the parades were decorated. The marchers from each school joined in one long line at a centrally located point and marched together to the picnic grounds. Business men of the district and committee members followed each school in automobiles.

Preliminary games for the smaller children were held in the morning, beginning at 10 o'clock. Four baseball games were staged between the school teams. Punch and Judy shows were given at the bandstand throughout the day for the primary grade children. A field meet, open to three pupils from each school for each event, was the feature of the afternoon.

The field meet included a 50-yard dash for boys not more than 8 years old, 50-yard dash for girls of the same age, 75-yard dash for boys less than 10 years old, 50-yard dash for girls of 10, potato race, open 50-yard dashes, spoon and sack races and running broad jumps. Other games for the smaller children were included in the afternoon program.

Officials of the Executive Committee, in charge of arrangements for the day were: Robert R. Laury, chairman; Fred J. Wermeier, vice chairman; Charles W. Rippstein, treasurer, and Henry L. Schall, secretary.

Athletic and entertainment events for the children were completed late in the afternoon, but the park was open for picnic lunches and older pleasure seekers until late in the evening. Hundreds of families stayed at the picnic grounds all day to watch the enjoyment of their children.

WORK ON MAIL PLANE LANDING IN FOREST PARK ORDERED BEGUN

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday instructed Park Commissioner Cunliff to begin the work of grading the airplane landing field in Forest Park to be used by airplanes in mail service between St. Louis and Chicago. The work will cost $19,000, one-half to be borne by the city and the other by the Chamber of Commerce.

The field lies east of the Mounted District Police Station and is bounded by McKinley drive, Oakland avenue and Clayton drive. It is 1800 by 1400 feet.

Corns Calluses Quit Quick!
Two Drops of "Gets-It" Will Do It.
Ever hand-carve your toe with a knife trying to get rid of a corn? Ever use scissors and snip off part of the corn too close to the quick? Ever pack up your toe with "contraptions" and plasters as though you were packing a glass vase for parcel post? Ever use greasy ointments that rub off on your stocking? Ever use sticky tape that gets jerked off when you pull your stocking off? Kind o' foolish, when 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It" on any corn or callus gives it a quick, painless, peaceful, dead-sure funeral! Why putter and suffer? "Gets-It" stops corn pains, it lets you work, smile and dance, even with corns. It's the common-sense way, the only simple, easy way—peels corns off like a banana peel. Used by millions. It never fails.

MOON
In this day of high prices—an opportunity to own a motor car of this kind at its price of $1785 is unusual and deserves more than passing interest.

The price of the Moon Car is an appeal to your reason because such mechanical certainties as Red Seal Continental Motors, Timken Axles and Bearings and Brown-Lipe Transmission are combined in its construction with modern design, appointments and equipment, and—the rarest of all—with steel and raw materials that make the low cost of owning the Moon Car the final verdict in its favor.

New Advertising Invention.

A new method for advertising was demonstrated yesterday at 3046 Olive street by H. Huerta of 2016 Washington street. The invention consists of a drum-shaped metal arrangement on the top of which cards bearing advertisements move in a continual circle. The cards are attached to small steel cylinders which are pulled around the top of the drum by electricity. Huerta has applied for a patent and expects to start manufacturing his "Solicitors," as he calls his invention, as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

RED CROSS TO OUTLINE PROGRAM TOMORROW

Future Will Be Planned at Hotel Statler Conference and Meeting at Odeon.

A conference of Red Cross workers will be held at Hotel Statler tomorrow to determine the organization's future peace program. In the evening there will be a mass meeting at the Odeon, to which the general public is invited.

Dr. Livingston Farrand of Washington, D. C., chairman of the Red Cross Central Committee, will be the principal speaker at the conference, and Maj. George W. Simmons, who recently headed a Red Cross mission to Siberia, will make the leading address at the mass meeting. Willoughby Walling, vice chairman of the Central Committee, and Alfred Fairbank, acting manager of the Southwestern Division, are also listed among the speakers. The conference will be followed by others later in the week at Dallas, Tex., and Wichita, Kan.

Dr. Farrand, who was formerly president of the University of Colorado, was sent to Europe to investigate the tuberculosis problem among the troops and civilian population. He will deliver an address on "The Future of the Red Cross" at the City Club at 1 p. m. tomorrow. His talk will be followed by an address by Maj. Simmons, outlining conditions in Siberia. Alfred Fairbank will preside, and a special feature will be singing by the Anti-Submarine Flotilla Glee Club.

Peace Program Outlined.

Announcement was made from Southwestern Division Headquarters yesterday as follows:

"The peace program will be carried on along four definite lines, under departments of First Aid, Home Service, Junior Membership and Nursing. Through these departments the organization will strive to educate the children to a recognition of their responsibilities as citizens; to bring to individuals and groups an appreciation of the value of safety first and first aid; to bring to communities the opportunity of having better health and immunity from disease; and to make possible, particularly in those communities where no provision has been made, a higher standard of living.

"Definite announcement already has been made from national headquarters that the American Red Cross will conduct a drive for funds during the two weeks ending Nov. 11. Chapters of the Southwestern Division will be called upon, as they have been in the past, to carry through the drive to success. Members of the Red Cross, making up the chapters, will be called upon to show their continued loyalty.

International League Formed.

"To carry on the peace program of the Red Cross, not only in this country, but throughout the entire world, Red Cross officials of the five great Powers met recently in Paris and organized a League of Red Cross Societies, the purpose of which is to unify the Red Cross societies of the world in a systematic effort to anticipate, diminish and relieve misery produced by disease and disaster. Red Cross societies of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan are charter members of the league."

Henry P. Davison of New York, formerly chairman of the War Council of the American Red Cross, and since January chairman of the Committee of Red Cross Societies, which formulated the league's program, is chairman of the league's first Board of Governors. Other members of the board are Sir Arthur Stanley of the British Red Cross, Comte Kergorlay of the French Red Cross, Count Frascara of the Italian Red Cross and Prof. Ninagawa of the Japanese Red Cross.

"The movement to continue and enlarge in time of peace Red Cross activities comes at a psychological time," declared Davison, who recently returned from abroad. "It comes at a time when the world is familiar with the work of relief performed by the Red Cross during the greatest war of history and when suffering and distress following in the wake of war are well nigh universal. The need of that work was never greater and the forces to perform the service were never so well marshaled as at present, because of the necessity due to war.

"Hand in hand with the world-wide campaign for the improvement of public health, goes the improvement in living conditions, in social and economic conditions of humanity and the union of peoples of the world together in a spirit of co-operation for the common protection and common betterment of all. Upon this, the spirit of the Red Cross League, a spirit of service in the common interest of all peoples, carried out with kindly consideration and honorable obligations, must rest the permanent peace of the world."

Members of the Red Cross mission which recently visited Siberia to investigate Red Cross activities there arrived in St. Louis yesterday afternoon and were guests of Maj. Simmons at a dinner at the St. Louis Country Club. The seven members of the party are registered at the Jefferson and Statler hotels.

PICNIC TO AID FUND FOR JEWS

All-Day Affair to Be Held Next Sunday at Wallner's Grove.

An all-day picnic will be given next Sunday in Wallner's Grove, 5810 Gravois avenue, under the auspices of the Young Folks' Jewish War Sufferers' Association. The proceeds will be applied to a fund being raised throughout the country to assist Jews who have suffered as a result of war.

An effort is being made to raise $50,000 for the relief fund in St. Louis. Samuel S. Rudman is directing the work of collecting in this city.

ST. LOUIS WILL MAKE BID FOR U. S. CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Chicago Is Rival for One of Five National Institutions Proposed by Senator Fletcher.

An effort will be made to obtain for St. Louis one of the five national conservatories of music, which are provided for in a bill recently introduced in Congress by Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida. Arrangements to have every organization in the city support the move were made at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the St. Louis Municipal Theater Association yesterday.

A conference will be held with Mayor Kiel tomorrow to discuss the plan. Under the provisions of the bill as submitted by Senator Fletcher, the conservatory of the Middle West would be located at Chicago to serve the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The local officials feel that St. Louis would be a more central location. Other proposed conservatories would be located in Florida, California, Washington, D. C., and New York.

KING PRAISES SALVATION ARMY

Royal Message Is Read at Celebration of Fiftieth Anniversary.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 14.—The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Salvation Army, postponed from 1915 on account of the war, opened with a demonstration at Albert Hall Thursday night. Messages from King George and Dowager Alexandra were read by Gen. Bramwell Booth, the commander, who, in speaking of the early days of the army, said that his father, in founding the movement, made the Salvation Army a fighting religion.

The message from the King said that by its works of love and mercy, both in peace and in war, the Salvation Army has become honored and endeared to the hearts of the nations of the world.

Queen Alexandra's message read: "The far-reaching results of the great and beneficent work for mankind initiated by your esteemed father are recognized throughout the world."

CAMPAIGN FOR ARMY RECRUITS OPENS HERE

Street Parades and Exhibitions Will Aid Drive for St. Louis Quota of 50,000 Troops.

A recruiting campaign to obtain St. Louis' quota of 50,000 soldiers needed to replace the Army of Occupation in France and other units will be opened today and will continue until June 30. The local U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Third and Olive streets, is in charge.

During the campaign a daily street parade will be held at 11:30 a. m. The United States Army Band of Jefferson Barracks and the Benton Grammar School Uniformed Drum and Bugle Corps will alternate in furnishing music for the parades. The drum corps recently won first prize in St. Louis.

The street parades are to end each day at the army recruiting tent, Broadway and Market street. At the tent an army officer will speak on the benefits of army life and the necessity for an increase in the enlisted personnel. Speakers will be changed daily. A baby tank is to be kept in operation throughout the campaign at auxiliary recruiting stations. Special window displays and war relic exhibitions have been pledged by local retailers.

The Jefferson Bararcks Band will give a concert in Forest Park at the Union avenue bandstand next Sunday. An airplane will be parked near the bandstand for examination and another will perform "stunts" over the heads of the audience. The band and flying program will be repeated at O'Fallon Park June 29.

The local campaign for the St. Louis district will be in charge of Col. C. C. Smith, U. S. Cavalry, assisted by Lieutenant-Colonel E. R. Harris, U. S. Cavalry; Maj. S. R. Goodwin, Field Artillery, and Capt. W. H. Williams, Tank Corps, all officers permanently stationed in this city on recruiting duty. The main office is at Third and Olive streets, Old Custom House, with central auxiliary stations at 3752 South Jefferson avenue, 709 Market street, Grand and Olive streets and Eighteenth and Market streets, Jefferson City, Columbia, Cape Girardeau, Poplar Bluff, Hannibal, Kirksville, Moberly, Mo., and East St. Louis and Alton, Ill.

GERMAN METHODISTS APPEAL TO THEIR ANGLO-SAXON BRETHREN

Urge Co-Operation for Peace in Accordance With President Wilson's Fourteen Points.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 14.—German Methodists in conference here have adopted an appeal to their American and English brethren urging their co-operation in behalf of a peace in keeping with President Wilson's 14 points.

"A peace that prescribes atonement and punishment only leads to anarchy and misery," the resolution adds. "A true peace is one based only on Christian love for one's enemies and upon mutual assistance."

MERCHANT MARINE RECRUITS WILL LEAVE ST. LOUIS JULY 17

Party of Embryo Sailors Will Take Intensive Course at Boston Before Going to Sea.

Local merchant marine recruiting is being conducted by William Krummenacher at 1400 North Grand avenue. A party of would-be sailors will leave June 17 for Boston, under escort of an official messenger of the U. S. Shipping Board. The age limit is 18, and boys between 18 and 21 are accepted only when they produce the written consent of parents or guardian. Each has to produce a birth certificate, except in the case of ex-service men of American birth, from whom a discharge from service is accepted.

The boys sent to the sea coast in the Shipping Board parties are placed on a training ship, on pay, and are put into uniform, and are taught the fundamentals of their new trade before being sent to sea, rating, while in training, as apprentice seamen, firemen or stewards. On finishing two months' intensive training, they are shipped on board merchant vessels for deep-sea voyages, at full pay for the rating for which they have been trained; namely, $55 a month for ordinary seaman, $60 a month for stewards, and $75 a month for firemen. As board and quarters are included free, this is equal to at least $50 a month more than the sums named. Opportunities for advancement are said to be good.

MOST OF AMERICAN WAR DEAD WILL BE REMOVED TO U. S.

Approximately Three-Fourths of Relatives Prefer Burial of Men in Home Soil.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Three-fourths of the American dead in France will find their final resting place in American soil. Answering an inquiry today from Senator Chamberlain as to the wishes of relatives, Gen. March, Chief of Staff, said it was estimated that replies from relatives thus far received showed not more than 25 per cent who expressed a preference that the soldiers' body remain permanently in France.

With more than 4,000,000 soldier dead of allied and enemy countries buried in French soil, Gen. March said, that nation was desirous of proceeding slowly with the task of exhuming those that are to go to their home lands. No date has yet been set for beginning the return of American dead.

AMERICAN AIRMEN INFLICTED DOUBLE THE LOSS WE SUFFERED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—American flyers inflicted upon the Germans double the loss they suffered in airplanes and balloons. An official report today announced that 756 German planes and 71 balloons had been destroyed, while the American losses were 357 planes and 43 balloons, only victories which have been absolutely confirmed being credited to American flyers.

Shapco Radiator Shields

Should be put in your home during these Summer months.

You buy them now for less money.

The work of placing them is less hurried than when the Winter demand is so insistent; besides, there is less annoyance if the work is finished before the opening of the social season.

A "Shapco" shield converts an unsightly radiator into a pleasing feature of the home.

When Winter brings coal soot and clinging dust particles to find lodgment on your prettiest walls and daintiest draperies, the "Shapco" shield says: "They shall not pass!"—and they do not.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

General News

PART TWO. ST. LOUIS, SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 15, 1919. PAGES 1—14B.

CITY PLAN COMMISSION WOULD MAKE 12TH STREET BACKBONE OF NORTH AND SOUTH TRAFFIC

Proposes That It Be Extended in Both Directions to Give Direct Route to Thousands Now Handicapped—Cost, $3,000,000 or $3,500,000.

Twelfth street, in the past two months, has been St. Louis' most valued thoroughfare. Without its 150-foot expanse, from Washington avenue to Market street, there could have been no Court of Honor, and the city's welcome to returning soldiers would have lost its most beautiful feature.

Twelfth street is a splendid street, as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. The City Plan Commission has determined that it shall go farther, and that it shall be not only the city's show place and parade ground, but a north and south highway, such as the city now lacks, and by lack of which the growth of the northern and southern sections is retarded, and their communication with each other is obstructed.

The City Plan Commission will send to the Board of Public Service Tuesday a report showing its complete plan for the opening of streets and the widening of existing streets which shall extend Twelfth street south of Chouteau avenue, and by the Gravois avenue route to Grand avenue, and north of Washington avenue, by way of High, Thirteenth, Mullanphy and Fifteenth streets, to meet Florissant avenue at Palm street, and to connect with St. Louis avenue, North Market street, Florissant avenue and other important north and northwest streets. It will be a job costing $3,000,000 to $3,500,000.

Ordinances Already Passed.

An ordinance has been passed providing for the widening of Twelfth street to 150 feet south of Market street to Spruce street, where the Mill Creek viaduct starts. An ordinance has also been passed providing for the opening of Twelfth street from Chouteau avenue to Park avenue. South of Park, Twelfth street now has a width of 80 feet, and it is proposed to increase it to 100 feet. A direct connection between Twelfth street and Gravois avenue, at Geyer avenue, is proposed. Gravois avenue now terminates at Russell avenue.

Ordinances are being prepared for the latter extension of Gravois avenue to meet Twelfth street, and for the widening of Gravois from 60 to 100 feet as far west as Grand avenue.

The northern extension of Twelfth street, by way of High, Thirteenth, Mullanphy and Fifteenth streets, is to have a uniform width of 100 feet.

The estimated cost of the widening of Twelfth street from Market to Spruce streets is $271,000, and the cost of the opening from Chouteau to Park avenues, $245,000. The Gravois avenue widening is figured at $1,000,000 or more. From Washington to Florissant avenue, the probable cost of the entire northern extension is $1,500,000. The city will bear, on the average, 30 per cent of the cost. The proposed bond issue includes an item of $700,000 for street openings.

One Assessment Proposed.

The City Plan Commission, in its report, asks the Board of Public Service to introduce the ordinances for the different parts of the improvement at the same time, so that the benefit district of assessments can be fixed, and the work done as a whole, with one assessment.

It is planned that the district of benefit assessments shall have a large area, so that the cost for any part will not be heavy.

The proposed benefit area extends, in the downtown districts, as far east as Seventh street at some points, and west to Fourteenth street. Outside the central downtown district, the boundaries broaden out. For the northern benefit area, the boundaries run along Cass and St. Louis avenues on the south, the city limits on the west and the cemeteries, O'Fallon Park, Twentieth street and Blair avenue on the north and east. For the southern benefit district, the principal boundaries are Russell avenue on the north, Thurman avenue, King's Highway and Hampton avenue on the west, the city limits on the south, and on the east a tier of South Side streets, with Tenth street as the line for some distance, Louisiana avenue to Carondelet Park, and Field avenue beyond the park.

Sets Forth Need of Opening.

In setting forth the need of the proposed opening of Twelfth street extensions as a north-and-south highway, the City Plan Commission says:

"Twelfth street is the present western boundary of the central business district. Its present width of 150 feet between Market street and Washington avenue has acted as a natural barrier to further westward expansion of the retail business district. This has been a desirable boundary since it helped to stimulate a more intensive development of the business district than perhaps might otherwise have occurred. The business district is growing, however. For various well-known reasons it can expand only northward or westward. Because of the preponderance of the traffic movement westward, the business district will naturally expand in that direction and Twelfth street will not long be the western boundary of the business district. Today, in fact, a substantial amount of wholesale business has already spread out Washington avenue as far as Eighteenth. Within a few years the business district can be expected to expand at least as far west as Eighteenth street. Twelfth street will then be an even more important factor in the business district's future than it is at present. Its great width permits it to act now as a distributing point for much of the vehicular traffic passing to and from the business district. Likewise it will render an exceedingly similar valuable service for rapid transit subway purposes when rapid transit is first established.

Deprived of Direct Access.

"More than 250,000 persons living south of the Mill Creek Valley and more than 200,000 living north of Cass and Easton avenues are deprived of direct access to the central business district, because of a lack of direct street connections, to the north and to the south. This connection is well shown by traffic counts, which indicate that a large percentage of the traffic entering and leaving the business district travels in a westwardly direction. It is a commonly known fact that much traffic from the north and south uses Grand or Jefferson avenues, and turns east from there to the central business district.

"Not only are street connections to the north and south from the business district so poor that vehicular traffic avoids them, but their irregularity necessitates their avoidance by many of the street car lines. Such car lines as use them are subjected to considerable loss of time.

"For the past 10 or 15 years the active growth of St. Louis has been to the west. There are several direct street connections to the west though not of sufficient width. Recent ordinances have been passed, however, to facilitate the movement of traffic westward, such as the widening of Washington avenue, the widening of the roadway on Locust street, the Pine-Lawton cut-off, the Morgan-Delmar cut-off at Grand avenue, the widening of Morgan street from Twelfth to Fourteenth and its proposed repavement throughout. There is still room for substantial growth in both the northern and southern sections of the city, particularly to the northwest and southwest, where much unimproved land now exists. These two sections of the city ought to be brought into more effective use inasmuch as their upbuilding will mean additional improvement within the city limits. Additional growth to the west means that St. Louis will not benefit directly until the city limits can be extended. Additional growth to the north and south is possiblle only through better street connections.

"Twelfth street, extended to meet Gravois avenue on the south, and Natural Bridge avenue and Florissant avenue on the north, would be the backbone of all vehicular and transit connection to the central business district from the south and from the north. Indeed, this route should become the most used thoroughfare in St. Louis when properly extended and widened.

Bisects Great Population.

Of the proposed connecting routes, the commission says:

"Gravois avenue is a radical thoroughfare running diagonally thrugh the entire southern section of the city. It virtually bisects the great population there.

"Some years ago it was widened from 60 to 80 feet west of Grand avenue. East of Grand avenue it now has a width of but 60 feet, accommodates throughout much of its length a double track trolley line and has a poor pavement, which set of circumstances combine to render it practically useless as a traffic artery east of Grand avenue.

"The entire southern Twelfth street route from Chouteau avenue to the city limits at Gravois avenue, a distance of something more than six miles, should be given a uniform width of 80 or 100 feet. Ordinances are now being prepared and will soon be introduced for the very necessary extension of Gravois avenue from Russell to meet Twelfth street at Geyer avenue, for the widening of Gravois avenue from 60 to 100 feet between Russell avenue and Grand avenue, and for an increase in the width of Twelfth street from 80 to 100 feet between Geyer and Park. The total assessed value of property to be taken for these three improvements is $623,000, which would make their total estimated cost from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000."

Of the northern extension, the commission says:

"The total assessed value of property to be taken for widening is known as the North Twelfth street opening, is $587,840, which makes its total estimated cost not more than $1,500,000. An ordinance will soon be prepared and introduced for the widening of Natural Bridge avenue and its extension to Palm street, also widened, the entire route to have a width of 100 feet.

"Natural Bridge avenue is a main street in the northern section of the city, and most nearly divides that section in two, making it the natural center of traffic movement to and from the central business district. Natural Bridge avenue on the north, as well as Gravois avenue on the south, are two of the principal thoroughfares leading into St. Louis County and which connect directly with various routes to different parts of the State. West of King's highway and north of Natural Bridge avenue there is developing a substantial industrial area adjacent to the Terminal Railroad belt line.

No Street Connecting.

"Natural Bridge avenue is now occupied by a double track trolley line, making its present width of 60 feet entirely ineffectual for good traffic movement. A width of 80 to 100 feet is needed to accommodate the great volume of traffic that will develop as a result of the industrial district. There is now no street that connects this great industrial area or this entire section of the city directly with the business district. The widening of Natural Bridge avenue and the extension of North Twelfth street will open up a route which will be of incalculable advantage to this whole section of the city.

"Florissant avenue is also an important artery at the extreme northern part of the city. West of Warne avenue it has a width of 100 feet; between Warne and Grand it has a width of 60 feet.

"Between Grand and Grove street Florissant avenue has been officially dedicated, but never physically opened, while from Grove street to Palm it has a width of 60 feet. There should be a uniform width of at least 80 feet or 100 feet on Florissant avenue, from Palm street, the terminus of the North Twelfth street route, to Warne avenue, west of which point, as previously stated, Florissant avenue has a width of 100 feet.

"The Twelfth street route once developed can literally be called the backbone of St. Louis, for its connections spread to a great percentage of the city's area, while it will afford direct vehicular, as well as transit line accommodations to the business district for a considerable majority of the city's population. Not only is it absurd to think of so large a population being deprived of direct connections with the central business district, but it may be stated with confidence that the city can no longer grow to the north or south without the very necessary connections which the Twelfth street route will provide.

Ask for Action at Once.

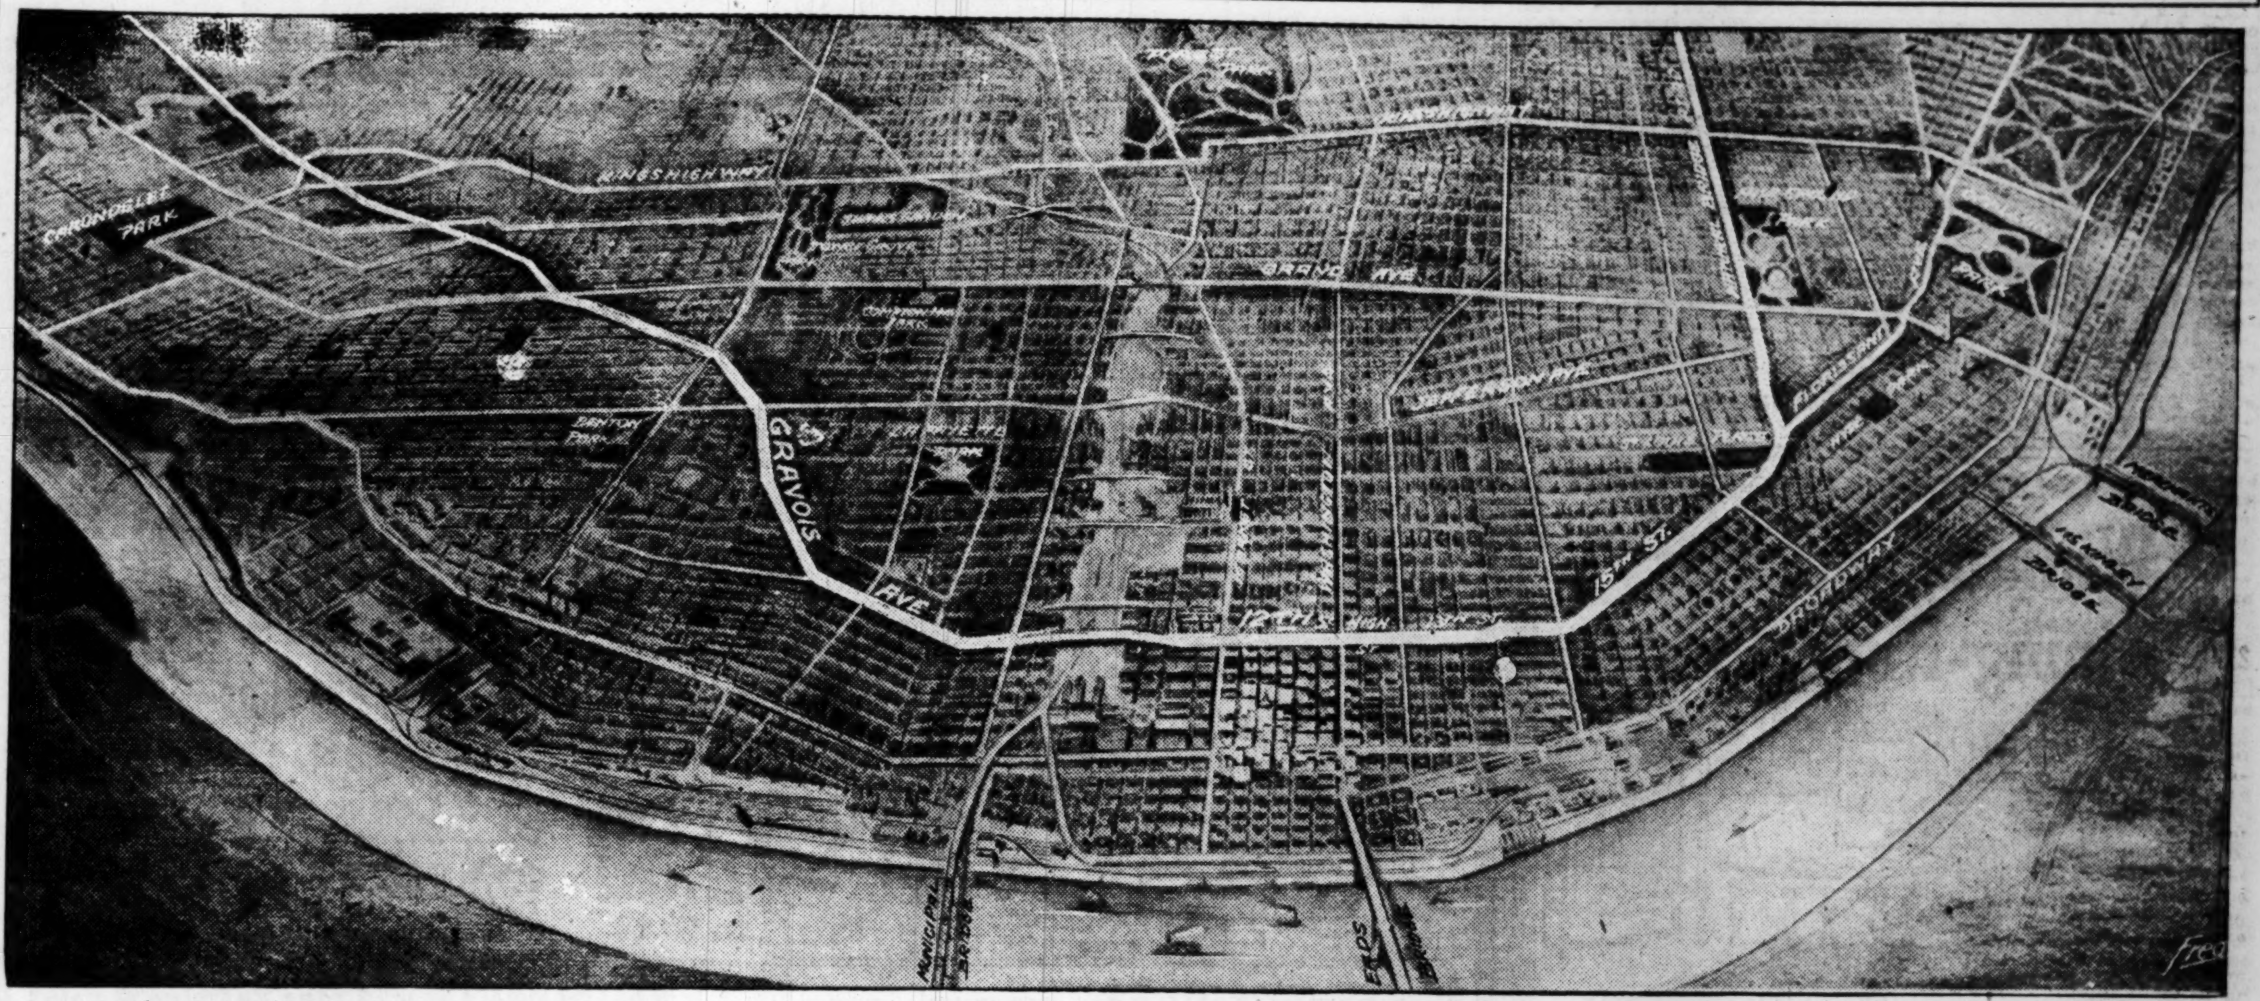
"The City Plan Commission proposes that the various ordinances to complete the entire route be introduced at this time so that the actual physical improvements may be made within the next two or three years. This is extremely desirable since to postpone them will not only increase their cost, but may even make their full realization impossible. A further reason for undertaking all of the ordinances at one time is that the great area benefited by the entire route can be assessed for its proportion of the benefit practically at one time instead of having to bear several special assessments if the route were to be developed piecemeal. Assuredly much of the property will be benefited by the opening of the entire route. If opened all at one time the benefit assessments will be no hardship upon any particular property.

"The total cost of the entire plan is not great. The city at large will bear at least 30 per cent of this cost as its share of the benefit to be derived. The remaining 70 per cent to be paid by property which is benefited by the opening will be but a small percentage of the actual benefit derived from the opening, while the great area over which benefit assessments can be spread should make the total cost to individual property owners exceedingly small. Property fronting on the new route should, of course, be benefited more than that which is some distance away and should naturally pay a higher percentage of the cost.

"The comparative unanimity of demand for this improvement, not only by the local improvement associations in various parts of the city affected by it, but upon the part of all those interested in the development of the entire city warrants the earliest action possible, so that the great benefits to be derived may be realized at the earliest possible date. It is estimated that if all the ordinances were to be acted upon by July of this year, it would take at least two years for the special commissions appointed to fix benefit and damage assessments to report their findings. It would then take at least another year to acquire title to the propertly. Under the most favorable circumstances, therefore, it would be 1922 or 1923 before the actual physical widening could take place and the improvement of the route completed."

The commission's report is signed by Ernest J. Russel, chairman, Alexander S. Langsdorf, vice chairman, W. F. Carter, W. H. Fuchs, C. E. Goltermann, Clarence H. Howard, John A. Ockerson, Edwin D. Smith, member of the City Plan Commission; Louis P. Aloe, President Board of Aldermen; E. R. Kinsey, President Board of Public Service; Chas. M. Talbert, Director Streets and Sewers; Nelson Cunliff, Commissioner of Parks and Recreation; James N. McKelvey, Building Commissioner, and Harland Bartholomew, Engineer of the Commission.

How City Plan Commission, by Extensions, Would Make 12th Street Traffic Backbone of St. Louis



The long, white line is the great thoroughfare, connecting all sections of the city, that would result from the proposed extensions of Twelfth street.

SYMPHONY SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE CLOSED 5 P. M. TOMORROW

Time Extended One Day Because June 15 Falls on Sunday, Manager Announces.

Because June 15 falls on Sunday the management of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra has decided to give tardy former subscribers one day of grace in which to renew their subscriptions before closing the books for the season 1919-20, according to an announcement by Manager Gaines. According to this plan, Gaines said, persons who have mailed their renewals into the office on Saturday will get their requests honored tomorrow, and those who have delayed until the last minute to take care of next year's subscription may be accommodated if they will go to the Symphony office before 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Those who fail to renew old subscriptions before that hour, he says, will have only one way of obtaining tickets for next year's Friday and Saturday concert series. That will be through one of the 10 civic and commercial organizations which have bought all season tickets unsubscribed for on June 16.

This year is the first time in the 40 since the orchestra was established that a time limit has had to be set for the renewal of season subscriptions, Gaines says.

Little Delay Likely Over Suffrage Ratification Though Senate Committee Is Hostile

Majority of Election Body in Upper House of Missouri Assembly Voted Against Presidential Measure but Conditions at Special Session Favor Quick Action.

Ratification by the Missouri Legislature of the Susan B. Anthony equal suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution, permitting women to vote in all elections in the United States may reasonably be expected within two or three days after the Legislature convenes July 2 in special session called by Gov. Gardner, though there are possibilities of delays which might postpone action much beyond that time, or even bring about ratification with qualifications that would be very displeasing to the advocates of suffrage.

The amendment which will be voted upon reads:

> Article ——, Section 1.—The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.
> Section 2.—Congress shall have power, by appropriate legislation, to enforce the provisions of this article.

When the Legislature convenes Gov. Gardner will transmit to it official notification from Congress of the submission of the amendment to the states. One Senator and one Representative, probably Senator James W. McKnight of Gentry County and Representative Walter E. Bailey of Carthage, who so successfully guided through to passage in the regular session the bill permitting women to vote for President in Missouri will offer resolutions for ratification.

Opportunities for Many Delays.

It will be possible for both houses to adopt the ratification resolutions immediately, and so far as has been indicated there will be no serious opposition to immediate action, though the legislative procedure offers opportunity for many delays if the opponents of equal sufrage decide to make a fight on it.

Ordinarily there is no reason to refer such resolutions to a committee in either house, and there cannot be such reference unless a majority vote for it, which is not to be feared in the House, though there might be manipulation in the Senate which would send it to the Senate Committee on Elections, where it in all probability would be in grave danger.

The fact that there will be no other legislation pending eliminates this possibility to a considerable extent, as opponents of suffrage will not be able to trade their votes on measures in which pro-suffrage Senators are interested, as they were able to do in the regular session, though even then they were unable to prevent passage of the presidential suffrage bill.

The members of the Senate Committee on Elections, which in all probability will be continued in the special session, are Carter M. Buford of Ellington, chairman; Robert S. McClintic of Monroe City, Michael Kinney of St. Louis, Wallace W. Greene of Kansas City, Sam B. Cook of Jefferson City, Walter C. Goodson of Macon, Peter Anderson of St. Louis and A. E. L. Gardner of Kirkwood.

Commtitee- Anti-Suffrage.

This is a decidedly anti-suffrage committee, six of its eight members having voted against the presidential suffrage bill. Buford and McClintic were the only members who voted for suffrage, and Buford was considered very luke-warm in his support, even being counted an opponent of suffrage when the committee was behind closed doors.

The Senate voted for the presidential suffrage bill 21 to 12, with Senator S. E. Bronson of Christian County absent. Bronson is counted as an opponent of suffrage. The vote, which in all probability will be little if any changed when taken on the Federal amendment, was:

For suffrage: Charles J. Belken of Fredericktown, William M. Bowker of Nevada, Walter Brownlee of Brookfield, Charter M. Buford of Ellington, S. A. Cunningham of Eminence, Jesse J. Duncan of Silex, George W. Glick of Mound City, Howard Gray of Carthage, Frank G. Harris of Columbia, O. S. Harrison of Kennett, Robert M. Livesay of Versailles, Thomas J. Lysaght of St. Joseph, Robert S. McClintic of Monroe City, Frisby McCullough of Edina, James W. McKnight of King City, Von Mayes of Hayti, O. A. Pickett of Trenton, Loren E. Seneker of Mount Vernon, David W. Stark of West Line, Clark Wix of Butler and Seth M. Young of Hamilton.

Against suffrage: Peter Anderson of St. Louis, Joseph H. Brogan of St. Louis, Michael Casey of Kansas City, Sam B. Cook of Jefferson City, William F. Depelheuer of St. Louis, Conway Elder of St. Louis, A. E. L. Gardner of Kirkwood, Walter C. Goodson of Macon, Wallace W. Greene of Kansas City, Michael Kinney of St. Louis, Mark A. McGruder of Sedalia and Frank B. Warner of St. Louis.

Manipulation Only Danger.

There is not the slightest doubt of the speedy ratification in the House, and there is every reason to believe that ratification will be as quickly accomplished in the Senate when the resolution comes to a vote on the floor. The only danger in the Senate is legislative manipulation, in which some Senators who are opposed to suffrage have marked ability.

The fight if one develops is expected to come in an attempt to hang a rider on the resolution to provide for its submission under the referendum. This was tried on the presidential suffrage bill but failed.

There is considerable question as to whether such a ratification would be legal if the rider were adopted, and also considerable question as to whether it is possible to have a referendum on ratification of a Federal amendment, though the opponents of prohibition are proceeding with the circulation of referendum petitions on the prohibition ratification resolution. The Constitution of the Untied States on the subject of amendments says:

> The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress.

May Eliminate Referendum.

In submitting the suffrage amendment, Congress provided for ratification by the Legislatures. The question which arises is whether in states having referendum clauses in their constitutions a referendum could be had on an amendment to the Federal Constitution. The law generally has been construed by lawyers to be that states have no power to provide any different method of procedure than that prescribed in the Federal Constitution, which would seem to eliminate the possibility of a legal referendum.

It is contended by some, among them John M. Atkinson, who has been consulted by suffrage leaders in St. Louis, that it is not even necessary to have a roll call in either house on ratification, and that only a majority of those present and voting is necessary for ratification. He contends that a majority of the Senators and Representatives elected, which is required on the passage of a bill, is not necessary on such a resolution as this will be.

Opinions differ in Jefferson City as to whether additional legislation will be required after ratification to give women the right to vote in Missouri. Senator McKnight insists that any restrictive clauses in the Missouri laws limiting the voting right to men are automatically made inoperative by full ratification and that as soon as three-fourths of the states have ratified any woman who meets the qualifications of citizenship may vote.

May Prolong Session.

On the other hand, N. E. Williams, secretary to Gov. Gardner, says that he is not at all certain that other legislation will not be needed, and if it is the legislative session will be prolonged probably for several weeks.

Senator McKnight, in support of his position, cited a United States Supreme Court decision (Yarbrough, 110 U. S. p. 665) in which the court passing upon the right of negroes to vote, said:

"In all cases where the former slave-holding states had not removed from their constitutions the words 'white man' as a qualification for voting, this provision did, in effect, confer upon him (the negro) the right to vote, because, being paramount to the state law and a part of the state law, it annulled the discriminatory word 'white' and thus left him in the enjoyment of the same right as white persons. And such would be the effect of any future constitutional provision for a state which should give the right of voting exclusively to white people, whether they be men or women."

Secretary Williams, in raising a question about additional legislation, said:

"I have no doubt that ratification of the amendment nullifies the sex discrimination in the State law, but the other restrictions upon suffrage, such as place of residence and age, are left for the State to determine.

Not Sure About Women.

"In the case of males, the State has required that they shall be 21 years of age and shall have been a resident of the State one year and the county at least 60 days, but there are no such restrictions on females when they are admitted to the polls. Suppose a 15-year-old girl walks up to the polling place and demands a vote. I am not sure about this question. I am not sure whether the voting of women will be properly regulated and provided for by ratification."

The Missouri Constitution, in specifying the qualification of voters, says in Article 8, Section 2:

"Every male citizen of the United States, and every male person of foreign birth who may have declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States according to law, not less than one year nor more than five years before he offers to vote, who is over the age of 21 years, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections by the people:

"1. He shall have resided in the State one year immediately preceding the election at which he offers to vote.

"2. He shall have resided in the county, city or town where he shall offer to vote at least 60 days immediately preceding the election."

Eliminate Word "Male."

Ratification of the Federal amendment, it is contended by suffrage leaders, will have the effect of striking from this section of the Constitution the word "male" and will give every woman more than 21 years old, who meets the qualifications as to residence, the right to vote.

While leaders of both the Democratic and Republican parties have indorsed the suffrage movement, there has been some fear expressed by Democrats that suffrage will work to the party benefit of the Republicans. These Democrats have taken the view that it probably will be a number of years before the more refined women generally exercise their right of suffrage, while they fear that the negro women of the larger cities, which would be almost entirely a Republican vote, will begin voting at the first election.

The effect of this, some Democrats believe, would be to increase the Republican vote proportionately more than the Democratic vote would be increased.

Suffrage leaders, however, already have begun the holding of citizenship meetings throughout the State to impress upon women the new right they expect soon to have, and now have, so far as the presidential election is concerned, to educate them in matters of citizenship, and to urge them to exercise their right.

HELPED LAY NORTH SEA MINES

St. Louis Naval Lieutenant Had Part in Famous "Barrage."

Lieut. Henry H. Fox, Fleet Naval Reserve, 4230 Arsenal street, has just been released from active duty and returned to St. Louis to resume his former position as vice president of the Fox Bros. Manufacturing Co. Mr. Fox is a graduate of the Naval Academy, class of 1909. After the death of his father he resigned from the regular navy in 1911 to take charge of his father's business.

He was called back into service in April, 1917, and after about four months spent at Great Lakes, was assigned to overseas duty in connection with laying the North Sea mine barrage which extended from the Orkney Islands, north of Scotland, to the coast of Norway.

After the armistice was signed, Lieut. Fox was transferred to the German ship Imperator, which was brought by a German crew to Brest, France, where it was rechristened the U. S. S. Imperator and brought to the United States.

WILL AID RECRUITING OF HARVEST FIELD LABOR

C. of C. Meeting to Be Addressed by Kansas Farm Labor Director.

A meeting to encourage the recruiting of labor for the Kansas wheat harvest, which will begin about June 25, will be held at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow when E. E. Frizell, Farm Labor Director for Kansas, will explain the situation. It is estimated by Frizell that 240,000 men from outside of Kansas will be required to harvest the crop from 11,000,000 acres, by far the largest acreage ever grown in the State.

The United States Department of Agriculture has suggested that the St. Louis district send 12,000 of these men, but thus far only 2000 have been enrolled, although a recruiting bureau has been open at 510 Locust street for several days. The bureau will continue to be open daily except Sunday until 7 p. m.

The wages agreed upon by the Kansas farmers this year are as follows: Pitchers, 50 cents an hour; stackers, 60 cents; cooks, $3 a day. Board and lodging will be furnished free to all workers.

The refusal of the Railroad Administration to grant reduced rates to the harvest fields has caused Frizell to advocate the freight-car route. He said: "Previous to last year we had a rate of 1 cent a mile. This year Hines (the Director-General of the Railroad Administration) will see that all who buy tickets pay 3 1-3 cents a mile. But a lot of men are not going to buy tickets. I am telling men to leave their guns, their clubs and their whisky at home and board a freight train."

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting tomorrow employers will be urged to grant leaves to as many as possible of their employes who desire to work in the harvest. The recruiting is in charge of Carl Baer, manager of the Chamber's Production Bureau. Baer said men accustomed to office work are as acceptable as factory workers and men doing outdoor work.

ILLINOIS ASKS RETURN OF 6 MEN HELD AFTER KIMPEL MURDER

Requisition Issued After Coroner's Jury Fails to Fix Blame for Death of Witness.

Requisition papers were issued yesterday on Gov. Gardner for the return to Illinois of six men wanted for complicity in the murder of Thomas Kimpel, whose body was found last Monday on a farm near East St. Louis. The requisitions were issued by Gov. Lowden at Springfield, Ill.

The men wanted by the St. Clair County authorities are Crato Gentry, John Rawie, Frank R. Worth, Richard Horich, Edward Davis and Horine Edwards.

A Coroner's jury returned a verdict of homicide by persons unknown. Kimpel was 50 years old and lived at 308 Gratiot street. He was the principal witness for the State in a pending grand larceny case in which Rawie and Gentry are named as defendants, and it has been learned that Sunday night he was visited and accomuanied by five men in an automobile, who invited him to join them in a supposed celebration of his son's return from the army.

DAVIS WILL HELP MEN GET JOBS

St. Louis Member of Col. Wood's Advisory Committee.

Lieutenant-Colonel Dwight F. Davis of St. Louis, it was announced yesterday by Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the Secretary of War, who is charged with the task of finding employment for ex-service men, has been appointed as the St. Louis representative of the National Advisory Committee. The function of this committee is to bring former soldiers and sailors into contact with the kind of jobs that they are fitted for, and desire to obtain. It will endeavor in every case to put men where their military training and their previous experience will best fit them.

The committee is composed of prominent citizens in leading cities all over the country, who have also been members of the military establishment of the United States during the great war, and have seen service overseas. Because of their sympathetic attitude towards other men who have also been in the service, and their great industrial experience, these men are expected to be of the greatest value in solving the problem of unemployment among discharged soldiers and sailors.

Chicago Conservatory of Music

P. A. Starck Piano Co., Chicago, Ill.:

Gentlemen—Your Pianos have given the utmost satisfaction to our teachers as well as to the students of the conservatory. You would be proud of them if you had heard the many expressions of admiration from everyone who has used them.

For myself I wish to say that your instruments are all that the most exacting artist could wish. Their tone is noble, clear and capable of the finest graduations of color. The actions are delicate and pliable and at the same time powerful. They respond instantly to all demands and enable the player to produce the many and varying effects required in interpretation. As accompaniment to the voice they are equally effective. I am glad to know that such fine Pianos are made in our city. Sincerely, Chicago Conservatory of Music. WALTON PERKINS, Pres.

Swiss Anarchists Freed.

By the Associated Press.

ZURICH, June 14.—The court hearing the trial of anarchists and agitators who had their headquarters in Switzerland, has announced its decision. BUYS 600 TICKETS FOR VICTORY BALL GAME

Bush Will Give Them to Railroad Employes; Day Provides for Wounded Soldiers.

Benjamin F. Bush, regional director of railroads for this district, has bought 600 tickets to the Victory ball game to be given Wednesday at Cardinal Field for the benefit of the St. Louis Tuberculosis Society, and will distribute them to the railroad employes in St. Louis. The employes also will be given a half holiday to enable them to attend the game. John Q. Day, a stockholder of the Cardinals, also has bought a large block of the tickets, to be given to the sick and wounded soldiers at the St. Louis hospitals, and permission has been given to all soldiers who are able to leave the hospitals to attend the Victory game. Day announced last night that he stands ready to provide tickets for all sick or wounded soldiers in this vicinity, and that if the first 200 are not enough he will buy as many more as are needed.

Arrangements are being made to take the soldiers to Cardinal Park in automobiles and a section of the grandstand will be reserved for them.

Arrange Elaborate Program.

The Victory game, so-called in celebration of the winning of the war, will have an elaborate program. A concert by the navy band from the anti-submarine flotilla and the army band from Jefferson Barracks, as well as the flotilla glee club and a troupe of cabaret singers, will open the afternoon, preceding the double-header ball game in which the matches are between the 138th Infantry and the sailors of the flotilla and the Cardinals and New York Giants.

The annual junior marathon, in which 800 boys have entered, will finish at Cardinal Park about 4 o'clock, and the winning youngsters will get their trophies and medals at the hands of officers of the army and navy. Seven silver loving cups will be the trophies, and every boy who finishes will get a medal.

The two hydroplanes attached to the anti-submarine flotilla and three army planes from Scott Field will do air maneuvering over the field all afternoon. At 3 o'clock the hydroplane which will start tomorrow on its Chicago flight will return and report by wireless to a receiving station now being set up at Cardinal Field. Mayor Kiel will receive the report from the flying boat several thousand feet overhead. The two bands will play at intervals all afternoon, and there will be a parade of sailors and a navy drill. The five-passenger touring car, presented to the Victory Game Committee by the St. Louis Cardinals to be given away as one of the 25,000 score card presents, will be in the parade, driven by Doak, who probably will pitch for the Cardinals.

Girls Will Sell Score Cards.

Score cards which will contain the present coupons will be sold by a corps of girls and matrons of the fashionable set, dressed in red and white and wearing arm bands of the Tuberculosis Society insignia, the Double Red Cross. Every card will have its coupon, and the presents thus distributed run from the automobile to a box of face powder, and include virtually everything sold, made or grown in and around St. Louis. Three tons of coal, hundreds of bottles of toilet water, canned goods, sacks of flour, jewelry, cutlery, rugs, beds, millinery, haberdashery for both men and women, orders for laundry work, cleaning, flowers and photographs, theater tickets, crockery, hardware, automobile supplies and accessories, are some of the thousands of articles on the list. The presents are on display and the tickets on sale at the Victory Game Headquarters, 213 North Broadway. The presents all have been donated to the Tuberculosis Society by merchants and manufacturers of this city.

The entire proceeds of the day will go to the Tuberculosis Society to be used in combatting tuberculosis in St. Louis. Maj. J. F. Oberwinder, who has returned from France recently, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Following are the sub-committees:

General Arrangements—Maj. J. Ferd Oberwinder, chairman; Charles P. Pettus, Capt. Hugh McK. Jones, Ingram Boyd, John Ring Jr., the Rev. John W. Day, H. H. Langenberg.

Entertainment—John Ring Jr., chairman; Branch Rickey, Lieutenant-Commander E. A. Brooks, Lieutenant-Commander Wells Hawks, Commander T. G. Berrien, Mayor Henry W. Kiel, Col. George K. Hunter, Lieutenant-Colonel Dwight F. Davis, Verne R. C. Lacy, Frederick Ward, Maj. L. P. H. Bahrenberg.

Marathon—Verne R. C. Lacy, chairman; Frederick Ward, Thomas G. Watts Jr., Clarence Henry, Julius Waldman, W. H. Hencke.

HUNGARIAN RAILROAD MEN WIN STRIKE AGAINST SOVIET

First Open Opposition to New Regime Results in Granting of Demands for Money.

(Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.)

BUDAPEST, June 4, via Paris.—Yesterday occurred the first open opposition against the soviet dictatorship in Hungary. The railroad workers at nearly all the stations struck and remained out until this morning. For a long time the railway men have been talking of open resistance to the tyrannical decrees of the dictators. They have been conducting a passive strike along the entire railroad system, hampering the trains and troops.

All the demands were granted and the railroad men, who receive "blue" money (of the old regime) while it lasts, will have special cards allowing them precedence in the lines before the shops and will be exempt from military service. It has been promised them that a little gold will also be used in paying their wages.

A trip along the entire strip of the southern railroad not occupied by the Serbians showed the discontent among the railroad men. They talked in open opposition to the Government, and in violent speeches denounced the men who had ruined their country.

For a time yesterday evening the red, white and green of the Hungarian national flag floated over the central station and the red flag was torn down and trampled upon. But the red troops, who are highly paid thugs of the Government, rushed to the station and captured all the railroad men within. These were too badly organized and too few to offer serious resistance. A great many of the railroad leaders were taken prisoner and are now occupying cells. It is expected that they will be released.

In another town some railroad men were killed because they refused to enter the military service.

PASTORS TO EXCHANGE PULPITS

Pastors of 53 St. Louis churches will give up their home pulpits this morning to strangers and will themselves speak from strange pulpits, in most cases of another denomination, in the general exchange of ministers arranged for Federation day. The churches belong to the St. Louis Federation of Churches and include practically all Protestant denominations.

The purpose of the exchange is that ministers and congregations may become better acquainted outside their own denominations and better understand the fellowship and common purposes of all.

There will also be a ritualistic ceremony, during which the names of the deceased members will be called. This feature will be directed by Harry A. Hamilton, noble grand; A. D. Lorrimer, secretary, and H. C. Kielblock, warden. The same order will follow for deceased members of the Rebekah lodges, at which N. A. Price, Minnie Werle and Otillia M. Parker will preside.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU WASH YOUR HAIR WITH

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—ADV.

SUES TO BREAK WILL OF DIVORCED HUSBAND

Mrs. Alinda B. Vordick Claims One-Half of Dr. August H. Vordick's $35,000 Personalty.

Mrs. Alinda B. Vordick of Troy, N. Y., divorced wife of the late Dr. August H. Vordick, 6351 Berlin avenue, is suing in the Probate Court for one-half of the personal property, valued at $35,510, left by him. He made a will giving all of his estate to his daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Charles Linn.

Mrs. Vordick obtained a divorce in St. Louis County two years ago. Her attorney, Homer Hall, said that the law protects a woman's dower interest in her divorced husband's estate, provided she was the injured and innocent party. Under the circumstances, he said, his client is still entitled to one-half of the physician's property, notwithstanding her divorce.

$75,000 Deeds of Trust.

At the time the divorce suit was filed Mrs. Vordick also filed suit to set aside deeds of trust for $75,000 executed by her husband against his realty, valued at more than $100,000. These deeds were made shortly before he was married to the plaintiff on Sept. 1, 1913. She alleged that the deeds were intended to defeat her interest in his estate and were for the benefit of Mrs. Linn.

Judge McElhinney decided in the plaintiff's favor, but fixed Mrs. Vordick's interest in the real property at $9000. This matter is pending on appeal. Dr. Vordick died Nov. 26 last. He met the plaintiff when he was on a European trip. She was the widow of a physician at Troy.

250 DISCHARGED MEN RETURN

About 250 St. Louisans were among 500 discharged members of the 352d Infantry, Eighty-eighth Division, and the Headquarters Company and 314th Supply Train of the Eighty-ninth Division, who arrived here at 8:30 a. m. yesterday from Camp Taylor, Ky.

About 600 friends and relatives of the St. Louis men were at Union Station to meet them, so crowding the exits from the train shed that the other returning soldiers who were in haste to make connection with trains going to their homes out of the State protested at the blockade.

INVESTIGATES MILK SITUATION HERE FOR FRENCH GOVERNMENT

Prof. Charles Porcher Shows Especial Interest in Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund.

Prof. Charles Porcher of the Veterinary School at Lyons, France, is in St. Louis on a special mission for the French Government to study the question of the supply and distribution of milk. He was especially interested in the Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund of the Post-Dispatch and said he would include a study of this in his report.

He has been in the United States about two months and will remain another month, visiting other cities and sections of the country. He is making a close study of the methods of canning and preserving milk, and also of the treatment of fresh milk by dairies to purify it.

"MA" BURDICK TO AID SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Aged War Worker Will Assist in Obtaining $300,000 to Carry on Organization's Work Here.

With "Ma" Burdick one of the principal actors, the after-war drive for funds for the Salvation Army will begin in earnest tomorrow morning. The organization is seeking $300,000 to carry on its work in St. Louis. The money obtained here will be expended here, although the campaign is part of a nation-wide one in which the Salvation Army seeks $13,000,000.

The idea of placing the Salvation Army on a business basis was taken up by prominent business and professional men shortly after the signing of the armistice. A plan was agred upon and it was determined that at least $300,000 would be necessary. The drive will begin today by announcing the fact in all churches. It will officially end next Sunday.

The St. Louisans who are directing the campaign as members of the Executive Committee are Mayor Kiel, Archbishop J. J. Glennon, Rabbi Leon Harrison, Senator Spencer, the Rev. A. H. Armstrong, Col. Moses Shoenberg, Sigmund Baer, Luke E. Hart, H. Worthington Eddy, Joseph Dickson Jr., W. C. D'Arcy, Col. J. D. Sharp, Mrs. Nat S. Brown, Jules Bertero, James R. Dunn, George L. Dyer, Charles Claflin Allen, Horace S. Rumsey, Charles Scudder, E. A. Levy, John M. Goodwin, T. P. Chapman, Walter A. Ehrler and R. King Kauffman. Mr. Kauffman is chairman of the campaign.

Will Build Workingmen's Club.

Of the money obtained $250,000 will be used in building and equipping a club for workingmen. This club will be erected in the downtown section of St. Louis so as to make it available for all working men. In addition to sleeping rooms it will contain two auditoriums, a gymnasium, free shower baths, a doughnut room, a room for reading and playing games, a band room, and a club for industrial classes for women and children.

The Salvation Army for many years has been conducting a Rescue Home for Girls and a Maternity Hospital. It has been agreed that $15,000 of the fund will be used for an addition to the Rescue Home and for equipping the two institutions, which are conducted in the same building, on Marine avenue, in a more modern manner. A like amount will be used for the upkeep of the three Salvation Army Corps now operating in St. Louis.

For renewal of the hotel equipment $2000 will be set aside; for the officers' contingent fund $3000; for support and extension of the St. Louis headquarters, $5000; for the equipment of a relief center and for a free dispensary, $10,000.

All checks are to be sent to Arthur F. Barnes of the Mercantile Trust Co., who has been made treasurer of the campaign fund.

"Ma" Will Auction Doughnuts.

"Ma" Burdick, who has been decorated by the French Government for bravery, will arrive in St. Louis either late this afternoon or early Monday. She is 60 years old and a resident of Fort Worth, Tex.

During one of the last engagements in France "Ma" Burdick's pie and doughnut hut was under shell fire. She was ordered to abandon it. She refused, insisting that her work to the end was with the dough boys. In the 24 hours that followed "Ma" Burdick refused to cease work and is said to have made and helped serve 365 pies.

It is planned that during one of the days of the campaign she will make and auction to the highest bidders doughnuts from the steps of the Courthouse. When this plan became known yesterday a prominent St. Louisan telephoned the Salvation Army headquarters at Broadway and Locust street, stating that he would give $500 if permitted to purchase the first doughnut offered for sale by "Ma" Burdick. He was told he would have to bid along with other St. Louisans.

If "Ma" Burdick's health permits she will make several talks while on her visit here. Her husband, who was with her during the war in France, also may make a talk on the downtown streets.

Huts on Downtown Streets.

During the campaign, huts, simillar to those used by the organization in France, will be erected on the downtown streets. Doughnuts, lemonade and buttons will be offered for sale in these huts by society women and by Salvation Army lassies. Soldiers and sailors who have seen service overseas will act as guards. The interior of the huts will be the same as those overseas. The largest one will be erected on Twelfth street near Olive street.

While the first part of the week of the campaign will be devoted to the obtaining of large donations from firms and individuals, the latter part of the week will be entirely given over to soliciting individuals. While this part of the drive is on it is planned to have interesting novelties at downtown corners.

The Salvation Army workers will parade the streets, the tambourine lassies will ask for funds, and the Salvation Army Songsters will sing. Prominent business and professional men have offered to talk, automobile owners have given consent to the placing of small Salvation Army heralds on their cars, and store keepers have offered to display posters in their windows.

Pilgrim Church Picnic Wednesday.

The Pilgrim Evangelical Church, Louisiana avenue and Arsenal street, will hold its annual picnic at Carondelet Park next Wednesday. Refreshments and meals will be served.

WOMEN AID DRIVE FOR NATIONAL MEMORIAL

Begin Campaign in Missouri to Obtain Funds for $10,000,000 Building at Washington.

A $10,000,000 campaign for a National Victory Memorial Building, to be erected in Washington, D. C., as a tribute to the American soldiers, sailors and marines who helped win the world war, and as a memorial to the patriotic work done by American women, was started in Missouri yesterday.

Prominent women of Missouri are handling the campaign, in co-operation with the George Washington Memorial Association of Washington, D. C., of which Mrs. Henry F. Dimock is president. Leading the movement in this State are Mrs. Philip N. Moore, president of the National Council of Women, Mrs. B. F. Bush and Mrs. George Still of Kirksville, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

It is intended that the National Victory Memorial Building will be erected through the efforts of men and women throughout the United States. With this idea in view, a campaign for contributions wholly within the income of the donor is being conducted.

Site Already Selected.

Congress already has granted land for the structure and has authorized the raising of funds. The site is a plot of ground on the Mall, near the National Museum in Washington. President Wilson has given his hearty indorsement to the project, as have the Vice President, members of the Cabinet, the Governors of all the states, Cardinal Gibbons, James M. Beck, Cleveland H. Dodge, Jacob H. Schiff, Paul M. Warburg, R. E. Tomlinson, Gen. Pershing, Admirals Sims and Mayo and President Hadley of Yale.

On the Advisory Council of the George Washington Memorial Association are Elihu Root, Dr. William Welch, Gen. Horace Porter, Dr. Charles D. Walcott, former President William H. Taft, Dr. Ira Remsen, Prof. Fairfield Osborn, Dr. Charles W. Dabney, Charles J. Bell, president of the American Security and Trust Co. of Washington; Dr. John A. Wyeth, Dr. Thomas Nelson Page and Henry Cabot Lodge. Gov. Frederick D. Gardner of Missouri is serving on the National Committee of Governors.

The plans for the National Victory Memorial Building, drawn by Tracy & Swartout, architects of the Missouri State Capitol, were approved by the National Society of Fine Arts after a competitive test in which 15 of the most prominent architects of the country submitted drawings. It is intended that the building shall not be a monument in the accepted meaning of the term, but a monument in the form of a spacious and architecturally beautiful building, to be devoted to patriotic utilities, to national and international gatherings, and to be made the center of both American and world activity.

Description of Memorial Building.

The central feature of the structure will be an auditorium with a seating capacity of 7000 and surmounted by an acoustal dome three times the diameter of the dome of St. Peter's. The auditorium will consist of a main floor of 38,500 square feet and a gallery of 10,000 square feet. Here in the future will be held inaugural receptions, conferences, concerts, public ceremonies and celebrations.

About the main auditorium will be grouped a number of smaller halls which will be used for the smaller meetings of various military, patriotic, scientific, educational and like gatherings. On the ground floor, each side of the main auditorium, will be rooms set aside as museums for the archives and relics of the nation's great struggles for liberty. Space in the structure has been tendered to the National Council of Women and to the American Legion.

Structure Will Cost $5,000,000.

The $10,000,000 which it is planned to raise for the National Victory Memorial is for permanent maintenance as well as cost of construction. It is estimated that the building itself will cost $5,000,000.

"The women of the United States intend to put up this memorial," said Mrs. Moore at her home here. "There is now no national memorial to the men who helped win the World War. The United States must have one, and it wants something useful as well as beautiful. This is what we will have in the National Victory Memorial Building. The women of the country want it, and they will ask the men to help in erecting it."

MINISTERS TO URGE THRIFT

Ministers of St. Louis churches will observe next Sunday as "Thrift Sunday," following an appeal from Secretary of the Treasury Glass. Ministers of every denomination have been asked to in this way co-operate with the savings division of the Treasury Department in carrying on the thrift campaign.

Letters to each of the 2100 ministers in Missouri have been sent out during the past week by the savings organization, under the direction of L. A. Wilson, director for the Eighth Federal Reserve District.

FAMO
DESTROYS DANDRUFF (Bacilli)
FAMO
DESTROYS DANDRUFF (Bacilli)

Famo Dissolves Dandruff Scale and Destroys Bacilli

After the first application of Famo, you should not have a flake of dandruff.
If the case is stubborn, a little may remain, but not for long.
The germs will be dead and dying—the new growth begun.
Your hair will be like the hair of healthy children; your scalp like a baby's scalp. All itching will be gone.

Famo Will Win Fight

If it is falling out, your hair is fighting for its life.
Famo will win that fight by killing the bacilli which kill the hair.
Dandruff is a disease which scientists call Seborrhea.
Freed from the bondage of that disease by Famo, the hair leaps into luxuriant new growth.

Healthy, Beautiful Hair

It is, we repeat, like renewing the youth of the scalp—giving back to your hair its early strength and beauty.
Famo will keep the head continuously clean—the hair fresh, full of life, soft, smooth and glossy.
If your hair ever had a natural tendency to wave, Famo will bring back the waviness and intensify it.

New Hair Is Grown

New hair growth from Famo is constantly being reported.
Some of the cases are so remarkable that they cannot be reported in print, because they would tax your credulity.
You must learn from personal experience, and the experience of your friends. Famo contains no alcohol to dry the scalp and produce gray hairs.
As Famo requires no scalp massage, its application is simple.
Every member of the family should use it every day.
Famo is sold at all toilet goods counters in two sizes—a small size at 35 cents and an extra large bottle for $1.00.
Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhean excretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

"MIRACLE" PERFORMED IN ITALIAN CHURCH

Populace Gathers in Santa Chiara to "See Saint's Powdered Blood Turn to Liquid."

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

NAPLES, Italy, May 4.—At the Church of Santa Chiara yesterday at 9:20 p. m., the blood of St. Januarius, a sacred relic preserved for nearly 16 centuries, changed from its dry powdered state into a rich red fluid, thereby proving the ever-watchful interest that the patron saint of Naples takes in the thousands of pious Neapolitans who come to witness his triannual miracle.

At 5 o'clock the correspondent reached the church, which was already teeming with people, and went to the reserved seats to the left of the altar. The front row before the altar was occupied by about 20 women of the working classes, who were reciting their rosaries at the top of their voices. These were the "relatives of St. Januarius"—supposedly descendants of Neapolitans who were contemporaries of the saint, and it is largely owing to their prayers and invocations that his holiness liquefies.

Relic Is Brought Out.

An hour passed and the church presented a heaving mass of black objects. Here and there groups of soldiers stood ready to act in case of mass panic or hysteria, but an Italian crowd is generally good tempered and lethargic, and this one was no exception.

The procession entered and 26 magnificently wrought statues were paraded before the golden bust of the saint at the altar. Finally, under a baldachin of red damask, borne by six princes of the church, came the vessel containing the precious blood.

The blood is contained in a small glass flask, which is in turn inclosed in a larger glass vessel with a long gold handle at either end. The officiating priest holding the handle raised the flask aloft to show the congregation the blackish strains on the side of inner phial where the blood had dried.

All Join in the Litany.

Then began a long litany, in which priests and congregation joined with great fervor. If the miracle is rapid, tradition declares that it is a good omen for the ensuing year, and at this particular moment Italy felt she had every need of a good omen to bode well for her future.

Then the "relatives of St. Jaunarius" began a demonstration on their own account, beside which the prayers of the priests seemed a very quiet and ordinary ceremony. These women threw themselves on their knees in impassioned gestures, clasped their breasts, tore their rosaries, stretched beseecing hands toward the impassive image of the saint, whose golden figure was covered with necklases of priceless gems.

Saint Was Ancient Martyr.

But there was no result and the priests began their litany again. The crowd shuffled wearily on its feet and swayed to the rhythm of the responses.

It was in Emperor Constantine's time that the blood had first liquefied. Heretofore it had been preserved merely as a relic of the good Bishop of Benevento, who under the Diocletian persecution in 305 had been beheaded for refusing to sacrifice to pagan altars. But when one day the people of Naples had brought it forth in procession to invoke God's aid in saving them from a plague, it had suddenly liquefied and proved its miraculous qualities, and since then it has, with very few exceptions, never failed to satisfy its adorers three times a year.

The litany went on interminably. Then the front row of worshippers showed signs of anger. Their voices rose to a shriek, eyes flashed. I asked an Italian at my side: "Does it always take so long?"

His face was grave. "It's extraordinary," he muttered. "Nearly two hours, and not a sign yet."

Finally Miracle Is Performed.

The litany began again and was followed by more exhortations by the women, working themselves up with hysterical vehemence. Another hush followed the outburst. And then a bell sounded. The priest at the altar waved a handkerchief. A cry broke from the crowd.

The miracle had been consummated. The blood in the vessel flowed freely, as the priest lifted it and turned it up and down before the congregation.

Afterward the procession returned to the cathedral, where the blood is to be on view for a week, for during the whole of the octave it will liquefy, and then it will be hidden from the people once more until Sept. 19, the date of its next miracle.

As I left the church the atmosphere seemed charged with electricity, and mingled emotions still stirred the crowd as wind plays havoc in the corn. For it was whispered that St. Januarius had never been so tardy as he had been that day, and those who had been nearest the altar even hinted that all the blood had not liquefied. "Did those blackish stains remaining on the side of the vessel bode ill for Italy?" they asked.

FOXTROT, NOT HULA, LEADING IN HAWAII

Dusky Beauties Take Daily Dips at Waikiki, but in American Bathing Suits.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

HONOLULU, T. H., May 19.—Letters received here by public officials indicate that in many sections of the United States there exists a surprising ignorance as to the real status of Hawaii.

As a territory, Hawaii is an integral part of the United States and its political status is exactly the same as that of Alaska and of Oklahoma before the latter was granted statehood. Gov. C. J. McCarthy frequently receives letters addressed to "The American Consul, Honolulu."

One large mainland paper recently speculated as to the possibility of Hawaii seeking "self-determination," apparently not knowing that Hawaii is intensely American, despite its cosmopolitan population, and that its people are extremely proud of the fact that the territory has "gone over the top" in every Liberty loan campaign and war charity drive.

He Cooked His Meat.

A pupil in a public school in a Nebraska town, evidently at the instigation of his teacher, recently wrote a letter for delivery to "some scholar of Hawaii," describing the game of baseball, his home, and relating the fact that he had his meat cooked before eating it, and asking for a description of simple, native life in the Paradise of the Pacific.

Scores of similar stories might be told, all emphasizing the fact that many Americans have little knowledge of this American territory, 2000 miles out in the tropical Pacific.

It is apparent that a misleading conception of Hawaii has been drawn by many from popular songs and light literature.

Honolulu, with a white population of approximately 25,000, has more than 5000 automobiles, excellent street car service, electric lights, automatic telephones, country clubs, golf links and all the other social refinements.

Fox Trot, and Not Hula.

While it is true that many dusky beauties take daily dips at Waikiki beach, they wear made-in-America bathing suits instead of grass skirts, dance the fox trot instead of the hula, and spend their spare hours playing golf at the country clubs or driving their cars over the scenic roads of Oahu instead of strumming ukuleles beneath palm trees for the entertainment of white beachcombers and tourists.

Hawaii is in the tropics and 2000 miles from San Francisco but is a very American part of the United States and the only movement known here that could be interpreted as a desire for "self-determination," in an occasional suggestion that statehood should be sought.

ANNUAL SPRING FESTIVAL TODAY

Fete of St. Louis Altenheim at 5408 South Broadway.

The annual spring festival of the St. Louis Altenheim, 5408 South Broadway, will be held this afternoon and evening. The chief attraction of the afternoon will be Miss Clara Bierman, contralto soloist, of New York, who recently returned from canteen work entertaining the soldiers at the cantonments in New York State.

Among the chief dancing numbers will be the following by pupils of Mrs. Carrie P. Johnson: Group dance, "Spring Blossoms," by Bobbie Stoffregen, Patricia Jennings, Emma Schmidt and Eva Bockrath, and solo dances by Virginia C. Fischer, Alice Crusius and Marie Gannon.

The following pupils of Mrs. Adeline Rotty will give the solo dances: Bonnie Dundee, Hazel Hauser; Tickle Toe, Loretta Wayne and Roland Rotty; danse classique, Thelma Witzig; Joy Greek, Vera Hilfer.

Music will be furnished by Falkenhainer's Band, and supper will be served from 6 to 8 p. m.

CHURCH MAY HONOR NC-4'S CREW

NC-4 day at the world's fair of American Methodists, June 20 to July 13, may be a notable program, according to advices received yesterday at Methodist headquarters, from Columbus, O., where the missionary exposition is to be held. Dr. Earl Taylor, director-general of the world's fair, who is also at the head of the Inter-Church Movement, has sent a telegram, in the name of the exposition officials, to Secretary of the Navy Daniels, asking that Commander Read and the crew of the seaplane be brought to Columbus for the Methodists to do them honor on a certain day. Secretary Daniels is a Methodist, and church leaders believe he will accept the invitation if conditions permit, and the NC-4 is able to return to America in time.

UPPER SILESIAN LEADERS WEEP AT THOUGHT OF JOINING POLAND

Citizens of All Classes Tell Correspondents They Prefer Culture of Germany.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

KATTOWITZ, Upper Silesia, May 20.—Upper Silesian industrial leaders and workers, partly Polish and partly German by origin, gathered here yesterday and presented varied arguments to American and English correspondents against the annexation of the district by Poland. The protestants ranged from miners to railroad presidents; from union labor leaders to bankers. They were unanimous in their belief that the Entente and America do not understand the situation in Upper Silesia. Some wept as they spoke of the coming separation from the German empire and the coming alliance with what they termed as "an infinitiely lower culturate of people."

Others were defiant and threatened war in hardly veiled terms, should Silesia be required to change its allegiance.

The meeting was earnest and conservative, and only one speaker, the Mayor of Kattowitz, concluded dramatically: "The curse of the German people will follow the Americans and President Wilson if this injustice is not righted."

A strongly prevalent feature of the meeting was that the Silesians want to remain German at whatever cost and cannot conceive the idea of becoming Polish, regardless of financial advantages.

The first speaker, a Polish miner, who spoke markedly Polish-German, wept as he declared Poland to be a country of low culture.

A Government official of Upper Silesia said there were 2,200,000 residents in Upper Silesia, of whom 1,700,000 were of Polish nationality, but were not Polish in thought or inclination.

Other speakers of both nationalities were equally insistent that the case of Upper Silesia was misunderstood by the world at large.

MEAT COST IS PARTLY FAULT OF CONSUMERS, DEALERS EXPLAIN

They Say People Are Continuing Wartime Food Regulations, Now Unnecessary.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 14.—A statement blaming consumers, in part, for the high cost of meat was issued today by the Retail Meat Dealers' of the United States.

"The American people," said the statement, "by clinging to eating regulations which they adopted during the war, but which are now both unnecessary and unwise, are denying themselves the full benefit of decreases in wholesale prices of meat."

The statement then asserts that retail meat prices have "dropped materially' despite contrary reports. It adds:

"Two large groups of the population are holding back on their consumption of meat. One group is composed of the persons who in normal times treat themselves to the best quality of pork, beef and mutton. This group is still continuing its reduced consumption of beef, although the necessity for conservation of it no longer exists.

"Another large group is buying only those sorts of beef which can be cooked quickly and easily.

"Everybody is neglecting lamb and mutton.

"The people do not seem to realize that beef has dropped materially and is now cheaper than any other meat."

CONVICTION IN NAVY GRAFT CASE

Chief Petty Officer Is Sentenced to Year in Prison.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Chief Boatswain's Mate Frederick L. Jones, of the Naval Reserve Force, one of the five officers and three enlisted men arrested at New York in connection with charges of wholesale graft in obtaining discharges and easy berths for naval men in the Third Naval District during the war, has been sentenced to one year's imprisonment and reduction to the rating of a seaman.

Findings in the case were made public today at the Navy Department, with the announcement that Jones would be dismissed from the service upon completion of the prison term.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The remedies can be obtained at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

J. W. W. asks: "Can you prescribe a reliable treatment to get rid of dandruff, itching and feverish scalp?"

Answer: I know you can get instant relief and permanent results by using plain yellow Minyol as per directions which accompany each 4-oz. jar.

John O. L. writes: "I find my natural strength and nervous system failing me. I do not recuperate as of yore. My food and sleep seem not to benefit as they should. Am weak, despondent.

Answer: I think a powerful, harmless tonic and nerve medicine will rejuvenate and restore the functions of digestion, assimilation and elimination by invigorating the nervous system. Obtain three-grain Cadomene Tablets, packed in sealed tubes, and take as per directions accompanying.

"Overweight" asks: "I wish you would prescribe something to reduce my weight that I could safely take. I despise liquid medicine. Can you give a pill or tablet?"

Answer: I find many are like you, and advise that you obtain in sealed tube 5-grain Arbolone Tablets. Any accommodating dealer can obtain from wholesale druggists. Full directions accompany each tube.

"Tom" writes: "I have very poor health on account of long-standing constipation. I take medicine all the time, but would like to get something that would cure me."

Answer: More illness is caused by constipation than by any other ailment. You can get plenty of medicines that will relieve, but if you want something that will more than help you I would advise the use of three-grain Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets).

Henry J. C. writes: "Something seems to be wrong with my system and I don't know what it is. I have huge puffs under my eyes, my eyes are bloodshot in morning and my feet and ankles are swollen. Sometimes I have chills and feel weak and tired most of the time."

Answer: Your eliminating organs, such as liver and kidneys, are in need of treatment. Begin taking Balmwort Tablets at once. Get them in sealed tubes with full directions of any well-stocked druggist.

"Jane" writes: "My nerves are in a dreadful condition, my appetite is very poor and I am extremely thin. My face is so thin that it makes me very unhappy. I should like you to tell me a true remedy."

Answer: If you wish to become stouter, improve your appetite and your nervous system. I heartily recommend the use of three-grain Hypo-Nuclane Tablets, which you will find in any well-stocked drug store in sealed cartons with full directions for taking. Hypo-Nuclane Tablets improve the nutrition, add red corpuscles to the blood, strengthen the nervous system and improve the general health.

"Harry" writes: "Both my wife and myself suffer with rheumatism. We would appreciate a reply telling us what to take."

Answer: Mix the following at home or have the druggist mix for you: 2 drams of iodide of potassium; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; comp. essence cariol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; and syrup of sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs. Take a teaspoonful at meal time and bed time. Always shake well before using.—ADVERTISEMENT.

MUNICIPAL OPERA OPENS TOMORROW WITH 'ROBIN HOOD'

Production of Popular Work in Forest Park to Be by All-Star Cast and Chorus of 160.

WILL BE ON MOST ELABORATE SCALE

Lighting and Acoustics Notably Improved for Musical Event—Brief Addresses to Precede Performance.

The St. Louis municipal opera season, the first on an extended scale in this city and the first in any city of the United States, will open tomorrow night with a production of "Robin Hood" by an all-star cast, a chorus of 160, a ballet of 25 and the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

A further distinction is that Sherwood Forest of the St. Louis production will be under the stars, and not under the gilded dome of some four-walled theater. The bank of the River Des Peres, which is the stage of the outdoor theater in Forest Park, is considered an unsurpassable setting for this particular opera.

It is the claim of the producers of "Robin Hood" here that no such elaborate production has been given on any stage, and that even those St. Louisans who are familiar with the beauties of former productions in the al fresco theater will be compelled to fervid "ah's" when they gaze upon the first ensemble tomorrow night.

The lighting, usually adequate in the past, is said to have been improved upon until the switchboard at the theater now is the largest of any in any theater in the country. The acoustics, naturally surprisingly good, have been artifically improved.

Mayor Kiel will make a brief speech before the opening of the opera, as will John Ring Jr., president of the Advertising Club, sponsors for the opening night.

Principals and Chorus.

"Robin Hood" is one of the most successful, if not the most successful, of light operas, and as such is so familiar as to theme and music as to warrant no advance review. It was performed 4250 times by the Bostonians alone. It is in three acts The cast of principals for the week's production follows:

Robin Hood	Craig Campbell
Sheriff of Nottingham	William Danforth
Sir Guy of Gisborne	Harry Hermsen
Little John	Carl Ganvoort
Will Scarlet	Charles Galagher
Friar Tuck	Frank Moulan
Allan-a-Dale	Mildred Rogers
Lady Fitzwalter, afterward Maid Marian.	Blanche Duffield
Annabel	Caroline Andrews
Dame Durden	Marie Welter

Auto Parking Arrangements and Traffic Movement at Opera.

Arrangements for parking of automobiles and the movement of traffic in Forest Park during the opera season have been announced as follows:

The parking of machines will be under the supervision of Capt. Robert Hanna of the Mounted Police Station, and B. H. Verheyen, secretary to the Chief of Police.

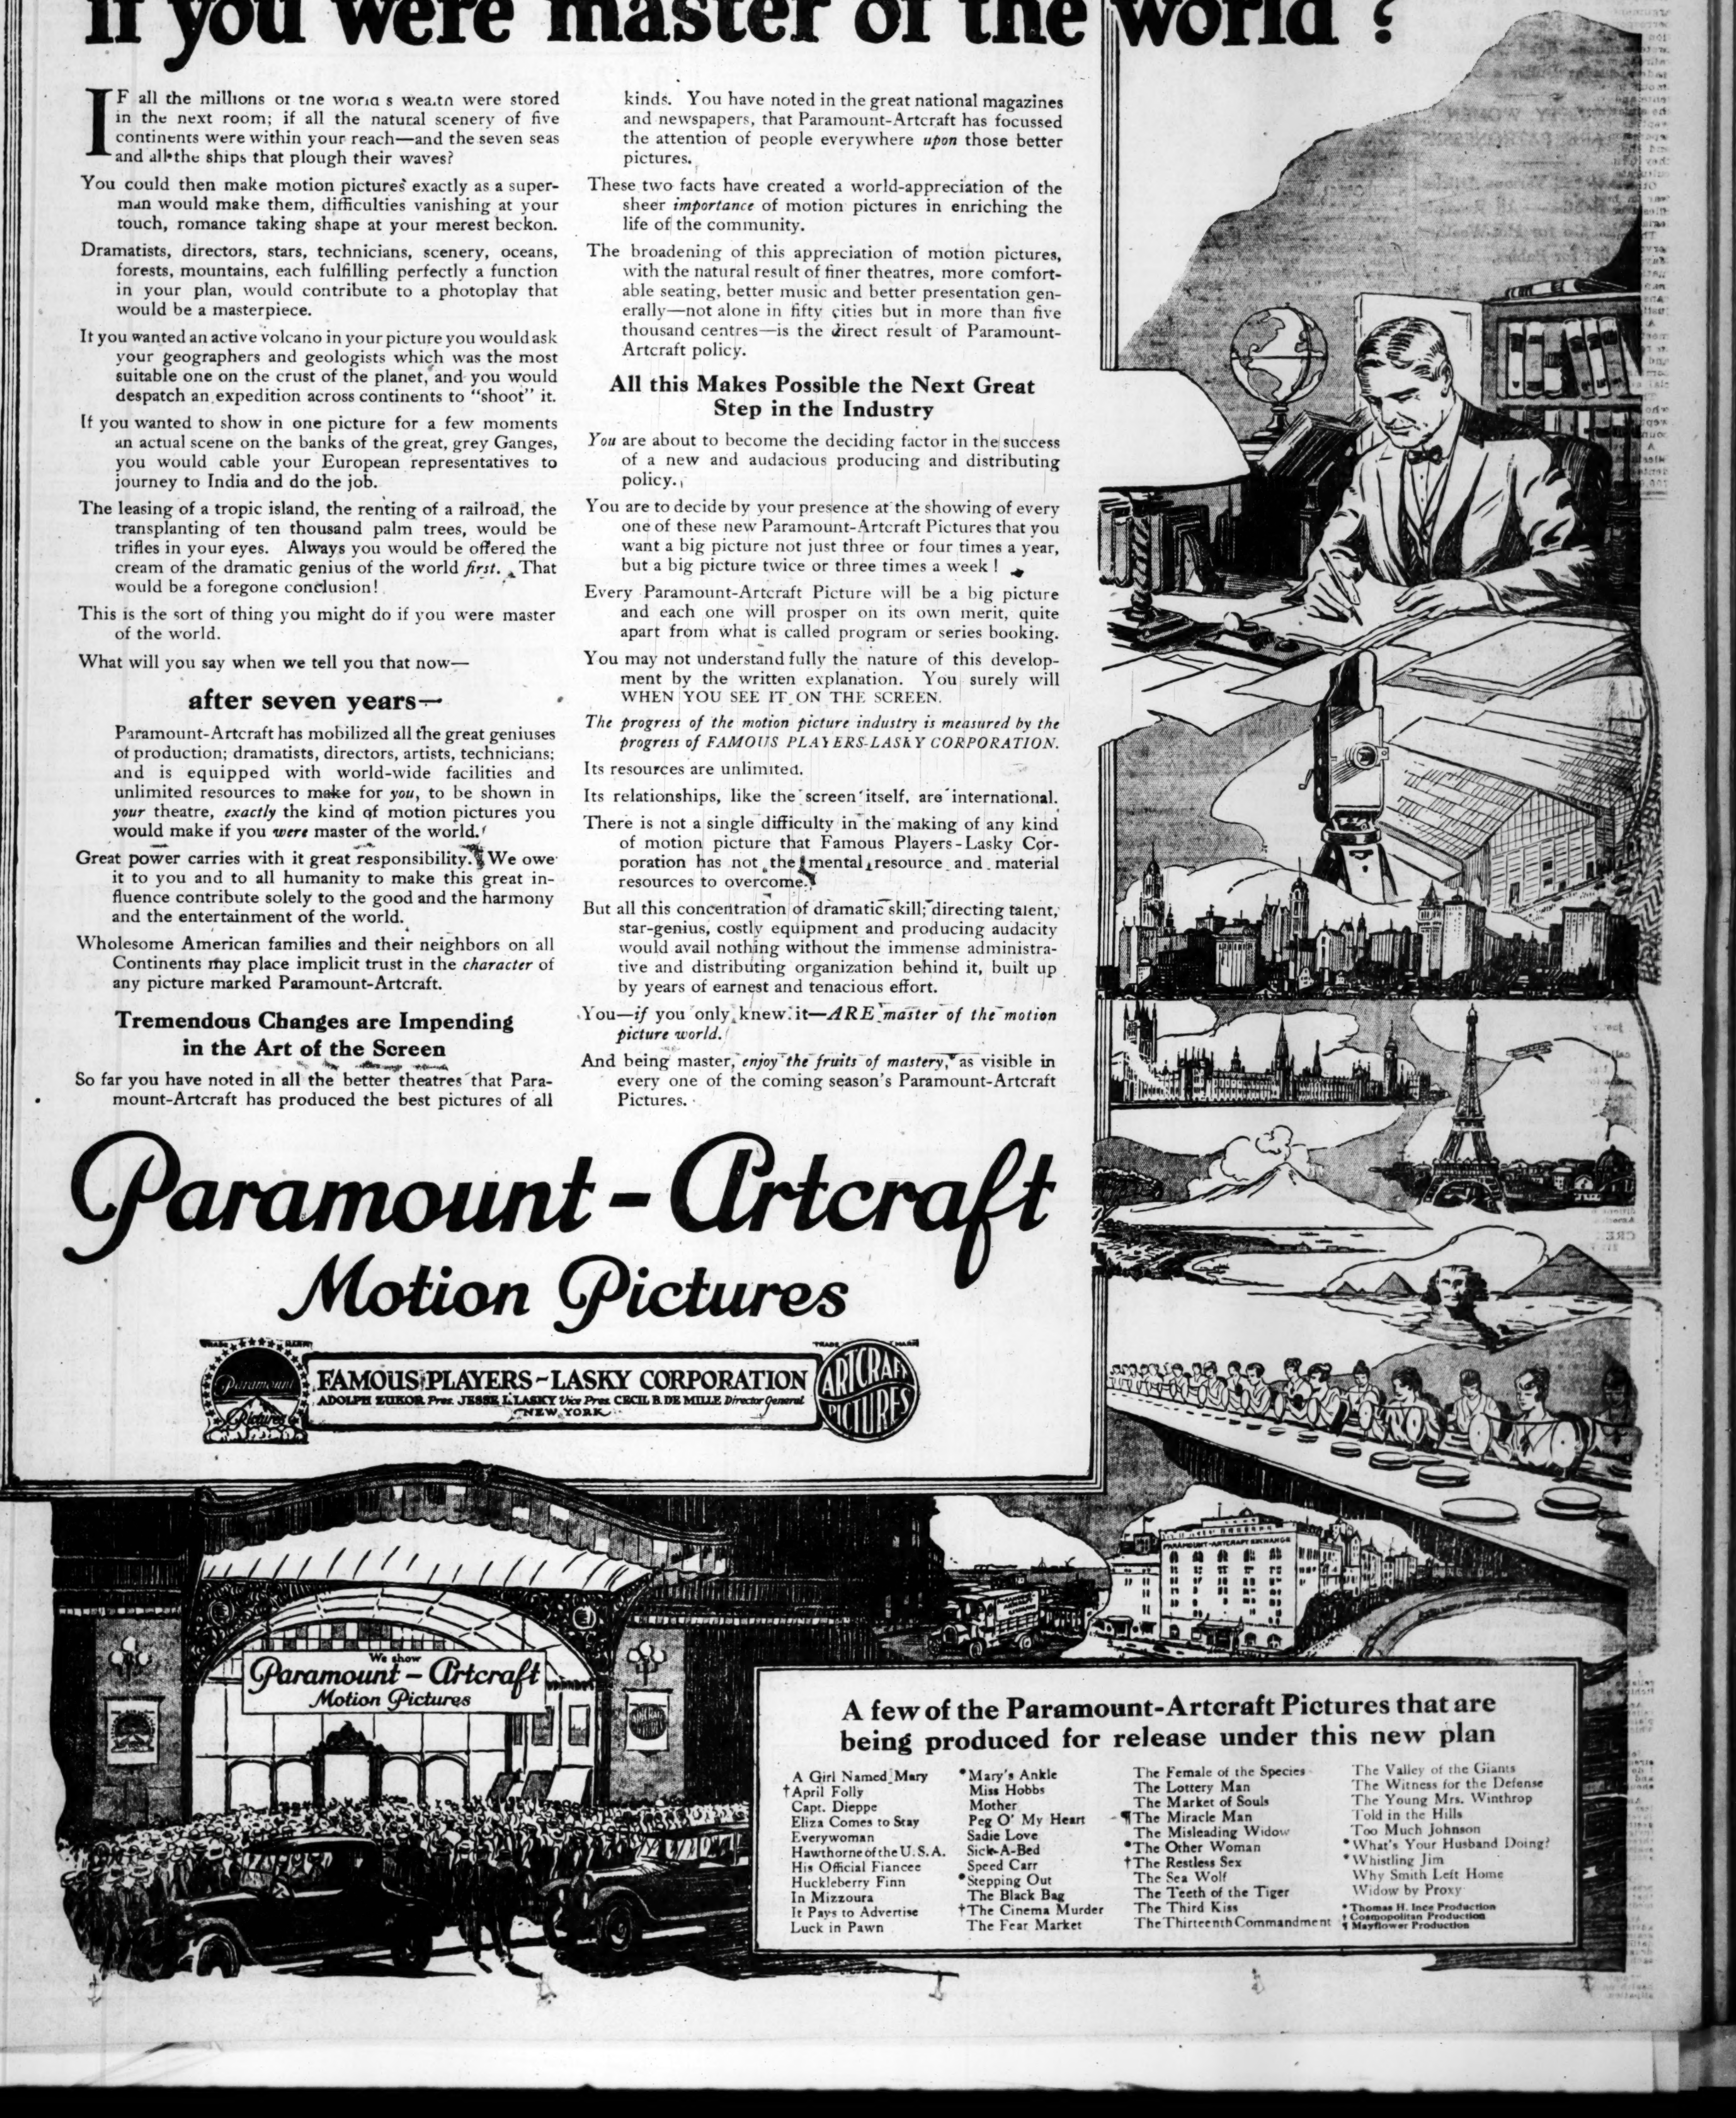
The only driveway which will be closed during the performances will be McKinley Drive, directly back of the stage. This will be closed to automobiles only, as pedestrians will follow the walk leading from the Lindell pavilion to the east entrance of the theater.

Automobiles will be parked in the usual parking space on Summit avenue, the main entrance of the theater. Additional space for special cars has been provided on Stable Drive. This space will accommodate 100 to 150 cars, and is for the convenience of automobilists who are conveying aged people or persons who are not physically able to make the ascent to the top of the amphitheater, and especially convenient for those occupying the boxes and lower tiers of seats.

Park Commissioner Cunliff has arranged to run five park busses from De Baliviere and Delmar avenues to the McKinley Drive entrance of the theater. There will be a car leave every two minutes; fare five cents.

The four taxi companies have arranged for a taxi stand on Stable Drive, and established operators near the telephone booths on the east side of the stage.

What would you do with motion pictures if you were master of the world?



PARAMOUNT-ARTCRAFT EXCHANGE
We show Paramount-Artcraft Motion Pictures

IF all the millions of the world's wealth were stored in the next room; if all the natural scenery of five continents were within your reach—and the seven seas and all the ships that plough their waves?

You could then make motion pictures exactly as a superman would make them, difficulties vanishing at your touch, romance taking shape at your merest beckon.

Dramatists, directors, stars, technicians, scenery, oceans, forests, mountains, each fulfilling perfectly a function in your plan, would contribute to a photoplay that would be a masterpiece.

If you wanted an active volcano in your picture you would ask your geographers and geologists which was the most suitable one on the crust of the planet, and you would despatch an expedition across continents to "shoot" it.

If you wanted to show in one picture for a few moments an actual scene on the banks of the great, grey Ganges, you would cable your European representatives to journey to India and do the job.

The leasing of a tropic island, the renting of a railroad, the transplanting of ten thousand palm trees, would be trifles in your eyes. Always you would be offered the cream of the dramatic genius of the world first. That would be a foregone conclusion!

This is the sort of thing you might do if you were master of the world.

What will you say when we tell you that now—

after seven years—

Paramount-Artcraft has mobilized all the great geniuses of production; dramatists, directors, artists, technicians; and is equipped with world-wide facilities and unlimited resources to make for you, to be shown in your theatre, exactly the kind of motion pictures you would make if you were master of the world.

Great power carries with it great responsibility. We owe it to you and to all humanity to make this great influence contribute solely to the good and the harmony and the entertainment of the world.

Wholesome American families and their neighbors on all Continents may place implicit trust in the character of any picture marked Paramount-Artcraft.

Tremendous Changes are Impending in the Art of the Screen

So far you have noted in all the better theatres that Paramount-Artcraft has produced the best pictures of all kinds. You have noted in the great national magazines and newspapers, that Paramount-Artcraft has focussed the attention of people everywhere upon those better pictures.

These two facts have created a world-appreciation of the sheer importance of motion pictures in enriching the life of the community.

The broadening of this appreciation of motion pictures, with the natural result of finer theatres, more comfortable seating, better music and better presentation generally—not alone in fifty cities but in more than five thousand centres—is the direct result of Paramount-Artcraft policy.

All this Makes Possible the Next Great Step in the Industry

You are about to become the deciding factor in the success of a new and audacious producing and distributing policy.

You are to decide by your presence at the showing of every one of these new Paramount-Artcraft Pictures that you want a big picture not just three or four times a year, but a big picture twice or three times a week!

Every Paramount-Artcraft Picture will be a big picture and each one will prosper on its own merit, quite apart from what is called program or series booking.

You may not understand fully the nature of this development by the written explanation. You surely will WHEN YOU SEE IT ON THE SCREEN.

The progress of the motion picture industry is measured by the progress of FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION.

Its resources are unlimited.

Its relationships, like the screen itself, are international.

There is not a single difficulty in the making of any kind of motion picture that Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has not the mental resource and material resources to overcome.

But all this concentration of dramatic skill, directing talent, star-genius, costly equipment and producing audacity would avail nothing without the immense administrative and distributing organization behind it, built up by years of earnest and tenacious effort.

You—if you only knew it—ARE master of the motion picture world.

And being master, enjoy the fruits of mastery, as visible in every one of the coming season's Paramount-Artcraft Pictures.

This entertainment will be given on the lawn of the home of Ambassador David R. Francis, Maryland and Newstead avenues, on Wednesday evening, for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. If you cherish a secret admiration for the witty little weather bird which is a daily feature of the Post-Dispatch, you can get a tiny weather-bird paper weight for your desk, or for some baby to play with. These little birds were made by members of the Junior League Workshop of the Children's Hospital. Mrs. Worthington Eddy will be in charge of the booth and the following will be in attendance: Mrs. Jerome Schotten, Misses Charlotte and Juliet Reyburn, Georgie Anderson, Mary Plant, Eleanor Cozzens, Ruth O'Reilly and Marian Franciscus.

The Military Booth will be in charge of Mrs. George L. Ball and will consist of three distinct parts, each part representing a different branch of the service. Army, navy and marine sections will operate in competition and if you have, or did have a sweetheart, brother or son in one of these branches, you will want to buy your novelties from the girl representing that particular branch. The booths will be conducted in true military fashion, with a bugler and military band in attendance. The following officers from the recruiting stations are lending their assistance in their arrangement: Col. E. R. Harris, army; Lieutenant-Commander E. A. Brooks, navy, and Lieut. L. C. Vital Need of the Fund.

Dr. G. M. Tuttle and H. E. Mortlad, president and secretary, respectively, of the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission, will make short talks during the evening, to explain the vital necessity of the Milk and Ice Fund work. As is generally known, all money contributed to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund over and above the cost of supplying ice to about 500 familes, goes to support of the Pure Milk Commission, the expenses of which will be heavier this year than ever before, due to advanced prices. There will also be added expense to the commission in establishing two supply depots in districts where there has been much illness recently among babies and young children. For these reasons it is clear that the minimum of $6000 set as the goal of this year's Victory campaign for the poor babies is absolutely necessary, and that $7000 or more could be used to advantage.

FORMER ST. LOUIS WOMAN WRITE OF WASHINGTON BOMB EXPLOSION

Home of Mrs. Charles H. Hoyle, Next to That of Attorney-General Palmer, Was Damaged.

Mrs. George Miltenberger of 3758 West Pine boulevard has received a letter from Mrs. Charles H. Hoyle of Washington, D. C., whose home adjoins that of Attorney-General Palmer, telling of the attempt to destroy the Palmer home and of the damage done by the explosion to her house. Mrs. Hoyle is a sister of Mrs. John Hays Hammond, and a number of years ago was religious editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Mrs. Hoyle was asleep at the time of the explosion, but the other members of the family were awake. She said windows in the house were broken, plaster knocked from the walls, doors blown from their hinges and locked doors blown open.

She told of the finding by searchers in her yard of the skull and singed hair of the perpetrator of the plot, who was blown to pieces.

LEONARD EAR OIL

Relieves Deafness, Stops Head Noises

Nine out of ten cases of Deafness and Head Noises are caused by catarrhal mucus (matter) in the Eustachian Tube, which connects the nose and the ears. Leonard Ear Oil removes the mucus, opens up the tube and the other air passages of the head, and the result is improved Hearing and relief from Head Noises. It is not put in the ears, but is "Rubbed in Back of Ears" and inserted in the nostrils, and "Common Sense Directions for Care of Hearing," which accompanies each bottle, tells you exactly how to take care of your own case. Do not be misled by substitutes or imitations. The only genuine "EAR OIL" is A. O. Leonard Ear Oil. It is the original and has been on the market since 1907, and every year it has relieved hundreds of people of their Ear Troubles. No matter how long you have been deaf, nor how deaf you are or what caused your deafness, or how many things you have already tried which have failed to relieve you, Leonard Ear Oil has relieved many such cases as your own. OFFICIALS UNDECIDED ON PAYLESS VACATIONS Street Commissioner to Begin Laying Off $75-a-Month Men Tomorrow, However.

City Hall officials, who have found it necessary to lay off employes in their departments in the interest of economy, yesterday were unable to decide whether or not they would abide by the recommendations in a resolution recently passed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, providing that department heads in such instances take similar vacations without pay.

The resolution was passed at the direction of Mayor Kiel, who at the time expressed the opinion that it would be false economy to lay off low-salaried employes and retain at steady employment high-salaried officials. The Mayor said that the retrenchment made necessary by a deficiency in appropriations should be carried out in an equitable manner.

Layoffs to Start Tomorrow.

Commissioner of Streets Slater yesterday announced that beginning tomorrow he would lay off employes of his department so that in the course of a year about 1800 workmen, who receive about $75 a month, would take an enforced payless vacation of two weeks. When questions, however, as to whether he, too, would take a payless vacation, Slater was unable to decide.

"I have a lot of work to do that requires me to be here daily and I do not think the people of St. Louis want me to work without pay," Slater said. "I have never seen the resolution of the Board of Estimate outside of the newspapers and therefore I cannot say just what I will do."

Talbert Also Undecided.

Director of Streets and Sewers Talbert, who also would be required by the resolution to take a payless vacation, inasmuch as the employes under Slater are in his department, said he had never officially heard of the resolution and could not say what he would do.

Mayor Kiel, when informed of the attitude of Slater and Talbert, said the resolution of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment would stand and that he would recommend an investigation of the situation tomorrow. Slater receives $5000 a year and Talbert $8000.

EVIDENCE OF ABUSE IS FOUND IN KOREA

Correspondent Writes Appearances Tend to Support Stories of Japanese Torture.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PEKIN, June 14.—In nearly three months' traveling in Korea the correspondent discovered evidence tending to support the charges of misgovernment, torture and useless slaughter by the Japanese.

In the country districts stories of murder and crimes against women were told. One of the victims was a patient in a missionary hospital. In a valley about 50 miles from Fusan the Japanese soldiery closed up a horseshoe-shaped, valley surrounded by high hills and then shot down the villagers who attempted to escape by climbing the steep slopes. It was alleged that more than 100 persons were killed in this affray.

In Taku, a large city midway between Seoul and Fusan, hundreds of cases of torture occurred and many of the victims of ill treatment were in the hospitals. In Seoul, the capital, strings of prisoners were seen daily being taken to the jails which were already crowded. While the correspondent was in this city he spent some time in the Severance Hospital as a patient and saw wounded men taken out by the police, one of them having been beaten to death. Two days later the hospital was repeatedly entered and the patients catechised, those in charge being unable to prevent it. Detectives even attempted in the nighttime secretly to enter the room in which the correspondent was critically ill. In Seoul, Koreans were not allowed to be on the streets after dark and were not allowed to gather in groups larger than three. All the prisoners were brutally and disgustingly treated. Innocent persons were being continually arrested, kept in overcrowded prisons a month or more and then after being flogged released without trial.

Northern Korea suffered the most from the Japanese brutalities. In the Pingyang and Sensan districts whole villages were destroyed and churches burned.

The correspondent visited an interior village to learn the truth of a report that the Christians had been driven from their homes. The local head official, not a Christian, admitted to me that the non-Christian villagers had driven the Christians into the mountains because the local military officials (gendarmes) had warned him that their presence would result in the village being shot up. He said he had the most friendly feeling for the Christians, but drove them out in self-protection.

In other villages which I visited the buildings had been entirely destroyed and the places were deserted. In some places I found only a few terrorized and tearful women who did not dare to speak to a foreigner because the local gendarmes would beat and torture them if they did so. The majority of the schools throughout the country are closed and in most places the missionaries are not allowed to hold services. Though innocent of wrongdoing, they are under continual suspicion. It was impossible for them or others to use the telegraph and postoffices.

DEATH TOLL OF JAVA VOLCANIC ERUPTION ESTIMATED AT 50,000

Red-Hot Lava Stream Flooded Inland Villages, Reports to London Mail States.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 14.—Details of the volcanic eruption on the island of Java have just reached here in a message to the Daily Mail from Weltevreden, Java, dated June 4.

"Mount Kloet, Java, was in eruption on the night of May 19," it says, "and the next morning the country within 50 miles of it was darkened by a thick rain of ashes. The volcano threw out the total contents of Crater Lake, covering half a square mile and 300 yards deep. Crater bank gave way and a red-hot lava stream, mixed with mud and steaming water, flooded many inland native villages and over-ran the town of Britar, tearing down everything in its path.

"The inhabitants suddenly awoke to find a brown, boiling current eight miles broad, and died miserably, half buried and half drowned. The aspect of the country was changed into a mud lake, resembling No Man's Land in Flanders in winter.

"Twelve villages were destroyed, 21 miles of railways disappeared and sugar plantations suffered heavily. Swollen rivers are bringing down bodies of natives. Military and civil medical services and private doctors are treating thousands of injured in field hospitals. Soldiers are cutting out bodies of victims from the now stone-hard lava.

"It is estimated that there are 50,000 dead."

THREE MONTHS MORE NEEDED TO COMPLETE DEMOBILIZATION

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The army is only two-thirds demobilized, the War Department announced today and it will take more than three months to complete the work at the present rate of 357,000 discharges a month.

On June 10 the strength of the army was 1,282,625, with 644,000 in France and Germany, 88,000 en route to the United States and 406,000 in the United States. More than 2,500,000 men have been discharged, of whom 1,350,000 were brought back from overseas. During the first 10 days of June 110,000 soldiers were embarked from France, a new record.

ON EVERY U. S. TRANSPORT THE BOYS WERE ENTERTAINED BY The NEW EDISON

CHIPPENDALE and WILLIAM AND MARY OFFICIAL LABORATORY MODELS.

What the New Edison Means to You

IT MEANS a phonograph of the highest order, invented by Edison.

IT MEANS that your discriminating musical friends will expect an Edison for their entertainment when visiting your home.

IT MEANS the better the phonograph the greater the pleasure you derive by its possession, with no regrets.

IT MEANS a perfect re-creation of the human voice, the living artists in your home, true to life without alteration.

IT IS DIFFICULT to write a word picture of the New Edison; no words in the dictionary can describe its ultimate perfection.

IT IS EASY to hear the greatest phonograph in the world; our music parlors are open to you without obligation.

IN THIS AGE you should expect a perfect re-creation of sound, without the slightest alteration.

IT IS your privilege to witness the perfection of the New Edison by attending any one of our tone-tests which we give from time to time.

IT IS our challenge to any manufacturer of sound-reproducing instruments to duplicate our tests of placing the original artist and record side by side for comparison.

IT IS EASY to own an Edison under our club plan. Write for full particulars and catalogue by return mail.

Lift Off Corns With the Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Just a drop of Freezone on a sore, touchy corn stops that corn from hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn right out, root and all. No pain, no soreness. You'll laugh.

Hard corns, soft corns, corns between the toes and painful calluses on bottom of feet loosen right up and fall off. Truly magic! Corns and calluses are needless. Don't keep them!

Freezone is the remarkable ether discovery of a Cincinnati genius. Try it! No humbug!

Tiny Bottles of Freezone cost only a few cents—at Drug Stores

This Pretty Girl Who Defies Age Uses Howard's Buttermilk Cream to Beautify Her Complexion

Tells all good drug and department stores not to take anyone's money unless this delightful new vanishing Cream quickly shows a decided improvement. Try it today at our expense.

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It Creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dullest, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight, and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity today from your druggist and all toilet goods counters with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money to any dissatisfied user.

Beautiful actresses say: "A short massage with Buttermilk Cream at night before retiring is all that is necessary."—ADV.

CIVIL WAR PLAY COMING TO U. S.

William Harris Will Bring "Abraham Lincoln" From London.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 14.—William Harris, a New York theater manager, has arrived in London to complete arrangements for producing in America the Civil War play, "Abraham Lincoln," which is having excellent success here. Harris is pleased with his purchase of the American rights. He said the play, with slight adaptations to American requirements, should turn out to be the best thing yet written with the Civil War as a background.

"Frank Drinkwater," he said, "did what no other play writer has done; that is, he wrote a stirring piece dealing with the war of the rebellion and covered the whole period from Lincoln's first election to his assassination."

JURY CHARGES WIFE WITH KILLING HUSBAND

Verdict of Homicide Is Returned Against Mrs. Florence Wiegmann at Inquest.

Mrs. Florence Wiegmann, 25 years old, of 3913 Washington boulevard, was ordered held yesterday, following the return of a verdict by a Coroner's jury charging her with homicide in the death of her husband, Fred P. Wiegmann, 35 years old, who was shot and killed in their home at 3 p. m. Friday. Mrs. Wiegmann declined to make a statement and was taken to the matron's room at Police Headquarters.

Patrolman Mohr testified that he was summoned to the house and found Wiegmann dead on the floor in a middle room, and Mrs. Wiegmann unconscious from fainting. Wiegman had been shot several times.

Following her arrest Mrs. Wiegmann admitted shooting her husband and said it resulted from a quarrel over some money he had demanded from her. The revolver, it was testified, belonged to Wiegmann.

Mrs. Bertha Smith, a neighbor, of 3911 Washington boulevard, testified that she heard the couple quarreling and, looking through a door of the Wiegmann home, saw Wiegmann dragging his wife around by the hair, saying "I'll kill you." "For God's sake, let me go." Mrs. Wiegmann said, according to the witness.

This exclamation was followed by the firing of four shots, Mrs. Smith said. The Wiegmanns quarreled frequently, the witness said, and on several occasions Wiegmann choked and struck his wife. He was a janitor employed by the Board of Education.

MAJ. COMFORT'S STORY OF THE 35TH IN THE ARGONNE

St. Louis Officer, Who Commanded 138th Last Two Days, Gives Graphic Account of Battle

GEN. PERSHING HIMSELF WAS AT DIVISION'S P. C. IN MIDDLE OF THE FIGHT

Physical Exhaustion and Heavy Casualties Brought on All a Craving for Relief—Gen. Traub Forbade Artillery to Fire on Apremont.

In view of the charges made by Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas, to the effect that the Thirty-fifth Division was poorly handled in the Argonne battle, that the artillery was unable to go forward because of shortage of horses, and that the wounded were left on the field longer than they should have been, much interest has attached to that division's battle records.

Because of the probability of an investigation by Congress, of especial importance is this account by Maj. Norman B. Comfort, who has been in the Missouri National Guard since his enlistment as a private. At the opening of the Argonne battle he was attached to a brigade, and later to Divisional Headquarters as a liaison officer. Gen. Traub instructed all brigade and regimental commanders that Maj. Comfort "will speak with my voice," meaning that any message borne by Maj. Comfort should be heeded exactly as if the divisional commander had spoken it in person.

Maj. Comfort saw the battle from the point of view of the commanders. He saw it as did the men who were responsible for the handling of the division, brigades and regiments, and in his writing the keen concern and apprehension felt by those in power is clearly shown. It has been said that headquarters get the gloomiest view of the progress of a battle, and this feeling seems to be reflected in Maj. Comfort's narrative.

After Lieutenant-Colonel Parker was killed, Maj. Comfort was put in command of the 138th Infantry. He handled them for the last two days of the fight and brought the remnants of the regiment off the field.

His account begins with the opening of the main artillery preparation for the advance on the Argonne-Meuse front.

By Maj. Norman B. Comfort.

(Copyright, 1919, by Norman B. Comfort.)

AT 2:30 a. m., Sept. 26, 1918, the gates of hell swung ajar and a concentration of steel of every caliber from 37-millimeter to the largest naval guns on railroad sidings several miles in rear, fell upon all the ground in front. Hills that had been hills disappeared. Creek beds merged into a conglomerate mass of uplifted earth. Wire that had been straight became coiled. Meshed wire passed off into metal powder. Trenches lost all semblance of tracery. Vauquois, always enunciated by the French with an inflection of respect—"Ah! Vauquois!"—changed its silhouette. Battle-scarred, tunneled mined, intrenched and commanding, it trembled to its base. Never had our ears recorded such din. The screeching, howling, bursting shells, the reverberation of earth, the livid flashes of fire from cannon mouths belching high explosive searched targets of stone, steel, earth and flesh.

The response came. The enemy's barrage combed for our men and our guns. Too late. We were legion and the die was cast. Up swarmed the Americans closer and closer, massing near to departure trenches in every crevice or wrinkle offering cover. This artillery duel, the greatest of any age, lasted until the stroke of 5:30 a. m.

On the instant of 5:30, like the scythe cutting grain, the sheaves of steel were cut before the advancing line as the range gradually lengthened—it was the rolling barrage! Men in olive drab, crouching, filtered in small columns through prepared breaches in the wire, on a front reaching from the Argonne to the Meuse, debouching upon the great adventure. Only the faintest of gray dawns permitted one dark form to distinguish another a yard distant. A dense fog banked and congealed upon the ground and each stride groped for a purchase on Mother Earth.

The compass—the original direction faced in—something, guided our troops in the right direction. It was neither the eye nor the ear nor the terrain. That same something misdirected the Hun fire and reduced our casualties to a minimum, in that fog. Now and then the indistinct blur of the human being in front or on the flank would lurch and seemingly disintegrate into the fog. A piece of steel had found a target and one less advanced, but while the fog lasted the casualties were few. Sometimes no forms were apparent in any direction. Cries were useless, could not be heard and elicited no response. Just on, on, on, sometimes clasping hands, moved that semi-mechanical mass. Then vanished the fog. Simultaneously the zip! zing! of machine gun and rifle bullets fell in a blinding rain with deadly accuracy, halting the line.

Formation at the Start.

The battalions in the line, the Third, 137th Infantry, Maj. Koch, left, and the Third, 138th Infantry, Capt. Bottger, right, each with two companies in the assault wave and two companies in support had pressed on toward the corps' objective. The Third Battalion, 138th Infantry, was disposed: I Company, Capt. Alexander R. Skinker, assault wave, left; M Company, Capt. Harry W. Thompson, assault wave, right. The support wave: K Company, Lieut. William F. Sewell, left; L Company, Capt. Clarence J. Soedman, right. Through the fog the advancing troops held close to the lengthening barrage. The enemy crouched in shelter that offered, sought deep dugouts and returned to his posts with the passing of the barrage. The Sixty-ninth Brigade (137th and 138th Infantry Regiments and the 129th Machine Gun Battalion), echeloned in depth in two columns of battalions, passed Vauquois Mountain, the columns parting. The 137th passed to the west and the 138th to the east.

Maj. James E. Rieger of the 139th had been assigned the task of mopping up Vauquois. His battalion followed in the wake of the 137th until the Mountain was passed. The operation was completed by charging the slopes from the Hun's rear—from the northwest. A vigorous assault upon Germans dazed from the terrific artillery bombardment, the fog, bayonet and hand grenade, made Vauquois American. France had lost 40,000 men in four years contending for this stronghold and commanding observatory. The skyline of Vauquois was the outline of many craters. France and Germany had planted tons of cheddite in the network of tunnels and more than once whole contending companies had been blown to eternity.

The Seventieth Brigade followed the Sixty-ninth in line of regiments, each regiment formed in a column of battalions. This gave the division two battalions in line and a depth of six battalions exclusive of the three machine gun battalions, regimental machine gun companies and auxiliary arms, one-pounders and Stokes mortars. The battalions or waves were separated by distances of 1000 meters.

Costly Early Casualties.

Prior to the lifting of the fog about 10:15 a. m., only ineffective searching fire was met. It had had some sad results, but the movement was not retarded. Lieut. Percy L. Watson of E Company met death passing the base of Vauquois. Lieut Claude Hampshire, Second Battalion Scout Officer, received a severe wound, attempted to continue and received a second severe wound, falling into a water-filled shell hole later, regaining consciousness in a hospital. Lieuts. George M. Hager and Arthur E. Hamilton of the Third Battalion received their wounds in this advance. Maj. Joseph J. Koch received an ankle wound from a machine gun while attempting to take the Bois de Rossignol, about one kilometer north of Vauquois. As the 139th advanced, Maj. W. Dale Stepp met death in almost the same place, his wound coming from a high explosive shell.

Prisoners had been taken, mostly by surrender, except those at Vauquois. The advantage had been ours. The fog covered the advance. The enemy had been temporarily demoralized by the artillery preparation and our skirmishes overtook him, shielded by the rolling barrage, and, above all, we were on the offensive. His mission had been to guess when the barrage would lift, to stand still and hold his ground. With no visible target he found Americans abreast of him or behind his emplacements and it was "Kamerad!"

In the groping, uncertain course of the advance, emplacements were passed unnoticed and characteristically the boche clung to his guns and opened on the next wave, or on the rear of the waves gone over, as rapidly as visibility permitted a target. These groups had to be silenced locally by the oncoming waves.

By 10:15 a. m., Sept. 26, what had happened? In the march through the fog the units lost the initial line-up. Directions had varied with different leaders. At the parting of the mists attended by the receipt of the full enemy directed fire, cover was sought for reconnaissance. The general line of our front was about 600 meters south of the Varennes-Cheppy-Montfaucon road. All three battalions of the 138th had come on line and the rear units of the 137th mingled with its forward line. The Third Battalion, 138th, extended west beyond the prescribed boundary (regimental), the headquarters company and headquarters group halted near the cross roads south of Cheppy. The First Battalion was southeast of Cheppy, extending into the Ninety-first Division area and the Second Battalion to the right of the First Battalion in combat liaison.

The Thirty-fifth Division had outstripped both flanking divisions, made a salient in the front and halted with only such cover as the accidents of the churned ground afforded—face to face with the Hindenburg line!

The Hindenburg line has been described. In passing it may be said that every device known to military resourcefulness together with two years time for preparation, gave the Hun just reason to believe that this line would never be lost. Nature and man endowed this position just here with a marsh, a little river, barbed wire, trip mines, natural foliage for concealment augmented by camouflage, a hill beyond and a wood flanking. Beyond these obstacles, trenches deep and revetted, steel encased dugouts, concrete and iron pill-boxes, presented a defense that morale only could overcome.

The drill regulations say that fire superiority must be gained first, but that this alone will not win battles—that it is necessary to actually close with the enemy.

American Morale Won Cheppy.

Fire superiority was sought before Cheppy, but never gained. The closing—the American morale—won the battle. Had the boche reinforced his line and repeatedly met us with bayonet and grenade, replacing lost gunners in pill boxes and trenches, he might have held that line indefinitely. They gave a desperate battle. Never let it be thought that the boche was not a seasoned, tenacious and fatalistic fighter. With minor exceptions—human beings of any origin vary in individual characteristics—the boche manned his guns knowing full well that he would be killed or captured, until the oncoming American was within bayoneting distance.

Further, if occasion permitted, the boche concealed himself until the line had passed beyond, then knowing himself to be surrounded in every avenue of retreat, resumed fire on our rear or flank, until killed or captured. It has been many times written that machine gunners were chained to their emplacements, and if this were the case I believe it to have been but a fiendish ruse of deception voluntarily practiced by the gunner to secure an alleviation of the deserts to be meted out at the surrender. I am speaking of the Prussian Guard, the flower of the German army. These are the only troops (except their reinforcements) with which our troops (the Thirty-fifth) came in contact in "open warfare."

Capt. Skinker's Death.

To retrace—each commander, Colonel, Major, Captain, Lieutenant, Sergeant, Corporal and leader, finding himself and his "neighbors"—normal subdivision lines had wafted off with the mist—checked, looked at his front and sized up the elements at hand which he could control. The enemy stood between him and his objective, the place he was told to go. How were the obstacles, human, mechanical and inanimate, to be overcome? Here and there a spot in the line received less fire than another. The advance here was not prohibited. This leader gained ground and weakened the enemy morale by his encroachment at the same time his neighbor's morale was strengthened and the attention of his immediate enemy had been divided. The neighbor filtered forward and resumed his fire. Another leader, a Captain, weighing the cost of throwing 200 men into a maze of mined barbed wire covering a swamp, in the face of a hail of steel, realized that his front presented almost insurmountable obstacles. His orders were to advance, yet his commission as an officer required certain discretionary decisions and he was charged with the normal safeguarding of his command. His thoughts were not known, but after the command had been placed in the best cover the ground afforded, yet permitting fire, the Captain with an automatic rifleman—Private Nels Wold—and an ammunition carrier (name not known), set out to silence the fire before him. The ammunition carrier met death almost at the inception of the exploit. The Captain—Alexander R. Skinker, seized the ammunition pans and continued the feeding of the automatic, until he too met death. The President, upon recommendation of the Commander in Chief, awarded these men the highest American distinction—the Medal of Honor.

(Maj. Comfort is in error in ascribing this feat to Private Nels Wold. While the names of the two gallant men who accompanied Capt. Skinker have not been positively ascertained, neither of them was Nels Wold, as he was killed some three or four kilometers from that spot. He was a member of Capt. Skinker's company, however.)

Again, the Colonel, Harry S. Howland, with a staff of semi noncombatant officers, runners and signalers, found himself in the position of other leaders—on the front line, the enemy before him—orders to advance. Estimating the situation, he marshaled his group, dispatched instructions to approaching tanks, placed Capt. Reinholdt in charge of the local army of 60 or 70, and made his local assault. Col. Howland soon received a machine-gun bullet through the palm of his left hand and over his protest was evacuated, relinquishing command to Lieutenant-Colonel Parker.

Among those in the headquarters group were Capt. Harry E. Lyons (Headquarters Company), wounded and evacuated; French Lieutenant-Interpreter Julian Morel, a man of noble qualities, four years of service with the French army, where he had been twice wounded, and who was not required to accompany the Americans in battle. He was again wounded before Cheppy. Lieutenant-Colonel Parker had been ordered to Washington, but pleaded for and was granted permission to remain over for the "show;" First Lieutenant Clarence W. Schnelle, the regimental Adjutant; First Lieutenant H. Clarke Venable, regimental Signal Officer; Capt. Gustave Erhardt, French liaison officer, and Capt. Eugene F. Lloyd, regimental liaison officer, completed the headquarters group of commissioned personnel.

Maj. Sauerwein Falls.

Toward the right the First Battalion received fire from Cheppy and more immediately from a wood in the Ninety-first Division sector to the right. Maj. Sauerwein required his men to seek cover and improve their position, gallantly forgetting himself and moving up and down the length of his line, giving instructions for an attack upon the wood. There was no mistaking the leader of this group and soon he received two machine gun bullets, both lodging in the neck. Maj. Sauerwein was considered by his command of 1000 of the most able commander in the division and an officer's subordinates are his severest judges.

On the extreme right, encroaching farther into the territory allotted to the Ninety-first Division, Capt. Meier with the Second Battalion in combat liaison made their assaults, receiving checks, but steadily gained ground. Fighting of the severest nature obtained along the full extent of this front—the Hindenburg line.

Fire superiority was never gained. It could not be done. The boche had cover of the most highly developed type, our men had none. His line should have held, but it did not. Along came tanks manned by French and Americans at just the time the task seemed too great. Renewed assaults were made, each leader, the General in his own area. The boche could not understand the Americans continuing on under this fire of annihilation. They followed no rules of warfare he was schooled in. The cold steel of the bayonet and the bursting hand grenade finished the work. The line became American from Varennes, passing north of Cheppy and thence due east, well into the Ninety-first Division sector.

Lieuts. Price, Moll and Haller, with some 35 men of the Second Battalion, are credited with the first entrance into Cheppy, about noon, coming from the east. This group bombed dugouts, silenced nests, took prisoners and captured the "cantine."

On the Left of the Sector.

Meanwhile, in the left of the division sector, the Second and Third Battalions of the 137th Infantry fought every inch of the way to the northerly Varennes-Cheppy road. The boche met the advancing troops with terrific machine gun fire from the high ground southeast of Varennes. The Second Battalion, 137th, Capt. Vaughan commanding, assisted by the Third Battalion, 137th, and a group of Third Battalion, 138th, under Sergt. Joseph Britton, with a magnificent assault, cleared all obstacles before, and took the eastern portion of Varennes, including all ground east of the Aire River. Maj. Rieger and the Second Battalion, 139th, after mopping Vauquois, cleared the Bois de Rossignol, which the advanced elements had passed on either flank.

The boche was in retreat. An orderly, undemoralized retirement, however, characterized his moves. He maintained throughout his systematic forceful artillery support. The Hun air service was in absolutely perfect liaison with the artillery. High explosive and gas shells met the advancing troops with exact precision throughout the long day. Low flying planes bearing the Black Cross followed our lines spraying them with point blank machine gun fire.

Our observation balloons, four in number that day, had hardly measured their ground cable when nimble Hun planes, hiding in the clouds, swooped upon the less dexterous aircraft. One balloon succeeded in making a hasty descent, the others marking their former whereabouts by a funnel-shaped column of flame and smoke.

However, the boche was being forced backward. The infantry would would not be stopped. Only slight Hun infantry resistance was met after the taking of Varennes and Cheppy until reaching the general line, Ferne de Belair-Cote (Hill) 218 (north of Very). Here the boche again had the high ground commanding draws and treacherous valleys, and which had been prepared two years before for just such an emergency.

On the right, after the cleaning of Cheppy, the 138th advanced in close contact with the retreating Hun, meeting at the town almost no infantry resistance, but passing through a well-directed concentration of high explosives and gas. Capt. Holmer, Machine Gun Company, received a shell fragment wound here. Farther to the left, Lieut. Alexander R. Seamon of M Company met death in leading a group in attack upon a machine gun emplacement.

Opposition Before the 137th.

The 137th did not fare so well on the left and met increasing opposition until halted near the Belair-Cote 218 line. A hasty conference was held between Cols. Hamilton and Ristine of the 137th and 139th, respectively. Col. Ristine requested permission of the Seventieth Brigade commander to pass through the 137th, stating the 139th could take Charpentry. No reply was given, but upon his own initiative Col. Ristine passed a battalion of the 139th through the 137th and made a determined assault in an area echeloned densely in depth with machine guns, storming and taking the outer positions before Charpentry. Few or no prisoners were taken in this assault on the outer works of Charpentry. Rifle, pistol and grenade disposed of this garrison, which held to the last.

(This passage of the lines, according to other reports, was made earlier in the day, and Ristine's regiment led at the attack on Varennes.)

Night was upon the weary troops. Entrenching tools (a part of each man's equipment), widened and con-

MAJOR NORMAN B COMFORT.

How the 35th Division Carried Out Its Orders

By Maj. Comfort.

HISTORY will record the Argonne battle as being the strategic wedge of the war. The enemy protected this front with every known military device. Veteran troops of the empire defended the line from the Aisne to the Meuse. The Thirty-fifth Division of Missouri and Kansas men rammed the line, outstripping the divisions on either flank, advancing to a total depth of twelve and a half kilometers, or about seven and a half miles. The entire length of the advance was resisted step by step as bitterly as man and material could resist man and material.

The boche was in retreat. An orderly, undemoralized retirement, however, characterized his moves. He maintained throughout his systematic forceful artillery support. The Hun air service was in absolutely perfect liaison with the artillery. High explosive and gas shells met the advancing troops with exact precision throughout the long day. Low flying planes bearing the Black Cross followed our lines spraying them with point blank machine gun fire.

Maj. James E. Rieger of the 139th had been assigned the task of mopping up Vauquois. His battalion followed in the wake of the 137th until the Mountain was passed. The operation was completed by charging the slopes from the Hun's rear—from the northwest. A vigorous assault upon Germans dazed from the terrific artillery bombardment, the fog, bayonet and hand grenade, made Vauquois American. France had lost 40,000 men in four years contending for this stronghold and commanding observatory.

Asking which fork of the road led to Charpentry I told him I would get to Gen. Barry, the artillery commander, at once and ask for counter battery fire. Col. Nuttman gave me the wrong direction as I learned later. Setting out at a gallop I passed the P. C. of Col. Delaplane who was accompanied at the time by Maj. Dwight Davis. They were getting the same effect from the boche artillery. Soon a town, presumably Charpentry, appeared to the right, ahead, and I turned across the field for a short cut. Rifle fire seemed to be crossing the path from both directions and shouting voices ordered me to dismount. Coming back of some brush I found myself passing between the two firing lines and coming in before Eclisfontaine for which the 91st Division was then contending. Examining the map of Col. Mudgett of the 364th Infantry, I found this to be just the opposite side of the sector, and hastened down the Roman road to Charpentry, here getting a motor cycle to the Division P. C. at Cheppy. Gen. Pershing was just leaving the P. C. after a conference with Gens. Traub and Berry. The situation was communicated at once, repeating Col. Nuttman's call for artillery assistance. Gen. Berry designated the batteries for this mission and gave the necessary instructions to his aides. Gen. Traub listened in silence until all was arranged when he said:

"Gen. Barry, we cannot put one shell into Apremont until we know where the 28th Division is. We have had no report on them for three hours." The advance elements of the twenty-eighth might penetrate Apremont at any moment—but the deadly hostile fire continued.

At this stage (the fourth day), however, regimental and battalion designations were more or less theoretical. Units had become so intermingled, and because all daylight hours since Sept. 25th had been devoted to attempts to advance, a real reorganization had not been made. Depletion of officers and men, reapportionment and incidents of battle had wiped out original distinctive lines. Liaison became poor as the liaison personnel and equipment became depleted.

Upon the dispatching of orders, Col. Walker set out on foot to the front line to insure the promptness of the ordered advance at 5:30. It would not be light until nearly six. Courier service was quite uncertain. Arriving at the line at 5:10, not a sign of life was evident!

This opportunity for reorganization (Sept. 29) was the first since Sept. 25, and the thought of food and rest was welcome indeed—"bless the engineers." Couriers were sent in the different directions directing the 138th to assemble at Charpentry under cover of darkness. Capt. Thompson's group responded that it could not relinquish its position. The reorganization was never effected. Just as the sun was sinking in the west the boche made a new attack. It appeared very serious. The heavy French guns, transports, ambulances and wounded rushed to the rear. It was reported the boche might break the line. A courier rushed up with this message:

"To any Officer:

"You will impress all officers and men available and proceed at once to the defense of Baulny. By command of Gen. Traub. Walter V. Gallagher, Lieutenant-Colonel G-3."

Our units were scattered and such as were in the line could not be spared from where they were. Going to Maj. Burgher's dressing station I called among the wounded for all men of the 138th who could walk. About 75, injured or gassed and "tagged" awaiting ambulances, responded. Some 50 of these were willing to try to make another stand. These with some 50 others, Lieuts. Vogt and Williams, 138th, and Lieut. Dorst, 137th, were disposed as skirmishers and moved to the high ground taking the line northwest of Baulny extending to the Aire River. This group, largely injured men, held this portion of the line through the night of Sept. 29.

The figures, as I remember them, for the 138th Infantry at the first count at Cheppy, showed 19 officers and 984 men. This included some noncombatant officers and men who had not been in the line but joined at that point. The figures increased later as lost ones filtered in from other units. The three battalions totaled something over 600 men, the balance belonged to the headquarters, supply and machine gun companies. The figures upon the step-off, Sept. 26, per the list compiled by the (later) Adjutant, Capt. John E. Mitchell, showed 83 officers and 3050 men.

MAJOR COMFORT'S STORY OF THE 35TH IN THE ARGONNE

nected—shell holes affording some protection from the unrelenting, though less effective, artillery fire. Commanders oriented themselves and reformed their units. Stock was taken, plans laid, sentinels posted, scouting done and liaison established. With a meal of bully beef and hard bread, those "through for the day," slept the sleep of the weary. The final line of the night of Sept. 26th was generally Ferme de Belair-Cote 218.

While the fighting men slept, the work of the high command assumed its full proportions. In modern warfare, during the push, very little control of the front is exercised back of the battalion commander. The company and platoon commanders determine the local outcome. Higher commanders can do but little more than co-ordinate the efforts of the troops as a whole and retain reserves in suitable positions as the action progresses.

On the night of Sept. 26 the Post of Command of the Sixty-ninth Brigade (Col. Nuttman), was established near the junction of the Baulny and Varennes-Cheppy road. The Seventieth Brigade P. C. (Col. Walker's), located in a former boche abri in Cheppy. The building selected was of concrete, deep down in a draw and extending under the road leading out toward Varennes. It had been designed as bomb-proof from French shells coming from the south with windows opening to the formerly secure north.

Col. Walker, having had no sleep for two nights and having partaken only of coffee during the same period, suffered a temporary collapse. Maj. Cocke, the Adjutant of the Seventieth Brigade, and the writer, were to divide the night. Much was to be done before daylight. The lines must be charted, regimental and battalion headquarters located and charted on the situation map, liaison perfected forward, back, right and left. Reports made as to effective strength, supply, etc., and preparation to meet any counter-attack that might develop.

The brigade headquarters personnel included: First Lieutenant William H. Grigg, brigade liaison officer; First Lieutenants Dudley and Hale, aides de camp; First Lieutenant Stryker, brigade intelligence officer, and a force of signallers, runners and operators.

Orders to Report at Midnight.

At midnight a mounted orderly reported to direct the 69th and 70th brigade commanders, with all haste, on horseback, to the chief of staff. The courier did not know the location of the 69th Brigade P. C., but said the business was urgent and no time to be lost. Col. Walker was unable to make the trip and the writer accompanied the courier to the chief of staff, first sending two reliable runners to lead Col. Nuttman to the 70th Brigade P. C. The guide led to a shell hole about a kilometer and a half south of Cheppy. Squatting here under a shelter half propped up with brush were Col. Hawkins, chief of staff; Col. Klemm, then commanding the 128th and 129th Field Artillery regiments, and a French artillery liaison Lieutenant. We had brought with us Corp. James Smith, to learn the route. He was dispatched at a gallop to lead Col. Nuttman. An order had come from corps for resumption of the advance at 5:30 a. m. Gen. Traub had been on a reconnaissance and not seen by the chief of staff since 5 p. m. Upon receipt of full information of the situation, the chief of staff dictated the attack order in the flickering light of a failing candle stub. The order was for the advance to begin at 8:30 a. m.

(In the censorious report of Gen. Drum, chief of staff of the army, on the operations of the Thirty-fifth Division, he said:

"That it was a serious error for both the division commander and the chief of staff to leave their headquarters at the same time."

It appears from Maj. Comfort's article that Gen. Traub on this occasion was absent for about 24 hours.

The significance seems to be that in the middle of the battle, after a day of terrific fighting and when orders from the corps commander had been received to continue the advance, the commander of the division was not at his headquarters to read and transmit the orders. He had not been there for seven hours. This was done by his subordinate officers (Col. Hawkins, Col. Klemm, Maj. Comfort and others).

Responsibility for Many Lives.

Col. Nuttman had not arrived and the reproduction of the order and notification of all units devolved upon the Seventieth Brigade Headquarters. Setting out for the P. C. alone, with the only order and plan of attack for 14,000 men and charged with the dissemination of same in a short few hours, is a sensation that will long be recalled. The occasional burst of a shell, the rain, coupled with the shying of the horse on approach of a body which he readily detected in the blackness, made the battlefield of the day a dismal place at night.

At the P. C. each man wrote a copy of the order as it was read aloud. It was completed at 10 minutes past 3, just as Col. Nuttman arrived. The Colonel was accompanied by Col. Ristine. Colonels Nuttman and Ristine made dispositions and dispatched instructions for their units. Other organizations of the division were reached by runners. Very little time remained for the necessary changes in the formations. The runner-time to the forward elements was 40 minutes barring accident.

At 4:20 a. m. a mounted courier reached the P. C. with an order which read:

"To C. Gs. 69th and 70th Brigades. Pursuant to Corps' orders, resume advance at 5:30 hour. Oklahoma 1."

"Oklahoma 1," was the code designation for "the Divisional Commander."

This was startling as the order which had previously been dispatched prescribed the stepping off time as 8:30 hour, preceded by three hours of artillery preparation to commence at 5:30. Not only was the artillery counted upon as greatly facilitating the attack (and for real effective work Col. Klemm had stated that actual daylight observation was necessary), but the time remaining was not sufficient to reach all elements with notice of the changed plans. The orders for the artillery barrage, calling for a concentration before our front, starting at 5:30 had been given and failure to reach all units meant the likelihood of the infantry being churned in our own barrage.

Original Order to Stand.

It was thought that this message had been relayed from the message center, the officer sending same not knowing that the Chief of Staff had issued the attack order. Corp. Smith, the only man knowing the route to the Chief of Staff and the artillery commander, was dispatched with all speed for instructions from Col. Hawkins. The answer came back for original order to stand—three hours artillery preparation—step off at 8:30. Corp. Smith returned with those instructions at 4:55 a. m.

Artillery shelling had continued throughout the night. Suddenly a terrific explosion occurred in the P. C., momentarily stunning those assembled and extinguishing the three candle stubs. A high-explosive shell had burst in passing through the window frame. Candles were relighted with the expectation of finding most of the group dead. Instead only one had suffered a few face cuts from the flying glass. At this moment Gen. Traub, panting and with gas mask alert, entered accompanied by Capt. Sammons. "Gentlemen, did you receive my message to advance at 5:30?" he queried. The situation was hastily explained—the order that had been promulgated—the receipt of the message signed "Oklahoma 1," the decision by the Chief of Staff that the first order would stand—the impossibility of quick enough communication and change of barrage.

The General interrupted: "It is Gen. Pershing's order; it must be done!" The General was told "it is now 5:15, the quickest possible communication with the forward battalions is 40 minutes in the dark, barring accidents; the artillery schedule cannot be changed short of an hour to reach all guns; an advance at 5:30 is impossible. Cannot Gen. Pershing's order be construed as permitting the attack to commence with artillery preparation at 5:30?" Maj. Cocke interrupted, adding, "with immediate notification the artillery could lift at 6:30, permitting the infantry to step forward at 6:30." Gen. Traub replied: "Gentlemen, to your commands. The infantry will advance at 6:30. Notify the artillery instantly." Brigade Commanders parted, Col. Ristine hurried to his regiment, couriers were dispatched to all organizations. Corp. Smith was called to ride to the artillery commander. He did not respond. I reached into his bunk, "a double-decker," near the table, and shook him. Still no response. Striking a match revealed him dead. The shell that had entered the window killed him. He passed away without a murmur and none had noticed the calamity that had occurred in the dark abri. A splendid chap, James Smith, Eureka, Kan. Many was the responsible mission he had performed that day.

By great good fortune all units were notified. The barrage lifted at 6:30 simultaneously with the advance of the infantry into another day's battle.

SEPTEMBER 27TH.

THE 140th Infantry executed a passage of lines, passing through the 138th Infantry. The 139th had passed through the 137th on the preceding day and retained the left front. This placed the Seventieth Brigade in assault and the Sixty-ninth in support.

Simultaneously with the coming of light, which was about 10 minutes before 6, the enemy delivered another forceful artillery and machine gun fire across the entire front and with a density in depth as far south as a line passing east and west through Aubreville. At all times throughout the drive the enemy's artillery continued effective in the rear areas, playing upon all roads of supply and avenues of reinforcement. The eyes of the artillery, the planes, spotted with uncanny precision, and the toll in men, animals and material was extremely serious. On these shell-swept roads Maj. James L. Barngrove of the 110th Ammunition Train and First Lieutenant Ralph D. Oldham, munitions officer of the 138th Infantry, each, while bringing munitions forward to their units, received their wounds—Lieut. Oldham dying shortly after being hit.

During the first few days of the action the roads coming up were lined on either side with a tangled mass of demolished trucks and carts, bodies of horses and dead men. The roads had been hastily cleared to permit the passage of ever-necessary traffic to keep forward supplies replenished and to maintain passages for evacuation ambulances bearing the wounded. Chaplains, pioneers and burial details found unending work during the daylight hours.

The long day of Sept. 27 was marked by fierce fighting across the entire front. Checks and small advances were the order, but with a steady advance by the Thirty-fifth. Both front line regiments utilized three battalions in the line. Cotes 218 and 213 had been previously organized by the Hun and tier upon tier of barbed wire checked our men in every position exposed to hostile fire. Cote 218, northwest of Very, was cleared about noon, the boche retiring across the valley to Hill 213, his line extending generally along the road from Charpentry to Eclisfontaine. Our position on Cote 218 could not long be tenable. The broad flat exposed table drew a terrific concentration of high explosive shells from the Bois d'Apremont in the west, Montrebeau Wood to the northwest and from the north of Eclisfontaine. The Thirty-fifth remained a salient in the broad front. Montblainville, on the left, had not fallen to the 28th, the Ninety-first

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

What It Is and How It Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Forces in Many Instances

SHOULD BE PRESCRIBED BY EVERY DOCTOR AND USED IN EVERY HOSPITAL

Says Editor of "Physicians' Who's Who."

Take plain bitro-phosphate is the advice of these physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and ther seems to be ample proof of the efficiency of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Moreover, if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Judge & Dolph, Enderle Drug Stores, Johnson Bros.' Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., in St. Louis, and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Clinical tests made in St. Catherine's Hospital, N. Y. C., showed that two patients gained in weight 23 and 27 pounds respectively, through the administration of organic phosphate; both patients claim they have not felt as strong and well for the past twelve years.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

Physicians and hospitals everywhere are now recognizing its merits by its use in ever increasing quantities. Frederick Kolle, M. D., editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says: "Bitro-Phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital to increase strength and nerve force and to enrich the blood."

Joseph D. Harrigan, Former Visiting Specialist to North Eastern Dispensatory, says: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anaemic, or run down, take a natural, unadulterated substance such as bitro-phosphate, and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy, strength of body and mind and power of endurance."

Bitro-Phosphate is made entirely of the organic phosphate compound referred to in the National Standard Dispensatory as being an excellent tonic and nervine and a preparation which has recently acquired considerable reputation in the treatment of neurasthenia. The standard of excellence, strength and purity of its substance is beyond question, for every Bitro-Phosphate tablet is manufactured in strict accordance with the U. S. Pharmacopeia test requirements. Bitro-Phosphate is therefore not a patent medicine and should not be confused with any of the secret nostrums, so-called tonics or widely advertised "cure-alls."

CAUTION—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, owing to its tendency to increase weight it should not be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—ADV.

Doctor Tells How to Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York: Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, says: Many men who smoke, chew or snuff incessantly and who are seemingly healthy are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been afflicted had it not been for the use of tobacco, and thousands would soon get well if they would only stop the use of tobacco. The chief habit-forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison which, when absorbed by the system, slowly affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with catarrah of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even cancer or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects by making the following simple tests: Read aloud one full page from a book. If in the course of reading your voice becomes muffled, hoarse and indistinct, and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh and it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before taking your usual smoke, walk up three flights of stair at a regular pace, then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke, chew or snuff to quiet your nerves, you are a slave to the tobacco habit, and are positively poisoning yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have just two alternatives—keep on with the self-poisoning process irrespective of the dangers and suffer the consequences, or give up the habit and escape the dangers. You can overcome the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula: Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets, take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco, the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note—When asked about Nicotol tablets, one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit; away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists, including the Judge & Dolph, Wolff-Wilson and the Enderle Stores.—ADV.

was not abreast of our right front. Shell holes offered but scant cover against the well-directed fire, ever increasing in volume. The boche had succeeded in withdrawing practically all his forward artillery the previous day, abandoning only a few 77s and howitzers which were sunk in deep emplacements about a kilometer west of Very. He had reinforced his artillery in depth and managed his "accompanying guns" with superb dexterity.

Hill 218 was a gruesome sight when taken. The maze of barbed wire served not only as a formidable check to the Americans, but had trapped the Hun in his final hasty flight. The obscure and twisted passages had become closed or rendered difficult of discernment by the American artillery on the day previous and in the final getaway the Hun plunged directly through the tangled mass, leaving their dead. Machine guns, ammunition, pistols, helmets, bread and dead littered this promontory.

The 139th encountered resistance of the most determined character from the heights west of La Buanthe River. The boche had worked through the night strengthening and reinforcing this position. The entire ground from the resting place of the night before, before Charpentry, had been "checkerboarded" with machine guns in depth. These emplacements or "fox holes" were hastily constructed, perhaps a foot and a half deep, with a six-inch gently sloping parapet, all carefully camouflaged with green sod or foliage. As the Americans advanced the bosche forward guns were hastily withdrawn, but a new front of emplacements shortly, farther on, opened again and again in the progress of the movement.

Charpentry and Baulny Taken.

Charpentry was secured for all time, about 11 a. m., Sept. 27, by the 139th Infantry. Baulny capitulated about two hours later, being attacked from the south and southwest by the 139th and under flanking fire by the 140th from the east.

The entire division front met the sternest resistance throughout the afternoon, mostly from machine guns, but gradually pushed the Hun backward. The 137th and 138th following the Seventieth Brigade as support (arranged numerically from west to east), drew the full force of the hostile artillery.

By dint of sheer push, the line at nightfall, on the 27th, was generally a salient with the point one kilometer northwest of Baulny. The Twenty-eighth Division had taken Montblainville. The front extended eastward from Montblainville, inclusive, crossing the Charpentry-Eclisfontain road one and one-half kilometers northeast of Charpentry, curving toward Eclisfontaine, and joined the Ninety-first Division, which had taken Epinonville.

As the 138th Infantry crossed the valley northwest of Cote 218—north of Charpentry — the Hun artillery regulized by planes, delivered the greatest concentration upon this area, laid down by him at any time during the operation. The fire sweeping eastward came from the Bois d'Apremont, from Apremont, Montrebeau Wood and large shells from Montrefagne (Cote 240), back of Exermont. Gas was interspersed with the high explosive shells. The boche artillery was making a desperate effort to stop the on-coming supports while his infantry attempted to cope with our assault wave with machine guns. Here "Death Valley," as it was termed, Capt. Meier, commanding the Second Battalion and Capt. Sodemann commanding L Company, received their wounds. Capt. Sodemann was attempting to cover his command. His last words were "They got me." Capt. Meier suffered a leg wound with a bone fracture. First Lieutenant Leahy succeeded to the command of the Second Battalion. Capt. Crist (A Company), commanding the First Battalion, was succeeded in command by First Lieutenant Lloyd O. Brightfield (B Company), Capt. Crist being evacuated for gas while passing over Cote 218. First Lieutenant Theodore Bazan, commanding G Company, met death in the valley. The casualties had been extremely heavy, and throughout the night Capts. Bottger and Thompson, Lieuts. Leahy, Price, John Mitchell, Moll, Dalbert Mitchell, Scruggs, Christenson, Steele and Hickam worked reassembling and combing out the tangled skeins. Fatigue was upon all and the strain commenced to tell. Many had not slept for 72 hours. Continuous fire, rain, no blankets, lessening food, depletion of ranks and loss of lifelong friends with the grim realization of a determined foe in front and the "Army Objective" still five kilometers ahead, made the most grizzled hesitate to think of the morrow and days to come.

Across the Roman Road.

The assault wave, the 140th Infantry, battled until night had descended, along the southwestern half of the Eclisfontaine-Charpentry road. This road had been constructed by the Romans in centuries gone by. With never a curve, it ascended from the valley of Charpentry to the heights of Eclisfontaine. Hard, smooth and white, either side was marked with deep drains and stately trees set out with exact precision at intervals of 20 meters. Along this road, in the drains, also in mathematical precision between every two trees, was dug a boche machine gun emplacement.

After taken, as though laid out in keeping with the methodical character of the road, opposite each hole were dead boche seemingly straight and like so many fence poles waiting to be raised. In each hole was a Maxim with an unfinished belt. The boche here remained to the death.

Maj. Lemmon's Battalion of the 140th held a little salient on Cote 213. Maj. Mabrey's Battalion (140th) dug in just north of the road as it descended from Cote 213. Maj. Murray Davis' Battalion (140th) joined Maj. Mabrey to the left. The Second Battalion, 138th, dug in just south of the Roman road in rear of the 140th, on the heights north of Death Valley.

The Third Battalion, 138th, connected the Second Battalion on the right, with the Ninety-first Division. The First Battalion, 138th, dug in on the heights south of Death Valley. The Regimental P. C.'s of the 138th and 140th established near a disabled tank in the area of the Second Battalion. The Post of Command of the Seventieth Brigade was established in a former boche dugout at Charpentry. The Division P. C. remained at Cheppy. The Signal Corps rapidly installed telephones and buzzers. Major-Surgeon Burgherr established a receiving and arsorting station for the wounded in a large barn at Charpentry. Several batteries of artillery moved up dur-

Greater Percentage of Anaemia—Lack of Iron in the Blood—Among Women Than Men Makes Wives Lose Much of Their Youth, Beauty and Former Attractiveness and Become Fretful, Nervous and Run-Down

What Women Need Is Not Cosmetics or Stimulating Drugs but Plenty of Pure Red Blood Rich in Iron.

The accompanying article should be read by every woman who wishes to possess health, strength and beauty. Physicians tell how to increase iron in the blood and thereby regain better health and renewed vim and vitality.

What pangs of sadness and regret a woman must feel when she realizes how trouble, worry and ill-health have robbed her of the fresh, youthful beauty and buoyant health she ossessed on her wedding day—while her husband is often able to retain much of the strength, activity and alertness of his younger days by keeping his blood filled with iron.

Physician Explains How Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron, Enriches the Blood, Strengthens the Nerves, Builds Up Physical Power and Often Makes Weak, Pale Careworn Women Look and Feel Years Younger.

Look for the woman who appears younger than her husband at the same age and you will find the exception to that vast majority upon whom anaemia—lack of iron in the blood—has fastened its grip and is gradually sapping the health, vitality and beauty which every woman so longs to retain. In most cases men safeguard their health better than women by eating coarser foods, being more out-of-doors and leading more active lives thereby keeping their blood richer in iron and their bodies in better physical condition. The very moment a woman allows herself to become weak, nervous and run down she is placing a drain upon her whole system which overtaxes the power of the blood to renew wasted tissue and keep active the natural life forces of the body. There are thousands of women who are aging and breaking down at a time when they should be enjoying that perfect bodily health which comes from plenty of iron in the blood simply because they are not awake to their condition. For want of iron a woman may look and feel old at 30, pale, haggard and all run down—while at 50 or 60 with good health and plenty of iron in her blood she may still be young in feeling and so full of life and attractiveness as to defy detection of her real age. But a woman cannot have beautiful, rosy cheeks or an abundance of strength and endurance without iron and physicians below have been asked to explain why they prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron to help supply this deficiency and aid in building a race of stronger, healthier women.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is one of the greatest of all strength-builders. Many a woman who is run down, easily tired out, nervous and irritable, suffers from iron deficiency and does not know it. I am convinced that there are thousands of such women who, simply by taking Nuxated Iron might readily build up their red corpuscles, increase physical energy and get themselves into condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are almost continually around us. Like doubtless hundreds of other fellow physicians, I have prescribed Nuxated Iron many, many times, and I have seen frequent instances where it gave renewed strength and energy, increased power and endurance, steady nerves and the rosy bloom of health in about ten days or two weeks' time. I consider Nuxated Iron one of the foremost blood and body builders—the best to which I have ever had recourse."

Among other physicians asked for an opinion was Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon Monmouth Memorial Hospital, New Jersey, who says: "What women need to put roses in their cheeks and the springtime of life into their step is not cosmetics or stimulating drugs, but plenty of rich, pure blood. Without it no woman can do credit to herself or to her work. Iron is one of the greatest of all strength and blood builders, and I have found nothing in my experience so effective for helping to make strong, healthy, red-blooded women as Nuxated Iron. From a careful examination of the formula and my own tests of Nuxated Iron, I feel convinced that it is a preparation which any physician can take himself or prescribe for his patients with the utmost confidence of obtaining highly beneficial and satisfactory results."

Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author, says: "In my opinion there can be no healthy, rosy-cheeked women without iron. I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking women patients. Anaemia—iron deficiency—is the greatest curse to the health, strength, vitality and beauty of the modern American woman. Lack of iron in the blood may often transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable—one who makes life a burden to herself, unbearable for her husband and disagreeable for her children. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the roses go from their cheeks."

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by Judge & Dolph Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Co., Enderle Drug Co., Pauley's Drug Store Co. and all other druggists.

This Pretty Girl Tells How She Defies Age by Using Ordinary Oatmeal to Beautify Her Complexion

New York—According to Mae Edna Wilder, the "wheels of time" may be turned backward if a little common sense is used in taking care of the skin. Like everything else the skin needs food, care and attention. The pores to do their work properly should be kept open and scrupulously clean. After being thoroughly cleansed they should be fed, to nourish and bring to the skin that beautiful youthful appearance every normal woman craves. Miss Wilder, though well past the time of life when most complexions fade, is famous for her beautiful complexion, and when asked how she retains her youthful appearance said:

"It is a simple process to appear youthful. No one comes within ten years of guessing my age. Here is my secret. Go to any grocery store and get ten cents worth of ordinary oatmeal. Put a small quantity of the oatmeal in a bag of cheesecloth about the size of your hand. Drop on or into the bag 10 drops of derwillo which can be obtained at any up-to-date drug store, dip in warm water and use as you would a wash cloth. Wash your face, hands, arms, neck and shoulders, night and morning. Let it remain on the skin for a minute, thus allowing the pores to absorb the food value of the oatmeal. Wash off with warm water, rinse with cold water and dry thoroughly. Then apply derwillo. This is very important. In a short time your skin will undergo a marvelous change. A rosy hue mounts the cheeks, and a baby softness comes to the skin. The very first application will convince you that this combination is a most effective one for beautifying purposes. It is especially recommended for freckles, tan, sunburn, wrinkles, large pores, rough skin, as it freshens and beautifies the complexion and makes rough, red hands and arms smooth and white. It gives the skin the appearance of youth and whatever success I have had in preserving my complexion I attribute to derwillo and oatmeal. Every woman, no matter what her station in life, can well afford to spend five or ten minutes night and morning in caring for her complexion. There is not enough money in the world to cause me to neglect mine. I have known women over fifty to follow this method and frequently pass for forty. Women thirty years of age look like girls in their teens. Just cut this out so you won't forget it; try it for a week, and at the end of that time you will thank me for publishing my formula."

MAE EDNA WILDER

NOTE—To get the best effect be sure to follow the complete instructions given above. You have only to get derwillo and oatmeal. You need nothing else and it's so simple that anyone can use it, and so inexpensive that any woman can afford it. Derwillo can be obtained in this city from department stores and all up-to-date druggists, including the Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Dolph, Johnson Bros. and the Enderle stores.—ADV.

The Goodrich More Mileage Message

Goodrich is making the burliest, sturdiest, most lasting tires the rubber industry has ever seen; and Goodrich knows it. In every test of road-roughing to which tires can be put, Goodrich Tires have unfolded an endurance, an ability to take punishment, which has run into phenomenal mileage.

Confident in this knowledge and belief, Goodrich desires that all tire users share in the confidence of Goodrich, and mileage Goodrich Tires assure.

Therefore, Goodrich announces to Dealers and Users—to present and future owners of its pneumatic tires—an adjustment basis of 6,000 miles for SAFETY TREADS, and 8,000 miles for SILVERTOWN CORDS, instead of the 3,500 and 5,000 miles, respectively, heretofore in force.

Remember that a Goodrich adjustment is a fair one. Goodrich knows the mileage is in its tires, and more; and to make you realize you lose money in being without Goodrich Tires, the new Goodrich adjustment is proclaimed broadcast.

MAJOR COMFORT'S STORY OF THE 35TH IN THE ARGONNE

ing the night and took station in the ravine of Charpentry.

SEPTEMBER 28TH.

AFTER a night of cold, fine rain, pursuant to corps orders (First Corps, Major-General Liggett commanding, First Army, Gen. Pershing commanding), the attack was resumed at 5:30 a. m. without change of brigades in the line. The axis of command was changed to depth instead of lateral. Col. Nuttman now commanded the left of the division sector (the 139th and 137th Infantry Regiments from head to rear), and Col. Walker commanded the right of the division sector with the 140th and 138th Infantry Regiments arranged from head to rear.

The day was characterized by steady opposition from artillery and infantry. The boche planes came in groups of seven or eight at frequent intervals throughout the day, flying low along our lines, firing machine guns point blank into the infantry. They would come upon a cluster of men in a shell hole or on the move, and circle descending in a funnel-shaped course delivering a converging cone of fire, quickly darting off at a tangent and swooping upon another group. We had no effective means of combatting these overhead onslaughts. Rifle fire was apparently without retarding effect. Very few allied planes operated over the Thirty-fifth Division sector or assisted the infantry during the six days' fighting.

Before noon, the forward line continually combatting checkered machine guns and facing accompanying 77s had taken Chaudron Ferne and Serieux Ferme. Shortly after noon, the exposed slopes leading up to the Bois de Montrebeau and the wood to the right, were charged, both woods being penetrated. These woods were very dense and targets therein most difficult. Montrebeau was gridironed within by narrow trails and paths crossing at right angles. One or two trails permitted the movement of artillery. Immediately off the paths the matted brush, trees and foliage made passage extremely difficult. Both the Hun troops and our men occupied these woods. Machine gun fire from all directions whizzed close to the ground clipping brambles and registering on human legs if the man were standing and penetrating steel helmets if crouching. This type of fighting is maddening. Groups became separated, some pushing on and some halting. Machine guns were left behind, undiscovered and unsilenced. It was dangerous to fire in the directions that bullets seemed to come from because our front was not known and observation was futile. The problem was whether to lie and endeavor to "wing" the Hun or to crash through the thicket, thus presenting an excellent target for the Maxim gunner ever in waiting. Each man was his own commander in these woods.

Other Regiments Push Forward.

Meanwhile the 137th and 138th moved up toward the assaulting waves, the forward battalions digging in on the rise just north of the Apremont-Eclisfontaine road. Here again the support wave caught the full fury of the Hun artillery sweeping across another "Death Valley." The boche held Apremont in the Twenty-eighth sector, firmly, and directed his massed artillery upon us in enfilade sweeping the valley and the Apremont-Eclisfontaine road. The Ninety-first was contending for Eclisfontaine which had not yet fallen, leaving the Thirty-fifth still a vulnerable salient, exposed on three fronts.

Col. Walker moved his P. C. to Chaudron Ferme. Here, an old stone ruins still offered two rooms under roof which the Hun artillery had neglected. This place provided space for a message center and dressing station. Col. Nuttman established his P. C. in a shell hole, on the road about one kilometer east of Chaudron Ferne. Setting out from Chaudron Ferne with instructions for Col. Parker, several 138th men reported him to us to be upon a reconnaissance, pointing in the direction of Montrebeau Wood. Corp. Heltzel, orderly, and I turn our horses in the direction indicated, soon met a machine gun air raid and dismounted, walking close under the horses' necks for cover, A great many casualties were suffered by troops on this slope approaching the wood. In Montrebeau, practically every group encountered had become lost or separated from its main body, in the dense growth. No one encountered had seen Col. Parker and each in turn asked of his own unit. After traveling down one path to the northern edge of the wood, and reconnaissance of cross paths, it was decided to go to the 138th P. C. in hope that Col. Parker had returned. Upon retracing our steps over the same path we had gone down, a wounded man lying prone at the edge of the path, holding his helmet before him as a shield, called: "Look out, they just got me." Instantly the zip! sing! commenced from a nest apparently 15 feet away.

Pushing through the brush to the clearing, we made the 138th P. C. which was then located behind a clump of bushes about 300 meters north of Col. Nuttman's P. C. Col. Parker, Lieut. Schnelle, Capts. Lloyd and Reinholdt were there. Upon delivery of dispatches and information I stopped at Col. Nuttman's P. C. en route to Chaudron. The boche artillery was hammering all the valley.

"Unless the artillery in Apremont can be silenced, I am not going to have a man left. Look at these men scattered about here, Col. Mullman said. All over the area the shells had dealt death. The litter-bearers were taxed on all sides carrying the newly wounded. The flash of guns was continuous. The fire was coming from Apremont.

Nuttman Gave Wrong Direction.

Asking which fork of the road led to Charpentry I told him I would get to Gen. Berry, the artillery commander, at once and ask for counter battery fire. Col. Nuttman gave me the wrong direction as I learned later. Setting out at a gallop I passed the P. C. of Col. Delaplane who was accompanied at the time by Maj. Dwight Davis. They were getting the same effect from the boche artillery. Soon a town, presumably Charpentry, appeared to the right, ahead, and I turned across the field for a short cut. Rifle fire seemed to be crossing the path from both directions and shouting voices ordered me to dismount. Coming back of some brush I found myself passing between the two firing lines and coming in before Eclisfontaine for which the 91st Division was then contending. Examining the map of Col. Mudgett of the 364th Infantry, I found this to be just the opposite side of the sector, and hastened down the Roman road to Charpentry, here getting a motor cycle to the Division P. C. at Cheppy. Gen. Pershing was just leaving the P. C. after a conference with Gens. Traub and Berry. The situation was communicated at once, repeating Col. Nuttman's call for artillery assistance. Gen. Berry designated the batteries for this mission and gave the necessary instructions to his aides. Gen. Traub listened in silence until all was arranged when he said:

MAJOR COMFORT'S STORY OF THE 35TH IN THE ARGONNE

"Gen. Berry, we cannot put one shell into Apremont until we know where the 28th Division is. We have had no report on them for three hours." The advance elements of the twenty-eighth might penetrate Apremont at any moment—but the deadly hostile fire continued.

Lieutenant-Colonel Gallagher, Division G-3, and Capt. Robert Fullerton, G-2, always the practical man at Division Headquarters, gathered data and made necessary designations for ration and ammunition dumps and plans for the feeding of the now thoroughly hungry troops.

Nightfall found our front line generally 300 meters north of the Apremont-Eclisfontaine road. We had not "owned" Montrebeau, although some of our men remained in this night and undoubtedly a number of wounded were lost in the forest. From now on the troops lived on their nerve. Human endurance had been fully taxed. Practically no sleep, except of exhaustion, had offered, save perhaps an hour here or there. Exposure was telling and senses became dulled. A friend killed beside one elicited no surprise and scant comment. All seemed mechanical and each wondered why he was left. Shells would burst near one's shell hole, splattering splinters, rocks and earth, but that seemed to be properly placed in the order of things. Units had become intermingled and faces to the right or left were new. Strange officers or N. C. O.'s commanded the groups. No questions were asked. It mattered not what organization one had come from. There was something at hand to be taken or held or accomplished in that particular area, and the persons there were the ones to do it.

Excitement, joy, fear or sorrow were not evident—only inertia—keep on with the customary; advance a little, half awhile, dig in, watch the shells fall and listen to the whizz bang, ever firing at certain sorts of moving forms.

Perhaps one sensation might be recorded: As the hours passed on and as new days would dawn, as more shells would burst and breath still came—a sort of subconscious coveting of something concealed would come over one, a feeling of withholding something one had no right to possess; when analyzed it was a desire to retain that spark called "Life." It seemed a wrongful desire to cherish that inward hope of evading or outwitting the Grim Reaper. Was it possible that some might live on unscathed? The reflecting was fascinating.

SEPTEMBER 29TH.

THE night of Sept. 28 had been a miserable one. A steady, cold rain fell on the shivering troops. All believed that relief must come, that troops were hardly capable of more. Desultory artillery continued, exacting its unending toll of casualties. The usual night checking, telephoning, messenger and supply activities continued. When opportunity offered the men crowded several deep into a ruins, beneath a tank, in an old dugout or anything that seemed to offer shelter from either the enemy fire or the cold drip from above.

At about 4 a. m. a courier brought an order to the Seventieth Brigade P. C. at Charpentry, to attack again at 5:30 a. m. The order called for a change of dispositions, the 137th and 138th were to pass through the 139th and 140th, respectively. The 130th Machine Gun Battalion (Maj. Constables), was placed at the disposal of Col. Walker, and the 129th Machine Gun Battalion (Maj. Loy's), was placed at the disposal of the Commander of the left sector. The 110th Engineers (the division reserve), were to follow the support wave at a distance of 1000 meters. These instructions were hurried with all speed to regimental and subdivision commanders. The time was short.

At this stage, however, regimental and battalion designations were more or less theoretical. Units had become so intermingled, and because all daylight hours since Sept. 25th had been devoted to attempts to advance, a real reorganization had not been made. Depletion of officers and men, reapportionments and incidents of battle had wiped out original distinctive lines. Liaison became poor as the liaison personnel and equipment became depleted.

Upon the dispatching of orders, Col. Walker set out on foot to the front line to insure the promptness of the ordered advance at 5:30. It would not be light until nearly six. Courier service was quite uncertain. Arriving at the line at 5:10, not a sign of life was evident! Dead bodies and live bodies were so many

A Booster for Sulpherb Tablets

There are thousands of such boosters for Sulpherb Tablets and that is why hundreds of thousands are sold by druggists every year. Mr. Robert Clemence, 233 S. Wilbur Avenue, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have taken 3 packages of Sulpherb Tablets and my bowels are moving regularly now and I am a great deal stronger than I was when I started taking them. I was all run down and weak from the long, continued stomach, liver and bowel trouble. I know 4 or 5 men that work with me, was troubled the same as I was. I told them about Sulpherb Tablets and now they are all taking them, and say they are the best medicine they have ever tried, etc." Sold by all druggists. Be sure of the name, Sulpherb—not "Sulphur."—ADV.

MAJOR COMFORT'S STORY OF THE 35TH IN THE ARGONNE

inanimate forms. The immediate presence of the enemy in front made no difference. Human endurance had its limitations and sleep had come. We stumbled over bodies in the dark and shook them. Some were corpses, some stirred. Day commenced to faintly streak the sky.

With great effort and by working men along the line to arouse the living, men stretched and clutched their rifles. This was was a remnant of two battalions of the 140th. No officers were nearby. Maj. Murray Davis had been killed on the previous day and Maj. Lemmon wounded. Orders for the advance had not reached these units. The 138th had not come through but the scheduled advance must proceed at 5:30 which it now was. Hastily disposing these men, perhaps two hundred, over a front of about a kilometer, in skirmish line—depth formations were no more—we advanced with center guiding on the opening between Montrebeau and the wood to the right. Col. Walker, the Brigade Commander, was a "file-closer," spurring on the thin front line of the division!

A rain of machine gun bullets from the woods before, met the skirmishers, halting them and thinning the line. Hasty firing positions were taken up in shell holes, but the light was not sufficient as yet to discover the enemy in the woods. With oncoming day, troops on the left in skirmish formation attempted to reach Montrebeau. They were similarly greeted and halted. There was no mistaking the leader of that group. The heavy-set six-footer in front of the line was Maj. Warren Mabrey, leading his battalion of the 140th. Gradually the whole line edged up the slope despite the grazing machine gun fire. Capt. Armour, 140th, who had been in reconnaisance with Capt. Campbell, 140th, on the right of the division front, reported and took over the center of the line. More troops of these two battalions of the 140th, commanded by Capt. Campbell and Capt. Milligan, advanced on the extreme right in communication with the Ninety-first Division.

Col. Walker returned to the Chaudron Ferme P. C., where Maj. Cocke and Lieut. Grigg had established wire and courier communication. I was dispatched to find Col. Parker to hasten the passage of the 138th through the 140th. Col. Nuttman, commanding the left sector, had been evacuated and was succeeded in command by Col. Hawkins; Col. Bugge had reported as chief of staff.

The Thin Front Line.

Col. Parker and Lieut. Schnelle were at the 138th P. C., a shell hole partially concealed by bushes. The order had just reached them. Col. Parker ordered the immediate passage of the 138th through the 140th. The formation was: the Second and Third Battalions, from right to left, in assault, and the First Battalion to follow at 600 yards in support. First Lieutenant Brightfield commanded the First Battalion. First Lieutenant Leahy commanded the Second Battalion, and Capt. Harry W. Thompson commanded the Third Battalion. A similar situation had occurred in the left sector, the 137th being slow to take over the line.

The situation was more than serious. Regiments and battalions would have been more properly called companies of scattered platoons. Our corps consisted of the Seventy-seventh (New York National Army) Division on the left, the Twenty-eighth Division in the center and the Thirty-fifth on the right, with the Ninety-second Negro Division in reserve. Gen. Traub reported the graveness of the situation to corps. Meanwhile the unrelenting orders were to "push on." We had few more troops than were necessary to cover our front, plus the two battalions of Engineers which were the division reserve and numbering approximately 1000 men.

The boche had been repeatedly reinforced. Thus far we had identified the First, Fifth and Fifty-second Prussian Guard Divisions and the Second and Fifty-second Landwehr Divisions. Five divisions had thus far been pitted against us. Command had changed and was strange in practically every unit down to platoon. Col. Ristine and a small group had been tangled up in an ambuscade the night before. He escaped across the Aire River and came in through the Twenty-eighth Division in the darkness, wearing a boche overcoat. Maj. Rieger had assumed command of the 139th Infantry. Col. Americus Mitchell had reported to command the 139th and locating a handful of men established an independent P. C. at Baulny.

At about 10 a. m. bad reports, ever increasing, came in at Chaudron P. C. All four regiments of the division were now in the line. It had not been thus planned, but the shrinking units becoming smaller and smaller, just about covered the division front, with here and there a small concentration in depth. Nevertheless the Thirty-fifth was pushing forward, fighting on, meeting artillery and checkered machine gun resistance, over the plateau north of Montrebeau. Through the swale of Exermont Valley and up the slopes of Montrefagne (Cote 240), beyond Exermont, our forward elements battled their way. Maj. Rieger and troops of the 139th skirted Exermont on the west and Capts. Campbell and Milligan with troops of the 140th passed through the eastern portion of Exermont. These troops engaged in street fighting, meeting machine gun fire from the cathedral, barracks and houses, but never cleared or owned the town. Maj. O'Conner with troops of the 137th rounded out the Thirty-fifth Division salient on the west, connecting with the Twenty-eighth Division. Capt. Thompson with the Third Battalion, 138th, connected up the 140th with the Ninety-first on the east.

In the advance of the morning a great many casualties were suffered, the 140th probably being the heavi-

Use O-Cedar Polish the O-Cedar Polish Way

First, remove mud, dust, etc., from your car by washing with water in the usual way.

If you have used oils, or wax, it is best to use Ivory Soap to remove them.

Pour about 4 ounces of O-Cedar in a pan and add a quart of warm water. Saturate a clean cloth in this and go over the body of the car. Do not attempt to clean too much at a time—take one side of the body or a fender first. Follow by rubbing with a dry cloth. But little rubbing is required to produce a hard, dry, lasting lustre.

Doctor Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50 Per Cent in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time, and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eye two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist, and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in this city by the Enderle, Johnson Bros., Pauley, Judge & Dolph and Wolff-Wilson Stores.—ADV.

PESKY BED BUGS

Doctors declare that bedbugs and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disgrace in getting bedbugs in your home, because that can't be avoided. But it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P. D. Q., which actually puts an end to these pesky devils.

A MILLION BEDBUGS

A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of mixture that is so deadly to bedbugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. If they were as big as your hand it would swat them just as well. And not only the live ones, but the future generations as well, because once it hits the eggs they are goners.

CUT THIS OUT

Your druggist has P. D. Q. (Pesky Devils' Quietus) and will be glad to furnish it for 35 cents. One 35-cent package makes a quart of the mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned bug-killer. Some druggists may try to sell you something else. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P. D. Q., send us his name and 35 cents and we will send you a package postage prepaid to your address.

WILL NOT DAMAGE GOODS

P. D. Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as deodorizer and disinfectant.

KILLS FLEAS ON DOGS

If you have a pet dog who is infested with fleas take a little P. D. Q. mixture in your hand and rub it into the fur. Then watch the fleas loop the loop. They will be deader than King Solomon before they hit the floor.

CHICKEN LICE DESTROYER

Have your chickens got lice? Don't hesitate. Get a package of P. D. Q., make a gallon of lice-destroyer from it as directed and then get busy in the hen-house. It's so easy you'll laugh and so will the chickens. By the way, did you ever see a chicken laugh? Try this and watch 'em.

FOR ANTS AND COCKROACHES

The ants and cockroaches stand just as good a chance of surviving a treatment of P. D. Q. as a snowball in a justly famed Heat Resort. It swats them and their eggs with a wallop that puts their whole generation out of business. Use it on furs in storage to kill and keep out moths.

A BEDBUG SPOUT

Every package of P. D. Q. contains a patent spout that fits any ordinary bottle. It will enable you to reach the hard-to-get-at places and save lots of juice. When buying look for the Devil Heads on every package of P. D. Q., then you'll be sure to get the genuine.

Acid-Stomach Makes Millions Suffer

Indigestion—dyspepsia—sour stomachs—bloated, gassy stomachs—belchy, miserable-feeling stomachs—these are Acid-Stomachs.

What a lot of misery they cause! How Acid-Stomach, with its day-after-day sufferings, does take the joy out of life! Not only that — Acid-Stomach is always undermining one's health. Think of what acid does to the teeth—how the acid eats through the enamel, causing them to decay. Is it any wonder, then, that Acid-Stomach saps the strength of the strongest bodies and wrecks the health of so many people?

You see ACID-STOMACH victims everywhere always ailing. They can't tell exactly what is the matter; all they say is, "I don't feel well"—"I'm all in; tired, sickly." If they only knew it, nine times out of ten it is Acid-Stomach that is ailing them. It surely makes good digestion difficult, causes food to sour and ferment in the bowels, weakens the blood and fills the system with poisons. It prevents one from getting the full strength out of their food.

Take EATONIC and get rid of your Acid-Stomach. This wonderful modern remedy actually takes the excess acid out of the stomach. It quickly and positively relieves bloat, heartburn, belching, food repeating, sour, gassy stomach, and the pains of indigestion. Makes the stomach cool and comfortable—keeps it sweet and strong. Banishes all stomach troubles so completely that you forget you have a stomach. You can eat what you like and digest your food in comfort, without fear of distressing after-effects. EATONIC helps you get full strength out of every mouthful you eat—and that is what you must have to be well and strong—full strength from your food.

EATONIC is in the form of tablets—tastes like a bit of candy. Absolutely harmless and agrees with the most delicate stomach. Try it. Get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. The cost is trifling. If it fails to bring wonderful relief, take it back; he will refund your money.

To Centaur, Mo., and Return One Day Outing Affording Shady Sites for Picnickers

Trees Overhang Wild Horse Creek Road—A Favorite Haunt of Motorists Last Season —Roads Except 100-Yard Stretch Good All the Way.

A SCENIC trip over beautiful rolling farmland in St. Louis County and along bluffs of the Missouri River, which also affords numerous campsites for automobile picnickers who would leave the city behind at the week-end for cooler haunts in the county to enjoy a basket lunch prepared by mother, wife or sweetheart, is that from St. Louis to Centaur, Mo., and return. The trip covers a distance of approximately 65 miles.

The poorest stretch of road during the tour is a rough stretch more than a hundred yards in length on Clayton road just west of Skinker road, where pockets of varying sizes have been worn through the surface of the road.

From St. Louis to Monarch the Olive street road is hard-surfaced the entire distance and maintained in good repair. From Monarch there are two routes available to Centaur, one is a level road paralleling the Rock Island railroad tracks, which is a good road in dry weather.

From Centaur the road is hard-surfaced all the way to Manchester road. Manchester road from the point where Wild Horse Creek road enters is hard-surfaced and in good condition all the way to St. Louis. During the past 10 days a fresh gravel surfacing has been put on the Manchester road in this vicinity extending for several miles through the town of Pond. From Ellisville Smith road is hard-surfaced and maintained in good repair, as is the Clayton road with the exception of the last 100 yards, which is rough.

During this trip it was noticed that the farmers were mowing and curing their first crops of alfalfa hay. The color of the wheat fields is becoming golden as a result of the recent warm weather. Though peaches were reported during the spring as having suffered damage due to frost the limbs are laden with the green fruit, indicating that peaches didn't suffer much here. In the apple orchards there are predictions also for a good crop, the trees having the appearance generally of being productive of bumper yield.

The largest of the new apples seen along the route were the size of black walnuts.

For the motorist who would care to take his lunch and spend the day in the country with his family there are located between Centaur and Melrose on Wild Horse Creek road and also along Wild Horse Creek, which follows the road, crossing it at several places, as many as eight or ten ideal camp sites. These are at places where the trees overhang the roadway on both sides or sufficiently well on one side to provide shade with grass plots sufficiently cleared of brush to accommodate a table cloth nicely without being bothered by dust. Fishing is said to be good at different parts of the creek, but permission to fish must first be obtained from the owner of the land.

The course of the tour with a log of what may be seen along the way is as follows:

Mileage.

A peach orchard on left with space between trees planted in raspberries and beans. Alfalfa hay just cut on left. Farmer spraying potato plants on left. A tire company billboard at this point reads, "Bellefontaine one-half mile from here. In 1805 Gen. Wilkinson built here a log cantonment one-story high, in the form of a hollow square, the cantonment Long says was washed away by floods in 1810." Wheat right and left. White frame church left.

Another farmer mowing first crop of alfalfa on right. Beautiful stretch of well-managed pasture land, with cattle and hogs grazing under trees on left. Large maple trees line road for some distance on both sides. Loading hay in barn on right.

24.4 Gumbo. Straight through. First view of Missouri River bluffs on opposite side of river. Road dangerous at bend near river, it being necessary to detour over a stretch of dirt road across a plowed field. Motorists driving over this route at night should be cautious, as the former roadbed is half washed away by the river at one place. A fence barricade has been built to warn traffic of the danger, but the condition is a dangerous one, as the turn is sharp to the left. The river bank is but 20 feet distant from where the turn in the new road is made and stands about 10 feet above the level of the water, the river now being at a high stage. Howell Island with rock cliffs in the background is a pretty scene. River almost a half mile wide at this point. A tree several feet through and more than 40 feet long flowed past among a mass of driftwood.

Hay being raked and transported to barn on right. Odor of new mown hay very pronounced and fragrant.

At 34.7 turn to left on road ascending rather steep grade just beyond bridge across creek. Road follows back of ridge. Views may be had of valleys several hundred feet deep on either side. The valley on left is 300 to 400 feet wide and almost a mile long. A log cabin with the timbers bleached a grayish white by the weather and apparently occupied stands out among the trees on the far slope. At the crest of the second hill with frame farmhouse on right a view can be had for miles in every direction. The longest expanse is to the west, where the eye can trace the outline of hills 10 to 20 miles. Picnic grounds among small group of buildings at left.

42.4 Ellisville. Turn to the left. There is a hotel at Ellisville, where meals may be had. North from Ellisville about a half mile is a patch of short grass that has the appearance of a velvet carpet, it is such a rich green. Turn right at first cross-road on to Smith road. Wheat that is beginning to show effects of the warm weather in its change of color in fields on right and left. On right at Kehr's road are the barns and plant of a dairy that distributes certified milk for babies and invalids in St. Louis. There are several hundred head of registered cattle in the barns and the owner is pleased to show visitors through. The milking is done by vacuum-milking machines.

500 MOTOR CYCLES REGISTERED IN 1919 GYPSY TOUR TO HOLLOW

Lieutenants to Command Squads of 25 Machines to Maintain Uniform Speed.

More than 500 motor cyclists divided in squads of 25, and led by lieutenants in side cars so that a uniform speed may be obtained, were scheduled to leave Skinker road and Lindell avenue, the assembling point at five-minute intervals, starting at 8:30 a. m. today on the annual motor cycle Gypsy Tour.

The route is over Skinker road to Clayton road, west to North and South Road, south to Manchester road, west to Hollow, where a picnic has been arranged for those in the tour at Poertner's Grove. More than 800 men, women and children are expected to take part, a great percentage of motor cyclists entered will have side cars which carry one and two persons.

The Gypsy Tour is conducted under the auspices of the Motor Cycle Manufacturers' Association, and tours have been held annually at this time of year, which is considered the start of the motor cycle touring season, since 1917. The Executive Committee of the St. Louis Motor Cycle Dealers' Association in charge of the arrangements is composed of Clarence Vagedes, George Holly and Arthur Wallace. They represent the Indian, Harley-Davidson and Excelsior motor cycles dealers, respectively.

Trophies will be awarded by the Manufacturers' Association to the city having the largest attendance or riders, the largest attendance of children and the largest attendance of riders who have been in military service. Vagedes said St. Louis hopes to get them all. For each rider that registers for the tour and completes the trip, a Gypsy Tour Medal will be given.

The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. as well as Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., are furnishing motor trucks in which lunch baskets and excess luggage will be carried to the picnic grounds.

At Poertner's Grove there will be dancing, foot races and other contests for ladies and children as well as for the riders.

This is the largest registration that has ever been had Vagedes said, due to so many men being in the military service the last two seasons. Many men were taught to drive motor cycles in the army, he said, and are buying them now that they have taken up civilian pursuits. The ex-army men form the bulk of the riders, he said. Last year there were 250 entrants, and but 50 in 1917.

VALUE OF TRUCK

It was not very long ago that the development of any community or town depended on its railroad connections with neighboring centers or cities.

In the old days a community had to wait for the railroads to add more trains a day before the business men of that community could increase their activities or expand their business.

Today, with the development of independent motor lines to deliver and receive express, freight and other goods, at the same rates or less, these business men do not have to wait, but can forge ahead. Naturally business interests are not only content with the new situation, but it is proving an incentive for business and social expansion.

ILLINOIS DIRT ROADS NOW REPORTED GOOD

Dirt roads in Illinois that were reported impassable several weeks ago are now in good shape, according to a report made this week by S. S. Pingree, president of the Automobile Club of St. Louis, who is touring to Buckhorn, Lakefield, Ontario, a resort not far from Toronto, where he will spend an extended vacation.

Pingree left St. Louis at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday morning and arrived in Springfield at 12:45 p. m. the same day. He reports the first 50 miles of the Burlington Way out of St. Louis as bumpy, it requiring two hours to make 45 miles. The remainder of the 124 miles to Springfield he found the roads were dusty and fairly good. He is making the trip in a Packard touring car and is accompanied by his son, S. J. Pingree, and Russell Lortz, a son-in-law.

Last season Pingree is said to have completed a tour of 1150 miles in three and a half days.

PERMISSION NECESSARY TO VISIT KEOKUK DAM

For the information of motorists who contemplate visiting the Keokuk dam on any tours they may make this season, it is necessary that a pass first be obtained, as the dam is not open to the public in general. This permission may be obtained from C. A. Sears, general superintendent of the Mississippi River Power Co., at Keokuk, Io.

TRUCKS GO 365 MILES WITH PERFECT SCORE

Expedition Returned Friday After Five-Day Trip to Demonstrate Use in Country.

Three hundred and sixty-five miles of easy riding in five days by motor truck, and always on time, is the remarkable record of the St. Louis Motor Truck Expedition. The tour ended Friday afternoon at Jefferson and Washington avenues, where the truck train was dismissed by Commander Robert E. Lee.

The tour started from St. Louis Monday at 6 a. m., with 33 motor trucks and nine passenger cars for officials, in line. The trip was remarkable in that from start to the finish, five days of hard driving at an average of 15 miles an hour, there was not one mishap, not a delay, not a spark plug changed, not an adjustment on any one of the 33 trucks, and the only passenger car trouble was when a big car, driven rapidly past the caravan, stuck in deep mud. One yank by a big truck brought it out and sent it on its way.

Solely a Propaganda Trip.

The trip was undertaken solely as means of spreading propaganda as to good roads and motor truck use. No attempt was made to advertise individual makes of cars. At every stop, whether for 10 minutes or for the night, meetings of citizens were called and addresses made by officers of the tour on highways and the use of motor vehicles to replace horses and mules.

There were 88 men in the trip as officials, mechanics, or drivers. This number taxed the sleeping capacity of some of the smaller towns, but the men were good-natured and grumbled little at four and six men in a room. To a man they were in deadly earnest in their intention to convince the rural districts of the necessity for better transport roads and better transportation over them, motor truck transportation. That they succeeded is shown by the wonderful receptions accorded everywhere. In the night stops almost the entire population turned out. Along the long route the farmers, who had been apprised of the coming of the train, lined the roads with their families, to see it pass.

The route of the tour was through a wonderfully fertile district. Monday, at Wentzville, the lunch stop, there were 500 persons gathered. A meeting was held that night at Louisiana and moving pictures of road work and truck use were shown after the speeches. Tuesday stops were made at Hannibal for lunch and at Quincy for the night. Wednesday lunch was eaten at Clayton, Ill., and the night stop was at Beardstown, where 3000 persons heard the speeches and saw the films. Thursday lunch was taken at Jacksonville and the night was spent at Jerseyville. In each instance delegations from the town ahead headed by its Mayor would meet the St. Louisans to escort them to their town.

Disbanded Friday After Parade.

Friday lunch was eaten at Alton and Friday afternoon the dusty, tired but enthusiastic truck propogandists drove in parade through the downtown streets of St. Louis and disbanded.

The commander of the expedition was Robert E. Lee. Preston W. Duffy of the Chevrolet Co. was tram-master and W. L. Patterson of the St. Louis Motor Service Co., drove his car as pilot of the trip. At the various meetings addresses were made by Charles E. Lightfoot of the General Motors Truck Co., L. H. Amrine of the Scudder Motor Truck Co., A. V. Comings, editor of Commercial Car Journal, T. C. Brandle of the Traffic Motor Truck Co., Harry G. Moock, secretary of the National Automobile Dealers' Association and Lee.

An unusual and unpremeditated feature of the trip was that nearly every driver had served in the army Motor Transport Corps, many of them in France, and the excellence of their training was shown by their remarkable driving.

To say that the roads were good would be a misstatement. There were no good roads on the tour and no hard roads anywhere. Had there been rain the roads would have been impassable. The trucks, however, proved that they could and would go wherever a passenger car would go, by following the pilot and other touring cars up hill and down dale, and over many spots that would have deterred a tourist traveling alone. "The trucks just went," was the sentient expression of one of the drivers.

ROOSEVELT HIGHWAY GAINS SUPPORTERS

A Theodore Roosevelt International Highway Association has been organized in Duluth, Minn., under the auspices of the Commercial Club of Duluth. The route of this new memorial highway is given as "from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore."

A great deal of publicity is being released by the organization, which was perfected early in March at a meeting in Duluth. Great interest has been aroused in the proposed highway, particularly in the Northwest.

AUTO REGISTRANTS GROW IN NUMBER

A detailed list of figures on automobile registrations in various states has been compiled and printed by the Chicago Tribune. This includes figures for 1917 for comparison. The tabulations in the "total" columns include both passenger cars and motor trucks. Automobile lincense receipts in the various states are also reported, the sums representing, in most cases, funds to be spent on the improvement of roads in the state concerned.

In some instances the reports are not complete. Others are lacking entirely, since some of the state automobile departments have not yet wound up their affairs for the year.

Questions and Answers

Q. Where may I obtain a map of the Lincoln Highway to San Francisco? George T. Browne, Paducah, Ky.

A. I am mailing you a map of the Lincoln Highway today.

Q. Which is the best route to Ha Ha Tonka, Mo.? I would also like to know the mileage and road condition.—St. Louisan.

A. The best route from St. Louis is to Jefferson City then Eugene, Tuscumbia, Ulman, Brumley, Linn Creek and Ha Ha Tonka. The total distance from St. Louis is 226 miles or 75 miles from Jefferson City. The roads are reported as good all the way with the exception of a short stretch of about five miles between Brumley and Linn Creek that is part rock and reported rough.

DATES ANNOUNCED FOR NATIONAL AUTO SHOWS

At the annual meeting of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce the manufacturers decided to hold their national shows in New York, Jan. 3 to 10, and in Chicago, Jan. 24 to 31 for both passenger cars and motor trucks.

Space will be allotted, it was agreed, on the basis of cars or trucks sold during the year ending June 30, 1917, because of the war work so generally taken on by the industry during the last year.

HANDCUFF YOUR AUTO.

HOLYOKE, Mass, June 7.—Chief of Police Quilty has a new method of protecting automobiles from thieves. If the owners would lock half a handcuff around the spark and gas levers and one of the spokes of the steering wheel, he says, the cars would never be stolen. It would be impossible for a thief to crack the handcuff and filing would be too long a job.

IF YOU SHOULD NEED A CHAUFFEUR JUST PHONE OLIVE 7240

St. Louis Ex-Soldiers, Some of Whom Were Chauffeurs Here Before War, Seek Jobs.

Do you need a chauffeur? Phone Olive 7240 or Central 756 if you want a high-class, experienced man. In addition, you will be giving the job to an ex-soldier.

Martin J. Walsh, examiner in charge of the United States Employment Bureau for Soldiers, Sailors and Marines, 905 Locust street, said there are between 175 and 200 applications of ex-soldiers of St. Louis for chauffeurs' jobs on file at the present time and similar applications are received at the rate of 20 a day. For the last several weeks chauffeurs' jobs have been filled at the average rate of five a day.

"No matter what qualifications are asked we have men who will suit the requirements of anyone who applies for a chauffeur or truck driver," he said.

In addition to the necessary experience, many people have their own notions of the personal qualifications of a man to drive the family car, and we cater to them all. One man who asked for "a man without a relative in the world" explained that on long tours he did not want him to get homesick.

Another call asked for a careful driver for his aged mother. "I doubt if anyone can suit her, but send him up." To the first man the old lady has taken such a fancy that she won't ride behind anybody else.

Employers having the lighter model trucks request a light driver, while those operating trucks of three-ton capacity and better ask for a hefty chap to do the work, as it takes a stronger man to cope with the heavier work connected with such a truck.

Some drivers of heavy trucks have been placed in jobs that pay from $25 to $27.50 a week. The average pay for chauffeurs of passenger cars and light delivery trucks has been $60 to $100 a month. In some cases, where the chauffeur drives a family car, board is included.

Walsh said it is up to the men in most cases as to what they are paid. He said many ex-soldiers who have been placed in jobs that paid $60 a month to start have dropped in a month or so later to tell him they had given their employer their best and had been raised as the result in some cases to as much as $80 a month.

Women as a rule emphasize that the man must be of good appearance when they are to drive the family car. On that score our men can bear comparison with any.

In addition to army training, many of our men have had experience as chauffeurs in civil life before the war. About 40 of our applications are from auto mechanics and chauffeurs who have been gassed during the war and want outdoor rather than inside work. Many of these men whom we cannot place right at the time take other jobs as carpenter helpers, painters' helpers or laborers rather than remain idle.

Added to this class of men who return to their old job of chauffeur which they held before the war there is daily a noted influx of men returning to civilian life who, due to experience gained in the army, seek to take up their civilian livelihood as chauffeurs, auto truck drivers, auto mechanics and garage helpers.

As but 25 per cent of the daily applications for this type of work are being placed in jobs, the need for calls for men of this type is immediate and urgent.

PRACTICAL PARAGRAPHS

Old Oil for Springs.

Most car owners drain the oil out of the crankcase about three times a year, and as a general rule this used oil is simply thrown away. By adding 50 per cent of kerosene to this waste oil an excellent spring lubricant is obtained. The method of using the mixture is to spray it over the springs once a week. The oil furnishes the lubricating means, while the kerosene keeps the springs free from rust.

Thread Cleaner.

Every car owner who cares for his own vehicle has had more or less trouble with grit and other foreign matter getting into the threads or bolts or in the tapped holes about the chassis. It is hard to dislodge this dirt, except by a special thread cleaner of some kind. By taking a fairly stiff piece of wire and bending nearly double and then bending the two ends by right angles to the body of the device and filing these ends to fit the threads of the screw a very efficient little cleaner is produced.

Socket Wrench.

It is possible to make a socket wrench by placing a bolt head of the proper size in one end of a pipe and then forging the pipe to fit it. After the wrench has been made it can be annealed, if desired, to give it lasting qualities. A hole is, of course, bored in the opposite end to take a crosspiece and complete the tool.

Distributer Head Needs Cleaning.

Car owners should not forget that one part of the battery system which needs attention is the distributer head. When soot forms on this part it often enables the current to pass across from one terminal to another, with preignition as a result. The track of the distributer head should be kept clean and be touched up from time to time with a kerosene soaked rag. This will prevent its becoming dirty and will keep the rotor button from sticking and cutting.

Vacuum Tank Trouble.

When foreign matter of some kind finds its way into the fuel pipe between the two sections of the vacuum system the result is that the vacuum tank is empty in spite of the fact that there is plenty of fuel in the main tank. When this happens fill the float chamber of the carburetor with gasoline, which can be drawn from the main tank, and then start the engine. The resulting suction will draw out the obstruction and permit the system to function again. This same trouble is sometimes caused by obstruction of the small air hole in the filler cap of the main fuel tank, which must be kept open to induce atmospheric pressure on the gasoline.

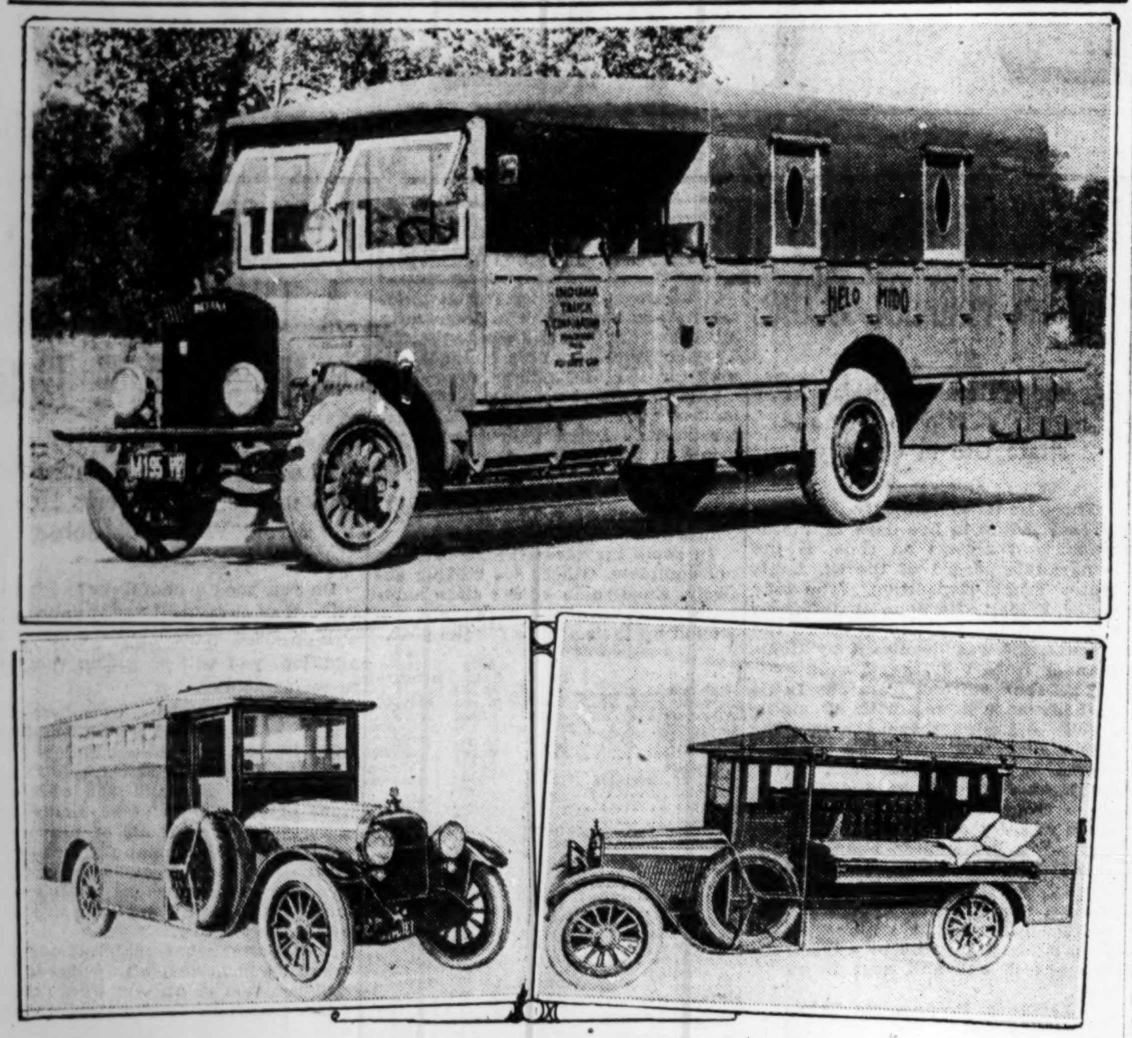
All Conveniences of Home in Auto Bodies Built for Touring



THE much mooted question as to whether an automobile is a "passenger" car or "pleasure" car could cause no argument in the cases of the above cars which have been especially designed for outing purposes by their owners.

The passenger car that has become a car for principally pleasure was made in St. Louis by the Curtis Pneumatic Machinery Co., for the personal use of G. F. Steedman, vice president, and his family, who are now using it in touring Arizona and the Southwest. The chassis is a Dorris "6-80" with a heavy duty ambulance type rear axle.

The car is built with the idea of being a traveling home for four people, although it has a seating capacity for eight. The cushions, which form the long seats in the daytime, make up at night into two full-size double beds. The backs of the front seats have folding legs, and when removed make up into upholstered camp chairs. Inside "Palm-beach-type" sunshades and outside storm curtains are provided, the sides of the car folding down and the storm curtains completely enclosing same at night, as shown in the figure 2. Mattrasses and complete bedding equipment is carried under the long seats. The view shows one of the beds "made down" as George, the Pullman porter, would put it. In the rear of the car are found three full-size clothes lockers with coat hangers, four large individual wardrobe drawers (one for each person) with chiffonier top and mirror over the drawers, to say nothing of the individual mirrors in the clothes lockers; also folding dining room table, seating four, a three-burner gasoline stove with pressure feed system carrying 20-pound air pressure; an oven, a portable kitchen sink and drain, a kitchen cabinet, an ice storage chamber, a disappearing bread board, a pneumatic water system with 30-gallon storage tank for drinking water purposes, provided with outside overflow, a gun locker, a tin-lined game locker, broom, mop, laundry equipment and portable foot bath.

The car is also supplied with a complete lighting system, having interior dome lights, portable reading lights and electric fan.

The other car built for the same purpose for C. G. Barley, president of the Indiana Truck Corporation, Marion, Ind., is constructed on an Indiana two-ton truck chassis with practically the same accoutrements. The berths, instead of being collapsible, are stationary. There are two on each side of a 20" aisle, with partitions and curtains that make them individual.

During the day passengers may sit in the front end of the car where there are two wide upholstered seats that will accommodate six people and the driver.

Barley, in company with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goldthait of Marion, Ind., will leave on Aug. 1 for a two months' tour through Yellowstone Park and the Pacific Coast States.

The equipment includes a 9'x15' walled tent of balloon silk to be used as a shelter for cooking and as a sunshade. A platform at the rear of the car will carry a motorcycle, a folding canvas boat and spare tires. The capacity of the gasoline tank is 40 gallons. Two tanks slung from the underside carry 30 gallons of water each. An electric pump is provided with a 50-foot hose to replenish the tank with water from streams or lakes.

Details have been carried to such a degree that the ladies will even be enabled to heat their curling irons electrically.

A winch has been built on each rear hub to be used in crossing stretches of bad roads.

REFINEMENT CONTINUES IN CADILLAC'S 18TH YEAR

Sedan and Victoria Models Improved Slightly to Meet Touring Requirements.

The eighteenth year of producing Cadillac cars does not see any important changes from the previous model, which served as the standard seven-passenger car of the army. The eight-cylinder power plant introduced by the Cadillac Motor Car Co. in 1914 is, of course, retained. More than 75,000 cars with this type of engine have been sold.

The prevailing tendency to use closed cars for touring purposes is largely responsible, however, for some refinements in the new series of Cadillac Sendans and Victorias.

In the Victoria model storage space has been increased by furnishing tire irons at the rear for two extras, the rumble compartment entered through a lid in the top being now available for storing luggage. Re-design of the interior widens the rear seat and increases the comfort in the driver's seat. The auxiliary folding seat which faces forward is upholstered and provided with arm rests. Four persons are seated in complete comfort.

The most noticeable structural change in the Four Door Sedan is the full front seat, providing more comfort for long drives than the former bucket seats. Emergency seats have been abandoned.

In both Sedan and Victoria models, the body corners, windows and roof lines have been squared a trifle and straightened, reflecting trimly the tendency of present body styles. The lower edge of the windshield follows the curve of the cowls.

The Most Beautiful Car in America

Luxury Without Extravagance

THOUGH the Paige Essex "Six-55" is a large car, it is also an economical car—a thoroughly practical vehicle for the man who wishes to avoid excessive "up-keep" without sacrificing luxurious comfort and a vast range of power.

In brief it offers every advantage of the very high priced, high powered touring car—and none of the disadvantages. It is a superb motor car—an artistic achievement and a mechanical masterpiece.

This is to certify that the undersigned officially observed a 100 Mile Traffic non motor stop test, made by a HOLMES 7-passenger touring car (6 cylinder 18 valves) on May 29th, 1919, over the following course:

Locust Street to Theresa Avenue to Washington Ave. to Union Ave. to Lindell Blvd. to Grand Ave. to Lawton and Chestnut to Broadway to Locust to 3015 Locust St. and repeated as often as was necessary to make the 100 miles.

The gasoline was measured into the tank from a gallon measure certified by the St. Louis Inspector of Weights and Measures. The switch was sealed in such manner as to prevent stoppage of the motor during the entire run.

Into the total distance of 100 miles 4-5/8 gallons of gasoline were used, giving an average of 21.68 miles per gallon.

Into the total distance of 100 miles 1-1/4 pints of lubricating oil were used, giving an average of 640 miles per gallon of oil.

Car attained a maximum speed of 47 miles per hour and a minimum speed of one mile per hour in high gear.

Total running time 5 hours 27 minutes.
Average speed 18.2 miles per hour.

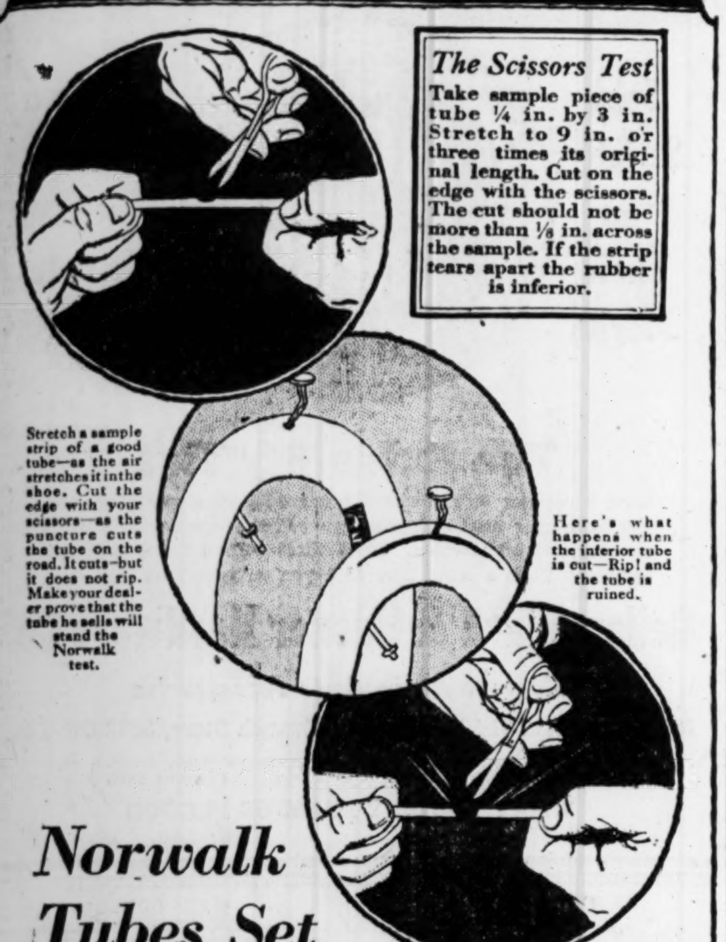
Championship to Be Decided.

The Pacific Coast championship will be decided at Ascot Park track, Los Angeles, on June 22. Los Angeles promoters have scheduled one of the biggest motor cycle races in the history of the sport and an immense crowd is looked for. Such crack riders as Dud Perkins, Irwin G. Baker, Roy Artley and Wells Bennett have already placed their entries.



The Scissors Test

Take sample piece of tube ¼ in. by 3 in. Stretch to 9 in. or three times its original length. Cut on the edge with the scissors. The cut should not be more than ⅛ in. across the sample. If the strip tears apart the rubber is inferior.

Stretch a sample strip of a good tube—as the air stretches it in the shoe. Cut the edge with your scissors—as the puncture cuts the tube on the road. It cuts—but it does not rip. Make your dealer prove that the tube he sells will stand the Norwalk test.

Here's what happens when the inferior tube is cut—Rip! and the tube is ruined.

Norwalk Tubes Set a New Standard

NORWALK TUBES will not rip. The scissors test proves this before you buy. Neither puncture nor blow-out can destroy Norwalk Tubes. Cuts can be repaired. One cut that rips ruins a tube. Norwalk Tubes are guaranteed not to rip.

Norwalk Tubes are floating stock*—both red and gray. File away a dated sample of Norwalk Tube and others and compare them at the end of a year.

Norwalk Casings are as good as Norwalk Tubes.

CONFISCATION OF CARS SERIOUS IN DRY STATES

Revenue Agents Hold Cars for Violation of Liquor Law—Dealer the Loser on Conditional Bill of Sale.

How prohibition laws are threatening the safety of the automobile industry was brought out in the concluding session of the directors of the National Automobile Dealers' Association who convened here several days ago, according to a bulletin issued by Harry G. Moock, secretary.

The prohibition menace to the dealer has been brought about through the fact that in numerous dry states Federal revenue agents have confiscated automobiles carrying liquor. In a majority of these cases the cars have been sold by the dealers on conditional bills of sale. After the cars have been seized they are either sold or destroyed, the dealer is deprived of his car and in many cases it is impossible to recover the balance due on the purchase. This procedure has been upheld in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for Georgia despite the fact that the dealer had no knowledge of the purpose for which the automobile was to be used. Cases also are pending in Colorado, Washington, Virginia and California.

The directors made a pledge of "adequate financial" support to the Georgia dealers fighting this case which will be taken to the United States Supreme Court, and if they lose there the National Association will take steps to obtain a repeal of the law in Congress under which cars are confiscated.

One of the most serious features of the confiscation is that the Federal Reserve Banks are considering a proposal to refuse to rediscount automobile dealers' commercial paper when cars are sold on such conditional bills of sale. It has also seriously impaired the ability of car owners to insure their cars.

The following resolutions were embodied in a telegram to the Manufacturers' Association:

National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, 7 East 42d street, New York N. Y.

The Directors of the National Automobile Dealers' Association meeting in St. Louis today submit:

That, whereas, under Section 3450 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, the Revenue officers of Georgia, Virginia, Washington, Colorado and the like have been confiscating automobiles in which liquor is carried, either upon which liquor Federal revenue tax has not been paid or which is carried into dry territory in violation of provisions of the Reed amendment (the bone dry law) and selling such cars, or destroying them.

And that whereas, a number of these cars have been sold by the dealers under conditional bills of sale, and that

Whereas, when cars so confiscated or thus sold, regardless of any knowledge of the dealers' part that such cars were to be used by purchasers for unlawful use, and that

Whereas, as a result of such confiscation dealers are losing their automobiles, in many caess also the balance of money due on such cars, and that

Whereas, because of such confiscation insurance companies are refusing to write theft insurance on such cars so sold conditionally and are withdrawing from many of the states.

Telegrams of endorsement were sent to authors of each bill.

Directors present were: F. W. A. Vesper, St. Louis, president; Harry G. Moock, St. Louis, secretary and buisness manager; W. J. Brace, Kansas City, Mo.; P. E. Chamberlain, Denver, Col.; H. L. Robertson, Houston Tex.; Harry D. Austin, Seattle, Wash.; A. E. Maltby, Philadelphia, Pa.; George D. McCutcheon, Atlanta, Ga.; J. A. Graham, Minneapolis, Minn.; A. E. Mitzell, Canton, O.; P. H. Greer, Los Angeles, Cal.; E. W. Steinhart, Indianapolis, Ind., and Thos. J. Hay, Chicago, Ill.

John H. Johnson of Boston was named as Director for the Eastern Division.

The next meeting of the Directors will be held in Denver in October.

314,000 TRACTORS U. S. 1919 OUTPUT

More than 314,000 motor tractors for farm use will be manufactured in the United States this year, according to the estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture. Some 90,000 of these tractors, representing about $100,000,000, will be sent abroad and will be used to increase the crop productions of nearly every country in the world.

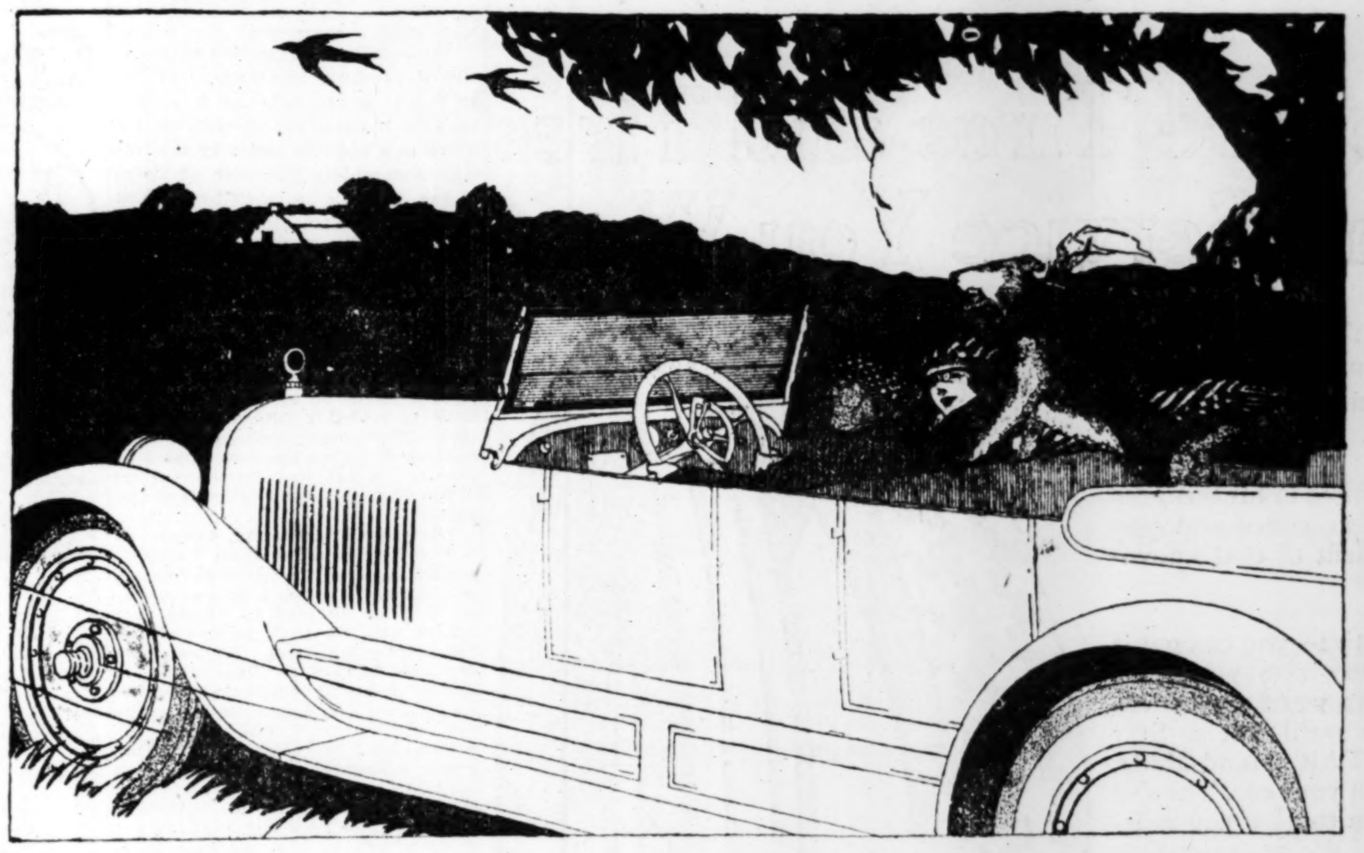
It is estimated that one man working with a tractor can do more work than six men, 30 horses, or 100 oxen, under the agricultural methods formerly in vogue. This will make up in a large measure for the shortage of men in Europe caused by the war.

The power of all tractors is derived from internal combustion engines. The fuel used is generally kerosene, although some use gasoline. Practically all have magneto ignition, because of its intense spark, simplicity and reliability. It would be impossible in foreign lands to use any other form of ignition.

Altogether there will be about 500,000 American-built farm tractors at work in 1920, where there were practically none five years ago. The United States leads the world in this industry.

A delegation including P. S. Russel, Charles A. Bothell, P. S. Anderson and Ollie Savin of the Packard Motor Car Co. of Missouri left yesterday to attend the Packard Great Lakes cruise and sales convention which starts from Detroit today on a four-day trip.

JORDAN



The Kind of Comfort Europeans Know

A MAN steps into a foreign car for the first time. If he is an average American he has the impression that he is going to sit high in the car with a tendency to slide forward and shift sideways.

Because he is used to these things in so many American cars.

But let him step into the new Jordan Silhouette—or any of the other Jordan models for that matter. He at once experiences the kind of comfort that Europeans know.

The cushions are so low that you lounge almost on the floor. You sink down at a perfect comfort angle—conscious of no effort—no need to brace yourself.

Soft hand-buffed leather or smart worsted upholstery—as the case may be—wells up around you. The arm rest is in just the right position. Your knees are not too high. You have a gratifying sense of riding in the car and not on top of it.

In the deep tonneau of the Silhouette there is a pleasant surprise for everyone who has grown tired of new fashioned things and craves the old—a cordovan leather boot and saddle-bag—full of the atmosphere of silver mounted bridles and swanky puttees—with big generous buckles and sturdy straps. There is a distinctly French atmosphere about the whole car.

The chassis, of finished mechanical excellence, includes all the universally approved mechanical units—and is equipped with a series of all-aluminum custom style bodies.

Four distinctive bodies have been conceived and introduced by Jordan in anticipation of a pronounced demand for just such types of cars—a demand which now seems insatiable.

Comfort-loving and particular people will find among these four models the particular body styles they want.

THE JORDAN SILHOUETTE—Picture this car—long, low, graceful—reflecting the ideals of France—full of the spirit of victory—suggestive of the vigor of boyhood and morning. Imagine a solid aluminum, rattle-proof body with new broad doors—rectangular mouldings—a striking innovation in tonneau appointments—the newest French angle at the dash—a cocky seat cowl—fenders broad and full crowned. Picture yourself sinking down at a perfect-comfort angle, touching the throttle and slipping away in this supple, graceful thing over sleeping white roads in the dusky night with the silver moon over your shoulder—and that wonderful girl at your side. Colors Brewster Green or Burgundy Old Wine.

THE BROUGHAM—How inviting to a woman, and how convenient for a busy man, is a car like this. Light aluminum body, hammock swung between the axles. With two broad doors, it carries five passengers in cleanliness and comfort with all the advantages of an electric without the limitations. It's a car for personal driving in town and family touring in the country. Colors blue and green.

THE JORDAN PLAYBOY—a spirited companion for a wonderful girl and a wonderful boy will be ready before the days are long. It's a shame to call it a roadster—so full is this brawny, graceful thing of the vigor of boyhood and morning. It carries two passengers with a cockpit—swanky seat behind—and it will revel along with the wandering wind. It's a car for a man's man or for the girl who can swim and paddle and shoot, with some of the tang of the rare old English ale that was brewed from the smiles of youth and old boxing gloves. Colors, Scarlet and Burgundy Old Wine.

THE TOWN SEDAN—so called for want of a name which will describe a fashionably modern, four-door, straight line enclosed car of the permanent, latter-day, complete-vision type. Slender roof and narrow belt line, large square-cornered windows and doors. Vertical, straight type, outside door handles, with interior fittings in Mount Vernon platinum, embellished with our individual design. Doors inset, Circassian walnut frames. Upholstered in new material, soft in texture, durable in quality, neutral in color. Blue and green.

DOUBTFUL POINTS OF CAR TAX BEING THRESHED OUT

Action to Prevent Duplication of Levies—Dealers Warned Not to Use Term "War Tax."

Authoritative suggestions on methods of handling or disposing of the war tax, particularly as it affects the sale of parts and accessories, are made in a bulletin issued by the Nation Automobile Chamber of Commerce. That a tax shall be paid on everything taxable but without duplication is the purpose of these suggestions which, it is pointed out in Automobile Topics, are made on the best available information, but in advance of, and therefore without final approval, in the form of a normal ruling from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The purpose in passing them on at this time is to indicate probable future rulings, as they will represent policies that have developed during the long course of discussions between representatives of the N. A. C. C. and officials of the bureau.

The most illuminating, because it is based on a letter from Commissioner Roper, of the Revenue Bureau, is a declaration that a proper method may be adopted to insure that tax is paid on such parts only as represent actual sales. Where a part (an axle is used as illustration), is sold by a motor vehicle manufacturer, a tax on it paid, and the part subsequently returned or the charge for it eliminated by reason of its falling under guaranty, the tax paid on it may be deducted from the statement of the following month. This will overcome the need for applying for a drawback on the separate item, and at the end of the year will leave the car manufacturer paying only his proper amount of tax for the money he has received from sales.

Suggestions of N. A. C. C.

Broadly it is intimated that the manufacturer of tires, parts, accessories and the like will not be taxed on such of his products as he sells to automobile manufacturers for original equipment. He will be taxed on such goods as he sells to a manufacturer of cars for paid repairs or replacements.

The N. A. C. C. has suggested to the revenue authorities that a parts, tire or accessory maker be permitted to sell all bills without tax to motor vehicle manufacturers. Where these goods are built into finished cars or trucks they will of course bear their tax anyway.

Where they are sold by the motor vehicle manufacturer for paid repairs or replacements, they would be taxed at the price that this one receives, representing a slightly higher value, and paying correspondingly more in tax.

On the manufacturers' side the proposed arrangement would save a great quantity of routine work, bookkeeping and the like. In the meantime, many automobile manufacturers have adopted the plan of asking parts makers to bill them such materials as tires, parts, accessories and the like with a notation on the bill that war tax is to be added later if the Government so orders. This, it is felt, will simplify matters greatly if generally adopted, until particular rulings are forthcoming.

Sales to Government Taxable.

Sales by the manufacturer, producer or importer to the Government are taxable. Though department heads insist that the Government itself is not subject to tax, this is felt to be an instance of drawing a fine distinction too fine, and it is recommended that instead of adding merely "war tax" to the bill or bid, naming the exact amount, the added item be carried as reimbursing the bidder or seller for war tax levied on him.

Dealers are not to use the words "war tax." Though as aforementioned, the chamber nor anyone else has a final ruling on this from the Treasury Department, conversations with the authorities have served to make this point fairly clear. Only a man or company actually paying a tax to the Revenue Office can use these specific words, it is said. It is entirely proper for the dealer who wants to, to add the exact amount he has paid someone else as tax to his own bills, but in order to be safe he must use such words as "to reimburse the manufacturer for excise tax."

While the department's first thought was to tax retail sales on basis of highest wholesale price received, the bureau indicates that probably retail sales will be taxed on the basis of the average price received on wholesale sales during preceding month. The advice is again that, on all sales contracts for cars, trucks, tires, parts or accessories, notations should be made that the purchaser must reimburse the manufacturer for any taxes, Federal, State or municipal, which the manufacturer may be required to pay.

Harry Newman, Inc., Announces
Its Appointment as Distributor of Troy Trailers

Why Troy Trailers?
Because—

1. Millions will be spent on road work this year, and Troy slow-speed trailer wagons will haul these road materials.

2. The demand for 4-wheel and fifth-wheel trailers is enormous, and Troy Trailers meet that demand with a quality vehicle.

3. The Troy Wagon Works has been successfully conducting its business for almost half a century.

This means they deliver the goods—two ways.

Harry Newman

Many a truck which shows excessive operating costs becomes a profitable investment by putting behind it a Troy Trailer—

A Troy Trailer will double your truck's "loading space" at a cost of only one-third the price of a new truck.

Therefore, your truck's daily working hours are DOUBLED.

This means cutting both delivery time and hauling costs practically right in half.

The average "per-ton-mile" cost of a 5-ton truck (25-mile daily schedule) is $0.148.

The "per-ton-mile" cost of a 5-ton Troy Trailer (behind that same truck) is only $0.064.

(Return loads would reduce these costs about one-half.)

Concerns are not buying 5-ton trucks because they sometimes have a 5-ton load to haul—their average loads being 2 to 3 tons—

—they buy only a 3-ton truck, and use a Troy Trailer to take care of their excess loads.

They have found it cheaper to let a Troy Trailer (with no power plant to get out of order) lay idle for one or two days a week, where necessary, than it is to run a 5-ton truck half empty most of the time.

You don't have to prove this—hundreds of concerns in all lines of business have already proved it—are proving it daily—for you.

Send for booklet, "Some Users" of Troy Trailers—from single-truck users to fleet operators.

Lets Your Motor Breathe!

The new patented air intake of the Shurnuff Spark Plug introduces air into the cylinder at each down stroke of the piston. A ball valve prevents loss of compression on the upward stroke.

The air breaks up the "gas pocket" which forms above the firing points in ordinary plugs and causes them to foul, because, as a result of incomplete combustion, free oil and carbon are deposited on the porcelain.

The air introduced into the cylinder means more oxygen for a more perfect mixture. This is especially important with the present low grade of gasoline. The result is more complete combustion, which means less carbon on valves, piston head and cylinder walls, more power and

in a Hot Spot Chalmers*

A STRANGER wrote the other day he had taken his Hot Spot Chalmers to a garage for the first time since he bought it—and he had run it 22,121 miles! "It didn't need a thing except one three-minute adjustment," he added.

We get many letters like this; and we assign the lack of trouble in a Chalmers largely to Hot Spot and Ram's-horn.

Hot Spot "cracks up" the raw gas, converts it into a fine vapor that offers excellent combustion qualities.

Ram's-horn rushes it with a rapidity that is lightning-like to the cylinders, and when the spark plugs perform their function—you get power results beyond belief.

Not only power, but an amazing freedom from engine knocks, overheated engine, nerve-wracking vibration, uncomfortable friction.

Many cars of today, still equipped with old-fashioned engines, permit raw gas to descend past the pistons into the crank case; and then follows trouble in more ways than one.

In this heavy-fuel-burning Chalmers of today your troubles never happen.

Come see this Chalmers which so many persons now credit with being one of the few great cars of the world.

18-VALVE MOTOR NEW DEVELOPMENT IN AIR-COOLED CARS

Dead Gases Cleared More Rapidly by Dual Exhaust Valves.

A new development in automobile motors of the overhead valves type is presented in the Holmes improved air-cooled motor in the present series of production.

The use of 18 valves comes as the result of work done by Arthur Holmes, designer of the Holmes car, as consulting engineer on aeroplane motors of the air-cooled type used in combat planes.

There are three valves to each cylinder, all in the head, the exhaust valves being dual in construction, actuated from one rocker arm which is operated from the cam shaft by the usual type of valve lifter rod construction.

Three purposes are served by the 18 valve design. The first is the development of greater power through a better use of the fuel, accomplished by a more rapid clearing of the dead gases from the cylinders; second, a more flexible motor due to the more complete ignition of the fuel; third, a quieter running motor than has hitherto been associated with overhead valve construction.

The adjustments on the valve mechanism are worthy of particular attention. With the usual valve in-the-head motor it is necessary to time the valves when the motor is hot to get the best operation. This is because of the expansion of the valve operating mechanism under the heat of the motor.

In the Holmes air-cooled motor the action of heat on the valve mechanism is compensated for in a standard which supports the valve operating mechanism. Design and construction is such that the expansion of this support is uniform with the expansion of the cylinder head and the valve cages.

Adjustments made while the motor is cold are not changed when the motor is warmed by long running. The same clearance prevails and the motor is not only efficient at all times, but it is notably silent in running.

Adjustments are unusually simple and are all made by conveniently located adjusting screws, and the weight of these screws comes on stationary parts instead of adding to moving parts.

The valve mechanism for each cylinder is entirely independent of that for any other cylinder except for the operation of the cam shaft itself.

The cylinder heads are detachable without taking down the motor. This permits easy access to the valves and to the piston heads. The valve springs are also open to cool drafts of air.

TRACKLESS TROLLEY SAID TO BE POPULAR IN EAST

The trackless trolley car has found a welcome in a number of small New England towns, according to the Popular Mechanics Magazine. The impression is that this car without tracks to run on has come to stay and perhaps force its way into cities where the track-following trolley cars are going up into the air after higher fares to keep out of the bankruptcy column. The trackless car looks like a long autobus on wide solid rubber tires, and is heated, lighted and propelled by electricty supplied through two trolleys to an ordinary street car motor. It is claimed that the trackless outfit is much cheaper than the old-style, because expensive rails, switches and signals are not required. More satisfactory in performance is another claim for it, because the swinging trolleys permit the cars to go anywhere in a 25-foot roadway to pass slower vehicles, avoid uneven road surface and allow passengers to get out close to a sidewalk. It should hardly be possible that the small towns have more sense as to a street transportation system than the cities, but at least one writer on scientific mechanics seems to incline to that idea. The trackless way may be the next road to paying street car service at fair prices.

PLANS TO OIL ROUTE ST. LOUIS TO ST. PAUL

Frank Buffum, former State Highway Commissioner and vice president for Missouri of the Red Ball route from St. Paul to St. Louis, in an interview this week said that a campaign has been started in Pike County to oil the roads of this route the entire distance from St. Louis to St. Paul. The plan is to have the expense born by local communities where there are no toll gates. Where there are toll roads it is contemplated that the cost be paid from toll charges, he said.

The Red Ball route will be extended, he said, by the 1920 touring season, according to present plans, by way of Ste. Genevieve, Cape Girardeau, Sikeston, Charleston and Cairo, with a branch from Cape Girardeau through Campbell, Mo., to Hot Springs, Ark.

Negotiations for a hard-surfaced road connecting these points will begin within several weeks, he said. The type of construction may vary the main requirement being that the road be hard-surfaced.

New York motor cycle dealers have organized to promote a monster motor cycle speed carnival on the Sheepshead Bay Speedway July 4. This will be the first big race meet in the East this year.

During the first five months of 1919, the Post-Dispatch printed 10,800 Musical "Wants"—1501 more than the FOUR other St. Louis newspapers combined.

This is the Firestone
YEAR

During the past year the news of the remarkable mileage of the Gray Sidewall Firestone Tires has passed from car owner to car owner.

Most miles per dollar is a phrase packed full of meaning for men who build Firestone Tires, men who sell Firestone Tires, and car owners who use Firestone Tires.

To the builders—90 per cent of them are stockholders in the company—it is a personal pledge to turn out a product capable of delivering more miles per dollar than any other tire made. Gray Sidewall Firestone Fabric Tires and the new Standard Oversize Firestone Cord Tires are living up to that pledge.

As for the tire dealers—

MOST MILES

has become the foundation of their faith. Their confidence is a fighting confidence because these gray sidewall Firestone Tires have driven home the truth that most miles per dollar pays and that most miles per dollar is Firestone.

To the tire user the Firestone name is the sure guide to tire purchase. Car owners have been getting more mileage than from any other tire. They bear the message to their friends, "This is the Firestone Year."

With this increased mileage from every Firestone Tire, Firestone adjustments never have been so few. In fact, these mileage records brought about the new basis of adjustment recently announced—

6,000 MILES
FOR FABRIC TIRES

8,000 MILES
FOR CORD TIRES

10,000 MILES
FOR SOLID TIRES

Now is the time to stop shopping. Generous values are not to be found in "tire bargains" but in most miles per dollar. Buy Firestones all around.

Testing Bearings.

The motorist is sometimes puzzled to know just what shape his bearings are in and does not know how to test them. Connecting rod bearings should be tested by tapping them very gently with a hammer and watching for play. For the crankshaft bearings, rock the shaft a little by hand with the petcocks open; if you can do this the bearings are all right.

The Utah road commission has approved the expenditure of $463,749 for the construction of 240 miles of roads in or leading to national forests.

AMERICANS TO SEE AMERICA IN 1919 TOURING SEASON

Motorists of Means Are Finding America Has No Peer as a Scenic Playground.

The inability of motorists of means to take their cars to Europe during the war has made it necessary for them to confine their touring to this country and thousands of motor-car owners are beginning to realize at last that America has no peer as a scenic playground.

Along this line more requests for touring information in all parts of the United States have been made upon the Automobile Club of St. Louis by its members for the 1919 touring season than in any other year in the history of the organization, said A. C. McKibbin, secretary.

The demand for information about motoring possibilities in the Far West, as well as the New England States, Great Lake resorts and the Southland is increasing in a most gratifying degree.

This condition is particularly true of this season, for as soon as the devastated regions of France, Belgium and Italy are opened to the public, there will of course be an influx of tourists to those regions. It is not expected that such will be the case during the 1919 season, it is quite fair to assume.

There has arisen among a majority of motorists an unreasoning dread of touring in certain localities. Take for instance what has so unfortunately been designated the Great American Desert. What are the actual conditions? The tourist can follow any one of the central routes and have a bed to sleep in under a roof every night. He can sit down to a table to eat his three meals a day. He will find gasoline, a garage and automobile supplies at frequent intervals, or as often as he needs them. Instead of heat he will find an overcoat comfortable if he drives at night and he will encounter more sand at the old river bed crossing near his farm in the midcontinent country than he will encounter between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast.

It should be wise for all tourists to obtain the latest information about the roads they propose to travel, otherwise they will most certainly meet with grief, for they will find that roads which they had supposed to be in good condition have been literally cut to pieces since they last traveled over them on account of the use of them in the war period by heavy motor trucks.

Among the requests that have been made for touring data by St. Louisans so far this season, 550 requests for information are on tours in Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Requests for information on motoring possibilities in other states were as follows: Rocky Mountain States, 129; Pacific Coast States, 84; Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, 94; Southern States, 45; New England States, 70; New York State, 49; Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Delaware and Washington, D. C., 46. There have been 15 inquiries for information regarding routes with logs in and out of New York City.

MOTOR OPERATION A NEW SCIENCE

Colleges to Give Course in Highway Transportation From Military and Commercial Standpoint.

A new field of opportunity has been opened to American collegians through the introduction of a course in instruction for motor transport corps units in the Reserve Officers' Training Camps of the United States. The course lifts motor truck operation to the dignity of a science and in effect will provide thousands of students with a knowledge that will fit them not only for actual operation of motor units but for entrance into the field of highways transportation as economists and men skilled in administration.

Arrangements looking to the inauguration of the work are now under way by the training branch of the Motor Transport Corps of the War Department in Washington.

The course is divided into two broad divisions, that of military and nonmilitary. Under the first the student will be given a grounding in military work which will carry him through from elementary subjects to advanced motor vehicle engineering, field work, transport corps maintenance, administration, etc.

The second branch includes the usual basic studies, such as mathematics, English, language, chemistry, etc., and manual work consisting of pattern making, forging, shop work, applied mechanics, machine design, surveying, thermodynamics and similar subjects, together with a study of business law, accounting, public speaking, foundry work and a number of other topics which will serve to make the student proficient in the various lines of endeavor that are called for in the several branches of motor vehicle operation.

In addition it is planned to develop an elective course which will take into consideration economic surveys of territories for highways transportation, operating costs, road development of highways transportation, whose services will be much sought after by owners of motor transport lines and also by communities desirous of developing their highway transportation facilities to the utmost in a sound, businesslike manner.

Replacing Terminals.

In replacing terminals in the wring system the easiest method is simply to take a terminal from an old wire, leaving a couple of inches of the wire in the terminal. After both wire and terminal have been thoroughly cleaned, the new and old wires are spliced together by twisting the strands and the job is completed by soldering and taping the joint.

Ironing Out Fender Dents.

The greatest care must be taken in straightening out dents in the fenders, if the parts are not to assume a battered appearance. The only satisfactory method is to remove the fender and get it on the bench. Beneath it should be placed a block of wood cut to fit snugly the curve of the fender. Then the dents can be pounded out with comparatively little injury to the finish and general appearance of the parts. Incidentally it is a good plan to use a leather mallet for this work or to cover the head of an ordinary hammer with a number of thicknesses of cloth.

AJOR COMFORT'S STORY OF THE 35TH IN THE ARGONNE

t sufferer. The high flat ground rtheast of Montrebeau Wood bears any wooden crosses now, supporting helmets bearing the Santa Fe oss of the 140th. Here also the cond Battalion, 138th, left many any men whose fighting days were er. First Lieutenant Leahy, commanding this battalion; Corp. Brady and several in the headquarters group were killed or wounded. First Lieutenant John E. Mitchell of F Company succeeded to command of the battalion. First Lieutenant Humphrey Price of E Company was hit by a shell fragment in the lung and was succeeded in command by First Sergeant Eugene Dohr. Lieut. Mitchell was in turn wounded a few minutes after his succession to command. Lieuts. Moll, Vogt, Scruggs and Haller were the only remaining officers, I believe, of some 20 that had started with this battalion.

The Enemy Counter Attacks.

Meanwhile the bosche launched a counter attack with fresh troops, compelling our diminished and overreached line to tighten and draw back for concentration. The bosche had been left behind by the troops going to Montrefagne north of Exermont, and inflicted heavy casualties from the rear. Counter attacks, infiltration and fire from four sides reduced our salient and gradually the lines straightened along the northern fringe of Montrebeau and the wood to the east.

Information was more depressing at Chaudron. Wounded were coming to the dressing station at an alarming rate. Two fit men were bringing in each wounded man, thus accelerating the depletion. It was necessary to stop these carrying parties, as every man was needed to hold the line. One pair carrying a limp body, with one voice pleaded, "Sir, this is our Captain." What could be said?

The wounded increased faster than they could be evacuated. The two rooms in the old ruins of the farm house became crowded with wounded, couriers and signalers. Shells of high explosive burst with alarming frequency in an increasing concentration of artillery. Bosche planes swept the farmyard with machine guns from overhead. It seemed that any minute one well-directed shell must remove the stones remaining one upon the other and bury the assembled group in the wreckage.

Lieut. Judge, Sixty-ninth Brigade aid, reported Col. Nuttman evacuated and Lieutenant-Colonel Dickey killed. Couriers and observers reported new counter attacks across the line. Maj. Rieger was ordered to pull his exposed line back to Montrebeau. Col. Ristine believed the line could be held where it was, asking permission to make the attempt. His permission was granted, then recalled. I remember Lieut. Schnelle, Adjutant 138th, standing near Col. Walker, for what seems to have been 10 minutes, awaiting an opportunity to report, then saying, "Col. Parker (138th) is dead and I have a little wound." We directed Clarence to the doctor in the next room. He was evacuated with a shell fragment in the groin. I never saw Clarence again. Father Kennedy changed his socks and warmed his feet at the transfer station while, characteristically, Clarence protested that others were more in need of attention.

Deaths, wounds or fatigue elicited no excitement or comment. All seemed inevitable and just a question of which one would survive the longer.

Takes Command of 138th.

Reporting to Gen. Traub, I was placed in command of the 138th Infantry and was directed to effect a reorganization as far as practicable during the progress of the movement, and to pull the regiment out of the line after nightfall, when the division reserves, the 110th Engineers, would take over the front.

The 138th was a regiment in name only. Three more or less tangible groups, widely scattered and intermingling with other units of the division, existed. The headquarters group had disintegrated. Capt. Lloyd, liaison officer, and Capt. Reinholdt, intelligence officer, together with three or four men, remained of what had been about 12 officers and 200 men (including Headquarters Company personnel).

Col. Walker ordered all forward elements to dig in and hold. The division engineers, Col. Thomas Clark commanding, were ordered to establish a second line along the road Chaudron-Serieux Fermes. Charpentry was designated as the night assembly place for the 138th Infantry. Gen. Traub asid, "Get the regiment together, give the men hot food and a night's rest; be ready to push on tomorrow." Still no relief for the division was in sight, and the last man of the reserves had been put in the line.

This opportunity for reorganization was the first since Sept. 25, and the thought of food and rest was welcome indeed—"bless the engineers." Couriers were sent in the different directions directing the 138th to assemble at Charpentry under cover of darkness. Capt. Thompson's group responded that it could not relinquish its position. The reorganization was never effected. Just as the sun was sinking in the west the boche made a new attack. It appeared very serious. The heavy French guns, transports, ambulances and wounded rushed to the rear. It was reported the boche might break the line. A courier rushed up with this message:

"To any Officer:

"You will impress all officers and men available and proceed at once to the defense of Baulny. By command of Gen. Traub. Walter V. Gallagher, Lieutenant-Colonel G-3."

Our units were scattered and such as were in the line could not be spared from where they were. Going to Maj. Burgher's dressing station I called among the wounded for all men of the 138th who could walk. About 75, injured or gassed and "tagged" awaiting ambulances, responded. Some 50 of these were willing to try to make another stand. These with some 50 others, Lieuts. Vogt and Williams, 138th, and Lieut. Dorst, 137th, were disposed as skirmishers and moved to the high ground taking the line northwest of Baulny extending to the Aire River. This group, largely injured men, held this portion of the line through the night of Sept. 29.

SEPTEMBER 30TH.

AGAIN the cold rain. Day dawned. Exhaustion was merging into giddiness. Food, however, was getting to the shell holes. Beans, salmon, bread and raw bacon were coming up. Lieut. Charles A. Marquis, who had succeeded Lieut. Oldham as munitions officer, accumulated ammunition in the dumps. Shell holes were deepened and connected. For the first time, no order was received to advance. The graveness of the situation was again reported to Corps. Still there was no intimation of relief.

The Hun planes and artillery, unrelenting, marked the lines and the fire grew in intensity, seeking out men in the sea of already existing shell holes. Batteries of our artillery in the valley between Charpentry and Baulny, commanded by Maj. Miles of Kansas City and Maj. Rumsey of St. Louis, with a chain of men carrying ammunition, belched unceasingly. The planes spotted them and soon a furious counter fire fell upon them and continued through this day of Sept. 30 till sunset, when, could we believe our eyes, or were they fancies fond with soldier's shapes possessed—those silhouettes, moving up against the skyline!

The First Division was coming in. All night they filtered in and at 4 a. m., Oct. 1, the relief was reported "complete."

Each regiment was given an assembly place, thence marching to Cheppy or vicinity to bivouac for the night, remaining in reserve. The victorious but sad and weary men of the Thirty-fifth, forming the small column that wended its way through Charpentry, via the Varennes road, ragged and foot sore, paid little heed to the searching shells that greedily followed the column, seemingly reluctant to relinquish their prey.

The figures, as I remember them, for the 138th Infantry at the first

Tests That Show What Owners Know

The fine appearance and comfort of the Overland Model 90 could not, alone, have won it the deep public appreciation it enjoys.

It is the character of this car that lies beneath all of its popularity—character as demonstrated by consistent, efficient performance.

The pride of more than 150,000 Model 90 owners is built upon the daily service their cars render under all conditions. The quality of this service is dramatically illustrated by two recent tests:

In an impromptu round trip between Oakland and Los Angeles, a Model 90 made the 947 miles in 28 hours and 45 minutes; average 24.28 miles per gallon of gasoline. The trip was through a storm, over mountain roads with mud hub deep in places.

Prior to this, a stock model 90 established the world's high gear non-stop record in Oklahoma. It went 4370 miles in seven days of continuous running with a perfect score. Stock cars that make such remarkable records as these are sure to make friends of their owners. Let us show you an exact duplicate.

count at Cheppy, showed 19 officers and 984 men. This included some noncombatant officers and men who had not been in the line but joined at that point. The figures increased later as lost ones filtered in from other units. The three battalions totalled something over 600 men, the balance belonged to the headquarters supply and machine gun companies. The figures upon the step-off, Sept. 26, per the list compiled by the (later) Adjutant, Capt. John E. Mitchell, showed 83 officers and 3050 men.

Mission Only to Obey Orders.

History will record the Argonne battle as being the strategic wedge of the war. The enemy protected this front with every known military device. Veteran troops of the empire defended the line from the Aisne to the Meuse. The Thirty-fifth Division, of Missouri and Kansas men rammed the line, outstripping the divisions on either flank, advancing to a total depth of 12½ kilometers, or about 7½ miles. The entire length of the advance was resisted step by step as bitterly as man and material could resist man and material.

The Prussians, a military race, schooled in the wars of generations and familiar with the "war of movement" since 1914, knew not the American. The American knew not the Prussian or the refinements of either open or trench warfare. It was well the American was green—well for the speedy close of a deadlocked struggle. Perhaps the Americans were extravagent in the expenditure of human life, perhaps they were not. The French told us always that we could take anything if we were willing to pay the price. America paid the price.

Our men and our officers saw only their mission. They were told to reach a certain objective at a certain time. Their minds were upon that objective ahead. It must be reached. Obstacles and resistance were incidental. The enemy applied his weapons better than we did. Our men as a whole had not faced material in open warfare before. The effect of facing machine guns, minenwerfers and artillery was not generally realized. When observed it was acepted as a matter of course.

Americans knew they were to be successful when they entered the war. The thought of failure had never been born in the mind of the soldier. Defeat had never been entertained. This psychology and morale, together with the Hun inability to understand the "untrained" Americans marching on in fire that had never failed to stop aggression before, is what cracked the Hindenburg line. Receding under this pressure day after day, and falling back upon less prepared positions, the movement gathered momentum, becoming a rout and brought to a close the greatest battle in American history, both in the number of men involved and duration of time.

As to heroes, there were either many or few. When it came time to reward individuals in the military manner with decorations or citations, the separating of the one from the many was a greater task than any that presented in battle. Rewards were to be given for "extraordinary heroism." Where is the line of demarcation in the degree of heroism? Again, who was there to testify for the sole survivor of a group? Daring, dash and disregard of self had been evident on every hand. The dressing stations found one wounded giving his turn to another. Men like Murray Davis, with a bleeding head wound, refused to withdraw and fought on until killed on a subsequent day. The men who kept face Berlinward until wounded or until the end of the operation, were heroes wtihout exception. There was no greater test that man could be put to. The private soldier had the most difficult task. Few eyes were upon him. He was known only to his immediate group. As military rank increased, the eyes of widening commands were fixed upon the N. C. O. and officer. They could not, dared not swerve. The command believed in and depended upon their leadership and courage.

MANY SEEK FREE PASSAGE TO THE U. S. AT BRITISH EXPENSE

Difficult to Determine Right to Repatriation of Some Who Fought for British.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

WINCHESTER, England, May 19.—American and British authorities delegated to examine the thousands of soldiers in the British army who have made claim to repatriation to the United States are having a difficult job. Many of them are adventurous individuals who have roamed the globe, and now want to go to America at the expense of the British Government.

The British Government has received more than 20,000 applications for repatriation for those who say they have a right to be sent to the United States. About 3000 have been certified, hundreds have been rejected and the applications keep coming.

The British Government agreed when the United States entered the war to send home after the war any American citizens who joined the British army, and also any citizen of allied nationality who had previously established a residence in the United States. The authorities are not having much trouble with the first category, but the latter one is bringing on no end of complications.

A favorite city selected by the would-be repatriates as their "home town" is Detroit. The street number tallies, and their statement that they are one of the thousands employed in the motor car industry cannot be disputed, and they know some of the principal streets. But one question finishes them.

"What is the principal park in Detroit?"

They do not know Belle Isle, and they do not get to the United States.

CARRANZA RETURNS $1,000,000 IN SECURITIES TO CREEL FAMILY

Fact Just Divulged by Former Mexican Ambassador to U. S., Now an Exile at Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 13.—Enrique C. Creel, twice Mexican Ambassador to the United States, Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Cabinet of Porfirio Diaz and for many years Governor of Chihuahua, now in exile in Los Angeles, has just divulged how the Carranza Government has returned to him and his family securities valued at more than $1,000,000, and other valuable property. He told, also, his belief that conditions in Mexico are rapidly improving.

The securities, hidden in two large boxes since 1914, have been restored to his sons, Edward, Henry and Salvador, who, under the name of Creel Bros., conducted a banking establishment in the City of Mexico. To the former Mexican Ambassador has been returned his family home in the Mexican capital.

"As yet," said Senor Creel, "my estates have not been returned to me, but, as conditions in Mexico are steadily improving, I believe they soon will be."

"When the first revolution came in 1914," recalled Senor Creel, "my sons packed away in two large boxes securities owned by clients of Creel Bros. and valued at more than $1,000,000, together with valuable papers of my own. The boxes were placed for safekeeping in a vault at the Banco Central Mexicano, in Mexico City.

"The forces which captured the city seized them and took them to the Capitol, where they have been for more than four years. In that period, the Government made an investigation to learn if Creel Bros. had been involved in political machinations against it. Recently the official report that the establishment has been guilty of no political activities was made and the Government directed the return of the securities and of my residence in the capital. Nothing was missing."

Creel, now about 60 years old, is living in semi-seclusion. Through his correspondence with friends in Mexico he is convinced that "a better day is dawning there."

How a Packard Truck Can Show Economy for 8 Years—and Longer

It Takes Two Ordinary Trucks, Each With a Life of Four Years, to Make Comparisons With One Packard

THESE days of close figuring—no business man can afford to make his truck investment without considering what service he can expect from his trucks six or eight years hence—and what the operating cost is likely to be.

Uncertain trucking cost is the bane of the cost-accounting and the auditing departments of many an otherwise well-conducted business.

How can a merchant figure on five cents per dollar for delivery if at the end of two years his trucking costs go up to eight cents and then to ten?

How can a coal dealer sell coal at a fixed price and a fixed profit if his truck upkeep per ton refuses to stay fixed?

Your expert accountant is an important man in your business and he must be given reliable figures to work with.

Packard sells transportation at a figure which can be determined before the truck is bought.

The relation of this figure to every other element in the owner's manufacturing and selling costs can be ascertained and depended on.

It takes the balance, design and stamina of the Packard truck to deliver transportation at a definite reasonable unit of cost per mile.

Supposing an ordinary truck at a thousand or fifteen hundred dollars less than a Packard would last four years. And supposing the Packard lasted only eight.

It would take two such trucks to last as long as one Packard. And during the final two years of each ordinary truck, maintenance costs would increase out of all proportion—while service value would decrease in the same ratio.

Ten-year-old Packards are a common sight in America.

So by putting your transportation on the Packard 8-year basis you might easily save one-half the cost of using ordinary trucks.

At the same time, you would be certain of the cost per week, per month, per year—you would eliminate guessing from your transportation problem.

To obtain the cheapest truck transportation is simple enough.

Get in touch with the Freight Transportation Department of your Packard Branch or Packard Distributor. Obtain from them the actual figures it should cost you per mile.

100,000 MILE INDIANA OVER-SIZE TRUCKS

A Nine Year Record

Tackle truck transportation like you do a bank statement. The last figure, the net, is all that counts. The net of a truck is ton-miles. You cannot, by any magic, make ton-miles of claims for "this axle", "that motor", "this new governor", "our standing" nor the "prestige of our company".

They amount to zero. Nothing counts but the final figure, the net in ton-miles and cost of operation per mile.

INDIANA trucks by the hundred, built 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 years ago, have hundred thousand mile service records and better—and are now doing the same hard work every day of the year. In 9 years none has ever worn out, to our best knowledge.

That is what we call delivering ton-miles.

9-year records of 100,000 miles and more tell us that Indiana trucks will deliver more ton-miles per dollar invested than any other truck in the world.

They are sold at lower prices than any other trucks that have anything like Indiana service records.

Prices f. o. b. Marion, Ind., 1-ton, $2150; 1½-tons, $2600 2-tons, $2800; 3½-tons, $3450; 5-tons, $4600

If you consider that what we have said is the net of truck transportation, call and see the Hundred-Thousand-Mile Indiana Trucks at

Simple Home Remedy for Wrinkled Faces

Thousands of the fair sex are spending fortunes in frantic efforts to remove the signs of premature age from their faces. Such women willingly pay almost any amount of money for worthless wrinkle removers, of which there are many.

If they only knew it, the most effective remedy imaginable is a simple, harmless face wash which can be made up at home in less than a minute. They have only to get an ounce of powdered saxolite and half a pint of witch hazel at the drug store and mix the two. Apply this daily for a while as a refreshing lotion. The effect is almost magical. Even after the first treatment a marked improvement is noticed and the face has a smug, firm feeling that is most pleasing.—ADV.

Widower Congratulated

"Since my wife's death, five years ago, I have suffered greatly from stomach and liver trouble and gas attacks. I lost over 50 pounds, and at times was as yellow as saffron. My doctors could not help me. Six doses of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy have entirely cured me. I have regained my weight, and everyone is congratulating me how well I look." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. SUMMER DANGERS OF FAT PEOPLE

Liability to Collapse, Heart Failure, Sunstroke, Apoplexy and Other Serious Ailments

Why continue to suffer with summer heat because you are bloated with fat? Apart from the unsightliness and discomfort, you are risking your life.

If you are overstout you should determine right now that you will take off ten to sixty pounds—whatever you need to—and become normal in size with the benefit of better health, a cheerful disposition, attractive appearance and the joy of knowing that you have conquered a great victory in a comparatively easy manner.

Eat all you need; don't take tedious exercise or sickening medicines, but go to the drug store and get a small box of oil of korein (in capsules); then take one at each mealtime and one when going to bed; also follow the simple rules that come with the box. Or you may obtain a free book on how to get thin, which will come to you in a plain envelope, by writing to Korein Company, NF-27, Station F, New York, N. Y.

A reduction averaging one pound daily is often reported by this system, while in obstinate cases the fat does not disintegrate so rapidly. A guarantee of $100 is offered that the use of oil of korein and observance of certain simple rules will reduce your weight ten to sixty pounds—just whatever is necessary to bring you down to a good figure. Make this a happy summer. Surprise and delight yourself and your friends! Get oil of korein at any druggist.—ADV.

ANGELES CARRIES TOILET KIT ON PACK MULE

Mexican Wears Clean Linen in the Field, but Villa, His Partner, Shaves Rarely.

By the Associated Press.

JAUREZ, Mex., June 14.—The physical law that opposites attract each other seems to apply to Francisco Villa and Felipe Angeles, the two leading Mexican rebel commanders. Villa, rough, impulsive and given to flashes of red temper, is as devoted to Angeles, the sauve, well bred and highly educated, as if they were blood brothers. When Angeles left New York last November to join Villa, many of his friends on the border wondered at his folly in leaving a comfortable hotel to take the field with the most rough-and-ready character in Mexico. The two leaders are as unlike as the poles and yet each is the complement of the other, and the result of their union under a rebel flag was almost instantly apparent when Villa ceased killing prisoners and civilians, treated Americans captured by his forces with more consideration and refrained from destroying property wantonly.

Gen. Angeles was graduated from the Chapultepec Military Academy of Mexico as an artillery officer and studied at St. Cyr in France under master artillerists. He was an observer at many European maneuvers and wrote many pamphlets on artillery fire. He joined the Madero revolution and, later, the Constitutionalist movement under Carranza. When Villa broke with Carranza, the prospect of action with Villa lured Angeles to his side, and together they conducted an aggressive campaign in the north which had such a disastrous ending at the battle of Celaya. After this Angeles deserted Villa, bought a dairy in the El Paso valley and announced his intention of retiring from Mexican military and political affairs. When the European war broke out he went to New York as an inspector of shells for the French Government and quit this to rejoin Villa in Mexico.

Even in the field Angeles shaves daily, wears clean linen and carries a toilet kit on an extra pack mule, Villa prefers a flannel shirt and a soft collar to starched linen, shaves at rare intervals when in the field and wears ready-made suits and square-toed shoes.

To an American held prisoner in Villa's camp, General Angeles confided that Villa had almost ruined his chances of ever regaining the good will of Americans by his treatment of native and foreign prisoners and that he, Angeles, had persuaded Villa that to observe the rules of civilized warfare was to make friends for him and his cause in the United States. The only time Villa has lapsed from this program was at Parral, where he executed six Chinese because he found them armed, and the three Herreras, against whom he had a grudge of long standing.

To another American prisoner Villa extended a blanket invitation to any Americans who wished to visit him in his rebel camps in the field. To date no one has accepted this invitation.

"JUST GIVING HIS WIFE HER USUAL SATURDAY THRASHING"

Lord and Master Who Pummeled Her a German Merchant, Says Author of Work on Germany.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 20.—Henry de Halshalle, author of a work on Germany, told an audience at Holburn the other day that "wife beating is quite common among the German middle and upper classes and that the law of Prussia sanctions it.

"I once stayed a few days in the house of a Berlin merchant," said the speaker, "and one evening heard issuing from a room upstairs a woman's cries and the sound of blows. Presently my host appeared and I asked him the cause of the commotion.

"'I have just been giving my wife her Saturday thrashing,' he said. He added that he administered the punishment regularly every week end whether she deserved it or not.

"'You must never let your wife forget that you are her lord and master,' declared the German, rubbing his hands with evident satisfaction."

More Than $700,000 Worth of Eden Washers in St. Louis Homes

Saving Owners That Much Every Year

THE Eden Electric Clothes Washer has "Made Good" in St. Louis because its many years of service has proved to St. Louis women that it cleans the family wash quicker, more economically and with less labor than any other known method of laundering.

St. Louis housekeepers have used the Eden long enough to know that it makes their clothes last enough longer to more than save its cost, and that its saving of labor, time and wages is clear gain.

In a time when machinery is making the home as efficient as the modern office or factory the Eden has become the main home assistant. It eliminates hard labor in the laundry and supplies its owners with all the clean wash-wear they want—beautifully cleaned without the wear and tear on women and clothes of old-time methods.

The Eden factories have been greatly enlarged. There are Edens now for every woman who wants to wash well—who wants more time to herself—and less labor for herself or her laundress. There are plenty of Edens to bring economical and sanitary laundering into every electrically-equipped home. The best cellars are Eden-equipped and the Eden is the best seller—a time-tried friend of many thousands of St. Louis women.

The Eden Washes Everything Without Rubbing

That's the secret of its success.

The Eden washes everything in the same ideal way that a woman washes her most delicate garments. The Eden is the favorite of thousands of good housekeepers because its big cylinder lifts all clothes, blankets and linens gently up and down through hot suds in the same careful way that women use to clean their daintiest silks and laces. The Eden takes all the rub out of the tub, cleans clothes without friction and substitutes science for backaches in washing.

The grimy overalls of the worker, the splattered clothes of the children, or stained tablecloths leave the Eden as clean as new with a very much longer life ahead of them for not having been beaten and rubbed and frayed.

Handy to operate, easy to keep clean, the Eden saves clothes, hard work, temper, time and money. After you try one free in your own home you can buy an Eden the same easy time-payment way that Liberty Bonds were bought. Investing a little every week or month in an Eden Clothes Washer buys your liberty from washday drudgery and means an everlasting abundance of clean clothes and household linens.

What Married Men Think of the Eden

THE married men of America don't have to do the washing—but if they did they would be as tired of laundry slavery as American married women are.

Men in business buy any machinery that can possibly speed up their work. They are strong for labor-saving devices in their offices. They buy typewriters, addressing machines, dictating machines, and wherever they can save their own or their employe's time or labor they do not hesitate to replace man power with machinery.

The same thing is true in their homes and wherever American men have been convinced that the purchase of an Eden Clothes Washer meant more leisure for their wives, more and longer-lived clean clothes and less laundry expense they have never hesitated to order an Eden.

There are many married men, however, who have never given the question of laundering any thought. Uncomplaining wives have scrubbed and rubbed and ironed for them and their household as a matter of habit—or servants have been hired to do the washing—with the result that many men haven't realized the unnecessary expense and mean, hard work involved in washing by hand.

Such men are urged to arrange for a free demonstration of the Eden in their own homes. The machine itself will convince any housekeeper that she needs one—while we can convince any man that he can save money by owning an Eden.

Whether the wife or the laundress does the washing makes no difference. The Eden, in either event, pays for itself many times over.

Married men are urged to call at our office or upon any of our dealers. They are invited to telephone or write us. They are urged to substitute a modern, scientific and time-tested method of laundering for the old style back-breaking and costly hand washing.

ALLIED REPLY FINISHED, TO GO TO RANTZAU TOMORROW

Last Day Permitted the Germans for Acceptance or Rejection of Revised Treaty Is June 21; Situation More Optimistic.

COMPLETE NEW TEXT MAY NOT BE READY

Reports Indicate New German Delegation Will Be Sent to Sign; Allied Powers Get Ready for Any Eventualities.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 14.—The Council of Four finished its labors today on the reply to the Germans, which will go to Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau Monday. The last day permitted them for acceptance or rejection of the treaty is June 21.

The changes in the text of the treaty will not be communicated in a preliminary way to the smaller powers of the inter-allied conference. The Council of Four, however, received this afternoon the delegates of Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, as the two smaller states chiefly interested, and outlined to them the council's determinations.

Belgium, for some reason was not represented. The Four had before this placed their approval on the new financial clauses and the remaining sections of the treaty and had not sent the reports thus approved to the drafting committee, which will work all day tomorrow and probably a good part of Monday preparing the reply to the Germans.

The communication will consist of a letter of transmission of about 4500 words, explaining in detail the motives of the council and giving a detailed statement of all changes made in the original draft.

It is doubtful whether the complete new text will be in print in time to be handed to the Germans.

The five days period accorded the Germans includes the three days notification required for the denunciation of the armistice.

Reports More Optimistic.

The latest confidential reports from Berlin are distinctly more optimistic regarding the changes of the German signature of the treaty. The leading German statesmen have abandoned their earlier attitude of uncompromising refusal to sign the terms unless radically altered, and are now saying, instead of "we won't sign unless—" the far milded and more reasonbale "we will sign, if—." The Council of Four has not granted all concessions the Germans have suggested but perhaps have gone far enough to make it possible for the Germans to climb down gracefully and accept such concessions as they have obtained.

Count von Bernstorff, for example, is quoted as admitting that Germany can sign if admitted to the league of nations, given representation on the Reparations Commission, and granted a plebiscite in the disputed regions of the eastern frontier.

It is thought in conference circles here that concessions on the first two points are sufficient to permit the present government to swallow these sections of the treaty and that the grant of a plebiscite in Silesia but not in West Prussia or Danzig may ultimately be accepted.

Mathias Erzberger, head of the German Armistice Commission, has added to Von Bernstorff's three points, two others, bearing on the surrender of the former Emperor and Germany's acknowledgement of her guilt for the war. But the objections on these points of honor are not believed to be insuperable.

The reports indicate that the treaty will not be signed by the German delegation as it is at present constituted, but that this delegation will be replaced by a new delegation representing the three majority parties in the Parliament.

The Supreme Blockade Council met today, according to an official statement, for "final consideration of measures that might be rendered necessary by certain eventualities."

The reply to the German counter proposal recalls that the principles upon which the treaty is based are such as to preclude the allies from making fundamental concessions.

It is the present plan of the coun-

CONGRESSMAN BLANTON SAYS HIS AUTO WAS FIRED ON

Texas Democrat Tells House of Threats Due to His Attitude Toward Labor.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Representative Blanton, Democrat of Texas, told the House today that a rifle bullet had struck his automobile last Sunday when he and his family were driving on a Pennsylvania country road.

Many anonymous threats had reached him, he added, because of his attitude toward labor. He cited one from Altoona, Pa., which, he said, asserted "10,000 of the brotherhoods had me marked for suffering."

"Sam Gompers can't beat me for election," declared the Texas member, adding that the president of the American Federation of Labor had said that he would be put out of Congress because of his attitude. Representative Blanton said he was a stanch friend of "thousands of loyal and patriotic union men," but that labor unions should "purge themselves of anarchy."

FRENCH WRITER MUST DIE AS SPY

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 14.—Gaston Routier, a prominent French journalist, yesterday was sentenced to death by courtmartial for imparting military intelligence to the enemy. Routier, who is a Socialist with extreme tendencies, was tried by default. He was charged with having agreed with German agents in Spain to start a French language paper there during the war for the purpose of carrying on Germanophile propaganda.

Gaston Routier founded the Madrid La Paix in 1917. It was beliveed that Bolo Pasha, the Levantine banker, who was executed at Paris in 1918 for treason, furnished the funds for the establishment of the newspaper. An order for the arrest of Routier was issued by the French authorities in October, 1917, but his arrest has never been reported.

LABOR PROTESTS IN CAPITAL AGAINST JULY PROHIBITION

Great Demonstration by Thousands Before the Capitol and Gompers Addresses Senate Body.

PREDICTED WILSON WILL SET IT ASIDE

A. F. L. Chief Says He Is Apprehensive of Results if Congress Does Not Permit Making of 2¾ Beer.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Organized labor, bringing to Congress today in a public demonstration its protest against prohibition of beer and wine, gave warning that the tranquility of the working classes might be seriously menaced by enforcement of the war-time prohibition law.

Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, said he was "apprehensive of results," fearing labor would not adjust itself to the new conditions.

While he declared labor leaders would do everything they could to control the situation, he was unable to say "what individual workers will do." In a three-hour meeting on the eastern steps of the capitol, other advocates of wine and beer prohibition repeal protested that the provision was striking at the personal liberty of the masses, and was taking from millions of workers an accustomed part of their daily food.

A crowd of several thousand said by labor officials to represent union men in every state, came by special trains for the Flag Day protest meeting, and cheered declarations that the people never had been given an opportunity to express themselves on prohibition. Applause also greeted every prediction that the ban on beer and wine would increase unrest among the masses.

Congressmen Speak.

Three representatives, John F. Fitzgerald of Boston and Adolph J. Sabath and John W. Rainey of Chicago, all Democrats, addressed the meeting, predicting that if Congress did not modify the July 1 law, President Wilson would do so by proclamation. They agreed there was little prospect Congress would act.

It was at a hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee that Gompers expressed apprehension over the outlook. He told the committee it was his opinion from a long knowledge of the habits and thoughts of the workers "that nothing could be done by Congress so prejudicial to the peace and tranquility of the masses," as the absolute prohibition law. He asked that the beer provision be modified only to permit sale of the beverage when containing not more than 2¾ per cent of alcohol.

Later, speaking at the capitol meeting, the Federation president said prohibition would affect the richer and poorer classes in a vastly different way, the laborer being unable to stock his cellar for future use. It was an unjust discrimination, he protested.

The working people, he asserted, were not asking for intoxicants, because the honest workman did not want them, but were only pleading for "a fair opportunity to live out whole lives."

Although union officials previously had estimated more than 100,000 workers would take part in the protest, the crowd did not fill the capitol plazza. Among them were more than 100 women of the Anti-Prohibition League, organized in Baltimore, and led by Mrs. E. Rooney of San Francisco, who threw the meeting into a momentary tumult by mounting the speakers' table and shouting that it would take a woman to "put across" personal liberty in the United States.

At 2 o'clock the various delegations, with Gompers heading the body of federation delegates from Atlantic City, assembled in front of the historic east steps, where inauguration ceremonies are held. When a section made up of soliders and sailors arrived, those on the steps arose and cheered, waving flags and handkerchiefs.

Prohibition Congressman There.

Previously, Gompers had appeared before a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Commmittee which has in charge the bill for repeal of July 1 prohibition against beer and wine. A similar committee in the House heard a St. Louis delegation of anti-prohibitionists.

Representative Randall of California, the only prohibition member

PLANS PROCEED FOR A ST. LOUIS TELEPHONE STRIKE

No Official Confirmation Received of News Dispatches Stating National Walkout Has Been Called Off.

ABOUT 3500 EMPLOYES MAY BE AFFECTED

Bell Company General Manager Says Every Effort Will Be Made to Give Service.

Although national officers of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers announced last night that the plan for a nation-wide strike of telephone employes had been called off, 600 members of the Union in St. Louis made elaborate plans to quit their work tomorrow at 7 a. m.

O. E. Jennings, an international officer, who directed the plans, said he had received no notification of the abandonment of the strike and he feared that the action was too late to prevent a walkout here for at least a few hours.

The national call-off was the result of Postmaster Burleson's concession to the workers of their right to bargain collectively. If the strike does occur here, about 3500 workers will be affected, it was stated at last night's meeting in Hibernian hall, Finney avenue near Grand. Girl switchboard operators and male electrical workers of the Bell and Kinloch telephone operators of St. Louis, St. Louis county, East St. Louis and other contiguous East Side cities as far north as Alton are affected. It was further stated that all but 100 of the girl switchboard operators of the Bell company would leave their work and that the Kinloch operators would go out en masse. The Bell company employs 1400 switchboard operators and 400 male workers and the Kinloch 800 operators and 300 male workers. About half the attendants at the meeting were girls.

Plans to Make Strike Effective.

The employes prepared to take advantage of a unique means of making their strike effective. They were instructed to Monday morning go to telephones and begin calling all the numbers they could think of, chief operators and information, thus increasing the load the switchboards normally have and adding confusion to the company's attempts to operate with short forces and green operators.

The purposes of the strike were stated as three-fold: 1. to gain recognition of the union. 2. To better hours, wages and working conditions. 3. To gain the reinstatement of seven men and five girls discharged, it was said, for their activity in forming a union.

Last night's meeting was attended by about 600 members of the St. Louis union, about half of whom were women. Some of the women declared that company officials had offered bonuses of $20, $25 and $30 to remain at work, taxis to and from their home or, if desired, meals and ice cream and beds in the exchanges where they worked. One girl stated that some had been offered rooms in the Jefferson Hotel if they remained loyal.

The strike is set for tonight midnight, but operators on duty then are instructed to complete their shifts, which will have the effect of postponing the actual walkout until 7 a. m.

Employes Affected Here.

The number of employes affected in St. Louis was given as 400 electrical workers and 1400 operators on the Bell and 300 electrical workers and 800 operators on the Kinloch. The electrical workers include linemen, trouble men, cable splicers, inside wire men, installers and inspectors.

Switchboard operators now receive $9 a week when they begin work, the average wage of experienced operators is from $10 to $12 and may be increased to about $50 a month after seven years of service.

The wages demanded for operators are a minimum of $14 a week and thereafter a sliding scale that will bring a wage of $21 a week at the end of four years.

Wage Schedule Demanded.

The schedule demanded for the men follows: Outside line foremen, 93¾ cents an hour; linemen, cable splicers, trouble men, and wire chiefs, 87½ cents; cable testers, bench repairers, stock clerks and inspectors, 70 cents; Class A wiremen doing building trades work, $1; ground men, drivers and chauffeurs, 56¼; apprentices, 40 cents, first year with increase of 2½ cents each six months for three years. 2 BANK ROBBERS ADMIT HOLDING UP POSTOFFICE HERE Disclosure Comes Through Mutual Fear of Hunter and Bergmann That Other Would Tell of Cass Raid.

ANOTHER CONFESSES TO 11 BURGLARIES

Two Women Held, but Men Say That Though One Was Given Jewelry They Knew Nothing of Crimes.

Further investigation of the crimes of the men who participated in the robbery of the Meramec Trust Co., yesterday developed that Earl Hunter, 23 years old, 1463 Arlington avenue, and Charles Bergmann, 24, 3822 Neosho street, who entered the bank, and who have confessed to almost every form of state robbery violation, are also guilty of a Federal robbery offense.

They have confessed to having held up a branch post office at Seventeenth street and Cass avenue, known as the Cass Avenue Branch Office. The robbery took place at 5 p. m. on May 2, last, when Supt. Charles A. Fewell, 1572 Vallie avenue, and his clerk, Isadore Berg, were held up at the point of a weapon and cash, a check and money orders were taken from them.

As a result of the confessions of Hunter and Bergmann, who implicated Alvin M. West, 19, 1717 Chouteau avenue, as the third man in the robbery and Edward Mehl, 17, 1337 La Salle street, as the hired driver of an automobile that took them to the bank, many other crimes have been mentioned and a round-up of suspects made. Two women were taken into custody.

How Fact Was Learned.

Information that Hunter and Bergmann were implicated in a postoffice robbery was gained yesterday by the alertness of a turnkey in Central District holdover. Hunter and Bergmann are being kept in widely separated cells, so they cannot confer. A turnkey noticed that they frequently shouted to each other. On one occasion Hunter shouted: "Don't tell anything about C." The turnkey reported it.

Detectives were detailed to ascertain what was meant by "C." The detectives could think of nothing to suit the seeming sign, but assumed they were talking of cocaine. They searched the cells of the prisoners and looked through their pockets, finally asking Bergmann point blank what was meant. Bergmann finally gave in and told of the Cass avenue job. He said they had held out information in relation to it because they had feared going to a Federal prison. They said they had heard friends say Federal penitentiaries were very strict, and they had wished to keep away from them.

Bergmann was arrested a few days after the postoffice robbery, in which, he said, he and Hunter got $125, a check for $61.50 and money orders for $15 and $2. He said Fewell and Berg were called in to identify him, but could not. "They could not identify me," he said, "but I identified them, but I didn't say anything about it."

Bergmann said the Cass avenue Postoffice robbery was planned in Belcher's cafe, on Market street, between Broadway and Sixth street. He said he met a man there named Morgan, who told him he was going out on Cass avenue to rob a clothing store near a postoffice. The robbery was to be the next night, and Bergmann, with Hunter, met Morgan and another man. They went to the clothing store and made a few small purchases, but Hunter, Bergmann said, objected to the place as not big enough. Bergmann said he and Hunter left the other two and, in walking down Cass avenue, saw the postoffice and Hunter suggested that was the kind of a place to rob.

Bergmann said the office was closed, and it was agreed by Hunter and himself to return the next night, and they did. Fewell and Berg were working behind screens, Bergmann said. He asked for some stamps and then ordered Fewell to throw up his hands. Berg was forced to do likewise. Hunter crawled through the cage and took the money, check and money orders. Hunter told the police they could have taken $5000 worth of stamps from the postoffice, which they could have disposed of in Chicago.

After this confession the detectives

ALLIED ARMIES SAID TO BE READY FOR FORWARD MOVE

Paris Newspaper Gives What Purports to Be Their Plans If Germany Does Not Sign.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 14.—"The allied armies are ready to move forward on an instant's notice if Germany does not sign the treaty," the Temps says today. "The German armies are without airplanes, without material and without food supplies and would be unable to make any effective resistance."

The Belgians, holding from Cologne to the frontier of Holland, are within a day's march of Essen, and the British, supporting the Belgians, would move forward and occupy the mining regions. The American army would occupy Frankfort and the French would take Hannau, Wurzburg and Ulm."

FOCH ORDERS GERMANS TO LET POLISH TROOPS PASS

Ultimatum Demands Resumption at Once of the Movement of Gen. Haller's Men.

By the Associated Press.

COBLENZ, Friday, June 13.—An ultimatum demanding the immediate continuation of the movement of Polish troops across Germany has been sent to the German Government by Marshal Foch, according to dispatches received here from Spa.

Orders were issued at Berlin several days ago to hold up the Polish troop trains. One was held at Coblenz, another at Treves, two at Ems and eight in the interior of Germany. The transfer of Polish troops from France to Poland began about six weeks ago and was due to be completed on June 17.

A Berlin dispatch received Friday night stated that Mathias Erzberger, chairman of the German Armistice Commission at Spa, had written to Gen. Dupont, chief of the French mission in Berlin, declaring that Poland intended to distribute two divisions of Gen. Haller's troops along the frontier. It was said that Erzberger had protested that this was opposed to the terms of the armistice and that unless Poland abandoned her purpose Germany would be compelled to suspend the movement of the Polish army across Germany.

ALLIED ACTION AGAINST THE HUNGARIAN SOVIET REPORTED

Vienna Paper Says French Troops Have Arrived at Pressburg, 34 Miles From Vienna.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, via Copenhagen, June 14.—On the expiration of the ultimatum to the Hungarian Soviet Government, the Entente immediately began military action, according to the Neue Freie Presse of Vienna, and French troops have arrived at Pressburg, 34 miles east-southeast of Vienna.

The French Government, the newspaper adds, emphatically refuses to negotiate with the representatives of Bolshevism in Hungary.

A dispatch from Paris on June 9 said that Premier Clemenceau, as president of the peace conference, had telegraphed the Hungarian Government that attacks by Hungarian troops on the Czecho-Slovak forces must cease and that in case of noncompliance the allied and associated Governments had decided to use "extreme measures to constrain Hungary to cease hostilities."

Clemenceau's dispatch was sent by wireless to the Hungarian Government and demanded a reply within 48 hours.

California Republicans Plan National Body to Win Election of Senator.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Plans for the formation of a national organization to bring about the Republican nomination for President of the United States of Senator Hiram W. Johnson were started here today at a conference of representatives of all branches of the party in California.

The conference organized the Johnson-for-President Association of California, with Frank P. Flint of Los Angeles, former United States Senator, as chairman, and Philip Bancroft of San Francisco, secretary. An executive committee of 50 will be appointed to develop the organization. Indorsement of the candidacy of Johnson by Gov. Stephens was conveyed in a letter from the Governor to Flint, which was read at the meeting.

LIGHTNING STRIKES CAR TWICE

Damage and Injury to Passengers Caused by Second Bolt.

By the Associated Press.

CREW HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM WRECK IN ST. JOHNS HOP OFF

Capt. Alcock of Vimy Bomber Accompanied by Lieut. A. W. Brown as His Navigator.

SUCCESS WOULD LAND AVIATORS IN IRELAND TODAY

Hope For Safety in Event of Mishap in Buoyancy of Plane's Tanks—Ships on Lookout For the Flyers at Request of Air Ministry.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 14.—The fate of Capt. "Jack" Alcock and Lieut. Arthur Whitten Brown, who sped out to sea this afternoon in Great Britain's second attempt to span the Atlantic by air, was shrouded in uncertainty tonight, ten hours after they "hopped off".

Since the twin engined Vickers-Vimy plane disappeared over the Atlantic horizon a few minutes after the start at 12:13 p. m., New York time, no word has come from the plane.

The steamer Digby, 100 miles out when the fliers left St. Johns, and reported to be directly in the line Capt. Alcock proposed to follow, arrived here tonight, not having sighted the plane. The Digby's captain said a sharp lookout was maintained and that the ship sent out several messages to the Vickers-Vimy but received no reply.

When the Digby reported she had been unable either to sight or get into communication with the daring fliers, concern for their safety began to be manifested.

The more optimistic theory advanced was that their radio equipment had failed, but it was feared in some quarters that the gallant crew had come to grief.

Two radio stations, one at Cape Race and the other at St. Johns, are maintaining a ceaseless vigil at the direction of the British addmiralty.

Loaded to her capacity with fuel, the plane narrowly escaped the recent fate of Raynham's Martynside machine, which was wrecked at the start of its attempt. As the Vimy sped westward to Conception Bay in a difficult struggle for altitude, she barely missed houses, trees and hills, but continued to climb until over the bay, where she swung about and straightened out for a return flight over her airdrome.

Passing the signal station overlooking this harbor, she had reached an altitude of 1000 feet and was off on her great adventure. Three minutes later she had passed out of sight of the signal station for Ireland. Fog was reported to be prevailing off the Atlantic coast.

From London came the word that the British Air Ministry had warned all ships on the plane's transatlantic route to watch for her and give her all directional assistance possible.

News of her departure also was sent broadcast to all ships by wireless from Cape Grace, and was relayed from vessel to vessel across the Atlantic. The machine should have been within range of the steamships Digby, Mackay-Bennett and Sachem.

Should Arrive Today.

The Vimy bomber should reach Ireland at some point on the western coast about 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the opinion of its skipper, Capt. Alcock. He said that the weight of his fuel load would reduce the speed of his plane to 70 miles an hour during the early hours, and he estimated that the average speed during the flight across would be 85 miles an hour. He expected that each of his 350 horsepower engines would consume gasoline at the rate of 16.5 gallons an hour.

Can Be Run With One Engine.

Should the consumption be greater than this, and at such a rate as to indicate that the supply might fail to sustain both motors for the entire voyage, the bombing plane can be run with one engine after mid-Atlantic has been passed. Alcock prepared against this contingency by a special appliance for counteracting the tendency of the plane to turn from a straight path with only one motor working.

In the event of mishap, Alcock and Browne will place their hopes for safety on the buoyancy of the bomber's tanks, which will increase as the petrol is consumed.. One of the tanks, the first to be emptied, would be available for use as a life raft and each of the fliers wore an anti-sinking waistcoat.

The Vickers-Vimy machine has a wing spread of only 67 feet, and is equipped with two 350-horsepower Rolls-Royce motors, said to be capable of developing a speed of more than 100 miles an hour. The capacity of the gasoline tanks recently was enlarged to 865 gallons, and the lubricating oil tanks to 50 gallons, which is believed to be sufficient to carry the plane 2440 miles, under normal weather conditions. A wireless telegraph set capable of sending and receiving messages over a comparatively long distance is part of the equipment.

Alcock Pioneer Aviator.

Capt. Jack Alcock, the pilot, was among the British pioneers in aviation. He obtained his flying certificate in 1912, and joined the Royal Naval Air Service immediately upon the outbreak of the war. He acted as an instructor at first, but later was sent to the Turkish front, where he held the record for long distance bombing raids. He later was captured by the Turks, and held prisoner until the armistice was signed.

Lieut. Arthur Whitten Brown, navigator of the Vickers-Vimy plane, also is a veteran of the war, having served first as an infantry officer and later in the British aviation service until an accident to the machine in which he was an observer late in 1915, forced a descent in German territory, where he was wounded and taken prisoner. Before the war he was an American electrical engineer.

Lieut. Brown's first notable exploit was in a plane in which he was acting as senior observer. A shell set the machine afire 8000 feet above the German positions, and while the pilot raced to reach the British lines, Brown fought the flames to prevent ignition of the ammunition, succeeding after his clothes almost had been burned off.

Injured in Forced Landing.

In another air cruise he helped to bring down an enemy Albatross, and in November of the war's second year he set out, in a squadron, on a long-distance reconnaissance from which his plane did not return. The carburetor froze and when the pilot landed far within the German lines, Brown, unable to strap himself in because he was busy destroying papers of military importance, was catapaulted into the fuselage and had to be cut out. One thigh was dislocated, one leg broken and his lip cut.

After what he declared was the "kindest treatment" in German hospitals, the aviator was transferred to a prison camp, eventually being interned in Switzerland and returned to England in 1917, when he became a lecturer for the air ministry.

Brown an American.

Lieut. Brown was born in Glasgow, Scotland, but both his parents are Americans, his father being a native of Schenectady, N. Y., and his moth-

HOW THE VIMY MADE HER START ON SEA VOYAGE

Alcock Had an Uphill Task in Getting the Big Bomber Into the Air at St. Johns Hop-Off.

ELECTRICALLY HEATED BOOTS ARE WORN

Stock of Concentrated Food and Bottle of Brandy Carried on the Machine by Airmen.

Special Cable From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 14.—Battling her way into a half gale that raged due from the west, the Vickers-Vimy bomber got away on the transatlantic flight this afternoon at 4:10 o'clock, Greenwich mean time, (12:10 New York time). Only the most superb piloting by Capt. John Alcock, D. C. S., made it possible for a start to be made under the conditions that prevailed; and once the start had been made, the Vimy had literally to fight for life for the first 10 minutes.

It was obvious to those who watched from Rope Walk Field that Alcock was making use not only of all his skill but of all his great strength as the machine labored on straight away from the direction of her goal. Again and again the plane sank till the sky no longer showed between her and the horizon; but again and again she struggled gamely upward till finally she disapepared behind the range of hills that lies between St. Johns and Conception Bay.

There she remained, hid from view, until it was feared that she had come down in a crash. But at last, as tears of excitement and relief caem to the eyes of the onlookers, and as cheers rose from their lips, Alcock brought the Vimy back into view. He was then headed into the wind for the first time, and it had taken him just 11 minutes to do it.

Even then the Vimy's struggle was not over, for the wind varied constantly and erratically in its intensity, and as the plane crossed the continental line, just off Signal Hill, she was still fighting like a man who with lowered head bores his way into a blizzard.

It was frankly a gamble against fate that brought about the Vimy start today. Yesterday, she could not start, because a west wind was blowing and the natural grade of rope walk field runs toward the east.

Both Capt. Alcock and P. M. Muller, superintendent of the aviation department of Vickers, Ltd., who reached here just in time to see the start were unwilling to try to take off up this grade with a machine so heavy as the Vimy is with a full load of fuel. Late in the evening, however, came word that the Handley-Page would attempt a departure from Harbor Grace today, and Alcock and Muller made their plans accordingly. Muller remained on the field all night with Capt. D. Woods Mason, lubrication engineer, who has been here since the arrival of the Sopwith expedition.

Difficulties at the Start.

It will not be easy to forget the emotions of the 10 minutes which immediately followed the take-off. Elation came as the blunt white nose of the machine was lifted into air and the wheels of the under carriage showed themselves clear of the ground. When first the difficulties with which Alcock was contending became apparent to observers, elation gave way to consternation, for it seemed inevitable that the Vimy must come down in the stretch that alternated between dense spruce groves and clustered farm buildings. Then as Alcook "wangled" her upward again, consternation changed to admiration and hope commingled.

So it went, cold fear of disaster reigning one instant and reviving belief in Alcock's ability the next. Evidence of the pilot's cunning was to be found in the fact that he held to the valley, which runs westward from St. Johns, while he had to battle with wind. Before he started Alcock's instruments measured the wind at 30 knots on the ground. At a height of never more than 200 feet, at which he was compelled to remain until he was first lost to view, the speed was forty miles an hour, with ever more wracking gusts than were to be found on the ground. But he went, till, at a point above Topsail, there he banked out over Conception Bay and with water beneath him, he was seen to come into the wind. He was able to climb although slowly, and when he was opposite St. Johns he curved to the right and crossed the city itself as he made for Signal Hill. He passed from sight in the sky beyond Cabin Tower at 4:25.

"He's Gone," They Said.

"He's gone, and if he doesn't make Ireland his next stopping place it will not be his fault," said Muller, and the declaration was both an expression of affection and of deepest admiration for the big blond pilot.

Two men never set out on a task that had never before been achieved more eagerly than did Alcock and Brown. They were like boys waiting for a train to take them away on a holiday. No watch of them, no questioning of them could bring to light a single bit of evidence that they believed they were facing danger, or that there was a single chance of failing to accomplish what they set out to do—make the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic.

From the time they first went to Ropewalk Field this morning they wore their flying colthes. These were roomy, one piece suits of horizon blue, with fur collars that fastened snugly about their necks, sleeves that could be drawn tight about their wrists and with big queer, looping pockets over their knees, in which they stored things that would be needed most often.

Provisions for Warmth.

They wore electrically heated boots of heavy suede, and on their hands were three pairs of gloves, one silk, with electric warming attachments, one of heavy fabric lined with fleece, and one of fur.

They wore regulation black helmets, which carried a device of Brown's own. This was sound-proof ear pieces, made by cutting rubber sponges in two. Stowed within arm's reach were packets of sandwiches and vacuum bottles filled with hot coffee. In the tail of the machine was a stock of concentrated food and a bottle of brandy, for use in case of forced landing. In the cockpit was also a sack of mail consigned yesterday to the Vimy for delivery.

Alcock added some mascots to the small collection that he and Brown have had since they came. These were tiny dolls, made of strands of yarn fastened together in grotesque resemblance to a man and a woman. The former was named Ran-Tan-Tan and was made of green and black yarn. The latter was named Ninette and was made of gray and black.

The pilot carried these in his pocket with a little silver pig and a little silver kewpie. But the real mascot of the Vimy was an American flag belonging to Lieut. Brown. It was not only a Guerdon from his fiancee, but a symbol of citizenship that is American despite his birth in Scotland and the fact that he is still on the active list of the Royal Air Force. Vimy was truly a British-American project, and the colors of both nations were aboard, as well as two gallant representatives of the nations.

advance of from 20 to 33 1-3 per cent over the present scale.

Concerning statements of telephone officials that they had received no demands for the workers, Jennings said that he had requested a conference of H. J. Pettingill, president of the Bell system, and had been ignored and had been refused a conference by J. J. Robinson, superintendent of plants. He said the Kinloch officials had been fairer but that no understanding had been reached.

Jennings advised against any form of violence, reminding the workers that they could peacefully picket.

"Peacefully, oh, boy," remarked one girl operator.

The women members of the union were instructed to report Monday at 10 a. m. at Hiberian hall and the men at 8 a. m. at a hall at Garrison and Easton avenues.

F. O. Hale, general manager of the Bell system, gave out the following statement yesterday:

Bell Official Speaks.

"Through the news columns of the daily press we have been advised that the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers plan to precipitate, on Monday, June 16, a nation-wide strike of telephone employes. This strike, according to statements made by representatives of the union in the newspapers, will involve employes of the telephone companies in the city of St. Louis, and may result in an interruption of telephone service in the city.

"What specific action will be taken by representatives of the labor organizations to interrupt or impair the telephone service in St. Louis, we do not know att his time. None of our employes has made any demands on the company and the company at no time has been requested to discuss with any of the employes who may be involved in the contemplated nation-wide strike the industrial problems which might be the cause for the precipitation of a strike.

"We believe, therefore, that we should not be held responsible for the situation that may develop to the consequent inconvenience of the public and the users of the telephone.

"We recognize as our primary duty the giving of continuous service to the public of St. Louis and assure you that every effort will be made to fulfill our obligations to the public."

LABOR PROTESTS IN CAPITAL AGAINST JULY PROHIBITION

of either house of Congress, was one of the most interested spectators at the labor demonstration.

The demonstration began with the playing of the Star-Spangled Banner, the crowd standing uncovered and waving flags. Three cheers for the American Federation of Labor followed and then the demonstrators sang "America."

John B. Colpoys of Washington, editor of the Trade Unionist, the first speaker, said organized labor had come to Congress asking only for a "non-intoxicating beverage." Referring to President Wilson as "the greatest man in the world today," he said organized labor had stood squarely behind him and was asking Congress to do as much.

Colpoy's speech was interrupted by the arrival of a delegation of women, who, headed by a band and carrying purple parasols, marched directly to the speaker's stand. The crowd rose and gave "three cheers for the ladies."

Only One Negative Vote.

The women were led by Mrs. E. Rooney of San Francisco, who, at the invitation of the chairman, mounted the speaker's table and announced she was the "first woman advocate of personal liberty in America." Stamping her foot on the table and waving her parasol, she shouted, amid cheering: "It will take a woman to put it across, and you can bet your life I'll go to the devil if I don't do it."

Colpoys read the resolutions against prohibition adopted at the Atlantic City labor convention and put a motion on adoption by the assembled crowd. His announcement that only one hand had been raised in the negative brought an outburst of cheers.

Representative Fitzgerald, Democrat of Boston, said the war prohibition measure was pending when the war ended, and added: "I contend that a law which is on the statute books, enacted as a war measure weeks after the war is over is a lie on its face."

In reply to a query from the crowd whether President Wilson would set aside the wine and beer ban, Fitzgerald shouted: "Yes, I know he's going to do it. I do not think he will go back on you. Your only hope is Woodrow Wilson."

"Congress," Fitzgerald declared, had "crammed prohibition down the throats" of the people, without even giving an opportunity for expression of public opinion.

"Honest and Decent Way."

"The honest and decent way to get prohibition is to do it as the law directs—let each state settle it for itself," declared Fitzgerald. "But because of the fanaticism of a few men, they intend to put into execution a law that's a lie. Are you working people to sit idle and allow your rights to be trampled on?"

There was a chorus of "noes." John Kearney, a member of the Massachusetts Senate, told the crowd he had come to present a protest to "some of the misrepresentatives who hold office in this building."

Kearney said that from the start there had been a campaign of misrepresentation on the subject of prohibition.

"And tomorrow," he added, "the Anti-Saloon League will say Washington was filled today with Bolsheviki from all over the country."

Kearney predicted the country was "on the verge of an industrial uprising," because of unemployment and dissatisfaction among laboring classes. "If the movement were to go into the hands of the Bolsheviki," he said, "you'll find them going through that capitol building and pushing out the back door."

Representative Sabath declared war-time prohibition legislation was "unjust and uncalled for," and "had been forced upon the statute books" in defiance of the people. Sabath also predicted that President Wilson would by proclamation set aside the July 1 prohibition against beer and wine.

Representative Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois, referring to President Wilson as a man, "who, in my mind, is the greatest man who has walked the earth since Christ," said the laborers might hope for help from him before July 1. Rainey introduced Samuel Gompers, who began his speech in an outburst of cheering.

Holding up a small American flag, Gompers declared it was an emblem of the guarantees of personal liberty, and that "it was deplorable that, under this flag, there should have been foisted upon the people a most vicious and unwarranted Constitutional amendment."

"The Constitution of the United States is a charter of guaranteed rights in which the Government is denied power to interfere with the rights of the people and the United States. For the first time the Constitution has now as a part of it a provision which declares 'thou shalt not.' It is the first provision to deny rights."

Protesting against a regulation "by which the rich may have their booze for a life time guaranteed and the right of the worker to get a glass of beer when he can denied to him," Gompers said the workingmen asked only for a fair opportunity to live their own lives. "You cannot change all our rabits at the twinkling of an eye," said he.

All the church and temperance societies, Gompers said, have "not done one tithe to make the working man temperate to what their labor organizations have done."

"We're not advocates of intoxicants," he added. "We ask opportunity not only to preach but to practice temperance."

Gompers to the Committee.

Gompers, presenting the resolution adopted by the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Atlantic City, N. J., opposing the inclusion of beer and wine in national prohibition and asking for the exemption of beer containing 2¾ per cent of alcohol, told the Senate committee he desired to protest "not only for the members of the American Federation of Labor, but for labor generally."

"Of course,' 'he said, "prohibition, in so far as the constitutional amendment is concerned, cannot be assailed at this time. It is part of the organized law and the change must be brought about through the Constitution."

Gompers said the elimination of whisky was "a wise and practical contribution to a better life," but declared the elimination of beer "is not wise."

"I know the habits and thoughts of the working people," said Gompers. "I know nothing that could be done by Congress one-hundredth part so prejudicial to the peace and tranquillity of the masses than this attempt to take from them the opportunity to drink a glass of beer with a content of 2¾ per cent of alcohol."

Such beer, he said, is "nonintoxicating in the ordinary acceptance of that term," and labor regards it as a necessity.

"The Constitution," Gompers saidl, "is a charter of freedom and guaranteed rights to the people of the United States, and this is the first time in history that the words 'thou shalt not' have been written into the Constitution. It is purely a personal matter."

Asked regarding the slogan, "No beer, no work," Gompers said that he and his associates have done their share "against any such propaganda."

Senator Sterling asked Gompers if he did not think the workers would reconcile themselves to the situation.

"I think they will not," Gompers said. "The habits of a people cannot very well be regulated or prohibited by law."

"I am apprehensive of results," said Gompers, "should Congress fail to meet the situation as I have endeavored to present it to you."

LEAGUE PLEADED FOR IN BIG LONDON MEETING

Noted Speakers Dwell on Necessity for United Popular Support to Make Pact a Success.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 14.—A campaign to popularize the league of nations was launched by the British League of Nations Union yesterday. Albert Hall was packed with more than 7000 persons. Viscount Grey, who received a great ovation, presided. The principal address was made by Lord Robert Cecil, the other speakers being John Robert Clynes, former food controller; Dr. Alexander Irving, archbishop of Canterbury, and Dr. John Clifford. John W. Davis, American ambassador, was present with his wife and Vice Admiral David Beatty was in attendance.

All the speakers dwelt on the necessity for united and zealous popular support to make the league a reality and a success. Lord Robert Cecil, in the course of a powerful and eloquent discussion and defense of the league, twice referred to President Wilson, being vigorously applauded.

The enthusiasm of the audience for the league was in evidence throughout Lord Robert Cecil's speech, but here and there were a few hecklers who tried to interrupt him. Several men in the gallery unfurled a red flag inscribed, "Warships are fighting a Socialist republic," evidently referring to the fighting between British and Russian warships in the Baltic.

"Ireland Ably Represented."

When Lord Robert was naming the framers of the league covenant, a man shouted: "What about Ireland?" Lord Robert quickly retorted: "Ireland was ably represented, if I may say so, by Gen. Smuts and myself."

The audience cheered the speaker's arguments for admitting Germany to the league but the applause was punctuated by cries of protest, one man shouting: "You bloody traitor!" Many others shouted: "Put him out," and cheered loudly when the man was ejected.

Viscount Grey made an eloquent appeal for the British people, in conjunction with the peoples of other nations, to give life and reality to the league now that the governments have completed their parts in it.

"We fought for an ideal during the war," he said. "Cannot we fight for an ideal after the war? Great Britain has been great in war; she must be great in peace. Refuse to listen to those who regard the league as an impracticable ideal. It is a choice between life and death to the world. Any future war will be vastly more terrible than the last, owing to inventions and the progress of science. Hence there is need that we work for an ideal, namely, world peace."

Lord Robert, who spoke for nearly an hour, said that nobody would claim the covenant of the league of nations was perfect.

"But it is a living organism," he continued, "which will grow and adapt itsel tfo requirements. There is a charge that the league is an organization which favors the British empire, but such critics have forgotten that virtually no important decision is possible without the consent of the council, in which there is no probability whatever that the British empire will ever have more than one vote.

"Germany Must Be Included."

"If the league is to be a reality Germany and Russia must be included, because if these powerful nations are excluded they will be driven into intrigue against the league. Moreover, the league must be a league of nations, not of Governments."

Lord Robert argued that British advocacy of the league was not selfish.

"She, perhaps, has less need of the league than any other nation," he said. "Her European position is relatively stronger than ever in her history. Her fleet is unbeaten and more powerful than ever before the war. Her army is larger and better trained than ever, and even on the economic side she is in better case than those who before the war were described as her rivals.

"In regard to Germany's admission to the league, reasonable guarantees of the sincerity of German professions are necessary and a certain novitiate is needed, but the shorter that novitiate can be safely made the better. I see no reason why it should be more than a few months."

Rebel Chief Says He Commands All Northern Revolutionists; Plan Is to Conquer Chihuahua.

EL PASO, Texas, June 15.—12:15 a. m. A general attack on Juarez has begun. Heavy firing can be heard in El Paso.

By the Associated Press.

JUAREZ, Mexico, June 14.—Col. J. G. Escobar, second in command of the Federal garrison, at 9 o'clock said the rebels were within the city limits. Street car service to El Paso has been stopped.

At 9:30 o'clock tonight the first Federal wounded were brought into the town from the outposts on the west side of town and taken to the Federal hospital on the hill. They reported that the rebels had advanced down the river road from the west and were within rifle shot of the Federal trenches.

By the Associated Press.

EL PASO, Tex., June 14.—Villa's rebel forces began the envelopment of Juarez at dark tonight, cavalrymen being plainly visible from the top of the highest building in El Paso. The rebel troops were southeast of the Juarez racetrack and appeared to be moving in toward the town.

Federal troops in Juarez were mounted on buildings and the old church and sent to the southeastern part of the town, in the vicinity of the racetrack. It is believed Villa plans to establish his field base at the racetrack, behind which he will have excellent protection, as the grand stand is of concrete and steel.

The first shots from Fort Hidalgo were fired against the approaching Villa army at 7:55 p. m. At 8 o'clock the city was in a panic, the people fleeing either toward the American side or to other places of safety.

Shortly before 8 o'clock 50 Federal customs guards, riding in an army truck, crossed the international bridge into El Paso.

United States troops have taken charge of the American end of the international bridge and fleeing Mexicans are being detained.

Army officers on the American side are watching the developments closely from the roofs of buildings near the river bank, and troops are ready to be moved to the river front as soon as needed.

Public places in El Paso were paged tonight for American army officers, who were ordered to report at their respective camps at once.

Cavalry troops were sent to the bridges to reinforce the bridge guards and the 24th negro infantry troops from Columbus, N. M., were held in readiness with the other infantry to reinforce the cavalry should they be needed.

Double lines of patrols were thrown along the river by order of Brig.-Gen. Erwin and reserves stationed at frequent intervals.

Machine guns were also mounted on high points on land along the river bank to prevent any efforts on the part of rebels to cross the border at any point in or near the city.

Villa Says He Commands All Rebels in Northern Mexico.

By the Associated Press.

HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. VILLA, June 14.—Gen. Villa this afternoon stated to the correspondent of the Associated Press that he was in supreme command of all revolutionary forces in Northern Mexico. All the rebel forces in the immediate vicinity of Juarez are moving in. Their number is unknown, but the men appear to be in excellent fighting condition. With Gen. Villa are Gen. Anegeles, Martin Lopez, Epifianio Holguin and Ramon Vega.

"It is the intention of this revolution to conquer the State of Chihuahua, and there receive the refugees from Mexico who are now in the United States and other countries—to receive them with open arms and divide the last crust of bread we have with them, if it be necessary.

"We intend to found a state in Chihuahua that will serve as a model for other states of the Mexican republic."

This is the message delivered to the Associated Press correspondent at midnight by Gen. Felipe Angeles, commander of the revolutionary forces in the vicinity of Juarez. Gen. Angeles, in a statement to the Associated Press, reiterated his previous announcement that he had no presidential ambitions.

Angeles denied a recent report circulated in the United States that he had proclaimed himself provisional president of Mexico and Francisco Villa his secretary of war.

Villa confirmed the statements of Gen. Angeles and joined in his announcement of the aims and intentions of the revolution

Carranza Not to Be Candidate, Says Son-in-Law.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—President Carranza of Mexico will not be a candidate for election and under no conditions will he continue in office after the expiration of his present term. This statement as to Carranza's political intentions was made today in an authorized statement by his son-in-law, Gen. Candido Aguilar, Governor of the State of Vera Cruz, who was sent to this country on a confidential mission.

"News has been received from Mexico City to the effect that a number of President Carranza's friends and supporters will meet soon," Gen. Aguilar said, "to offer him re-election or to ask his advice regarding the man that must be supported in the coming presidential campaign. President Carranza will not continue a month after the expiration of his term, whatever the conditions of the country may be. He has thus informed the press and his friends. Furthermore, President Carranza will not lend direct or indirect assistance to any presidential candidate. His strongest desire is that the Mexican people may elect freely the future President and to retire himself to private life with the satisfaction of having done his duty."

St. Louis Labor Leaders Urge July 1 Dry Act Repeal

Delegation in Washington Fears That Conditions in Russia May Be Enacted Here Under Drastic Prohibition.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Asserting that prohibition would bring a train of evils in its wake, a delegation of St. Louis labor union representatives today asked the House Judiciary Committee to report favorably a bill to repeal the war time prohibition law, in so far as it relates to beer and wines, before it goes in effect on July 1.

Maurice J. Cassidy, secretary of the Building Trades Council, said that prohibition was unjust and would prove a failure.

"It has never been in effect since before the time of Christ, except in Russia," he declared, "and the Lord deliver us from such conditions as have come to Russia. It is not right for the legislative body of this country to make a criminal out of a man who drinks. When the wets were in control of Congress they did not compel the drys to drink against their will, and it is not fair now for the drys to tell the wets they cannot drink.

"We protest earnestly against letcil, said the people who would be affect and we speak for thousands of others, who believe that it is a step depriving them of their personal liberties."

Houser Expresses Views.

Joseph J. Houser of the brewers' and malsters' joint executive council estimated that 10,000 persons would be directly affected in St. Louis and that 10,000 to 12,000 others would be indirectly affected by the closing of the breweries and allied industries.

John G. Warsington, secretary of the Allied Printing and Trades Council, said the people who would be effected outside the breweries include, printers, wagon makers, harness makers and coopers.

"You are going to throw them out of work if you let war time prohibition go into effect in July," he said.

"When you consider that the soldiers are returning home and hunting the jobs the situation is full of seriousness."

H. Clay Schmidt, president of the Allied Printing Trades Council, declared that the end of brewing would stop the printing of millions of labels, circulars, letterheads, advertisements and the like, and cut down work for the printing trade generally.

"War time prohibition was to be in effect for the period of the war and the law should cease now that the war is over," he said.

"A lot of these prohibitionists look at the question only from their own side. They should look at the way it affects everybody. We ask the committee to do all in their power to see that this act does not go into effect.

Result if Lid Is Effective.

"I have traveled all over the country recently and find that conditions will be deplorable when so many men directly and indirectly interested are thrown out of work, which will be the result when prohibition comes.

"I have been in the West and East and the conditions are pretty well the same, especially in the big cities, with the single exception, perhaps, of New York. Baltimore, Philadelphia and Akron, O., are among the places where I have found that suffering will be caused. Conditions there are deplorable now."

Others who spoke briefly were J. W. Williams, treasurer of the Central Trades and Labor Union, and Forrest M. Krepps of the Coopers' Union.

Opinion That Illinois "Search and Seizure" Bill Is Valid.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 14.—Attorney-General Brundage today in an opinion advised Gov. Lowden that the "search and seizure bill" drafted to enforce prohibition in dry territory was sound as to its constitutionality. The Governor has 10 days in which to act on the measure.

er of Pittsburg, Pa. Young Brown registered as an American citizen upon coming of age.

The Vimy machine is one of the type built to bomb Berlin. Tanks for fuel displaced the bombs and bombing apparatus to such an extent that in skeleton while being assembled the machine looked like a collection of cans.

The bow is formed of one tank, the center section of the upper wing is another and running back from the cock pit are six other barrels, holding about 100 gallons each. The "life raft" tank is carried as the fairing of the fuselage in much the same manner as Hawker carried the emergency boat on his Sopwith.

The fliers have scant room in their cockpit. Alcock in the pilot's seat is separated by inches only from the wheel with which he controls the machine and has instruments on all sides of him. Brown as navigator has slightly more room for his work in making observations. Alcock said the cramped seat was the drawback in the design of his machine, which he said he felt absolutely confident would make the passage.

Navy Had Planned Trans-Pacific Flight With Dirigible.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Secretary Daniels disclosed today that the Navy Department had in contemplation a Trans-Pacific flight with a lighter-than-air craft as soon as it could build a modern dirigible of American design. He intimated however, that reduction of the 1920 naval aviation appropriation from $45,000,000 to $15,000,000 as proposed by the House Naval Committee would cause abandonment of the plan.

The Secretary said the reduction of the appropriation virtually would mean that the American navy "must stand still and watch the procession go by after having just completed the most remarkable achievement in the history of aviation—the Trans-Atlantic flight."

Naval officials said Great Britain would spend from $259,000,000 to $300,000,000 on the army and navy air service during the coming year and that France would spend more than $200,000,000 on aerial development.

U. S. TROOPS MAY GO TO SILESIA FOR PLEBISCITE

Informal Assurances to This Effect Partly Reconciles Poles to Vote Being Taken.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 14.—The Poles have become somewhat reconciled to the proposed plebiscite in Silesia by informal assurances which they have received that American troops will, if possible, be assigned to occupy the contested and disputed area pending the vote, to assure a fair and unintimidated expression of the peoples' wishes.

They have feared that unless allied troops, preferably American, are moved promptly into the plebiscite area, the German authorities would remain in virtual control almost up to the day of voting and would materially be able to influence the result.

cil to renew consideration of the Austrian terms Monday.

Wilson May Go to Brussels.

If no other developments arise, President Wilson probably will make his trip to Brussels between Wednesday and the expiration of the German time limit.

It is learned that the short time limit given Germany for a reply is largely due to the Germans themselves. They are understood to have said they would not require more than five days to reach a decision.

The allied reply to the German proposals, it developed today, will lay particular stress upon the chacacter of the permanent Reparations Commission. It will be explained to the Germans that the commission is not a tyrannical body, but that it will administer its duties in a spirit of fairness and helpfulness, so as to facilitate Germany's economic reconstruction.

Some modifications were made by the council yesterday in the labor covenant in the peace treaty. The existing labor situation in various countries, coupled with clever German tactics, had resulted in this part of the treaty becoming one of the principal points of attack in the counter proposals. The situation caused a long discussion which resulted in certain modifications in the convention.

YOUNG BANDITS ARE NAMED AS SLAYERS BY CORONER'S JURY

Hunter and Bergmann Held, With West and Mehl Accused as Accessories Before the Fact.

MERAMEC ROBBERS CAREFULLY GUARDED

Captives Fearful of Attempt at Inquest "to Get Them," and Spectators Are Refused Admission to Hearing.

Earl Hunter, 23 years old, of 1463 Arlington avenue, and Charles Bergmann, 24, of 3822 Neosho street, were named by a Coroner's jury yesterday as the slayers of Patrolman Thomas J. Ward, who was fatally wounded Thursday in the chase following an attempt to rob the Meramec Trust Co., 3224 Meramec street.

The verdict named as accessories before the fact Alvin West, 19, 1717 Chouteau avenue, and Edwin Mehl, 17, 1337 La Salle street, who were arrested Friday and confessed complicity. Mehl drove the automobile which took the robbers to the bank.

Extra precautions were taken to guard the four prisoners at the inquest. Some who went there were searched for weapons and only witnesses were admitted.

The prisoners themselves were apprehensive that violence might be done to them. Hunter asked nervously: "Is Sergt. Smith's son here?" Sergt. William J. Smith, of the Wyoming street district, was shot and blinded in the battle with the robbers.

Mrs. Alice Roy, who occupied the house at 4526 Minnesota avenue, from which Hunter and Bergmann gave battle to the police, gave a graphic description of the events.

Tells of Flight From House.

"I was lying on my bed with a headache when my doorbell rang hard twice and I saw a gray cap pass my window. Then I saw an officer with a drawn revolver in the street and I knew there was trouble. At the same time I heard running in my basement.

"I called to the officer, 'They're in my basement,' and he replied: 'Lady, if you've got a cellar door, lock it.' I heard shooting. Then I heard the fellows in my kitchen, then chairs being dumped over and the kitchen door being locked.

"I reasoned that I must save myself, so I seized my baby and ran from the bedroom into the front room just as a man entered my bedroom. I went on out through the front door, heard it slam behind me and heard it locked.

"I ran on across the street and hid behind a banister of a porch. Presently I heard some one move and asked, 'Who are you?'

"'I'm only a detective,' the reply came.

"There was shooting in my back yard just after I saw two men run from my house.

Finds Sergt. Smith.

"I had heard moaning in the cellar before I left. As I had once been a practical nurse, I started back to see what aid I could give. I came upon Sergt. Smith lying in the front yard.

"He was moaning 'May God have mercy on my soul.' I went to him. He said: 'Lady, pray for me. I am blind. Your prayers will help me.' He needed immediate help more and I wiped the blood from his head. He was bleeding badly.

"But he kept saying 'Pray for me,' so I knelt beside him and prayed for him."

Mrs. Kate Leo, who resides at 4522 Minnesota avenue, next door to Mrs. Roy, identified Hunter and Bergmann as the two men who passed her as she was sitting on her porch and went through the gangway between her house and Mrs. Roy's into the cellar of Mrs. Roy's house. She said that Sergt. Smith asked her to telephone for help just before he was shot.

Joseph G. Lowe Jr., 6114 Westminster place, secretary-treasurer of the Meramec Trust Co., testified that $300 of the stolen money still was missing.

Lowe entered into colloquy with Hunter while the Coroner's jury was out.

"How did I act under the gun?" Lowe asked. "Did I appear nervous?"

"You acted pretty good," Hunter replied. "You know I have stuck up a few men. Some go all to pieces, some into hysterics. I've had men fall on their faces and I've had men fall over a picket fence and I had to pick them up. But you acted pretty good. You tried to take things with a smile on your face, but that smile was rather camouflage. You tried to make people think you were unconcerned, but I could tell how you felt by that lump that came up in your throat."

"Well, I thank you." Lowe replied. "You treated me pretty nice, at that."

In Humanitarian Way.

"That's the way we wanted to treat all in this job." Hunter replied. "We wanted to pull it in a humanitarian way. Bergmann needed money. He had a girl in the hospital who needed care. That was one of the reasons for the job. There is no murder in my heart."

Detective Kaiser, standing nearby jeered.

"That's right, Kaiser." Hunter said, "let me proceed. I'll prove what I say by the way I have treated Charles Remington (Remington was a druggist at Taylor avenue and Olive street whom Hunter held up, for which he received a penitentiary sentence in 1917). That was known as a pistol and billy job. He showed fight. He fired nine shots and I didn't fire back. I didn't want to kill him."

Hunter, during this conversation, denied the statement attributed to him that he and Bergmann decided to shoot their way out of the Minnesota avenue house because they could get no more punishment for murder than bank robbery.

"I would rather hang than take a life sentence," he said. "But you corner a rat and he will fight."

Bergmann Considers Statement.

Bergmann started to make a statement on the witness stand, but was warned by Assistant Circuit Attorney Oakley that whatever he said would be used in the prosecution at his trial. He changed his mind.

Hunter, on the stand, said: "In view of the part I have taken in this, I do not wish to make a statement."

West said that he did not wish to make a statement, but Mehl, though warned by Oakley, said:

"I want to tell my part," and he proceeded to relate substantially the same story as he gave to the police in his confession after his arrest. He said that he was dazzled by Bergmann's promise that he could make $100 by a drive of 40 or 50 blocks. He said that Bergmann directed the route of the car through the streets on the way to the bank and gave the instructions concerning where it should await them.

Patrolman Weldi of the Wyoming Street Station, who gave the command to Bergmann to throw up his hands in the ashpit at Minnesota avenue and Dakota street, testified that he and Sergt. Phillips found two revolvers in the ashpit and one on Bergmann.

Policeman Tells of Chase.

Patrolman Earl C. Valleroy said that he was with Sergt. Smith when he called the Wyoming station from Cherokee street and California avenue, Smith being told to go to the Meramec Trust Co. He described the pursuit of the robbers until they took refuge in the building at 4526 Minnesota avenue, where, he said, they were told by Sergt. O'Brien that the men were within, and "to be careful, they are shooting to kill."

He testified that as Bergmann and Hunter ran out, Hunter fired five shots at him, and he fired three at Hunter, emptying his revolver. He said, however, he maintained the chase, a pedestrian later handing him a loaded automatic. He told of Hunter running into a yard in the rear of 3143 Neosho street, and remaining there several minutes while he lay in wait. When Hunter reappeared, he said, he was without his coat and unarmed, for he obeyed his call for surrender without show of fight.

"What's all the trouble about?" he said Hunter asked as he placed him under arrest.

He declared that later Hunter admitted that he and Bergmann had fired at Patrolman Ward, and that it probably was his shots that fatally wounded the patrolman. He also admitted, Valeroy said, that he and Bergman had fired at Sergt. Smith, and again said that his bullets likely were the ones that struck Smith.

Valeroy said that later two revolvers were found wrapped in Hunter's coat in the yard in which he hid.

Sergt. William O'Brien recited his participation in the chase and pistol fight much as was printed in the Post-Dispatch yesterday. He added that one of the revolvers taken from Bergmann in the ashpit was that of Patrolman Ward, which evidently had been taken from him after he was wounded.

asked if they hadn't any more robberies to confess. "No, we haven't got any more robberies," Hunter said, "but if it's any pleasure to you we might as well tell you that we wrecked a restaurant on Sixth street about two weeks ago."

Then he told how they entered a place known as the American restaurant, near the Falstaff Cafe, between Chestnut and Market streets. Hunter said they got up at their regular breakfast time, 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and entered the restaurant for their morning meal. They ordered among other things, corn flakes and cream. When the bill was presented the flakes were charged at 15 cents an order, although, Hunter said, 10 cents was the price on the bill.

"We didn't care for the extra nickel, but we did refuse to be 'gyped' by a couple of Greeks, so we called their attention to it. They insisted on 15 cents, and we got into a fight. One Greek threw a bowl of whipped cream at me and I started throwing dishes that were piled up on a stand near me. I broke every dish, cup and saucer in the place. We finally had to leave the restaurant when one of the Greeks came from the kitchen with a butcher knife. Bergmann knocked a fat man down at the entrance of the restaurant as we fled to the street."

On information given by West and Mehl in confessions, Oakley Manis, 19, 918 Chouteau avenue, was taken into custody at 3544 Lindell avenue yesterday.

He told the police he had been asked to participate in the Meramec Trust Co. robbery, but refused. He gave the police a list of the following 11 jobs which he said he and West had pulled off in St. Louis recently.

Long List of Robberies.

Bakers' Supply Co., driver, holdup, Jefferson and Lafayette avenues, $45.

Men's furnishing goods store, about 1008 South Broadway, safe broken open, $1000 in Liberty Bonds and other things.

Star Grocery Co., 1500 Chouteau avenue, safe broken open, $400 in Liberty Bonds and $100 in War Savings Stamps.

Shoe store, 1600 Chouteau avenue, hold-up, $285, two watches and a pin.

Friedman Loan Co., 1500 Market street, burglary, jewelry and revolver.

Ice cream parlor, Park and Mississippi avenues, holdup, $19.

Drug store, Broadway and Elm street, holdup, $17.

Bakers' Supply Co., Tenth street and Chouteau avenue, burglary, about $100.

Allen Gerke, auto repair shop, Seventeenth street and Chouteau avenue, tools. Tried to open safe with acetylene, but fused the door.

Deffa Feed Co., Broadway and Cerre street, safe job; doesn't remember what was taken.

A watchman named Gross, attempted holdup at Newstead and McPherson avenue. Got nothing. Manis shot in hand by Gross.

Mrs. Elsie Koehler, 17 years old, also was arrested at the Lindell avenue rooming house. She said she had been a friend of West about three weeks, and had met with the men at the Park avenue beer garden, and heard them discuss plans for the Meramec Trust Co. robbery, but took no part in it.

Mrs. Mamie McConnell, 22 years old, of 1108 Grattan street, a friend of Manis, also was arrested. Manis said she knew nothing of the robberies, though he had given her jewelry and clothing taken in burglaries. He said that until he met her two weeks ago she was an elevator operator at the Warwick Hotel, Fifteenth and Locust streets.

Manis says he deserted last December from a naval training ship at Pelham Bay, N. Y., and came to St. Louis in February and met West, whom he had known since boyhood. After trying for five weeks to get a job at his trade as a tanner, he said, he decided to turn robber.

Walter Dahm, 17 years old, of 1526 South Twelfth street, a steel worker, was arrested last night on Manis' statement that Dahm was with him and West when the attempt was made to hold up Watchman Gross, and that he aided them in a shoe store burglary.

Dahm denied complicity in the Meramec Trust Co. robbery and other crimes of the gang. He exhibited his calloused hands as proof that he did heavy work in an iron foundry and said he knew Hunter, Bergmann, West and Mehl, but was not a partner in their wrongdoing.

Claude Harris, 25 years old, a walter in a restaurant at Eleventh street and Park avenue, next door to a pool room frequented by the gang, also was arrested on a statement by one of the prisoners that he aided in a shoe store robbery and got some of the money realized from other thefts. He denied this was true.

SUBMARINE K-5 WILL SUBMERGE AT 4 P. M. TODAY

Exhibition Will Take Place Between the Eads and Free Bridges, and Last 15 Minutes.

The United States submarine K-5 will submerge at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Mississippi, between the Free Bridge and Eads Bridge. It will be possible for the public to view the submarine's feat from either bridge, or from the Levee.

The submarine will carry a reporter of each of the daily papers on its under-water trip. It was submerged for 15 minutes on its arrival with the anti-submarine flotilla, Thursday morning, and went so deep that even its periscope disappeared.

Many of the persons who go to the river front to see the submarine go down will be able to inspect the U. S. S. Isabel, a destroyer type, and the three submarine chasers, and a limited number may be able to go aboard the submarine before and after its trip. The daily visiting hours for the entire flotilla, so long as it stays here, are 10 a. m. to noon, 1 to 5 p. m., and 6 to 8 p. m., except that the submarine will be reserved, during the morning, for members of the local committee of arrangements presenting badges.

Children visiting the flotilla must be with an older person.

Seaplanes Leave Tomorrow.

The three seaplanes of the flotilla will start at noon tomorrow, weather permitting, on a flight to Chicago, following the Mississippi-Illinois waterway and the Chicago drainage canal, and alighting in Lake Michigan. They will stop at Peoria on this flight, and on the return, which is scheduled for Wednesday.

A mail pouch will be carried on one of the seaplanes, and letters to be carried will be accepted today and until 9 a. m. tomorrow at the navy recruiting office, Seventh and Chestnut streets. Letters mailed in mail boxes will not be sent by seaplane, no matter how directed. No mail will be carried on the return trip.

A letter from Mayor Kiel to a Chicago city official, which will be carried by seaplane, tells of the plans for installing aerial mail service between St. Louis and Chicago early next month, with a landing station in Forest Park. He also speaks of the new water connection between St. Louis and Chicago, formed by the connection between the drainage canal and the Illinois River at Utica, Ill.

Admiral's Aid Coming.

Capt. K. C. Castleman, U. S. N., aid to Rear Admiral Victor Blue, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, is expected to arrive here tomorrow to inspect the flotilla, and to express the satisfaction of Secretary of the Navy Daniels with the manner in which the flotilla has been received here.

Enlisted men of the flotilla will be guests of the War Camp Community Service at supper this evening at the Soldiers', Sailors and Marines' Club, 1214 Olive street. Tomorrow morning the officers will be guests at a breakfast at Hotel Statler, and tomorrow night, also at the Statler, the officers of the flotilla will give a dinner to the local committee.

The band and glee club accompanying the flotilla will furnish music at a number of clubs and gatherings of various kinds in the next few days. An entertainment program for and by the crew of the flotilla will be carried out through Friday, which is the last day of the flotilla's stay as now scheduled.

Lutheran Orphans' Festival Today.

The Spring Festival of the Lutheran Orphans' Home will take place today on the grounds of the institution at Des Peres, Mo. The program includes a sermon at 10:30 a. m. by the Rev. Paul Koenig of St. Louis and one at 2:30 by the Rev. L. Reith of St. Charles. Various Ladies' Aid Societies of St. Louis will serve refreshments.

FIRST REGIMENT OF HOME GUARDS IS DEMOBILIZED

900 Members Put Away Their Gingham Brassards and Russian Rifles After Review in Forest Park.

Some 900 khaki uniforms, with blue gingham half-brassards on the sleeves of blouses and shirts, were laid away last night by members of the First Regiment, Missouri Home Guard, following their muster-out at the Forest Park parade ground and the First Regiment Armory.

A march from the parade ground, near Jefferson Memorial, to the Armory at Grand avenue and Market street, with the temperature 88 in the shade, and no shade to speak of, gave the regiment a workout. The Armory swimming pool was opened to the men after the march, and honorable discharges were issued, and service buttons distributed, at a dinner, which was given in the Armory by the Home Guard Committee, to officers and men.

The Third Regiment, Home Guard, is still in service, and is to be mustered out Saturday afternoon, June 28, with a similar review at Forest Park.

Kiel Reviews Guard.

Motor trucks took the regiment to the park, where the review was executed feore Mayor Kiel, Col. Philip B. Fouke, Maj. A. B. Donnelly and several returned officers of overseas units. The benches facing the parade ground were but partly occupied, and tennis games continued on the adjoining courts as the companies, in platoon formation, executed "Eyes right" before the reviewing party. The regimental band played for the review. Guns, the Russian rifles which the regiment has drilled with for the last six months, were carried without bayonets, and blouses were worn tightly buttoned.

When the regiment marched back to Lindell avenue, the motor trucks were no longer there. The officers had decided that Lindell boulevard wished to see a parade of the regiment. Lindell boulevard did not get excited about the parade. In fact, it took it quite calmly, and the spectators were chiefly children and persons who happened to be sitting on porches or sprinkling lawns.

No one strewed any flowers before the guardsmen, and no civilians broke the rules by marching with them, as so many did in the parades of overseas units. But the Lindell boulevard folks were very nice about canteening the marchers, with buckets of hydrant water. at several places where the line stopped. One of the stops was in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch Jr., opposite the park, and men who went to the rear of the Busch residence came back spreading reports which caused a mild stampede. But the reports were found to be all a joke, as the only drink to be had was water, flowing from a tap.

12 Companies in Parade.

Twelve companies, in three battalions, took part in the exercises. The first battalion brought in its guns from its customary drill place in Webster Groves. The second and third battalions were city companies, drilling regularly at the Armory, except K Company, which was from Ferguson.

All the men keep their uniforms, and the overcoats which were issued last winter, and which, because of the small requirement for overcoats during that season, are practically new.

The First Regiment was organized in August, 1917, and many changes in its personnel occurred during the war. A valuable part of its work was in training men who later entered the selective service, and who in many cases were able to qualify as noncommissioned officers as soon as they reached camp. The regiment was never called out for active service, but during its encampment last July it made a night raid on the town of Clayton, near which it was encamped, and captured the Courthouse Square without resistance. The regiment was on duty at the Armory, a company at a time, during the street car strike of February, 1918, in anticipation of a call to duty, but the call did not come.

Several of the companies plan dinners and smokers this week or next. A number of the high privates in both front and rear ranks found, on getting their discharge, that they had been brevetted corporals as a reward of faithful service.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution commending the officers and men of the First and Third Regiments, Home Guard, and declaring that "the existence of these well-trained units was insurance against occasions that, in many other communities, were considered detrimental to life and property. It also praises the business men who contributed the money for equipping the regiments. The original fund was $100,000, and the supplementary fund, used largely in the purchase of overcoats, was $60,000.

Full Confessions by Two Men in Bank Robbery

Police Make Public Text of Written Statements by Alvin West and Edward Mehl After Hunter and Bergmann Were Taken.

Full confessions of Alvin (Jim) West, who made arrangements for the automobile that carried the Meramec Trust Co. robbers to the bank and who participated in the robbery, and of Edward Mehl, driver of the car, who fled in the machine when the shooting began at the bank, are in the hands of the police. They follow:

West's confession is as follows:

"I, Alvin Marion West, also known by the name of James West, 19 years old, single, residing with my mother at 1717 Chouteau avenue, make the following statement of my own free will and accord, and without promises of immunity:

"About three weeks ago I met Charles Bergmann and Earl Hunter at Eleventh street and Park avenue, and during a conversation I told them that I had been living at 917 Hickory street.

Arranged for Automobile.

"About three nights ago Bergmann and Hunter came over to the 917 Hickory street house, and was looking for me. This is athe home of my aunt, and I had gone to the home of my mother on Chouteau avenue, but Hunter and Bergmann left word with a boy in the neighborhood for me to meet them at Eleventh street and Park avenue at 7 o'clock the next day. My aunt also told me that they had called, and were looking for me. When I met Hunter and Bergmann at the appointed time we walked to Eighteenth street and Park avenue to a saloon, and while in the saloon they asked me if I could get them a big machine.

"I told them I could not get a big machine, and they said they wanted to make a place for a lot of money. I told them I would see if I could get a machine, and I then went back to Eleventh and Park avenue and met a young man named Eddy, whose other name is not known to me, and I told him that we wanted to hire him to drive us on a job where there was a lot of money. Eddy said he would take us out the next day.

"I made an appointment with him to meet me on the Lafayette side of Lafayette Park at 2 o'clock the following day, June 12, 1919. When I got to Lafayette Park on June 12 I saw Earl Hunter and Charles Bergmann sitting on a bench in the park. They had a suitcase under the bench they were sitting on. They had told me before to bring my guns along with me and I brought two guns with me. We waited there until Eddy came up in the machine, Ford make.

"Bergmann got in the front seat with Eddy and I and Hunter in the rear seat. We rode to Broadway on Lafayette avenue and then south on Broadway for some time and Bergmann said, 'Let's get a glass of beer,' and Hunter replied, 'No, let's go on out there,' and we drove on and did not stop. We drove over some street that I don't know the name of and stopped about 60 feet from the Meramec Trust Co. Bergmann got out and he walked up to the corner and then came back a short distance and motioned for us to come ahead.

Held Men Against the Wall.

"Earl told me on the way out to the bank that I did not have to take my gun out and only had to go in the bank and close the door. Hunter and I got out of the machine. Bergmann went to the Virginia avenue entrance of the bank and I and Hunter entered the Meramec street entrance. I was right behind Hunter. I closed the door after me.

"When we got into the bank Bergmann ordered a man in the bank to throw up his hands and Earl Hunter stood in front of the cage and told him to 'stand still.' Hunter was carrying a suit case at the time. Bergmann went behind the cage and told me to come in and hold the men against the wall. I pointed my two guns at them and held them against the wall. Hunter went into the vault and put the money in the suit case. Bergmann asked one of the men where the money was and he answered, 'It was on the counter.' Bergmann then reached over, got the money from the counter and put it in the suit case.

"When we got the money in the suit case I noticed a woman standing in front of the bank hollering and I then saw a police officer holding his hands to the glass and looking into the bank. He was standing at the door. Hunter said to Bergmann, 'Shall I shoot him?' Bergmann answered, 'Yes.'

"Hunter placed his gun on a rail on the counter and took aim. I heard the gun snap, but it did not fire. Th officer 'ducked' back. A Sergeant was then standing across the street and the copper ran over to him and one of them fired a shot which came through the window and Hunter opened the Virginia avenue door and fired two shots at the Sergeant and I then ran past the door which Hunter had open and also fired two shots out the door and ran out the back door leading to the alley. When I heard more shots I ran and continued up the alley and jumped over one fence and again ran out into the alley.

"I looked back to see who was following, and I saw Bergmann coming up the alley in the opposite direction from me. He had the suitcase in his hand. I heard two more shots and when I looked back again I saw Bergmann and Hunter running in the alley, but they did not have the suitcase.

Threw His Guns Away.

"In passing a church I tried to throw my two guns over a wall surrounding the church, but one of them did not go over. I ran through a lot to a street that was torn up, and then stopped running. I walked to the street where the Bellefontaine car runs. It is the same street where the bank is located on. I boarded a car two blocks from the bank, and went to Eighteenth and Russell avenue and then went to Broadway and bought a hat as I had on the cap which I wore during the robbery. About 10 o'clock last (Thursday) night I went to 2518 South Broadway to the home of my uncle, Henry Rhodus, and stayed there all night and remained there until the arrest this (Friday) afternoon. I did not get any of the money from the bank.

"I was also implicated in another job about a month ago. I and a man known to me only as 'Ed Smith' got a crow bar and a hatchet, and went to Friedman's Loan Co. on Market street, and cut our way through the roof. We filled a suitcase with watches, guns, etc., and while in the place some detectives came and started shooting at us. I think they was from some telegraph company, as I have since learned that the burglar alarm went off, and gave the signal that we were in the place. Smith fired two shots at them and I did not have a gun with me, and did not fire any.

"We ran upstairs and went through a hole in the roof which we had cut, and then down the fire escape. Smith went with me to 1717 Chouteau avenue and we stayed there all night. The next day Smith said he was going to leave town. I did not get anything from this burglary, and if Smith did he did not say anything about it to me. I have not seen him since."

Detectives O'Brien, Heggeman and Kaiser, who arrested West, and Harry Hesse, secretary to Chief Hannegan, obtained the confession, and are named as witnesses thereon, together with Detective Harry McLaughlin.

Mehl's Confession.

Mehl's confession is as follows:

"My name is Edward Mehl, and I reside at 1337 La Salle street. I am employed as a truck driver by the William Jaeger Tea and Coffee Co., 918-20 North Sixth street. I am 17 years old. I am the owner of a Ford automobile, which I keep at the residence of my sister, Mrs. Lillian Crimmins, 927 Ann avenue.

"About 2 o'clock yesterday (Thursday) afternoon a man known to me as 'Jim' met me by agreement with my automobile at Lafayette Park. He had two other men with him. They told me to drive just as they would tell me. I drove out to Jefferson avenue and south to Meramec street and drove west on Meramec street to Virginia avenue and Meramec, where I stopped about three doors from the Meramec Trust Co.

"They told me to face the car east and leave the engine running. The three men then alighted from the car and went into the bank. As soon as I saw the coppers cross the street I drove right down Meramec street until I came to Nebraska avenue, and then drove north until I came to Ann avenue. I heard them commence to shoot just as I started the car.

"When I took the car to my sister's I went up on Park avenue (to a poolroom) and sat around. I did not tell my father or brothers anything about the bank robbery. This evening (Friday) I got afraid and left my house and went to the residence of my sister, Mrs. Emma Brown, 3440 Missouri avenue, and I told her I was mixed up in a cutting scrape. I was only there a short time when the detectives came there and arrested me.

"I saw Earl Hunter, Charles Bergmann and Alvin Marion West, alias "Jimmie" West, and positively identify them as the three men I drove to the bank. At the time I was driving the robbers I had two other men make my deliveries for the Jaeger Tea and Coffee Co.

"The Whole Truth."

"About a month ago a man I knew as Jim had a lot of rings which I believed were stolen and I purchased a ring for $3 from Curtis Marchand (under arrest). Marchand was selling the rings for "Jim," who I now identify as Alvin Marion West.

"After I put my car up, I went to Tenth and Park avenue and stayed around there, as I was afraid to go home. I thought the police would be looking for me. I will tell you the whole truth.

"I met Jim last Tuesday night and he said he would give me $100 to drive the car. He said he wanted me to drive about 40 or 45 blocks. Jim said he would pull off a bank robbery. He said it would be easy money.

When we started someone in the back seat asked Bergmann if he brought the guns and he said yes. I then drove them to the bank. I did not see any of the men since the robbery until tonight."

WASHINGON U. MEMORIAL PLAN

Proposal Before Senate to Honor Those Who Rendered War Service.

The Senate of Washington University, made up of the Chancellor, deans, directors and professors giving full service to the institution, has adopted a resolution recommending to the corporation "and all university authorities and organizations that proper steps be taken toward the erection of a suitable memorial to those members of the university who rendered national service in the world war." It was suggested that the Chancellor appoint a committee to formulate a plan for the memorial.

The Art Committee of the faculty has prepared an elaborate group of suggestions for the proposed memorial, which the committee to be named by the Chancellor will utilize as a basis for its finding.

GARDNER, BY DEAL, ABANDONS HIS FULL VALUATION FIGHT

Opponents Agree as a Compromise to 20 Per Cent Increase Over 1918 Assessment for State.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 14.—The Post-Dispatch learned today that Gov. Gardner, after conducting negotiations for weeks with Attorney General McAllister, Secretary of State Sullivan and Treasurer Middlekamp has entered into an understanding with them that he will definitely abandon his fight on the State Board of Equalization for full value assessments and that when the Board meets Monday, he, with the three other Democratic members, will present a united front for a fraction assessment which is being prepared by Middlekamp.

As a concession to the Governor in return for his change of attitude, the three other Democrats on the Board will increase the total assesssed valuation of the State 20 per cent over the 1918 assessment, in order to increase the taxes $500,000 a year and spare the Gardner administration the humiliation of going out of office with a large deficit in the treasury

During the recent session of the Legislature it was charged openly upon the floor of the House and in the newspapers that Gardner had abandoned his tax reform program, but he persistently denied it.

Overtures Made by Governor.

According to a public official who helped conduct the negotiations between the Governor and the majority members of the State Board of Equalization, the first overtures were made by the Governor when the Legislature adjourned after appropriating $3,500,000 more than the anticipated revenues for this biennial period. A close study of the appropriations by Gardner and his advisors disclosed that it would be impossible to cut the appropriations within revenues, and the only hope lay in obtaining additional money. The only source from which such help could come is the general property tax, and that could only be increased by an increase in the assessed valuation of the State, made by the State Board of Equalization.

McAllister, Middlekamp and Sullivan, constituting a majority of the board, had defeated for two years all efforts of Gardner and Auditor Hackmann to assess property at full value, as required by the Constitution and the statutes. The majority members were severely criticised by the press and public for their attitude, while the Governor and Hackmann were praised.

Hackmann Against Plan.

Majority members of the board believed the Governor was fighting their policy because of the public approval which followed his course, and at first rejected his proposal to raise the assessment and save the administration.

They finally agreed to increase the assessment provided the Governor would "come in out of the rain," as one of them expressed it.

Auditor Hackmann told the Post-Dispatch correspondent today that he will not vote for the fractional assessment to be submitted by Middlekamp Monday, regardless of how the Governor may vote.

"A fractional assessment is not a lawful assessment, and I never will vote for one as a member of the Board of Equalization," Hackmann said.

$5000 PULITZER TROPHY AWARDED TO LOST AVIATOR

Capt. Mansell R. James, R. A. F., Declared to Be 1919 Winner, for Flight From Atlantic City to Boston.

DISAPPEARED WHILE MAKING RETURN TRIP

Committee of Aero Club of America Thanks Donors for Prize and for Aid in Search for Flyer.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Formal announcement of the award of the $5000 Pulitzer air trophy for 1919 to Capt. Mansell R. James, R. A. F., was made today in the following letter from Alan R. Hawley, president of the Aero Club of America:

June 13, 1919.—The New York World, World Building, New York City. Gentlemen: The Contest Committee of the Aero Club of America has decided that Capt. Mansell R. James, R. A. F., won the Pulitzer trophy for 1919.

Capt. James flew from Atlantic City to Boston on May 28, 1919, in a Sopwith "Camel" airplane, fitted with a 150-horsepower Bentley motor. His total elapsed time was four hours seven minutes, with a stop of 40 minutes at Mitchell Field, L. I., making his total flying time three hours 27 minutes for a distance of 240 miles. Capt. James left Atlantic City at 11:35 a. m. and reached Boston at 3:45 p. m.

Please accept our many thanks for the great aid which you have rendered to aviation by offering this trophy. We appreciate what you have done most fully, especially at this time, and we thank you for the assistance you have given in the search for Capt. James, whose loss we deeply regret. Yours very truly,

ALAN R. HAWLEY,
Chairman Contest Committee.

Terms of Pulitzer Prize.

The trophy was awarded for the best record made on a long-distance flight to or from Atlantic City during the month of May. By the terms of the gift it will be flown for each year until it has been won three times successively by the same aviator. The name of the winner each year is engraved on the trophy.

Returning from Boston, May 28, Capt. James lost his direction and landed that night at Tyringham, near Lee, Mass. He spent the night there, and on the following day set out for Atlantic City.

From that moment no word has come back from the aviator. It is now generally accepted that he has been lost. There was uncertainty on his departure from here whether he purposed stopping at Hazelhurst Field, Mineola, or would continue on to Atlantic City. He had gasoline for about a three hours' flight.

When on Saturday, three days after he left Tyringham, nothing had been heard from James, a search was started which eventually became wide. The theory was at first entertained that he had made a forced landing and perhaps lay injured in the hill country of Northwestern Connecticut.

Rewards totaling $1000 were offered for information leading to the finding of James. The search was prosecuted both by air and on the land, without results.

Traced to Near New York.

Later information led to a systematic tracing of James' flight. Reports were received indicating that he had followed the railroad tracks to the left from Canaan, Conn., and bent his course along the Naugatuck Valley. He was reported to have been seen over various villages down to Hancock, to Bethany, near New Haven, and then near Riverhead, L. I.

The last account which seemed credible came from Nassau-by-the-Sea, L. I., where he was headed out over the sea in a southwesterly direction. From this it was deduced that he was trying to make Atlantic City on a sustained flight, but by reason of faulty compass had deviated from his proper course. All the evidence points to the conclusion that he was compelled to alight on the ocean because of the exhaustion of his fuel. The single remaining hope is that, like Hawker, he has been picked up by some vessel without wireless.

CHINESE CABINET RESIGNS AND PRESIDENT HINTS HE'LL QUIT

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, June 14.—In consequence of difficulties created by the popular movement against pro-Japanese members of the Government, the Cabinet has resigned and President Hsu Shih Chang has also intimated his intention of quitting office.

It is anticipated that Parliament will decline to accept the President's resignation. This would amount virtually to a vote of confidence in the chief executive, which is needed to strengthen his fight against the militarists.

Strikes throughout the country continue. Railroad traffic is being impeded and the situation in China is awkward.

Newspapers Praise the Post-Dispatch's NC Stories

Accounts of Commanders of the Three Navy Planes That Attempted Atlantic Flight Highly Appreciated by Press Privileged to Use Them—Lauded as Sea Epics.

THE stories of the commanders of the three NC seaplanes which started from Rockaway to attempt the flight across the Atlantic from Trepassey Bay, which were obtained exclusively by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the New York World, were appreciated by other newspapers which were privileged to use them. Commander Towers, who taxied his wrecked NC-3 into port, and Lieutenant Commander Bellinger, whose NC-1 sank, wrote of the journey from Rockaway to the Azores Lieutenant Commander Read gave a thrilling narrative of his successful flight from the time he left Rockaway to the final landing at Plymouth. This is what other newspapers say about these articles:

"A Great Newspaper Enterprise," Declares Chicago Tribune.

To the Post-Dispatch and the World:

The Chicago Tribune feels immensely obliged for the chance given it by the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch to print the exclusive stories written by the flight commanders in the Transatlantic airplane flight. It was a great piece of newspaper enterprise, accomplished by a great newspaper organization, to secure these stories exclusively and the Tribune congraulates itself that it was offered the chance to publish them simultaneously with the World and the Post-Dispatch,

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE,
Chicago, Ill., June 14, 1919.

"Among Most Intensely Interesting Ever Printed."

To the Post-Dispatch and the World:

We regard the Read-Towers-Bellinger exclusive stories of their Transatlantic flight as among the most intensely interesting ever printed in a newspaper and the securing of these stories as a rare piece of newspaper genius.

THE SUN,
Baltimore, Md., June 14, 1919.

"Next in Importance to Flight Itself," Says Pittsburg Post.

To the Post-Dispatch and the World:

The flight across the Atlantic was a magnificent achievement; the story of this history-making conquest of the ocean was next in importance. The word pictures of the commanders of the seaplanes as published in the Pittsburg Post, took its readers on the Transatlantic flight almost with the thrills experienced by the crews. It was enterprise.

A. F. BRAUN,
General Manager, Pittsburg Post,
Pittsburg, Pa., June 14, 1919.

"Worthy of High Place in Historic Literature."

To the Post-Dispatch and the World:

Worthy of a high place in historic literature are the epic stories of Commander Read and his associates. They told a tremendous story in a simple way. They brought home to every man the fact that the passenger airplane is a fact, that it has left the realm of fancy We feel that our readers owe these courageous flyers double thanks for first accomplishing their flight and second for making the details of their trip available to the world at large.

T. A. ROBERTSON,
Managing Editor, Cleveland News,
Cleveland, O., June 14, 1919.

"Long, High Flight in Journalism," Says Washington Post.

To the Post-Dispatch and the World:

If the bare announcement of the successful achievement of the Transatlantic flight was big news—and it undoubtedly was, even to a world grown accustomed to events of magnitude in quick succession—what can be said of the cabled accounts giving every detail of this historic flight from beginning to end, written by the daring voyagers themselves and obtainable for the price of a newspaper, before the cheering has died away. Surely this was a long and high flight in journalism.

ARMY WORMS SAID TO BE MENACING WHEAT IN COUNTY

Farm Agent Urges Energetic Measures to Combat Propagation of Pests.

Alarming increase in the number of army worms, which were reported to be damaging St. Louis County crops by County Farm Agent Grover Kinzy last Monday, was reported at Clayton yesterday by Harry Rosenkoetter, who conducts a general store at Cross Keys, near Florissant. The worms were said to have spread over an arear of about five square miles in the vicinity of Cross Keys, and to have done damage to wheat, corn, timothy and other crops, estimated by Rosenkoetter at from $30,000 to $40,000.

Army worms have appeared in large numbers in various places in the United States in the past and have virtually destroyed the crops in the sections in which they operated. They swarm over the ground and move forward like an army, devouring all vegetation in their path. The worm is green and about an inch long.

Kinzy, who is agent for the St. Louis County Farm Bureau, said the most energetic steps should be taken to kill the worms and not permit them to develop into the moth stage to lay eggs for future swarms of the pests. He said the most effective way of combating them had been found to be the spreading of poison bait over the ground in front of their advance. The best poison, he said, i sa mash made of bran and containing paris green or arsenic, and lemon or orange juice. This should be scattered broadcast over the ground.

The farmers near Cross Keys are using the ditching method to destroy the worms. Deep furrows are run in front of the advancing worms, and when the worms reach this ditch they cannot crawl out because of the crumbling dirt. They travel along the furrows and fall into deep holes which are dug at intervals. Lime is put in the holes to kill them.

Kinzy has a bucketful of the worms in his office at Clayton and is feeding them and later will demonstrate how they go into the pupal stage and hatch out as moths.

LAST DAY TO PAY INCOME TAX

No Grace Allowed Under New Law After Tomorrow.

Tomorrow is the last day for paying second installments on your income tax.

As June 15, designated as final day of payment, falls on Sunday, officials of the Department of Internal Revenue have ruled that payments will be accepted tomorrow either in person or by mail. Persons offering payment subsequently are subject to penalty. This fact, officials say, is to be particularly noted because of the fact that 10 days of grace are not allowed as heretofore.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 14.—In an opinion written by Judge Charles B. Farris today, the Supreme Court reverses the order made by Circuit Judge Slate of Cole County in which Slate ordered Al Harty, Superintendent of Insurance, to approve the schedule of increased fire insurance rates, filed by the various companies operating in Missouri.

The application of the companies to increase their rates 10 per cent was filed with Claude Clark, actuary, who was acting Insurance Suprintendent, in March, 1918. Clark denied the application.

The companies asked that his action be reviewed by the Cole County Circuit Court. Slate appointed Judge Roy Williams of Boonville to act as commissioner and to report on the law and the facts. Williams recommended that the rates be approved and Slate adopted his report.

Attorney-General McAllister, representing the Insurance Department, showed that the proposed increase would cost the policy holders in Missouri $2,000,000 a year. He attacked the plea of the companies that they were losing money on their Missouri business and challenged them to bring from the home office of the companies the accountants who apportioned earnings and expense among the various states, and permit him to examine them on the witness stand.

The Missouri representatives promised to produce the computing authorities from the home office, but when they consulted with the heads of the companies the request was refused.

In arguing the case before the Supreme Court, Assistant Attorney-General John T. Gose attacked the right of the Circuit Court to pass upon the rates, and the court upholds his contention. Judge Farris did not discuss the merits of the case in his opinion, but reverses it upon the ground that the approval of increased rates is a matter purely within the discretion of the Insurance Superintendent.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 14.—A jury in the Circuit Court of Webster County at Marshfield today was unable to agree in the case of Charles Blackburn, a Camden County farmer, charged with the killing of J. J. Francis of Stoutland. At a former trial Blackburn was convicted and served 18 months of a life sentence. He is at liberty on $10,000 bond until the September term of court. The jury was said to stand seven for acquittal.

THIRD OF MRS. WALKER ESTATE TO CHARITIES

Negress Who Acquired $1,000,000 Bequeaths $10,000 for Mission School in Africa.

Solicitude for the welfare of her people is manifested in many ways in the will of Mrs. C. J. Walker, negress, former St. Louis washerwoman, who amassed a fortune estimated at $1,000,000 by the sale of hair and toilet preparations, according to a dispatch from Indianapolis received here yesterday. Her will was filed in the Circuit Court at that city Thursday.

Mrs. Walker's only daughter, Mrs. Leila W. Robinson, who married shortly after the death of her mother, May 25, is named as executrix. The will was drawn in May, 1917, and a codicil was added in April, 1919. One-third of her property, estimated in a schedule filed with the will as more than $1,000,000, is bequeathed to the daughter during her lifetime, to be inherited by her children at her death. The remaining two-thirds is to be divided into two equal trust funds, one of which is to be used for worthy charities, not specified, and the other for the maintenance of a villa Mrs. Walker built at Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y.

The villa is to be held by Mrs. Robinson during her life and at her death is to go to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Trustees named to manage both trust funds are: Mrs. Robinson, F. B. Branson and R. L. Brokenburr, all negroes, of Indianapolis. A bequest of $10,000 is to be used to establish an industrial and mission school on the African continent. Other bequests are: $2000 to Tuskegee Institute, Alabama; $5,000 to the Old Folks' Home; $1000 to the Colored Orphans' Home, St. Louis, and bequests ranging from $1000 to $10,000 to about 40 distant relatives and friends and from $2000 up to $5000 to employes and servants.

Mrs. Walker was reputed to have been the wealthiest negro woman in the United States. She became ill in St. Louis last Easter, while visiting C. K. Robinson, editor of the St. Louis Clarion, a newspaper for negroes.

HAYS SAYS REPUBLICANS SEEK PEACE AND REAL AMERICANISM

By the Associated Press.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 14.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the National Committee of the Republican party, in an address last night said:

"The conclusion of the treaty of peace, including all its provisions—when we know what they are—is in no sense a partisan question. It is an American question. In the same spirit in which Republicans during the recent war measured their every act by how they could contribute most to effective action, so now they are determined to meet this new phase of the war problem in that revived spirit of fervent Americanism which is the glorified result of our experience of fire and blood, moving with a full appreciation of this country's duty as a responsible factor in the world of today and tomorrow with the earnest determination to do all that can possibly be done towards the maintenance of peace without sacrificing our own supreme nationalism, the preservation of which in its integrity is the greatest safeguard for the future not only for the citizens of this country but for all peoples everywhere."

"We shall bring this Government back to the limitations of the Constitution in times of peace," said Hays.

Among other declarations were the following:

"With all our power we will strive to prevent the further spread of Socialism."

"We have promised a forward stepping as well as a forward-looking program for labor, for business and for the farmer, and those promises we will keep."

"That criminal element, organized or unorganized, called I. W. W. or anything else, that goes about this country seeking whom it can destroy—that thing is a traitor to this country, nothing else, and should be treated as such."

CALLING OFF PHONE STRIKE NOT TO END TELEGRAPH BREAK

Action in Case of Electrical Workers Follows Burleson Order Permitting Right to Organize.

CLAIMS CONFLICT ON THE SITUATION

Telegraph Officials Say Strike Is Waning; Union Leaders Declare 22,000 Are Out.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Calling off the electrical workers' strike which had been set for Monday, following an order issued by Postmaster-General Burleson permitting telephone employes the right to bargain with their employers and to organize, will only lend encouragement to the striking Commercial Telegraphers, S. J. Konenkamp, International President of the Commercial Telegrapher's Union of America, asserted tonight.

"The Commercial Telegraphers are virtually fighting for the same things that have been conceded to the Telephone workers," he said. "If this order is to be confined to the telephone companies and not extended to the telegraphers, it would be a case of creating one labor policy for the telephone companies under Government control and another for the telegraph companies. The results at Washington will not change our situation except to lend encouragement to the men on strike."

While Western Union and Postal officials say the strike is waning, with strikers returning to work daily, the union officials claim not less than 22,000 men are out and Konenkamp said tonight reports from Los Angeles and San Francisco showed large gains there as well as in Chicago. He said reported defections at Birmingham and some other points were not borne out by his advices and he expected further gains by Monday.

While union heads claim the order to union railroad telegraphers effective at 6 a. m. today not to handle commercial business had greatly aided the strike, officials of the Association Western Union Employes declared many Order of Railway Telegrapher's committeemen were divided as to obeying the order and that the majority decided to take no action.

It was also stated that the Commerial Telegraphers' Union is receiving large numbers of telegrams at its headquarters but that the facts were withheld from reports made to the press.

In reply to the latter charge, Konenkamp said he had received only five telegrams by Western Union in three days and that three of them were fake messages.

The headquarters of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers in St. Louis also announced that reports indicated the order to refuse commercial business had been carried out by the 80,000 members of that organization.

Strike of Electrical Workers Is Called Off.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Orders calling off the threatened strike Monday of electrical workers were issued tonight by J. P. Noonan, after issuance of orders by Postmaster-General Burleson granting employes of telephone companies the right to bargain collectively.

Besides establishing the right of employes to deal with telephone companies either as individuals or collectively, Postmaster-General Burleson "order requires companys to deal with representatives of employes who are not themselves employed by the company concerned, if they have ever had that policy in the past. The right to organize or to affiliate with organization that seem to them best calculated to serve their interests," is further confirmed for employes and companies are forbidden to discharge, demote or discriminate against workers for so organizing.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 14.—Official notice to the effect that Postmaster-General Burleson had issued an order granting the employes of the telephone companies the right to bargain individually or collectively and to organize or affiliate with organizations in order to serve their interests, was received tonight by Secretary Charles P. Ford, secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Ford said that the strike order calling off the strike would be sent out Monday from union headquarters here.

Ford made the following statement: "We desire to advise all members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers that press dispatches stating that a settlement had been reached on the telephone difficulty is authentic. We take this means of informing all members to remain at work as usual Monday. An official letter advising of the terms of settlement will be mailed to all local unions Monday. The managements of the telephone and telegraph companies have conceded to all our demands."

LAW TO CURB RADICALS RECOMMENDED BY SENATE COMMITTEE ON BOLSHEVISM

Investigators in Report Urge Statute Similar to Espionage Act to Control Anarchy and Violence.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Radicalism, lawlessness and violence in American and Bolshevism as exemplified by soviet rule in Russia were denounced in a report made public today by the Senate Judiciary Sub-Committee which made an exhaustive investigation of these and other subjects during the last session of Congress. The report will be presented to the Senate Monday.

Recommendations by the sub-committee for legislation included:

A permanent law similar to the war-time espionage act designed to "control forces of anarchy and violence" and "adequately protect our national sovereignty and our established institutions."

Strict regulation of the manufacture, distribution and possession of high explosives.

Regulation of "mushroom organizations" and special interests which propagate "notions of Government, sociology, benevolence or what not."

Control and regulation of foreign language publications.

Newspaper Identification.

More specific identification of newspaper interests, by amendment, and broadening of the law requiring publishers to report their ownership, editors, creditors, circulation and other facts to the Postoffice Department.

Strengthening of the corrupt practices act regarding special contributions, existing state and Federal laws being declared "entirely inadequate to meet present day methods."

The report comprised nearly 25,000 words and was signed by the full subcommittee, Senators Overman, North Carolina, chairman; King, Utah, and Wolcott, Delaware, Democrats; and Nelson, Minnesota and Sterling, South Dakota, Republicans.

Broadly, the report dealt with these main subjects—investigation of which was ordered by the Senate—Bolshevism, pro-German propaganda, both before and after the United States entered the war and the political activities of the brewery and liquor interests.

Activities of German-agents and sympathizers and of the liquor interests were severely arraigned, but the committee made no specific recommendations other than those relating to better identification of newspaper interests and the strengthening of the corrupt practices act.

In a general statement prefacing its legislative recommendations, the committee said its investigation disclosed "certain well defined abuses, prejudicial to the best interests of the nation and calculated to undermine and destroy our form of Government.

Activities Startling.

"The activities brought to the attention of the committee," says the report, "are so startling that we believe the real advantage of the inquiry will be lost unless Congress profits from the knowledge thus obtained by undertaking appropriate legislation to make impossible a repetition of these activities by those whose activities are still continuing, or by others who at some future time may seek to undermine the Government or pervert the popular will by adoption of similar methods against which the Federal statutes seem to provide no adequate safeguard."

Bolshevism was excoriated in the report as a "dictatorship of class" and a "direct challenge" to christianity and civilization; "a tyrany of autocracy" in America the committee declared, it is "a slogan of the elements of unrest, and discontent."

What the committee characterized as "parlor bolshevism" also are aiding the propaganda, the report said, while "well meaning persons have been deceived" into advocacy of bolshevism in this country.

In co-operation with the revolutionary elements the report says "destruction of existing social and governmental institutions by violent methods is being promoted."

Urging a peace time law as substitute for the espionage act, the committee said:

"Today the forces of anarchy and violence are utilizing the financial resources plundered by them from the European people they have succeeded in exploiting, to import into this country, money, literature, and hired agents for the purpose of promulgating the doctrine of force, violence, assassination, confiscation and revolution. "More responsible than alien element," the committee declared are the naturalized Americans in the movement.

Pro-German Propaganda.

The portion of the report dealing with pro-German propaganda gave a detailed history of acts of organizations and individuals, including former German Ambassador von Bernstorff, former Austrian Ambassador Dumba, Dr. Heinrich Albert, Dr. Bernard Dernberg, Capt. von Papen, Capt. Boy-Ed, Franz Rintelen, David Lamar, Dr. Rumely, Jeremiah O'Leary, George Sylvester Viereck, Herman Ridder, Wm. Bayard Hale; the German-American Alliance, the American Embargo Conference American Truth Society, the Sons of Herman, and the Krieges-Bunds.

"It is evidence," said the committee, "that certain branches of the Lutheran church were particularly active in defending the German cause during our period of neutrality, not only by means of religious teachings, but by work through secular societies, especially the subsidiary organizations of the German-American Alliance."

The American association of foreign language newspapers, embracing about six or seven hundred newspapers, published in 30 languages, the report also stated, circulated pro-German articles.

Regarding other newspapers, the report added:

"Man yEnglish newspapers, both before and for months after America entered the war, persisted to create a popular prejudice against the war and against effectual action on the part of the Untied States."

Irish-American and Jewish-American were among organizations in the propaganda, the reported asserted, adding that it be difficutl to write full history of ramifications of pro-German propaganda.

The "most important and far-reaching" of the efforts of the German Government and tis sympathizers was said to have been the American Embargo Conference, which the committee said, was directed by Wm. Bayard Hale, who, it was charged, then was in the employ of the German Government.

Brewery Interests.

Brewery and other liquor interests activities were arraigned by the committee, which said the record "clearly established the following facts:

"(a) That they have furnished large sums of money for the purpose of secret control from the newspapers and periodicals.

"(B) That they have undertaken to and have frequently succeeded in controlling primaries, elections and political organizations.

"(C) That they have contributed enormous sums of money to political campaigns in violation of the Federal statutes and the statutes of several of the states.

"(D) That they have exacted pledges from candidates for public office prior to the election.

"(E) That for the purpose of influencing public opinion they have attempted and partly succeeded in subsidizing the public press.

"(F) That to suppress and coerce persons hostile to and to compel support for them they have resorted to an extensive system of boycotting unfriendly American manufacturing and mercantile concerns.

"(G) That they have created their own political organization in many states and in smaller political units for the purpose of carrying into effect their own political will and have financed the same with larger contributions and assessments.

Contributions to Alliance.

"(H) That with a view of using it for their own political purposes they contributed large sums of money to the German-American Alliance, many of the memberships of which were disloyal and unpatriotic.

"(I) That they organized clubs, leagues, corporations of various kinds for the purpose of secretly carrying on their political activities without having their interests known to the public.

"(J) That they improperly treated the funds expended for political purposes as a proper expenditure of their business and consequently failed to return the same for taxation under the revenue laws of the United States.

LABOR PLANS CRUSHING BLOW AT RADICALS

Federation Proposes Summary Action Against Bolshevistic Propagandists in America.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 14.—Vital problems confronting organized labor in its reconstruction program will come before the convention of the American Federation of Labor next week. With minor matters and routine business out of the way, the delegates will be able to devote their time to consideration of plans designed to advance the position of American workingmen and women and improve conditions generally.

Of premier importance was the action to crush Bolshevism and the plans of Bolshevists to enlist labor in their cause.

Taking their cue from Secretary of Labor Wilson, who, in an address yesterday warned against "the revolutionary plans of a misguided few," many delegates plan not only to kill resolutions offered by some of the radical element, but to take such action as will make it absolutely clear that organized labor in America is entirely out of cympathy with their schemes. It is promised that the action taken will make it plain that workingmen and women in the United States are satisfied with their own form of Government and that the thing they least desire is the soviet.

Many Radical Resolutions.

There are a number of rather radical resolutions now in the committees, and the guiding hands of the convention want to get them out in the open as quickly as possible, so that their sponsors can see for themselves just what the solid bulk of American labor thinks of them. Spirited debates, however, may be expected.

While passage of the resolution providing for the organization of negroes and their formation into separate units where all white unions refuse to admit them was brought about principally by the desire of the federation to enlist negroes in the organization, it was imterpreted today as being also a blow at the radicals.

Negroes, according to labor leaders, who have been dealing with them for years, are the most conservative element in all the unions into which they have been taken. Radicals nowhere, it is said, have been able to make the slightest headway among negro workers.

The espionage law and proposals to urge its repeal also will come up for early discussion.

A half dozen resolutions on this subject are now in committees. It is now expected these will be the cause of considerable debate because of resentment the law engendered.

Espionage Law Denounced.

This sentiment appears to be best expressed in a resolution put in by J. M. Barnes of the Cigar Markers' Union, which asserts that thousands of Americans citizens are now incarcerated under the law termed "war-time measure, for exercising their right for free speech, free press, and free assemblages or for other industrial activity on behalf of the working class."

The resolution "demands from the Federal authorities the re-establishment and maintenance of American political and civil rights, free speech, free press and free assemblage."

It also "demands the immediate release of all persons in the United States prosecuted or imprisoned for political opinions, industrial activities, and religious beliefs."

Consideration of the plans for Government operation of the railroads, as fostered by the railroad brotherhoods of the country, is expected to occupy considerable time during the coming week. Advocates favoring the resolution believe that adoption by the Federation would go a long way toward bringing about realization of the plan.

So great was the number of resolutions submitted during the first week of the convention that the various committees have not been able to consider them. None was taken up today. The committees will work all day tomorrow and by Monday morning it is expected their work except for presentation of the measures to the convention, will be completed.

O. R. T. DECLARED TO BE AIDING STRIKERS

Members Said to Be Transmitting Virtually No Commercial Messages.

The Order of Railway Telegraphers, members of which in the United States and Canada handle commercial as well as railroad messages in about 23,000 towns, is steadfast in its refusal to handle commercial busines, as an act of sympathy in the strike of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, and has complied with the order not to do so after 6 a. m. yesterday, according to H. J. Mohler, general chairman of the Missouri Pacific division, O. R. T., and chairman of a joint committee of the two unions to handle the strike in the southwestern district, which practically corresponds with the Southwestern Region, U. S. Railroad Administration.

"The railway telegraphers have absolutely complied with the order, and there has been no commercial business handled since 6 a. m. yesterday, in accordance with the order," Mohler said last night. He added that there might be a few remote points which had not yet been officially notified, but these were expected to cease the handling of commercial business soon.

"This applies to all the country west of the Mississippi River," he said. "I have no Eastern wires except the Baltimore & Ohio, which division's chairman reports that no commercial messages are being handled. I am sure all commercial messages going through railroad offices have ceased everywhere. This applies to 80,000 operators in the United States and Canada."

Mohler said that the railroad men had nothing to lose in refusing to handle commercial work, except labor, and that they had long desired to be rid of the extra work involved in sending business telegrams. He said that the only income the railway operators derived from the extra work came to the manager of each office, who is one of the three operators working during the 24 hours a day. The manager, he said, received 10 per cent on all receipts, about 35 per cent of all business being cash, so that the manager received about 3½ per cent on the total volume.

A. E. Laisure, general chairman of the Southern Pacific division, O. R. T., with headquarters at Houston, Tex., passed through St. Louis yesterday, coming from Baltimore on the Pennsylvania Railroad. He said that operators belonging to the O. R. T., both in the East and on the way to St. Louis, assured him that they would handle no commercial business after 6 a. m. yesterday.

Mohler said that E. J. Manion, national president of the O. R. T., who is at Atlantic City attending the convention of the American Federation of Labor, telephones to St. Louis headquarters about twice a day, and gives assurance that the order to the railway telegraphers will be complied with.

Mohler said he thought the refusal of the railway men to handle commercial business would reach the height of its force tomorrow.

4 HELD WHO CALLED FOR TRUCK'S STOLEN CARGO

St. Louis Goods Valued at $6000 Recovered at Festus, Mo., in a Warehouse.

Four men from this city who called for a quantity of merchandise which had been stolen from a truck here five days ago and carted in an auto truck to Festus, Mo., where it was placed in storage, were arrested yesterday and were given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Segrist at Festus on a charge of being fugitives from St. Louis. They were brought to St. Louis last night in custody of detectives and are held pending further investigation.

The prisoners described themselves as Maurice Hyman, 39 years old, 1410 Glasgow avenue, and his brother, Isadore, 34, 2908 Sheridan avenue; Sam Weiss, 19, 2915 Dayton street, and Joseph Smith, 18, 3616 Evans avenue. The merchandise, valued at $6000, also was brought back. It consists of 12 cases of shoes, three cases of cotton goods, calicoes and other dress material.

The property disappeared from a truck of the Noble Express Co., which was standing at Twelfth street and Lucas avenue. Three days later Police headquarters was notified that goods of the description of the stolen property had been put in storage at Festus by three men, who took it there on a truck, and detectives were sent there to investigate, accompanied by H. E. Engel, president of the Associated Team & Truck Owners of St. Louis

When the four men now under arrest called for the property they were taken in custody. C. K. Duff, proprietor of the storage house, identified the two Hymans and Weiss as being the three who had placed the goods with him.

On the way to Festus the detectives and Engel learned that a telephone call had been made at Herculaneum, Mo., to someone in Festus, asking that preparation be made to receive the property. In Justice Segrist's court yesterday Engel, wishing to ascertain if someone was operating a "fence" at Festus for stolen goods, asked Maurice Hyman the name of the party to whom the telephone message was sent. "That's none of your business," replied Hyman. For this insolence Engel struck Hyman in the face. Hyman's lawyer threatened to swear out a warrant against Engel for assault, to which the latter replied he was willing to pay a fine, "if that's the way you do business here."

The lawyer changed his mind, and did not ask for a warrant. Engel's association was organized to run down thieves who steal from trucks.

In the holdover last night the Elder Hyman at first said he was hired by a man to take the goods to Festus. Later he said some one put the goods on his truck without his knowing it.

A dispatch from Festus states that when the three men arrived there they told the storage proprietor that their truck would not pull the load it had and they left the contents with him. Later another customer who was arranging to store some goods in the same place saw the St. Louis merchandise and it aroused his suspicion. He reported to Constable H. A. Pratte, who, after investigation, notified the St. Louis Chief of Police. The four men who were arrested drove into Festus yesterday in two trucks. They were caught in the warehouse as they were getting the goods.

Cardinals Reach Fifth Place With 11-Round Victory

Four Hits in Final Frame Sent Shotton Over With Deciding Run in 2 to 1 Game.

MILLER AND STOCK STAR

Former Sends Over Winning Marker, While Latter Ties Count in Ninth Inning.

A single by Jack Miller, the fourth straight of the round, before a batter had been retired in the eleventh inning of yesterday's contest with the Superbas, gave the Cardinals a 2—1 victory and their second objective—fifth place.

Rickey's charges put over the tieing run in the ninth inning, after the Dodgers had held a 1—0 lead from the very first round, when the first two batters to face Tuero produced a run. Despite the fact that the Cardinals have been playing winning baseball, a crowd of only about 5500 turned out.

Of the quartet of bingles for the Knotholers in the eleventh yesterday, one of them—the first—was a double. However, the second was more of a gift, Ames being credited with a bingle when Pfeffer threw to third to catch Shotton, who ran for Clemons. The latter, however, did not move off the pivot station.

Ames Credited With Win.

Leon Kalamity Ames, who hurled the final two rounds, and did not permit a Dodger to reach first, is credited with the victory. Ames replaced Oscar Tuero, the Cuban, after a pinch-hitter had failed to hit for the Cuban in the ninth. In trimming the Superbas, which incidentally was the tenth straight reverse for Robinson, the Cards stopped Jeff Pfeffer for the second time this year.

Up to the ninth inning, Pfeffer twirled sensational ball. Only three safeties had been made off his delivery, Hornsby singling in the second, Miller in the fourth and Stock in the seventh. However, in the last three, six hits were made off him.

Starting the Cardinals' half of the ninth, Schultz, for Tuero, went out. Jack Smith, however, singled and swiped second. Miller failed, but Milton Stock, one of the best pinch-hitters on the Cardinal team, put a safety in right, which sent Smith over with the run that knotted the count.

Shower of Hits Win Game.

However, this was nothing compared to the eleventh, when a veritable shower of hits landed victory for the Cards. Clemons started the round with a double, and Shotton ran for him. Ames tapped to Pfeffer and when the latter threw to third to get Shotton, who remained glued to the pivot station, the hurler earned a hit. Smith singled filling the sacks, and then Miller came through with an "ace" that broke up the battle.

The Dodgers tallied their lone run in the first, when Olson, first up, singled and Johnston doubled against the right field wall, driving in the short stop. After that Tuero held the Superbas to three hits in the next eight rounds.

Goodwin to Hurl Today.

Marvin Goodwin, the righthander, is scheduled to oppose the Superbas in the second game of the series this afternoon. He will, without a doubt, draw Leon Cadore as his opponent. The game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

Cards Playing Great Ball.

The Cardinals have played great ball since their return home Memorial day. Of the 16 games that have been contested, the Knot Holers have won 12 for a winning percentage of .750. Against the Eastern clubs, the count is eight victories against one defeat.

Smith Turns Feature Play.

Jack Smith, the Cardinals' speedy rightfielder, turned the feature fielding play of the contest in the seventh inning when he ran to the right field wall for Malone's line drive. Had the ball gotten away it would have been a sure extra base hit.

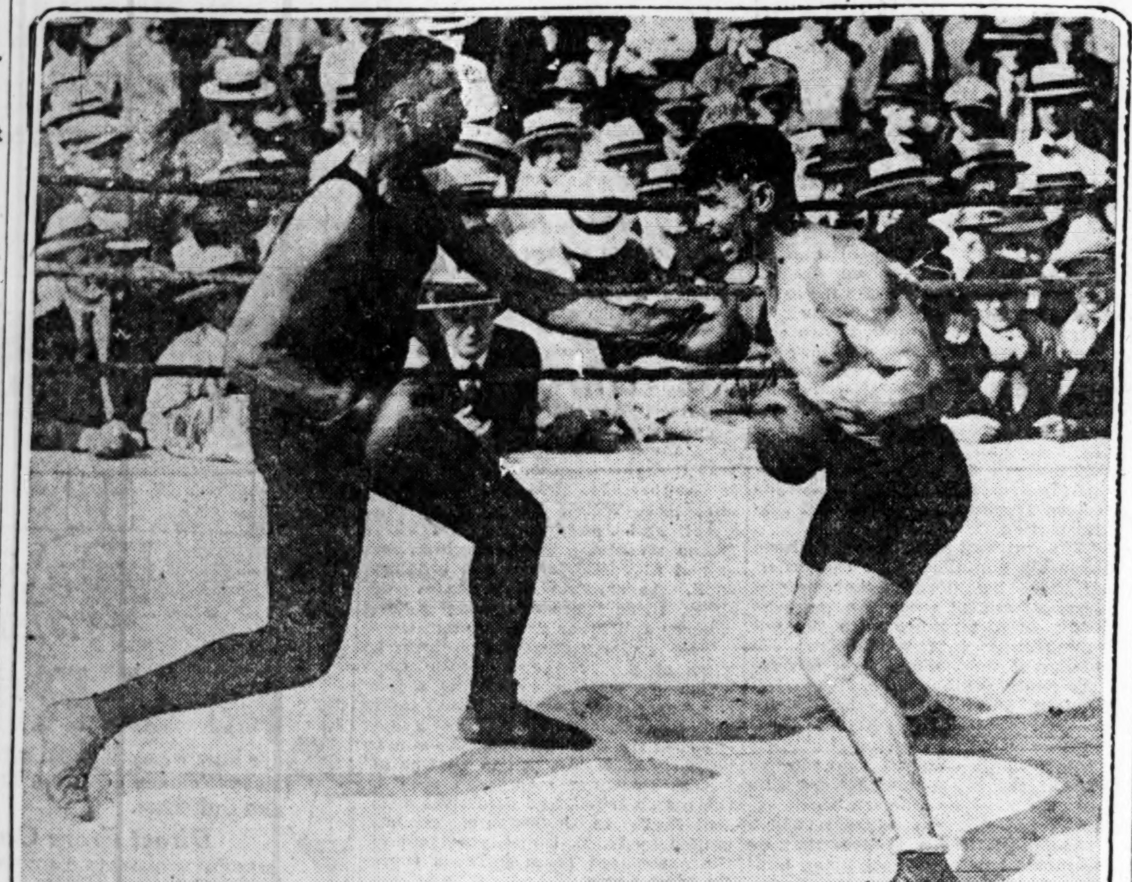
Dempsey Boxing With Giant Negro Bill Tate at Toledo



This picture illustrates Dempsey's wide open guard, through which Tate has little trouble delivering a left lead and occasionally a right uppercut, as Dempsey closes in, head down. Dempsey's head defense is very poor, both Jamaica Kid and Tate frequently landing solid blows there.

Jack Dempsey Surpasses Willard in All Essentials Except Courage and Tonnage

Youth, Speed, Condition and Temperament All Favor Challenger in Contest at Toledo, July 4 — Problem Is to Find Out if Size Nullifies All These.

By John E. Wray
Sporting Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

EXCEPT among those personally attached to Jess Willard, there appears to exist a general desire to have Jack Dempsey win the world's championship. Probing a little, one may locate the principal reason for this in the general belief that Jess will not defend the title, if he retains it, but will sit down on the throne and keep others off. On the other hand, Dempsey, being still young and fired with zeal and desire for glory, will, it is thought, defend his honors annually, if he is victor over the champion.

This foreview is founded on the statement Willard made to a Post-Dispatch reporter to the effect that as soon as the fight was over he would hurry back to his oil fields and resume the easy picking there. At the age of 36 it is not likely that he will leave his easy chair and ample fortune to undertake the rigors of another training period.

Dempsey, on the other hand, has made it plain that he intends to go forward with his pugilistic career; and to him, therefore, the followers of the game look to furnish elements of future pugilistic interest. Win or lose, Dempsey is the best prospect on the heavyweight horizon today and, barring an accident, whether Willard's sun sets July 4 or later, Dempsey will one day be champion.

When it comes to naming the July 4 winner, however, few experts on the ground here will commit themselves. In fact, the uncertainties attending the coming fight are so many that opinions as to the result are mainly founded on prejudice, not hard and fast conviction.

Looking over the two men, after digesting the impressions gained, one might catalogue various points concerning the rivals about as follows:

	DEMPSEY.	WILLARD.
Condition	At his very best	Still flabby
Punch	Dangerous as T N T	Powerful, but slow
Speed	Fast of hand and foot	Ponderous, sluggish
Mentality	Good average	Superior and mature
Fighting spirit	Brimful of it	Passive save when stung
Endurance	Unknown	Fine, when in shape
Ambition	Likes to fight	Likes the money
Temperament	Boyishly cheerful	Calmly agreeable
Age	Twenty-three	Thirty-five

The summary apears to show a heavy advantage in favor of Dempsey, who combines condition, youth, speed, power and fighting instinct as advantages in which he outstrips his prospective foe. Willard's size is the only outstanding known advantage he possesses.

Willard Owns Crushing Blow.

Whether Dempsey's speed will carry him within Willard's guard and enable him to sap that ponderous machine's terrible power before it crushes him, is a question for the daring to guess. There is no doubt that, if Willard does land, it will be attended with serious results. He has even greater power to punish than Dempsey.

In this connection is a bit of seemingly contradictory evidence. A Toledo photographer took 20 photos of Dempsey boxing and was able to snap him satisfactorily, almost every time. With Willard, in a score of attempts, he was unable to obtain a single suitable impression registering the blow as it was delivered. His theory is that Willard does not betray his intention to hit, as Dempsey does, and therefore the blow has started and finished before the camera man can release the shutter.

Those thrown in contact with the fighters cannot but notice the wide difference in their nature and temperament. Dempsey, a 23-year-old power plant, is as kiddish as a boy. He delights to play pranks, swim, laugh and cut up. Whatever he goes into is done with surprising energy and faithfulness. His workouts exemplify this thoroughness and he tears into the exercisers with the same vim as he might go after Willard himself. There is nothing of the grandstand about Jack. Straightforward and conscientious, nothing is done for its effect on the onlookers, but only for net results to himself.

Champion a Commercial Champion.

Willard is deliberate and ponderous, but amiable and pleasant to all. Each day he spends several hours in the lobby of the Secor Hotel buried in a lounging chair where, after dictating the substance of his daily syndicated story to the press, he holds an informal levee. In conversation he displays intelligence of an unusual order and he seems of a higher mentality than Dempsey who LIVES fight, morning, noon and night, while Willard talks fight for commercial reasons solely. His conversation is nearly all in serious vein, whereas Dempsey likes to jest and joke.

It takes but a short acquaintance to tab the fact that Dempsey is the fighting animal of the two. Willard, however, has all the deliberation and determination that make for a stayer.

FOUR-OARED RACE WILL FEATURE CENTURY MEET

An open four-oared race for the Century trophy in which all the clubs in the local harbor have been asked to enter crews, will be the feature event of the annual spring regatta of the Century Boat Club this afternoon. Another open event is the junior barge race for the Harold J. Barker trophy.

Two other races, a barge in which the Western Rowing Club Millionaires and Century Boat Club Pickups will tangle and a war canoe race also are on the program. The first event will be started at 4 o'clock.

MOORE SAILS FOR BOUT WITH WILDE ON JULY 17

NEW YORK, June 14.—Pal Moore, bantamweight pugilist of Memphis, Tenn., and his manager, Nate Lewis of Chicago, sailed from here for England today on the Steamship Mauretania. Moore is matched to meet the English flyweight champion, Jimmy Wilde, in London on July 17 in a 20-round bout, the weight limit being 116 pounds.

Few Championships of Present Time Fought in Regulation Rings

ANNOUNCEMENT that the Willard-Dempsey title contest would be held in a 20-foot "ring" surprised few followers of the game. Practically none of the championships fought today take place in the regulation 24-foot "ring" prescribed by the Marquis of Queensberry code. The 20-foot dimension agreed to by the principals in the coming contest is larger than the average roped square used today in title fights.

A measurement of the various "rings" in the country would probably disclose an average of about 16 feet within the ropes, which is considerably ample for everything except a marathon race.

The ring used at the Coliseum here is 16 feet, inside dimensions; while the one used by the Rialto Club at the Odeon, on the occasion of its last show, was not over 15 feet and appeared less.

Cicotte Wins His 8th Straight Game

Veteran Chicago Righthander Beats Mackmen, 6 to 3, in 14 Innings.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Eddie Cicotte won his eighth straight game and his twelfth game of the season today when Chicago gathered in three runs on a base on balls, two hits, a fielder's choice and a muff at the plate and a sacrifice fly in the fourteenth inning, and beat the Athletics 6 to 3. Kid Gleason was presented with a diamond stick pin by admirers. Roth hit three doubles. Score:

Champion to Ask Mrs. Willard to Witness Contest

Title-Holder Is Confident That He Will Defeat Challenger on July 4.

THERMOMETER AT 110

Extreme Heat Causes Both Fighters to Do Very Little Work at Camps.

TOLEDO, O., June 14.—With street thermometers registering 110 degrees, Jess Willard decided today to eliminate road work from his training program and the champion, because of the intense heat, confined his workout to six rounds of boxing and the usual limbering up exercises. He displayed his ring wares to more than 1000 persons, traveling three rounds with Jack Hempel and three with Walter Monahan.

Willard also tossed the heavy medicine ball, tugged at the weights, wrestled and shadow boxed before calling it a day.

The champion apparently is so confident that he will triumph over Jack Dempsey when they meet in their heavyweight championship contest July 4 that he said tonight that he intended to ask Mrs. Willard if she cared to witness the match. This move on the part of the champion, boxing experts said, is the real test of his confidence because, they said, he would not think of permitting his wife to witness the spectacle if he thought he would be defeated.

Dempsey did not do any work with the gloves today because of his injured eye, but he exercised before 1100 paid admissions. The challenger's workout was very light. He punched the bag for a round, shadow boxed and then jumped into the cooling water of Maumee Bay for a swim. Dempsey said he did not intend to do any serious boxing for a week, but Manager Kearns may allow him to step a couple of tame rounds tomorrow if the crowd insists. The camp arena has been enlarged to accommodate a crowd of 5000 persons tomorrow.

Manager Kearns announced that Billy Miske, the St. Paul light heavyweight would join Dempsey's staff of sparring partners for seven or eight days, starting a week from tomorrow. It is Kearn's idea to give Dempsey some real fighting before the challenger steps into the ring with Willard. Kearns is giving Miske $1500 and expenses for his services. Miske once fought Dempsey and had him fairly even.

Jack Heinen, a Chicago heavyweight was scheduled to join Willard's camp today, replacing Sailor Ketchel, but his arrival was delayed until tomorrow. The Chicagoan is a clever boxer and revels in exchanging punches.

CLANCY WORKING HARD FOR TUESDAY'S BATTLE; CHIP IS DUE TOMORROW

Bud Clancy, the local middleweight, who recently returned from overseas duty in France, is working hard for his coming battle with Former Champion George Chip, whom he boxes at the Coliseum here, Tuesday night. Clancy is training daily with Fred Nelson and Charley Stapp, two husky welterweights, who have been gaining fame in recent contests here and in the vicinity.

Clancy is in splendid condition and seldom has looked so rugged or in such fine boxing fettle as at present. The other bouts on Tuesday's card are Billy Cole vs. Johnny Underwood and Arb Jolly vs. Nick Kube. Kube was champion of his naval district and holds a belt emblematic of his championship victory.

PESEK IS WINNER IN MATCH WITH ZBYSZKO

GORDON, Neb., June 14.—Four thousand wrestling fans saw Joe Pesek defeat Zybszko, one fall in two hours 3 minutes and 15 seconds today. The match was evenly contested for one hour, after which Pesek went behind and stayed there until the final fall.

Just before the end Zbyszko made a desperate effort to get away and Pesek, picked him up bodily and threw him heavily to the mat, Zbyszko landing on his head and neck. He was so badly dazed that he was an easy victim to head scissors and wrist lock.

The Gordon Athletic directors made an offer of $50,000 for a match between Pesek and Earl Caddock, champion of the world, to take place in Madison Square Garden.

INDIANS DEFEAT RUTH IN 13 INNINGS, 3 TO 2

BOSTON, June 14.—Cleveland took today's 13-inning game from Boston, 3 to 2, singles by Wambsganss, Johnston, Bagby and Chapman putting across two runs in the thirteenth for the visitors. Two passes, a wild pitch, a sacrifice hit and a sacrifice fly, gave Cleveland one run in the third. With two out in the ninth, Ruth singled and scored on McInnis' triple, tying the score. In the home half of the thirteenth Hooper singled with one out and scored on Ruth's infield out. McInnis singled, but Schang was out. Score:

Double Steal by Burns and Young Wins for Giants, 1 to 0.

CHICAGO, June 14.—New York shut out Chicago in the first game of the series today, 1 to 0. With one out and Toney on first base, Burns grounded to Pick, whose throw to Kilduff forced Toney, but left Burns, a fast man, on first. The hit-and-run play followed and Pick, running to cover second, left an opening through which Young singled, sending Burns to third. A double steal followed, and Burns scored before Pick's return of Killefer's throw. Score:

WESTERN ROWING CLUB PLANS TO HOLD RIVER SWIM AGAIN THIS YEAR

At a meeting of the Western Rowing Club, it was definitely decided to continue the policy of the past few years and stage the 5-mile handicap river swim, it was announced yesterday by Johnny Joachim. For a while it was thought that the hardships worked on the organization by the war and the expected decrease in revenues July 1, would cause a cancellation of this feature.

The officials of the club will name a date for the swim after the Central States Rowing Association makes known its regatta plans. These are expected to be announced at a meeting tomorrow night.

There also is a possibility that another swim will be held here this season, promoted by the Municipal Athletic Association, it was stated by Rodowe Abeken.

THERE is no use in jokin'
About the 6-cent token,
The nickel is in our midst to stay.
For the high-priced legal minions
Soak 'em good for their opinions
For which the dear old public has to pay.

There's a little 6-cent token,
There's a leather strap that's broken,
There's a guy who parked his brogan on my toes.
There are words of acrimony,
There's a fist that's hard and boney,
There's a duffer with a badly battered nose.

There's a mob of people waiting
While the car they are berating
They've been standing there since half-past eight o'clock.
There's a passing thunder shower
And a street car every hour
For there seems to be a dearth of rolling stock.

There's a wagon that is laden
With coal en route to Baden,
But the driver fears the coal will turn to slack;
Oh, the coal is badly needed,
But, delivery can't be speeded,
As a Broadway car precedes it on the track.

There's a strong and husky fellow
Quite young but sad to tell, oh,
He's riding north on Union avenue;
When he makes the cemetery
He'll be old enough to bury,
So he bid his wife and child a fond adieu.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Lacking both spirit and George Sisler, the last-named deficiency probably being responsible for the first, the Browns lost to league-leading Yankees this afternoon for the first time this season, 7 to 2. Herb Thormahlen was that much better than Allen Sothoron and Wright, who succeeded him. Ideal weather conditions brought out an attendance of 22,000.

Sisler sat in a field box with a badly swollen eye and wearing blue spectacles. He was hit in the optic yesterday at Philadelphia during practice. The eye swelled last night and was almost closed this morning. It is doubtful whether he will be in the game for several days.

Tobin Makes Costly Error.

The Browns never had a chance today. They were on the defensive from the first and with Jacobson the official target, the infield seemed slow even by comparison with Miller Huggins' ponderous inner-defense men. Johnny Tobin scored both runs and drove out a home run into the right field stands in the fourth inning, but he also committed a very costly wild throw in the seventh. A wild eighth inning, a hitting jamboree in which the Yanks indulged at Wright's expense, put the game on ice for Hug's men.

Pratt's Hitting Featured.

Pratt's single and Bodie's triple after two were out in the second inning gave New York first blood. Tobin squared it by poling one for the circuit in the fourth after Gedeon had been retired.

Baker opened the seventh with a single. Lewis sacrificed and Pratt singled, scoring Baker, and took second and third on a weird throw by Tobin. Bodie singled and Pratt galloped over the plate.

Yankees Pound Wright.

In the eighth, the Browns' battery became Wright and Severeid. It was a corking battery, the pair succeeding in hitting a host of Yankee bats. Thormahlen, the pitcher, singled, Vick tripled, scoring the big youngster. Peck's pop fly fell safely behind second, Vick scoring. Baker popped to Austin, but Lewis doubled, sending Peck to third. Wright deflected Pipp's smash to Gedeon, who got Wallie at first, Peck meanwhile tallying. Lewis scored when Pratt laid his third safe hit at Smith's feet in center.

The Browns' rally in the ninth was feeble. Gedeon skied to Bodie. Tobin walked and stole as Demmitt fanned. Jacobson singled to right and Tobin counted.

Eight Teams Will Play in Olympic Cup Match Today

St. Louis Quartet Is Favored to Win Over Sunset Hill Country Club Links.

PRACTICE SCORES GOOD

Paul Gardner, One of Chicago Entrants, Turns in Card of 71 for 18 Holes.

Preliminaries to the 20th annual Western Amateur Golf Association tournament will start today over the Sunset Hill Golf Club course with low-medalist play for the Olympic Cup, a trophy offered for the first time in 1904 by Murray Carleton, of St. Louis, and played for every year since, 1918 excepted. Eight teams representing golf districts only, with four men to compose a team, will compete for the trophy.

The Olympic Cup record score is 658 for 36 holes, made by the California Golf Association team in 1916. Today's play, however, because of the W. G. A. qualifying round tomorrow, will be shortened to 18 holes. This, along wtih the fact that the cup is being played for on a Sunday, goes in the face of all precedent, but Western Association chiefs feel that the coming together of the Trans-Mississippi and Western tournaments justifies their radical steps.

The Chicago team, composed of Warren K. Wood, Donald Edwards (low medalist in Olympic play in 1917), Paul Gardner and Kenneth Burns will defend the trophy, as they won it at the last Western tournament in 1917. Names of many famous golfers appear on the other teams. Harry Legg is playing for the Western Golf Association; Nelson Whitney, the newly-made Transmississippi champion, is competing for the Southern Association, and Sam Reynolds appears with the Nebraska Association team.

St. Louis Four Is Favored.

The St. Louis quartet, including Chris Kinney, Roger Lord, Clarence Wolff and Stuart Stickney, has an edge because of the familiarity of the members with the Sunset Hill course, although a 71 card turned in by Gardner of the Chicago District and a 73 by Edwards of the same team indicates that the local four will not have an easy task.

Contestants will be paired, and may play at any time during the day. The teams are as follows:

ST. LOUIS G. A.—Chris Kenney, Clarence Wolff, Stuart Stickney, Roger Lord.

TRANSMISSISSIPPI—Jim Nugent, E. C. Sullivan, J. D. Cady, R. E. Knepper.

MISSOURI G. A.—James Manion, J. L. Johnston, Eddie Limberg, E. R. McClelland.

CHICAGO DISTRICT—Warren Wood, Donald Edwards, Kenneth Burns, Paul Gardner.

WESTERN GOLF ASSOCIATION—J. K. Wadley, John Simpson, Harry Legg, A. M. Parry.

MICHIGAN G. A.—Wylie W. Carhart, J. D. Standish, C. G. Waldo, Edwin J. Dayton.

NEBRASKA G. A.—J. W. Hughes, Sam Reynolds, Blaine Young, B. G. Guinand.

SOUTHERN G. A.—Nelson Whitney, Ruben Bush, James Bush, Henry Heyburn.

Gardner Turns in a 71.

For the last three days, the Sunset Hill course has been played over by many golfers. Trans-Mississippians eliminated from trophy play, if they intended staying for the Western, practiced in order to grow accustomed to the hazards of that course.

Yesterday afternoon, especially, the course was crowded with players looking forward to the coming week. Probably the prize foursome of yesterday's play was one including Don Edwards, low medalist of the 1917 Western Tournament, Paul Gardner, a runnerup in the last Midlothian championships; Eddie Limberg, Sunset Hill, and James Bush, who has been a figure in Southern tournaments for many years. Gardner's card gave him a 32 going and a 39 coming in for a total of 71. Don Edwards was one stroke higher with 72, while Limberg turned a 75. Bush kept no score, as it was his first trip over the course.

Other cards of interest yesterday showed a 76 for Eliot Evans, a brother of the famous "Chick;" a 73 for Sam Reynolds, 72 for James Nngent and an 80 for Jack Hughes.

To an experienced golfer, the Sunset course is very fast. Drives bounce several feet in the air from the hard baked clay, and the greens are nothing short of racy. Temporary tees were used yesterday to save the new ones for play tomorrow and during the week.

De Palma Breaks World's Record in 50-Mile Race

NEW YORK, June 14.—Ralph DePalma, taking the lead in the thirteenth mile of a 50-mile international auto race at the Sheepshead Bay track today, broke all world's records for that distance, winning by a margin of a third of a lap in 26 minutes 23 2-10 seconds.

The previous record for the distance was 26m. 57 3-10s., made by Louis Chevrolet over the same track Seut. 22, 1917. De Palma alternated in second and third positions with Ralph Mulford leading for the first 12 miles, but on the next lap De Palma shot to the front and never was headed. He crossed the finish line two-thirds of a mile ahead of Dave Lewis and Joe Berner, who finished second and third, only a few feet apart.

At 30 miles De Palma's time was 15m. 53 6-10s., wiping out the new world's time of 16m. 20 3-5s. made by Mulford in another race scarcely 1 hour previous. His time for 40 miles 21:39 4-10 and his average speed for the 50 was 114.5 miles an hour.

Winner and Runner-Up in 40-Hole T-M Championship

NELSON WHITNEY RICHARD BOCKENKAMP

Whitney Beats Bockenkamp 1 Up in 40 Holes for Title

St. Louis Youth Gives Four-Time Southern Champion Hard Fight in Trans-Mississippi Golf Final, Finishing All Square at 18 Holes, and Missing a Great Chance at Hole No. 36.

By Stuart G. Stickney,
St. Louis District Golf Champion.

NELSON WHITNEY, of New Orleans, four-time champion of the South, negotiated a par five hole in three strokes at the St Louis Country Club yesterday afternoon, and thereby won the championship of the Trans-Mississippi Golf Association, defeating Richard E. Bockenkamp of the Forest Park Golf Club, one up in forty holes.

It was the longest match ever played for the association title and the caliber of the play throughout, considering the terrific strain under which the players worked, has never been excelled in any title competition.

By playing Whitney even for 40 holes Bockenkamp proved in my estimation that he is the best golfer ever developed in St. Louis. Whitney easily ranks among the first 10 players of the American golfing world; yet for the 40 holes it was anybody's match.

Although the match was won on the fortieth green the turning point for Whitney was at the eighteenth hole, in the afternoon round. Missing a four-foot putt lost the championship then and there for Bockenkamp. Whitney was one down at the time and all Bockenkamp had to do to win the match was to halve the hole.

Bockenkamp Missed Chance.

Bockenkamp was in the rough to the left with his drive at No. 18, while Whitney drove 250 yards straight down the fairway. Bockenkamp overcame this advantage, however, when he sent a beautiful second out of the grass, dropping in the bunker at the edge of the green. Whitney had been strong on his second shot and was in the grass over and to the left of the green. It looked like Bockenkamp's title when he pitched neatly out of the bunker, the ball stopping four feet from the pin. It seemed that Bockenkamp was sure of a four, as he had been sinking his putts with deadly accuracy. The gallery rustled like an opera audience sensing the curtain. It was in the air that Whitney's only chance to even the match was to sink his approach from the rough—a mere chance. When his ball stopped 4½ feet short the gallery made ready to return to the club house, but—Bockenkamp's putt stopped on the brink of the cup! A breeze might have blown it in. Bockenkamp stood gazing at it as though half expecting it to drop from sight any second.

The same proposition faced Whitney. His putt was only a few inches longer than the one Bockenkamp had missed. He ran it down, and Bockenkamp had missed a great opportunity.

How Whitney Won It.

The match actually ended at Hole No. 5, a 421-yard affair. Traps and bunkers make it so difficult that a four is considered exceptional. The approach must be perfect or the golfer is in trouble. Whitney drove 250 yards down the fairway and his second was a beautiful shot, straight to the pin, the ball rolling not more than 4 feet past the cup. Bockenkamp equalled Whitney on the drive but his second shot was strong and he was just over the far edge of the green, with a ledge to shoot over on his third. His effort was fair, but when he missed his fourth shot the match was lost, as Whitney had two strokes in which to sink his ball to win. He negotiated the putt over a difficult roll and the title was won.

Bockenkamp cannot be praised too highly. As Whitney expressed it to me after the match the young Forest Park golfer displayed the courage of a lion. Time and again, when Whitney had him in perilous positions, he rose to the occasion. Especially effective was Bockenkamp's play from the rough. On numerous occasions when his drives put him in difficult lies, he shot so well that his second would give him an advantage. In fact, all through the match Bockenkamp's second shots were superior to those of Whitney. As to tee shots, there was very little difference between the play of the two men. Bockenkamp's chief weakness was in his sand shots from bunkers. Bad lies in the grass skirting the bunker sand did not bother him; but when his ball fell in the sand, he did not shine.

Whitney laid up and approached better than the Forest Park golfer, while Bockenkamp holed more long putts than the new champion. However, Whitney was better with the putter on the shots that one should make successfully.

Both Men Strong Under Pressure.

In a championship match the strain is terrific and considering this the mistakes were very few in the 40 holes of play. Each golfer showed ability under fire and time and again turned what looked to be sure loss of a hole into a victory. Notably among these was the thirteenth hole in the morning round, when Bockenkamp, after a very poor first shot, recovered with a beautiful second for about 250 yards and then was over on his third. By running down a long putt he took the hole, Whitney taking six strokes to five.

Whitney duplicated this feat on the fifteenth hole in the afternoon. He drove the first ball out of bounds, but his second was well down the fairway. Bockenkamp's drive was perfect, but he gave Whitney an opening when his second fell into a trap. Bockenwamp recovered beautifully and was just short of the green on his fourth. Whitney ran down a 10-foot putt to win the hole.

Throughout the tournament the sixteenth hole has proved a "hoodoo" for Whitney and in the title round today there was no exception. On the first round he was in the rough on his first, but recovered to halve the hole in four. In the afternoon, however, he was not so fortunate and after three futile attempts to dig his ball out of the sand, he picked up his ball. Bockenkamp pitched the green on his first and had a sure three.

Country Club Will Send Bockenkamp to National Title Event

RICHARD E. BOCKENKAMP so impressed golfing enthusiasts of the St. Louis Country Club with his prowess in every round of play for the Trans-Mississippi championship, winding up with his 40-hole match yesterday with Nelson Whitney, that the organization will defray all of the Forest Park star's expenses in the national championship tournament in August. The decision was reached when Bockenkamp showed that he could stand up under the strain of playing against a star of Whitney's caliber. Country Club members said it was the best competitive play they had ever seen at their course.

The opportunity will be a great one for Bockenkamp. He is only 18 years old and the Trans-Mississippi just completed was the second tournament of importance he has engaged in. He was eliminated in the semi-finals of the 1918 Trans-Mississippi.

Bockenkamp is employed by a tire concern and his work keeps him so busy that he has been able to play only on Saturdays and Sundays. He is a product of the municipal links.

Brilliant Playing in Afternoon Round Witnessed by Big Gallery

The afternoon round attracted a large gallery, about 500 persons starting with the pair on their second tour of the course, and this number being swelled to about 750 by the time the turn was reached on this round. Thirty or more automobiles follwed the match, the road skirting almost every green on the course.

At the start Bockenkamp's friends were a bit overenthusiastic and shouted their approbation like baseball fans when "Dick" negotiated a clever shot. But, as the match progressed, they absorbed the ethics of the links and a more orderly gallery could not have been collected by invitation.

The greens on most of the holes form natural amphitheaters, on a small scale, and the gallery surrounded each green four or five deep as the players putted.

Whitney played the best nine holes of the day, registering a 35 for the first half of the morning round. Bockenkamp took 42. Whitney was very ragged coming home, in the morning, taking 46 to Bockenkamp's 39.

In the afternoon the play was better, each making the first nine in 38, while in the nine after the turn Whitney required 39 and Bockenkamp 40.

Afternoon Play Improves.

Starting the afternoon play both were 240 yards down the fairway in one, on the green in two and each narrowly missed running down their third, the hole being halved in four.

On the second hole Bockenkamp was in a trap to the left of the green on his first, and Whitney was in the rough on the right. Whitney failed to get his second over the edge of the plateau. Bockenkamp was on in two, his second putting him 20 feet from the pin. Whitney was on in three, but when he failed to run down an 18-foot putt, Bockenkamp won the hole with his four.

Whitney evened the match on the next green, when Bockenkamp drove into a trap and took four while Whitney, on the green on his first, had an easy three.

Whitney took the lead on the fourth hole when Bockenkamp topped his drive and on his third was in a bunker. Whitney made it two up on the fifth when the St. Louisan missed a short putt, the ball hanging on the brink. The next hole was halved in four when Bockenkamp made a beautiful recovery after being in the rough on his drive.

On the seventh hole, a 138-yard pitch shot, Bockenkamp showed his weakness in getting out of the sand. Taking two to get out of the trap just short of the green, Bockenkamp was well up on his third with Whitney 15 feet away on the same number of strokes. Whitney ran down the putt to halve the hole.

Bockenkamp cut down Whitney's lead on the eighth hole with as pretty a shot as had been seen in the tournament. The hole is on a green which is correctly called a cape. A short drive will land you in the creek and too much strength means trouble in the rough beyond the green. Whitney's second was on the green and was rightly applauded as a master's shot. But Bockenkamp's was better. Richard was farther to the right and his target was smaller. He made a perfect pitch, dropping 3 feet from the pin for a three. It was the most sensational shot of the day, although not as telling as the one which gave Whitney the match on the fortieth green.

After getting a good drive on the way to the ninth green Whitney fell far short in the ditch on his second and by picking up and losing a stroke he lost the hole and the match was even at the turn.

The first three holes after the turn were halved and then came the thirteenth, where Bockenkamp took the lead. The men were even on their drive, but Bockenkamp's splendid brassie gave him a shade on the second shot. He took the hole when Whitney missed his fifth, a 3-foot putt.

Three Successive Holes Halved.

Whitney and Bockenkamp alternated in winning the remaining holes of the second 18, neither playing up to his form except that beautiful recoveries were made after inferior shots from the tee.

On the nineteenth hole it looked like Whitney had the match in his pocket. Bockenkamp topped his drive and landed just over the chocolate drops. He got a good second, but Whitney's perfect drive and good approach gave him a stroke advantage. He was short on his third, however, and when he failed to run down a 5-foot putt the hole was halved in 5. Then the golfers settled into their top stride and the next two holes were halved in three each. On the twentieth Bockenkamp had to make a pretty shot from a bunker to halve the hole.

Bockenkamp just missed landing the title on the twenty-first hole. His drive put him 12 feet from the pin and on his second the ball ran straight over the hole, but wouldn't drop. Whitney then duplicated by missing his 5-foot putt for a two.

Then came the twenty-second hole of the afternoon round, the fortieth of the day. Whitney's three was unbeatable. Bockenkamp's losing five was par golf.

In approaching the ninth hole in the morning round the golfers had a narrow escape from a tumble into a creek and possibly more serious injury. Bockenkamp had just followed Whitney over the wooded bridge spanning the creek when the gallery crowded onto it. The structure was dry and the wood weakened by weather and one of the cross joists gave way with a crash. Those on the bridge jumped in time to keep it from collapsing completely.

In the Consolation final Frank Lynch defeated E. C. Campbell, one up in 36 holes.

In the final match for the Secretary's trophy Sam C. David won from Dr. E. V. Weakley, one up in 37 holes.

State Field Secretary Western Lawn Tennis Association.

For the first time in many years a local tennis organization is going to send two leading players to a tournament of national importance. Ted Drewes and Fred Josties will enter the National Clay Court Championship at Chicago starting Monday, July 14th.

These men will be sent north next month by the St. Louis Tennis Association. All expenses of the trip will be borne by the district body as evidence of its desire to give St. Louis a national reputation as a tennis city.

By reaching the finals of the recent elimination singles tournament at the Kirkwood Country Club Drewes and Josties proved that they are still the highest ranking players in the city. The result of this tournament enabled the Executive Committee of the St. Louis Tennis Association to select these two stars as the players entitled to the trip.

Both Yeatman Graduates.

Both Drewes and Josties learned the game at Yeatman High School where they both won the championship in singles and also captured the doubles. Later they won the interscholastic title. After leaving school they followed the game on the municipal courts, winning the St. Louis Municipal title in both singles and doubles.

During the past four years they have taken part in all the important tournaments in this city and also several in Kansas City. For a period of over six years prior to 1914 Drummond Jones and Roland Hoerr held all titles in St. Louis. Following that Drewes and Josties entered the Central States tournaments and in their second meeting against Jones and Hoerr they came out victorious. For three years Drewes and Josties have held their own against the rest of the local talent.

Four Tourneys for Westwood.

The tennis playing members of the Westwood Country Club will have a busy time during the coming month. Four tennis tournaments have been planned by the Tennis Committee of which Moe D. Levy is chairman. The first event will be a singles championship for men. Albert Aloe, Will Milius, Phil Mayer, Moe Levy, Emanuel Blumenstock and Cy Harris will be among the probable entries. Following the men's event a tournament for juniors in singles will be held. Ben Harris, Gordon Scherk, Ben Werthan and John Isaacs, members of the team in the Junior Inter-club play of the St. Louis Tennis Association will take part. Phil Mayer will be in charge of the junior events.

A number of prominent local players will make up the entry list in the women's singles. Such stars as Natalie Arnstein, twice Missouri State champion; Laura May Harris and Sophie Einstein will be seen in this competition. As there are several good teams of mixed doubles at Westwood it is likely that a mixed doubles tournament will be held. Entries for all events will close Wednesday.

The Westwood Country Club has five excellent tennis courts accessible to its members. It holds membership in the St. Louis Tennis Association and the Western Lawn Tennis Association.

Gallenkamp Returns.

After an absence of two years Charles Gallenkamp, one of St. Louis' leading tennis players, has returned to the city. He served as a First Lieutenant in the Eighty-ninth Division. In 1914 Gallenkamp won the annual Municipal Tennis Championship in singles. Paired with Roland Hoerr and representing Washington University he won the Missouri Valley Conference doubles title in the same year. Like Scott Gardner, Charlie Swarts, Towner Phelan and other local stars who saw service overseas, Gallenkamp is ready to resume the game again.

MISS DONNELL IS WED; HER 2 TRUNKS AND PIANO SEIZED

Wearing Apparel for Trip Believed to Be Among Property Taken Possession of Under Judgment.

AMOUNT IS $851, IN FAVOR OF J. C. HALEY

Deputy Sheriff Goes to Her Home While She Is Being Married at the Residence of Her Aunt.

Deputy Sheriff Theodore Edler yesterday seized two trunks and a baby grand piano belonging to Miss Mildred Donnell of 5840 Enright avenue while she was being married to Thomas Hunt Talmage of New York City at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Martin J. Shaughnessy, 1 Washington terrace.

The trunks and piano were taken possession of at the bride's Enright avenue home and were carted away to the Sheriff's office downtown in a wagon. The seizure was made to satisfy a judgment for $851.50 obtained against her by James M. Haley, a United States Secret Service agent, in Circuit Judge Davis' court Friday.

Deputy Leaves Handbag Behind.

The trunks, together with a handbag containing toilet articles and a few garments, appeared to have been made ready to take away immediately atfer the wedding. The deputy left the handbag behind.

The action of the deputy in no way interfered with the wedding, which was solemnized at noon. Afterward a wedding breakfast was served at the Shaughnessy home.

The judgment under which the seizure was made was obtained by default, in a suit filed by Haley more than a year ago. In his original petition he asked to be reimbursed for $972.50, which he said he had loaned to Miss Donnell on different ocasions between Oct. 3, 1916, and Jan. 12, 1917. The judgment included the sum asked for, with accrued interest.

Haley, at a hearing of the case in Judge Davis' court Friday, introduced several checks drawn on the City Trust Co., which he said were used in the transaction. Some of them were made payable to Miss Donnell and others to himself. One, dated Oct. 3, 1916, was for $700. Miss Donnell was not present at the hearing, nor was she represented by counsel.

Haley's petition stated that he had loaned Miss Donnell a total of $860, but that she had repaid him $67.50 of this.

"Spite Work," Says Miss Donnell.

When informed of the judgment against her a few minutes before the ceremony yesterday Miss Donnell said that it was "spite work." She was asked whether Haley had been one of her suitors, and replied, "that's all bunk."

She declared that the suit arose out of a real estate transaction dating back several years. The property concerned she said, belonged to her father, C. E. Donnell, but was placed in her name. She said that it was because the property was in her name that the suit was filed.

Haley last night declared the suit was purely a "business proposition." He said that he had loaned the money to Miss Donnell at her request and had endeavored to collect it on several occasions. The suit was pressed at this time, he asserted, because he had reason to believe Miss Donnell planned to leave the city and remain away for some time and thus automatically prolong the litigation.

"She was correct in terming a report that I was one of her suitors 'bunk,'" Haley said. "The entire transaction was a business proposition from the beginning and 'spite' never entered into it so far as I am concerned."

Trunks Remain Unopened.

When the attached property reached the court house, Sheriff Weinbrenner refused to permit the trunks to be opened. He said that if the Haley claim be satisfied the trunks would be returned unopened. Otherwise it would be necessary to take an inventory of the contents in order to have a Sheriff's sale. The piano was stored in the basement of the court house and the trunks were taken to the Sheriff's office in the Times building.

Mrs. C. E. Donnell, mother of the bride, in a statement to the Post-Dispatch yesterday, attributed Haley's suit to malice. The debt, she also stated arose from a real estate deal between Donnell, the girl's father, who now resides in Kansas City, and Haley several years ago, in which the property was recorded in the daughter's name.

"I understand that the debt was the amount for which Mr. Haley sued," Mrs. Donnell said, "but Mr. Donnell tendered payment to him last spring and the money was refused.

"Mr. Haley formerly called on my daughter, but she never considered him in the light of a suitor. About a year and a half ago she decided that his visits were no longer agreeable to her. She has not seen him since."

Elks Give a Flag Day Program at City Theater

Feature of Meeting in Forest Park Auditorium Is Pledge of Allegiance by Audience —Other Celebrations.

A patriotic Flag Day meeting, held in the Municipal Theater in Forest Park last night, under the auspices of Elks' Lodge No. 9, was addressed by Maj. H. S. Rumsey, Circuit Attorney McDaniel and John S. Leahy. A history of the flag was read by John M. Goodwin, and the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. F. W. Trauernicht.

Maj. Rumsey, in his address, urged support of the Salvation Army in its appeal for funds. The Elks' Band furnished music. At the conclusion of the program, which was attended by what would have been a large audience indoors, a pledge of loyalty was repeated by all.

A picturesque feature was a tableau, "Columbia," by Mrs. John H. Morische, in which were depicted characters from the Grand Army and the Confederate Veterans, Spanish War Veterans, 138th Infantry, 128th Artillery, 110th Ammunition Train, Twenty-first Hospital Unit, Twelfth Engineers, Sailors, Marines, Ambulance Corps, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Home Guard and Boy Scouts.

In the afternoon a large neighborhood celebration and flag raising was held at Laclede Park under the auspices of the Meramec School Patrons' Association and Gen. N. C. Lyon Council, No. 21, Junior Order United American Mechanics. Addresses were made by Mayor Kiel, John Schmoll, Director of Public Welfare; J. W. Lazley, Charles F. Joy, John Fett, Judge George Mix and Judge M. Hartman.

The Police Department observed the day with a ceremony at police headquarters, Twelfth street and Clark avenue. Many factories and industrial concerns held celebrations in the afternoon. Among them were the Emerson Electric Co., Laclede-Christy Fire Clay Co., T. M. Sayman Manufacturing Co., Bemis Bros. Bag Co., Campbell Glass and Paint Co., Riddle-Rehbein Manufacturing Co., Best-Clymer Manufacturing Co., American Car Co. and Monsanto Chemical Works.

The American flag was widely displayed, flying from many stores, factories, institutions and homes. Street cars carried flags and many automobiles were adorned with the national colors.

Because this was the first Flag day since the successful conclusion of the war, the day was generally known throughout the nation as Victory Flag day, which added enthusiasm to the celebration.

At the Wagner Electric Co. plant about 2000 employes and friends attended a flag-raising celebration, held under the auspices of the Industrial Department of the Y. M. C. A. Addresses were made by W. R. Gentry, an attorney, and W. A. Lyman, president of the company. Patriotic songs were sung.

STATE CLUB REMOVES FROM C. OF C. OFFICES

Federation and Local Body Had Dispute Over Raising of $150,000 Fund.

The coolness that has existed between the Federation of Missouri Commercial Clubs and the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce since 1916, when the St. Louis organization failed in its proposal to raise $150,000 to be spent through the federation in State improvement, has resulted in the federation removing its office from the Chamber of Commerce quarters to 803 Central National Bank Building.

A. Lyman Donlin, secretary of the federation, says the chamber and the federation only have an "honest difference of opinion," and otherwise have a common desire to advance Missouri interests.

Early in this year the Federation began to press its claim for the $150,000 on the ground that the Chamber had assumed responsibility for the $150,000 quota of St. Louis, of which only about $28,000 has been paid in. Jackson Johnson, president of the Chamber, issued a public statement denying that the Chamber had guaranteed the fund, but simply had volunteered to lead the work of its collection. He declared that failure of the campaign did not in any way bind the Chamber to make good the deficit.

The federation made no reply, but one of its members, the Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce, made public a letter of Clarence H. Howard, president of the Business Men's League at the time the campaign was undertaken. The Business Men's League afterwards became the Chamber of Commerce. This letter stated that "the Business Men's League has indorsed the work of the Federation of Missouri Commercial Clubs and in this particular effort is financing the Greater Missouri campaign."

It called attention to the fact that St. Louis, in presenting its claims to a Farm Loan bank, used the fact that it was raising money for the campaign as evidence of its interest in State affairs.

JUDGE SLATE FORBIDDEN TO TRY STATE COAL GRAFT CASES

Supreme Court Decides He Was Prejudiced—State May Change Venue in Criminal Causes.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 14.—In an opinion written by Judge Farris today, the Supreme Court held that Circuit Judge Slate of Cole County was prejudiced against the State in the trial of John W. Scott, former commissioner of the permanent seat of government, who was discharged and indicted when it was found that he had been taking quantities of coal from the State bins and selling it to politicians and private individuals, and prohibits Slate from trying the case further.

The decision of the court means that Slate will not be permitted to try any of the remaining State graft cases, because Attorney-General McAllister has made it known he will ask for a change of venue from Slate in each case, on the ground of prejudice.

During the trial of Scott, attorneys for the State applied for a change of venue, on the ground that Slate was prejudiced. Slate refused to disqualify himself, and ridiculed the motion in open court, saying the law did not permit attorneys for the State to take a change of venue in a criminal case.

Assistant Attorney-General Howell asked for time to apply for a writ of prohibition to the Supreme Court to prevent Slate from trying the case, and Slate said "All right, if you want to parade the ignorance of the Attorney-General's office in this court, I can stand it if you can."

The first solemn community memorial service for those St. Louisans who gave their lives in the great war will be held on Art Hill in Forest Park, this afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock. It will be under the auspices of the Memorial Tablet Honor Roll Committee, the Missouri Historical Society and the War Camp Community Service. It will be in honor of men and women, without respect to race, creed and color, who made the supreme sarcifice, either in battle or out of it.

The section in front of the grand stand will be reserved for relatives of the dead, but no reservations have been made by ticket. A statement that one is entitled to sit in the section will be accepted.

Men who served in the war will group on the west side of the hill and patriotic and lineal society members will take the east side.

The program will open with a salute to the flag by soldiers, sailors and marines, led by Col. George K. Hunter of Jefferson Barracks, Lieutenant-Commander E. A. Brooks of the navy and Lieut. L. C. McLaughlin, marine corps. Four-minute talks will be made by Mayor Kiel, Judge Walter B. Douglas, Missouri Historical Society, and Gen. Harvey C. Clark, Adjutant-General of Missouri.

Mrs. Karl Kimmel will sing "The Americans Come," accompanied by the band from Jefferson Barracks. The Rev. Carroll M. Davis, dean of the Christ Church Cathedral, who served in France as chaplain in the American expeditionary forces, will deliver the invocation. The Rev. Thomas D. Kennedy, who also was a chaplain in France, and Rabbi Leon Harrison will also speak. The memorial ceremony, led by Col. Hunter, will consist of the sounding of "retreat," the playing of "Nearer My God, to Thee," "Taps" and "The Star-Spangled Banner" by the band.

MOB REDUCES HIGH COST OF LIVING IN AN ITALIAN TOWN

Rioters at Spezia Show Particular Preference for Cheese, Olive Oil and Wine.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Friday, June 13.—The disorders which began in Spezia on Thursday continued today because of a lack of sufficient forces to check the crowds which were sacking the shops and distributing hats, shoes and provisions right and left, showing particular preference for cheese, olive oil and wine. Hogsheads of wine were rolled from wine shops several miles outside the city and distributed to the people amid tumultuous enthusiasm.

Later the mob stopped its pillaging tactics, but took control of the market and obliged the merchants to sell at prices fixed by the people. Thus chickens which recently reached $6 apiece, sold for $1; olive oil, which had brought 50 cents a quart, sold for 25 cents, while thousands of bottles of fancy wines which had been selling at high prices, were poured out to the crowd for 20 cents each.

Several thousand sailors have been landed in the town and contingents of cavalry have been ordered to Spezia to prevent further disorders on the part of the townspeople.

WANTS FAUNTLEROY'S PLACE AS A HARGADINE FIRM TRUSTEE

C. J. Zeitinger Says He Was to Have Been Named for Agreeing to Terminate Receivership.

Christian J. Zeitinger, a plaintiff in the Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co. receivership case, yesterday asked Circuit Judge Garesche to vacate an order made several days ago approving the appointment of Thomas T. Fauntleroy as one of the two trustees of the firm.

Zeitinger said it was his understanding that he was to be selected by his counsel as a trustee, to represent the plaintiffs and other minority stockholders but he did not get the appointment. He said he agreed to a compromise of the case dismissing the receiver on this understanding, being told that as trustee he would receive compensation for the time and expense the litigation cost him the last four years.

He declared that he was the one who dug out the facts and got the evidence in chronological order, resulting in the appointment of a receiver, but has not received one cent out of it. The three attorneys for the plaintiff—Randolph Laughlin, Julian Laughlin and Matt G. Reynolds—were each paid $25,000 from assets of the concern.

Judge Garesche said that inasmuch as the stipulation for compromise authorized the attorneys to use discretionary power in selecting trustees he would not change his order. He also said that the trustees are to serve without pay. R. McKittrick Jones is the other one.

REALTY REVIVAL DISTINGUISHED BY BUSINESS DEMAND

Stores, Lofts, Factories and Warehouses Reported to Be Exceptionally Brisk, With Investors and Speculators Active.

TWO TRANSACTIONS WEEK'S FEATURE

Strong Rivalry Said to Be on for Sections of Mercantile Club Building—Business District Sites Getting Attention.

By Berry Moore.

The distinguishing feature of the realty revival is the broad demand for holdings for business purposes, as well as for investment and speculation. The quest for stores, lofts and buildings in the central business district runs closely with that for factories and warehouses and for sites for buildings of that character in the industrial parts of the city.

The leading transactions of the week, embracing holdings in the centers stated, was the sale by the Mercantile Trust Co. to the Monarch Metal Weather Strip Co. of 70,000 square feet of ground on the south side of Penrose street just west of King's highway, and extending north to the tracks of the Terminal Railway Association, and that of the fee to the northwest corner of Seventh and Pine streets by Mrs. Mary S. Mersman to the Pine Street Investment Co. of which Simon Van Raalte is president. The consideration in neither instance was disclosed.

The sale of the Penrose street ground was made for the Hydraulic Press Brick Co., which has launched the industrial subdivision in that district on a large scale. The Monarch Metal Weather Strip Co. is erecting an extension plant on a site embraced in this purchase. The General Motors Co., the United Drug Co. and other large interests have purchased sites in this area for major plants.

The Pine Street Investment Co.'s purchase has a frontage of 21.3 feet on Pine street by 95 feet on Seventh street. It is held under a 99-year lease by Earl Shalsbury at an annual net rental of $5000, and is improved with a three-story business building. On a 4-per-cent basis it should be worth $100,000, and on a 5-per-cent basis, $125,000.

Club Building in Demand.

Propositions are under consideration for the whole as well as for parts of the Mercantile Club building, at the southwest corner of Seventh and Locust streets, recently acquired by the Morton Investment Co., of which Nathan Frank is the controlling stockholder. The basement, first and second floors of the building are wanted for retail purposes, while the first floor is also sought for quarters by a large financial establishment. In another instance the building is desired as an investment or speculation by parties who perceive its future.

The first floor of the building is occupied by F. W. Drosten, jeweler, who will shortly remove to the southwest corner of Ninth and Olive streets, in the Frisco Building, which he has leased through the Martin-Breitt Real Estate Co. for a long term. The Locust street corner is one of the strongest in the retail district, while the building, which was constructed to conform with the requirements of the Mercantile Club, is of the highest type of construction. It is susceptible of conversion to almost any extent.

According to realty circles, 100x109 feet at the northwest corner of Seventeenth and Chestnut streets, comprising several holdings, is wanted as a site for a large structure. It is opposite the vacant block facing Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, from Chestnut to Pine streets, acquired recently by Nat Ewing and W. J. Brennan as a site for a garage with a capacity of 1000 machines, exceeding that of any structure of its kind in the world. This corner, the presumption is, is sought by a large automobile concern having elaborate building plans.

Properties Getting Attention.

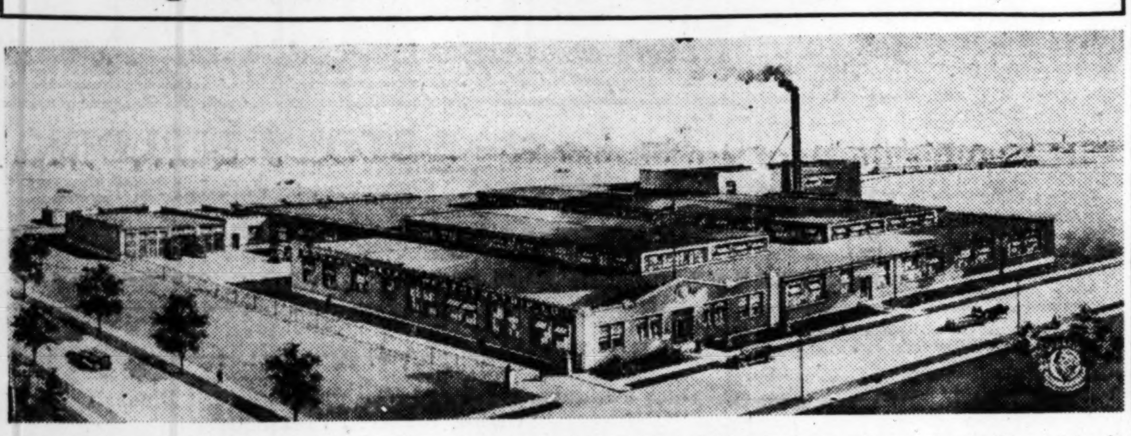
John Dockery & Sons, of which James Dockery is the head, reports several prospective purchasers and leases for the southwest corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets. This forms a site of liberal area, which is attractive for automobile or other business interests requiring a prominent location.

The southwest corner of Eighteenth street and Washington avenue, 106x150 feet, is also receiving much attention from large interests with building plans, according to R. King Kaufman, vice president of the Mercantile Trust Co. The corner is opposite the Marquette Hotel, and at the most important intersection, west of Twelfth street on Washington avenue.

The northeast corner of Forest Park boulevard and Boyle avenue, 300x175 feet, being offered by Cornet & Zeibig, is also exciting decided interest. It is available for light manufacturing purposes on a large scale, and is in the midst of the industrial center of Forest Park boulevard. It is regarded as a highly attractive location for an automobile plant. It is owned by Herman C. G. Luyties, president of the Sanitol Chemical Manufacturing Co., whose extensive plant forms the north boundary of the site. The sale of this corner doubtless will be recorded in the near future, from the interest evinced.

Sales of two lots in the Catlin tract were also disclosed, the purchasers being W. O. Schock, president of the City Trust Co., and Julius W. Cohn. The seller was the Excelsior Investment Co. Whether these purchases have been made as an investment or for improvement with homes has not been given out.

Big New Plant For Metal Weather Strip Concern



THE plant of the Monarch Metal Weather Strip Co., in process of construction on the south side of Penrose street west of King's Highway, will comprehend a site of 70,000 square feet acquired through the Mercantile Trust Co. from the Hydraulic Press Brick Co.

The site is in the new industrial district in which it is predicted more than $250,000,000 will be expended within the next two or three years in the erection and expansion of industrial plants.

The weather strip company began operations in 1906, and, without going outside of the city for assistance, has grown from a space of 2500 square feet on an alley on South Jefferson avenue, in 1907, to the mammoth proportions indicated herein. It is stated that this company has become the largest manufacturer of metal weather strip in this country and perhaps in the world, having representatives in live domestic centers, and a branch factory in Canada.

The company manufactures a complete line of metal weather strip and casement windows, and upon completion of its new building expects to begin the manufacture of metal screens for factory type steel windows.

BUILDINGS PLANNED AT WASHINGTON U. TO COST $3,000,000

Through a movement officially inaugurated at the Washington University commencement Thursday, it is expected that new buildings to cost approximately $3,000,000 will be added to the institution. Attention was called by President Robert S. Brookings of the University Corporation, in the course of announcements of gifts, to the need of added facilities for expansion to meet the growth of student numbers.

To complete the first quadrangle, it was stated, plans have been drawn for buildings to house the School of Law and the School of Commerce and Finance, each to cost about $300,000. Another building, for Science, and particularly Zoology, has become a necessity, while a smaller structure, for Physics laboratory is needed.

"Probably our most elaborate plans for a group of buildings on the campus have been designed by Prof. Ferrand of our School of Architecture, for the housing of Art, Architecture and Archaeology," President Brookings announced.

"Plans and specifications, with estimates as to cost, of all these buildings, may be seen at any time at the university, or will be sent by the chancellor to anyone who may feel an interest in their construction."

President Brookings also called attention to the exalted tribute paid to the University School of Medicine, both by the General Education Board and Dr. Antoine du Page, surgeon-general of the Belgian Army and a surgeon of world-wide fame. Dr. du Page was directed to Washington University in pursuance of his expressed desire to see some of the foremost medical institutions of the country in operation, and was accompanied here by two officials of the board.

"Dr. du Page spent several days examining our work in the most minute details," Mr. Brookings announced, "and since leaving St. Louis has announced that, having examined some of the best medical schools on both sides of the water, ours is the best that he has seen anywhere, and that he contemplated returning to St. Louis to fortify himself with additional details before returning to Belgium."

NORTHLAND PLACE LOTS IN BRISK DEMAND, AGENTS REPORT

Franciscus & Kunz report a brisk demand for lots in Northland place, on North King's highway and Spalding, Northland, Maffitt place and Terry avenues.

North King's highway, which is being completed, forms an attractive feature of this addition.

Many handsome buildings are being erected in this section, which are adding to the value of the ground. This agency is lending money to lot purchasers for building purposes.

Living in Old Dent Home.

Albert Wenzlick has purchased 25 acres of the Grant farm, adjoining 15 acres now owned by him, giving him a total of 40 acres. All his property is wooded. The old Dent residence, in which Gen. Grant courted Julia Dent, is now occupied as a summer home by Wenzlick. Franciscus & Kunz promoted the sale.

STOVE CO. OFFICIAL BUYS HAGERMAN HOME

Sale Made by Sam Hamburg Jr., of Rosenbaum-Haushulte R. E. Co.

Jones Templeton, vice president of the Buck Stove and Range Co., has purchased the former residence of James Hagerman Jr. in Hampton Park, on the Clayton road. The house has 12 rooms, hardwood floors throughout, three baths and a hot water heating plant. There is also a large garage with servants' quarters above, built in connection with the house. The premises embrace two acres, known as lot 31 in Hampton Park.

The sale was made by Sam Hamburg Jr., of the Rosenbaum-Hauschulte Real Estate Co., according to whom the consideration was $20,000. Mr. Hagerman is United States Assistant Internal Revenue Collector, stationed at Washington, in charge of the collection of estate taxes.

RIVERVIEW GARDENS SALES FOR WEEK PASS $10,000 LEVEL

The sale of lots in Riverview Gardens continues to be lively, according to Sikking & Beckwith, agents for that subdivision. In the front section opened last week, seven tracts were sold, along with six lots in the older sections, sales for the week aggregatinfl more than $10,000. There remain unsold 80 lots in the tract of 255 acres.

Improvements in the new section have been completed, and it presents an attractive appearance. Each tract or home site, is at least 100 feet front and ranging from 170 to 300 feet deep, and has a splendid view of the river. Several of them are covered with forest trees.

Riverview Gardens is the only tract on the market being close to the river. The land is rolling and has been laid out in a manner designed to make the best of the natural scenery. The Gardens is in north St. Louis, midway between Baden and the Chain of Rocks, and faces more than half mile on Riverview Drive. The property is reached by taking the North Broadway car and changing to the Municipal car line at Baden. The ride downtown is made in 45 minutes.

2 BUSINESS PROPERTIES LEASED

One Concern Takes Home on Olive Street, Another on Washington Avenue.

The Martin-Breitt Real Estate Co. reports having leased the four-story building, 916-18 Olive street, to Henry A. Weil, who plans incorporation of a company for the sale of ready-to-wear apparel and millinery for women and misses. The front is being remodeled and the interior is to be remodeled and decorated. The property is owned by the W. H. Thompson Trust Co., who were represented by John H. Bogue.

The company also leased the five-story building at 511 Washington avenue to the L. Ackerman Millinery Co., now at the southwest corner of Broadway and Lucas avenue. In addition to cloaks, suits and millinery, the company will take on two other lines of merchandise, ladies' shoes and hoisery. The new location will give the company about double the floor space it has at Broadway and Lucas avenue. The property is owned by the E. O. Stanard Real Estate Co.

AUGUST H. GERLING.

Au. H. Gerling reports the following sales:

4446 West Belle place; single flat for H. C. Kriedler to Wm. T. Lockhardt.

3924-26 Hartford street; single flat to F. H. Morschel for a client.

4153-55 De Tonty street; double flat for Mary E. Stokes.

LAST LOTS ON SALE AT KENWOOD SPRINGS

25 or 30 Tracts Remain Just North of Suburban Garden, With Improvements Made.

A sale of lots will be started today at Kenwood Springs, just north of Suburban Garden on the Kirkwood-Ferguson line, an extension of the Hodamont line. There now remain only 25 or 30 lots in this beautiful addition, which virtually forms a part of the city. These are to be sold at special prices and on easy payments—$20 a foot, $10 down and $10 a month. All street and other improvements are made in this addition.

The addition is well built up with attractive houses and bungalows, financed by Mr. Luyties, who launched the subdivision as a diversion, but who has now tired of it, and is disposing of his remaining holdings there for about half what they cost him, he says. The last of the houses built by him in this addition was recently sold.

This is an opportunity for both speculators and homeseekers, according to William Kotsrean of the Kotsrean-Althen Real Estate Co., which is handling the property in connection with the Betorf Head Estate Co. William Kotsrean is the agent on the ground. Automobiles will be provided to show prospective purchasers the lots.

PIGGLY-WIGGLY GROCERY FIRM LEASES LARGE WAREHOUSE HERE

According to Eugene Christy, manager of the Rental Department of the Mercantile Trust Co., who is looking after the leasing of stores for the Piggly-Wiggly Grocery Stores Co., the Mercantile Trust has leased to the Piggly-Wiggly company the four-story modern fire-proof sprinkled building at Ninth and Clark avenue. This is the building that the Columbia Transfer Co. erected a few years ago for its own use, and is one of the most desirable warehouse buildings in St. Louis.

The Piggly-Wiggly company is just locating in St. Louis and the Mercantile Trust Co. is representing it and has closed about 10 leases for stores in various parts of the city. Mr. George B. Wearen, president of the Piggly-Wiggly firm, states that he will have his stores in operation by Aug. 1.

STATIONERY COMPANY EXPANDS

The William J. Kennedy Stationery Co. has leased, through the Mercantile Trust Co., the four-story building at 210-12 North Fourth street. The Kennedy company has occupied a portion of this building for several years but has outgrown its present quarters and will occupy the whole building. The ground floor space is 40x100 feet. Extensive alterations are being made, including new front, plans which were drawn by Kennerly & Stiegemeyer, architects.

Renewed Demand for Buildings.

Ely Goldstein of Goldwasser & Dubinsky Real Estate Co. reports renewed demand for buildings in the district east of Grand avenue for investment and speculations. Many buildings in this part of the city are susceptible of reconstruction for residence purposes, and are being acquired through his firm, he says. All indications point to higher prices for property there, according to Goldstein.

Title Examinations Increase.

Mark Anderson, vice president of the Title Guaranty Trust Co., has returned from a vacation. The business of the Title Guaranty Trust Co. as a barometer of the St. Louis real estate market has shown an increase lately.

J. F. O. RELLER.

J. F. O. Reller reports the sale of the 9-room residence 2008 St. Louis avenue to Chas. Eber and wife.

Also double flat 5106-8 Garfield avenue to F. Buchwald and wife.

COMING PRICE RAISE STIRS HI-POINTE SALES

Home Builders and Investors Alike Center Interest on Final 30-Day Campaign.

The closing out 30-day sale of lots in Hi-Pointe is attracting prospective home builders and investors alike, they being spurred by the announcement by the Broadway Savings Trust Co. that after this period, the prices of all the remaining unsold lots will be advanced $10 a foot. As a result, many negotiations for lots have been concluded.

Visitors to Hi-Pointe during the week saw many new homes and apartments completed or under construction. The renewed demand for homes of all types has given new impetus to construction in Hi-Pointe, according to Charles De Larzy, manager of the real estate department of the Broadway Savings Trust Co.

Construction of four apartments was started in this addition ten days ago, and tenements have already materialized for all of them. The building being thus encouraged, plans are being drawn for more, construction of which is to start without delay.

The Pasquier Building Co., sold the first of its new buildings last week. This structure is not completed, and it is expected that all of these buildings will be sold before completion.

Four lots were sold last week at a profit to the purchasers of $10 per foot.

This subdivision has proven remarkable from its opening, as even while the war was on sales continued and more than $350,000 worth of the property was sold last year. Now that building operations are resumed, the property is selling with a rush.

The superior location of this subdivision, being just opposite Forest Park, and the fact that the highest type of schools, colleges and churches are within walking distance, together with the convenience of stores of all kinds, has given it a steady boom.

DICKMANN COMPANY ENLARGES TOWER GROVE HEIGHTS OFFICE

In line with the wave of general prosperity and expansion of business, particularly in real estate, the Joseph F. Dickman Real Estate Co., Incorporated, of 623 Chestnut street, has enlarged its office in Tower Grove Heights, by leasing the large building at Grand avenue and Arsenal street, and closed the smaller office at 3151 South Grand avenue.

Joseph F. Dickmann has long been identified with large financial interests, especially real estate, and his company reports during the last few months more than 270 transactions, involving $1,000,000 in considerations. Dickmann has been three times Sheriff of the city of St. Louis, and Barney F. Dickmann, the vice president, and Otto J. Dickmann, secretary, served in the war with the Marines. All are well known on real estate row and all over the city.

George A. Duff, formerly with the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. and the Commonwealth Trust Co., will manage the office, and Mrs. Nellie H. Pierce will have charge of the ladies' department. The company makes a specialty of sales, loans, rents and leases.

LIEUT. W. H. LEAHY TAKES SPACE IN BROTHER'S OFFICE

Lieut. William H. Leahy, formerly of H Company, 138th (St. Louis) Infantry, who received the Croix de Guerre for bravery in leading his company in the attack at Hilsenfirst, in the Vosges, last July, and who was wounded in the Argonne battle in September, has taken an office with his brother, David D. Leahy, at 722 Chestnut Street. He is a candidate for appointment to the State Tax Commission, and his candidacy has been indorsed by a number of leading men.

Before entering the service Leahy was prominent in apartment building operations in the West End.

CHARLES GUNDLACH.

Charles Gundlach reports business active in the North End and the following sales:

4570 Cottage avenue, 4-room cottage; lot 25x170 feet, for Marie Anna Gaus to David and Clara King.

ONE WEEK HAS PASSED! ONE WEEK LESS IN WHICH TO BUY AT THE PRESENT PRICES

IN HI-POINTE

$10.00 PER FOOT RAISE IN 30 DAYS

FOUR APARTMENT BUILDINGS

were started 10 days ago and the builder already has tenants to fill the entire four buildings. SUCH IS THE DEMAND IN HI-POINTE.

This builder has already made arrangements to build four more buildings across the street.

Another builder has purchased ground on which to erect two modern twelve-family apartment buildings at a cost of $100,000. This construction will start immediately.

Builders in general have awakened to the wonderful opportunity offered in this subdivision. They are starting in on a wholesale basis.

BUILDINGS WILL BE GOING UP EVERYWHERE AND PRICES GOING UP ACCORDINGLY.

Four lots were sold last week at a profit to the owners of $10 per front foot.

THAT IS AT LEAST $400 PROFIT ON EACH LOT.

Prices are going up again in less than 30 days at least $10 per front foot.

The lot you buy today will be worth $10 per front foot more within 30 days.

THIS IS MAKING MONEY FAST, BUT THE BUILDING BOOM IS HERE AND MONEY IS ALWAYS MADE FAST IN A BOOM OF THIS KIND.

IT IS A REAL OPPORTUNITY, AND IT RESTS WITH YOU WHETHER OR NOT YOU ARE TO PARTICIPATE.

HI-POINTE is the highest and most beautiful tract of ground in St. Louis, laid out and restricted to meet the popular demand of the people, yet with every care taken for their protection.

These lots are being sold from $15.00 to $30.00 per front foot below the real value, and this profit is yours if you act at once.

COME OUT TODAY WHILE YOU HAVE A SELECTION OF THE BEST LOTS and can still get in on the ground floor and get your share of the profits.

There Is An Alarming Scarcity of Good West End Homesites

Hundreds and hundreds of homes costing from $12,000 to $20,000 must be erected the coming 24 months.

Where can Sites, with proper surroundings, be had for these new homes?

There is today very litle property left west of Skinker Road, and the demand which is increasing each week, will soon force prices to advance 30% to 100%.

Very few people having an income of $4000 or more will live in cooped-up apartments, no matter how many rooms. It isn't home—never will be home, and home is the one thing every husband wants and every loving wife prays for.

If St. Louis is to be your home, then NOW SECURE your home site while you can save 30% to 100% and get a choice location.

Build or Let Us Build for You in Restricted Maryland Terrace

—the 100-Acre Residence Park Adjoining Washington University Campus.

Don't accept a compromise—don't buy in a location now congested. It isn't economy—you won't be pleased two years from now.

Buy in Maryland Terrace where every lot is 190 to 219 feet deep and faces wide drives.

Here you can never be crowded. You have grounds—the one thing that makes a home livable, desirable, attractive—that causes machines to pause when passing to see your flowers, shrubs, trees.

Here no two houses are alike. Both the brick and stucco houses are intermingled, producing a beautiful picture. With the fifteen new homes starting (and this will soon be increased to 30) PICTURE Maryland Terrace.

A Pleasant Drive After Dinner

Any evening, after dinner, drive to Maryland Terrace and loaf around. You have friends living here. See how they enjoy their homes, their yards, their flowers and shrubs. We want you to realize the possibilities of these deep lots season after season as the trees and shrubs grow. If you are not afraid we will worry you to buy (and we won't, you can depend upon it) visit with us a few minutes and see the plans of the new homes starting. Let us tell you how many lots we have recently sold and to whom.

Mr. Davis, President of the Company, lives at N. E. Cor. Williams and Westmoreland. See him in the evening. There are no salesmen to follow you up. Maryland Terrace must do all the selling.

Drive to Pennsylvania Ave., west boundary of Campus. Maryland Terrace extends west on both Maryland and Westmoreland Drives. The University car direct to our door.

Yes—we have 5000 shade trees growing and every customer is planting more each season. Come in the evening when Mr. Bob White is calling. It's a pleasant drive.

KENWOOD SPRINGS

(Only 45 Minutes from Broadway)

Kenwood Springs is located on the Natural Bridge Road, only two or three blocks from the city limits. It is within 10 minutes' ride of the new manufacturing district, which includes many great plants such as General Motor Co., United Drug Co., Wrought Iron Range Co., Curtis Mfg. Co. and Wagner Electric Co. are located, but not near enough to make them objectionable.

Come out and see how people live in Kenwood Springs. Nearly everyone has flowers, a garden and chickens. It's a good place to bring up your family, as there are splendid schools and churches in the place.

Kenwood Springs is located on the Natural Bridge Road, which is reached, if you wish to motor out, by taking any street north to Natural Bridge Road and then west for from 5 to 10 minutes' travel to Kenwood Springs. If you wish to take the street car, take any car west and transfer to the Kirkwood-Ferguson line. Kenwood Springs is only about 10 minutes' ride from Delmar Boulevard.

MINING

FOR SALE AT A GREAT SACRIFICE

A fully equipped hydraulic placer mine, located on the middle fork, Boise river, 15 miles below Atlanta, the mother lode, consisting of 600 acres containing at least 20,000,000 cubic yards gravel that will average 25c per cubic yard in gold, recently came into my possession through foreclosure; the full year of redemption having just expired, I can now give a clear title. The Boise river running through the middle furnishes vastly more water than will ever be used. Grade for power ideal, dumping facilities good. There is an abundance of fine timber, and on hand over 400,000 ft. of good lumber. There has been expended over $400,000 in prospecting, buildings, sawmills, bridges, and other equipment. One large flume, 6x5, 4 miles long, and in perfect condition; 2 Evans elevators, 2 No. 2 and 4 No. 4 Hendy giants, about 4000 feet of piping, 9 to 18 inches in diameter; 28 good buildings, including 1 large perfectly equipped blacksmith shop and 2 sawmills; I am not in position to operate so will sell at price that will make it a most desirable investment. Mrs. E. E. Stolle, residence 135 Hillside av., Piedmont, Cal. to Nov. 1, Atlanta, Elmore County, Ida. (c)

SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH'S REVIEW OF MARKET CONDITIONS

SEVERE SETBACK FOR STOCKS IN EASTERN MARKET

Trading Shows Rather Wide Losses for the Week on Speculative Shares.

Closing Prices on Liberty Bonds in New York.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Liberty Bonds final prices today were: 3½s, 99.52; first 4s, 95; second 4s, 93.90; first 4¼s, 95.20; second 4¼s, 94.12; third 4¼s, 95.36; fourth 4s, 94.30; Victory 3¾s, 100.40; Victory 4¾s, 99.94.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Evening Post, in its weekly financial review, says:

"However paradoxical the statement may appear to the enthusiastic speculators on the Stock Exchange, this week's collapse in prices was an undoubtedly happy event for the whole financial situation. Whether it is or is not to be carried further, probably depends on the course of those events to which Wall Street is now paying rather more attention than a week or so ago, when the news and the financial position did not interest it at all, and when prices were regarded as going up simply because they had already advanced for a long time and could not be expected to stop advancing.

This is a perilous mood for any financial community to get itself into. How far it had developed, last week and the week before, was shown by the impatience and irritation displayed at even the most obvious warning against the market. In the 'big time' of April, 1901, that state of mind had become so marked that anyone who expressed doubts regarding a further rise was avoided if not insulted in a broker's office. He was regarded as in some way a conspirator against prosperity and was denounced accordingly.

The Big Break in 1901.

"We had by no means got as far as that, this month, as was proved by the positive and nearly unanimous warnings to speculative clients, even in the broker's circulars. The result when the quite inevitable reaction did come in the spring of 1901, was a market in which, during two or three hours, half of the Wall Street commission houses were insolvent on their books. Nothing of the kind occurred this year, or was in the least probable.

"Futhermore, in 1919 (as in 1901) the severe reaction on the Stock Exchange had no bearing whatever on the general movement of prosperity. This was somewhat strikingly demonstrated by the fact that the debacle in the industrial stocks came in immediate sequence to a Government report which fulfilled, for the growing wheat crop which underlay so much of the expectations of American prosperity, the most glowing hopes that even Wall Street had entertained.

"The numerous implications of this 1,236,000,000 bushel estimate have even yet not been fully thought out. The 'billion bushel crop' of 1915 was sold, in an open market, at prices ranging from 98 cents to $1.39. Taking even $1.20 as the average, the 1,025,000,000-bushel crop should have sold at Chicago for $1,230,000,000. Last year's 970,000,000-bushel crop brought something more than the guaranteed $2.26 per bushel. Assuming $2.25 as the average, it must have been worth, all told $2,063,000,000. But if we take the present guaranteed price of $2.26 and assume a total yield of 236,000,000 bushels as foreshadowed by the department on Monday, we get the amazing valuation of $2,793,000,000. And this, let it be observed, is not in the least a hypothetical calculation or comparison, except in so far as the indicated 343,000,000 bushels for the spring wheat crop may be reduced through later vicissitudes of this season's weather.

New Plan for Exports.

"Mr. Davison's tentative outline at Chicago yesterday evening, of the possible machinery for our market's work in Europe's financial reconstruction, shows how novel an enterprise in many respects the undertaking is likely to be. He suggests a joint committee of financiers or statesmen, representing Europe itself, to pass on the needs of the various European states as they arise. On our side, there is suggested a similar organization or group of organizations in this country, in the nature of corporations including bankers, producers and investors, who would pass on the question of ways and means of financing the exports. This would be achieved through what Mr. Davison calls debentures, based on the commercial operations, but guaranteed by the importing European country.

"How far this interesting plan would work smoothly without something in the nature of a joint guarantee by more than one of the beneficiary states—how far, for instance, Poland or Czecho-Slovokia could alone command the necessary credit, is as yet apparently undetermined. In the past—say in the sequel to the Nepoleonic wars—the method adopted was for English merchants to ship to continental merchants who were familiar with the credit and financial capacity of consuming communities. In return, they took either shares in continental companies or obligations of the continental merchant. At the same time, foreign Government loans were underwritten by English bankers and subscribed by English investors.

"The outcome was the prosperity of England, whose place in the international finance and commerce of the nineteenth century is a part of history. We have yet to see what our participation in the new experiment of post-bellum reconstruction will mean to the economic future of the United States."

RECORD HOG PRICES ARE SCORED IN TRADING HERE

Week Shows Top of $21.40 at the National Stockyards; Cattle Prices Also Are Higher.

Reported for the Post-Dispatch by the National Livestock Commission Co., National Stockyards, Ill.

COMPARATIVE RECEIPTS.

	This Week.	Last Week.	Last Year.
Cattle.	17,500	20,400	30,000
Hogs.	63,300	93,200	60,000
Sheep.	21,600	12,400	13,000

The condition of the hog market last week was little short of phenomenal. The advance, based on the high point of yesterday's market, when $21.40 was paid for strictly choice heavies, a new record upon this market, showed at least $1.30 per cwt. higher on the good-weight hogs than closing prices of week before last; while pigs and light stuff average $1 per cwt. higher. Yesterday, after the first rounds were over, the trade settled back to Friday's basis, and on the late market $21.25 was the extreme crest.

The week's receipts were about 30,000 head lighter than the week prior, and the advance was attributed to this. Since the rainy spell ceased and farmers have been able to get to their work, the available supply naturally has dwindled, and as long as weather conditions remain as perfect for farm work as it is now, it is but logical to expect that the runs will not be so heavy.

Bulk of the good to choice hogs, 180 lbs. upward, are selling at $20.90 to $21.30; light and mixed hogs, 160 to 180 lbs., $19.75 to $20.85; best grades of 120 to 140 lb. pigs, $19.25 to $20; light pigs, $11 for common pewees, up to $19 for good 115-lb. grades; best roughs, $19.50 to $19.75. No Southern hogs here; good to choice kinds, 190 lbs. up, would sell from $20.75 to $21.25 if guaranteed corn-fed. Quality and fat is cutting a big figure.

Last week's cattle receipts were more moderate than for several weeks previous, and was the first reliable opportunity for the market to make any general recovery. Demand, while not materially broader than heretofore, was, nevertheless, buoyed up by the shrinkage in receipts; thus the result of the lighter run was a general satisfactory market for most classes. However, shortly after midweek there was a little let-up in the activity previously shown. Nevertheless, the advance that was scored was well maintained up to the close.

Fat steers netted an advance of 25c to 35c per cwt., while tidy, fat, light yearling butcher cattle were fully $1 per cwt. higher. The rank and file of cows and mixed stuff, canners included, annexed a 25c to 50c price improvement. Though there has been virtually no improvement whatever in the stocker and feeder situation, country buyers, in view of the unsavory turn of the market several weeks ago, were reluctant about taking on any cattle, and especially so in view of the fact that many high-priced feeders bought last winter were cashed, as fat animals, at satisfactory prices.

Fancy heavy beef steers are selling at $15.75 to $16.25; prime beef steers, $15 to $15.75; choice to prime, $14 to $15; good to choice, $12.50 to $14; medium to good, $11.50 to $12.50; common light fed steers, $10 to $11; good to choice heavy fleshy feeders, $11 to $12; good to choice feeders, $10 to $11; common to choice stockers, $9 to $11; common to medium, $7 to $9; choice to prime fat yearling butcher cattle, $14 to $15.50; good to choice, $12.50 to $14; common to medium, $8.50 to $12.50; choice to fancy heavy beef cows, $10 to $11; good to choice, $9 to $10; medium to good, $8 to $9; cutters, $6.25 to $7; canners, $5.75 to $6.25; good to choice stock cows, $7 to $8; good to choice stock heifers, $8 to $9; fat bulls, $10 to $11; heavy sausage bulls, $8.50 to $9.50; light sausage bulls, $7 to $8; common quality fleshy yearlings, $7 to $8; same quality thin yearlings, $5.75 to $6.25.

Last week's run of sheep was the heaviest since the big runs of last year; the trade was not so draggy, despite the increased supply, offerings being cleaned up fairly readily; spring and clipped lambs averaged about 25c lower, though in extreme cases 50c; the biggest decline developed on fat sheep, which sold $1 lower for the week. This may be traced to the fact that the proportion of such kinds was larger than usual.

Bulk of the good native lambs sell for $18 to $18.55; bulk of the native cull lambs, $13 to $13.50; bulk of the fat sheep, $8.50; choppers and bucks, $7; canners, $4 to $4.50; good to choice lightweight clipped lambs, $14.50; medium and heavy kind of clippers, $13.50 to $14.

COTTON 14 TO 40 POINTS LOWER AT CLOSE OF TRADE

Market Is Influenced by Better Weather at the Close of the Week; Spot Market Quiet.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The cotton market was quiet today, the volume of business being smaller, probably than on any previous Saturday for more than a month. Prices, consequently, responded readily to orders either way, and an early rally was followed by declines in the late trading which were probably influenced to some extent by the rather unsettled tone of the stock market and nervousness over call money rates. October sold off from 30.95c to 30.50c, and closed at 30.58c with the general list closing steady at a decline of 14 to 40 points.

The market opened at a decline of 7 to 21 points with active months selling about 20 to 25 points net lower right after the call in response to a favorable weather map, rather a bearish view of the week-end figures and the census report showing domestic mill consumption of 487,998 bales for May, against 575,862 last year. This report, however, was about in line with expectations, and the market stiffened up during the middle of the morning on covering and a little trade buying.

Reports of a continued good retail demand for goods may have encouraged the advance, but buying orders were supplied on a scale up from 31.10c to 31.40c for July, and from 30.40c to 30.65c for December. Prices then eased off under renewed liquidation with July selling off to 31.05c and December to 30.20c in the late trading.

Cotton futures closed steady; July 31.23c; Oct. 30.58c; Dec. 30.26c; Jan. 30.24c; March, 30.00c.

Cotton spot quiet; middling 32.75c.

CORN MARKET FIRM ON CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, June 14.—Attention to unpromising aspects of the crop outlook did much today to bring about fresh upturns in the value of corn. The market closed firm, ⅝c to 1⅛c higher, with July 173¼ to 173½ and September 166⅜ to 166½.

Oats finished ⅛c off to a like advance and provisions varying from 40c decline to a rise of 20c.

Belief appeared widespread among corn traders that the crop situation as a whole was distinctly less hopeful than had recently been expected. In particular it was said too plentiful moisture had made replanting necessary on a large scale, especially as to bottom land. With a consequent big volume of buying orders coming into the pit through commission houses and with receipts here dwindling it seemed impossible to check bullish sentiment. At times profit taking sales became heavy and the market weakened temporarily, but in every case quick rallies ensued. Eagerness to buy received added impetus from continued steep ascent of quotations on hogs.

Dealings in oats were mainly of a local character. One of the favorite operations was to buy July and sell September.

After reaching a new high price record for lard, the provision market showed lack of support. Selling, however, was not aggressive.

Master Salesmen

with executive ability wanted

A manufacturer must secure distributors from certain districts in Missouri who will build their own selling organizations for the purpose of marketing a product with a known market.

The distributor who secures territory must have financial responsibility, previous merchandising experience, be capable of building and managing a sales organization and willing to visit the factory to become thoroughly conversant with the manufacturing and selling problems.

Sufficient territory will be allotted to provide opportunity for building a large, profitable business with exceptional future possibilities.

The product is superior in merit to any of its kind. The profit margin is large enough to assure the distributor of a proposition that will present itself attractively to his salesmen and at the same time provide a very profitable business from their efforts.

Correspondence is especially invited of men who can qualify in the above points and who are looking for a high-class selling proposition. All replies will be treated in strictest confidence.

CROP DAMAGE REPORTS A FACTOR IN CORN MARKET

Futures Are 3¾c to 6½c Higher on the Week's Trading; Oats Also Show Upward Drift.

Crop scares and diminishing receipts made corn prices here last week run up to a new top level for the season. Compared with a week ago, values at the close yesterday in the corn market, were 2¾c to about 6½c higher. Oats showed gains of 1½c to about 3¾c.

Bullish sentiment which developed in the corn market was checked for a while by the re-establishment of the 200,000-bushel limit as the maximum of trading for any single interest. Federal Reserve Banking officials' orders to restrain over-speculation, also counted temporarily as the bearish influence. At this juncture, however, disquieting crop reports, together with evidence of a falling off in the arrival of supplies, turned the market strongly up grade.

Excessive moisture formed one of the principal sources of the anxiety that led to many bullish estimates on crop losses, and there was an unusual broadening out of demand, which was further stimulated by a nearly continuous assent of the hog market.

Uneasiness over the crop outlook stirred activity and strength in oats as well as in corn. The market ignored large receipts, which continued even after corn arrivals fell off. Export demands generally were quiet.

In ordinary years weather like that of the past week would be considered favorable for corn, as temperatures have been about seasonable and an abundance of moisture has fallen. Talk of weedy fields is a poor excuse to advance prices, as a few days of sunshine can materially change that condition, and any real hot weather would find the excessive moisture a blessing in disguise.

The truth of the matter is that cash corn is selling so materially above distant futures that prices must work higher for the options or the cash article decline, and the latter is not taking that course. Under such conditions any minor damage news, which always is prevalent at this season, can easily be used to run in shorts when the market becomes oversold as it did last week, owing to the most liberal receipts in primary markets on the crop. It will probably be found later that weather conditions have been nearly perfect, but the damage reports will have served their purpose.

Crop damage reports also played a prominent part in the oats market, as wet weather is said to have done harm over a considerable area of the growing belt. Close students of the weather map declare, however, that the damage has been magnified for speculative purposes, and that the crop generally is in excellent condition. Texas and the Southwest have a big yield against a poor one last year, and the grain is being harvested.

Receipts are heavy in primary markets and primary stocks are nearly 16,000,000 bushels, or slightly under last year's. Much of the buying in oats is because they look cheap as compared with corn. Speculatively speaking this is the same as a man buying a hat because he needs a pair of shoes.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

X. Y. Z.—We don't know.

B. C.—Write Patent Office.

SUSAN.—Lime in aluminum kettle might be boiled out with vinegar.

SUSAN.—Boil unpeeled potatoes in your aluminum teakettle to loosen the lime deposit. It will come away in scales when the kettle is washed, a little at a time. Repeat the boiling until the kettle is clear.

ANXIOUS.—Enlarged glands of necessity have no other symptoms than that they are enlarged and easily discernible, though in some forms they are painful. The treatment depends on the cause, and we would have to know the cause before we could recommend treatment.

DON'T KNOW.—It does not matter whether the husband or the wife's name is mentioned first (someone must be first) just so the title is vested in both spouses is all that is necessary to create a "tenancy by the entirety" which means that the one who survives takes the entire title (or property) in like manner as though the title had been solely vested in such survivor right along. No heirs or children of either spouse could come in.

FORGETFUL.—Wedding anniversaries: 1st, cotton; 2d, paper; 3d, leather; 4th, fruit and flowers; 5th, wooden; 6th, sugar; 7th, woolen; 8th, India rubber; 9th, willow; 10th, tin; 11th, steel; 12th, silk and fine linen; 13th, lace; 14th, ivory; 15th, crystal; 20th, china; 25th, silver; 30th, pearl; 40th, ruby; 50th, golden; 75th, diamond. Wedding anniversary gifts are not now the custom, although trifles in glass and silver are not out of place for those celebrating a 15th or a 25th day. For earlier festivities absurdities in wood or tin costing a few cents and covering some joke or timely allusion are sometimes brought by the guests—nothing more costly.

JOHN.—As to the homestead being all the real estate husband owns, the wife has the right to occupy the same during her life, or until her remarriage. She is also entitled to the household furniture absolutely and is entitled to an allowance for 1 yr.'s provisions, meats, etc. (if not on hand), upon petitioning court for such. Above no creditor of husband's estate can touch. As to any personal property that remains after payment of debts, court costs, etc., widow is entitled to a child's share, and such children all being of the first wife would not matter. If a will gives her less, or if not satisfied with its provisions, she may renounce it and take under the law as above. The life insurance payable to husband's estate is personal property of his estate.

H. H.—Dry batteries are made of dampened carbon cobalt. That all batteries have not the same life is due to the fact that they are dry from use, or leakage from evaporation through the top. Cheap batteries do not contain the quality of carbon found in high-grade batteries; hence it is useless to recharge cheap ones. A good high-grade battery will recharge three times before it is worthless. Take 6 wornout batteries, drill 4 holes in the top of each through the tar covering (a red hot nail or a small drill will do), so that the black carbon can be seen. Fill a pail with water, so that it will be about 1 inch higher than the tops of the batteries. Dissolve 3 good handfuls of common table salt in the water, do not use sal-ammoniac. Place the batteries in the pail in a standing position. Leave them for 8 hrs., stirring the salt water about twice during that time. After removing the batteries, stand them upside down to let what water will run out (about 2 hrs.). Then seal them with a hot soldering iron; connect them, and they are ready for use. This can be done 3 times.—Pop. Sci. Monthly.

EVERY DAY—Certain kinds of food make fat, principally the starches, the sugars and the fats, and we can hasten the reduction process by doing without these almost entirely. Following this rule, we will dispense with sugar, bread (except in very small quantities), potatoes, turnips, carrots, parsnips, beets—in fact, most root vegetables; rice, macaroni, peas, beans (except string beans); pork and all fat meats, salmon, herring, cream, cream sauces, cream soups, sweet puddings, pies and cakes, sweet wines, beer, ale, port, butter, oil in salad dressings, grapes, bananas, prunes. The meats allowed for an obesity diet are liver, kidneys, mutton, lamb, veal and lean beef in moderation; chicken is better than the meat. White fish and cod are allowable with oysters for fish. Eggs are essential. The vegetables which contain the least starch and sugar are spinach, lettuce, string beans, cabbage, cucumbers, tomatoes and beet greens. All must be cooked without milk or rich sauce. All the acid fruits are reducing and some of the sweet fruits are good if eaten raw or cooked without sugar. Bananas, grapes and figs are forbidden. Currants, oranges, grape fruit, cherries, apples and pears are allowed. Claret and white wine may be taken with restraint. The question of water-drinking is one that is open to discussion, and one that may best be solved by individual experiment.

MARIE.—A household writer says: There are various ways of renovating furniture. The best consists in the application of successive coats of varnish, each sandpapered and rubbed to what is known as a "piano finish." This method is the finish you will find on almost all the old mahogany of our grandfathers' days. The first thing, then, is to get off the dust and dirt, and to remove every particle of the old cracked and blackened varnish from the piece of furniture you wish to renovate. To do this you will need a cabinet scraper. These scrapers come in various shapes and sizes, and are made to fit the different angles and curves of the wood to be scraped. They may be bought for 10 or 15 cents each. The edges are draw-filed and ready for use. If the edge is rounded the scraper will do no work. If rough or nicked the wood will be scratched and perhaps ruined. If there is deep carving on the piece of furniture the operation must be varied. Take wood alcohol, and with a brush or cloth apply to every nook and crevice. Let it stand for a little while, and then wipe it off and scrape the wood clean as before directed. The wood alcohol will soften the varnish, so that it may be easily removed. Care must be taken not to allow the varnish to turn white. Should it do so apply more of the alcohol and wipe dry at once. If the alcohol once reaches the wood it will turn it white, provided it is mahogany, which is the only wood on which alcohol has this effect. It merely bleaches other woods. The wood being cleaned the surface must be made absolutely smooth. For this use double sandpaper. Smooth down all the rough spots, and fill all the cracks and holes with putty, which must be allowed to harden, when it may be stained to match the color of the wood. If the placing of the putty is carefully done even a large crack or a broken piece of veneer may be so hidden that it cannot be seen when the work is finished. The wood will then be ready for the varnish. The average amateur cannot understand that the art of varnishing differs very materially from painting. Paint is better for rubbing in with the brush, but varnish, because of its rapidity in drying, must be flowed on to the work. The work must always lay flat and remain so until the varnish has set. A varnish-brush is flat and fairly stiff and fine. Put plenty of varnish on the wood, avoiding too much rubbing with the brush. It will settle into a glazed surface if you have flowed it on evenly.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear father and grandfather, Rudolph Nobs, died June 13, 1918.

Sad and sudden was the call
For our dear father, loved by all;
We little thought that on that day
He would be called away.

Sadly missed by his DAUGHTER.

In remembrance of my dear husband and son, Gus Echterhoff, who departed this life June 13, 1913.

You are not forgotten, husband and son,
Nor ever will you be.
As long as our lives and memories last
We will remember thee.

Sadly missed by wife, son, mother and sisters.

In loving memory of our darling daughter, Cornelia Poser, who died one year ago, June 16.

Charles Stoeckle, killed June 15, 1916.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died three years ago.

Sadly missed by mother,
MRS. KATE NEUMAN, AND SISTER, MARGARET STOECKLE.

In loving memory of my dear husband and our father, Nicholas Schnell, on his seventy-first birthday, June 15.

In his lonely grave he's sleeping as the snowflakes onward fall,
And my lonely heart is weeping, no more his presence I can call;
Do not ask us if we miss him, O there's such a vacant place,
Oft we think we hear his footsteps or we see his smiling face;
Not gone from memory, not gone from love,
But gone to a fatherly home above.

Sadly missed by his wife,
MRS. MARY SCHNELL AND CHILDREN. (c)

In loving memory of our dear Albert J. Knecht, who so nobly answered the call of his country and of whom our dear Lord asked the supreme sacrifice on June 12, 1918, in the battle of Belleau Wood. He is resting in the cemetery at Belleau Wood.

Rest ye in peace, ye Belleau dead,
The fight that ye so bravely led
We've taken up and we will keep the faith
With you who lie
With each a cross to mark your bed,
And poppies growing overhead,
Where once his own life's blood ran red;
So let your rest be sweet and deep in Belleau Wood.

Sadly mourned and missed by father, sisters and brothers.

IN MEMORIAM

BERNHARDT'S; St. Louis' leading, most distinguished school; coolest in city; students receive European education in dance training without going to New York or abroad. We really do what all others claim they can do. If we fail, your efforts at other schools will be in vain. Positively no failures. Age limit, 5 to 75 years. Special—6 1-hour lessons, $1.25; private lessons any hour; classes every evening. Dancing Tuesday, Friday and Saturday. 4916A Delmar, upstairs.

BELMONT'S DANCE TALKS—It's surprising the number of students who come to us from other schools, where they were enrolled by false promises, that they would be taught the latest dances, such as the tickle-toe and Shimmer, only to be placed in the hands of incompetent teachers, with the result they were compelled to come to us. After one lesson they expressed their admiration at our system of teaching and the rapidity with which they mastered the new steps. A new pupil remarked: "I learned more in one lesson at Belmont's than I did in three at ——————." So why take chances, when you can get 12 lessons for $3? Classes for beginners and advanced pupils on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Your age makes no difference. We have the most satisfied classes in the city. Enroll at once, as our classes are limited. Remember, each pupil receives individual attention. Belmont School, Odeon Bldg. Established 1912. (c)

WE REQUIRE THE SERVICES OF SIX OR EIGHT ADDITIONAL STENOGRAPHERS FOR PERMANENT WORK AT OUR HEADQUARTERS IN THE CITY OF HOUSTON.

We not only pay as much or more than other people pay for similar work, but we distribute a monthly bonus in proportion to the quality and quantity of work performed. In addition to this we offer every person in our employ a chance to use his or her initiative and to take over greater responsibilities as rapidly as performance justifies.

Our organization is a large and growing one and those who work for us say they are happy and contented. We have regular office hours, but many of our employes come back after hours, without being requested to do so, because they are interested in their work. This practice has brought promotion for some of our stenographers, but there is nothing to prevent you from coming down here and quickly advancing to more important work and bigger pay, through the same sort of service.

These stenographic jobs would not suit the clock-watcher or the person whose social engagements were considered more important than our work. If you can spell and punctuate with accuracy; if you are willing to understand your work well enough to learn to love it; if you have the ambition to use your stenography as a stepping stone to executive responsibility; and, if you are willing to pay the price which all who succeed must pay, get in touch with us. Tell us how much you are making, how much experience you have had and state what salary you are willing to accept.

S. E. J. COX, PRESIDENT,
PRUDENTIAL SECURITIES COMPANY,
HOUSTON, TEXAS.

FORTY PER CENT BONUS

We pay a weekly bonus of 40 per cent on your earnings and will give you an extra bonus of 5 per cent at Christmas on all you will earn between now and Dec. 1.

Our factory is the cleanest, lightest and coolest in the city, with scores of electric fans and a cooling system which provides an abundance of refreshing drinking water.

The foreladies in our factory will take a personal interest in you. Competent teacher will instruct you in the work.

Come in and talk it over with Miss Herzog; she will be glad to explain in detail.

NEW ERA SHIRT FACTORY, 901 Lucas. (c5)

WE REQUIRE THE SERVICES OF SIX OR EIGHT ADDITIONAL STENOGRAPHERS FOR PERMANENT WORK AT OUR HEADQUARTERS IN THE CITY OF HOUSTON.

We not only pay as much or more than other people pay for similar work, but we distribute a monthly bonus in proportion to the quality and quantity of work performed. In addition to this we offer every person in our employ a chance to use his or her initiative and to take over greater responsibilities as rapidly as performance justifies.

Our organization is a large and growing one and those who work for us say they are happy and contented. We have regular office hours, but many of our employes come back after hours, without being requested to do so, because they are interested in their work. This practice has brought promotion for some of our stenographers, but there is nothing to prevent you from coming down here and quickly advancing to more important work and bigger pay, through the same sort of service.

These stenographic jobs would not suit the clock-watcher or the person whose social engagements were considered more important than our work. If you can spell and punctuate with accuracy; if you are willing to understand your work well enough to learn to love it; if you have the ambition to use your stenography as a stepping stone to executive responsibility; and, if you are willing to pay the price which all who succeed must pay, get in touch with us. Tell us how much you are making, how much experience you have had and state what salary you are willing to accept.

S. E. J. COX, PRESIDENT,
PRUDENTIAL SECURITIES COMPANY,
HOUSTON, TEXAS.

CLOTHING

FOR SALE

IF you are hit upon these words, "up against it" or "down and out," call "Abrams First for Clothes." Our "Free and Easy" way of doing business "makes it easy" to do business with you, and "free" with good advice to help the struggling masses of humanity on the "road to success." There is no time in life that you get so "down and out" that you can't get into the "Land of Beginning Again;" "Start Anew;" we "Are Calling You" With our 5 large stores, 120 feet, filled with "bargains galore." If we don't get your "money for clothes" here you don't spend your "dough" right. What you "save when you spend your dough is your profit." "Install the Abrams' System of clothes buying and save. Dress up, look prosperous. Don't go around looking "down and out." For 10 years we have saved thousands of dollars for the clothes-buying public. Be "awake" to the "fact" your personal appearance "must count." We have "placed on sale" hundreds of suits, pants, coats and vests, which means a big saving to you. We have in "store" for you high-class suits; you can afford to wear two or three suits a season for the price of the customary one by purchasing our uncalled-for garments from our cleaning department; garments are tailor-made and from the best manufacturers. Can you wear 34, 36, 38, 43, 40, 46 to 50 sizes? Also, English and plain models, $7.50 to $15.00. Vests, 25c; pants, $2 to $3.95; coats, $3 to $6.50; mohair suits, $10; Palm Beach suits, $3.95, $5 and $7.50; Mohair Cool Cloth Suits, $7.49 to $9.98; uncalled-for Stetson hats, 95c. Open Sundays until 6 p. m. Abram Cleaners and Dyers, 926 S. Vandeventer, near Chouteau. Mail orders filled. Both phones. Liberty Bonds accepted.

DON'T buy "friendship," buy clothes. This is no time with the "high cost" of living to play that "old friendship stuff." It won't get you "anywhere." Don't play the "high-priced salesman or the high-priced rent." it "adds nothing but expense to the clothes." Come to "the place to buy clothes," out of the high-rent, high-priced salesmen and one thousand other expenses we don't have here. We give you the goods at the price. It's the "buying and selling end" in business that counts. "Buy right" to sell right. To sell right is the "low selling expenses that count. The reason is this: Everyone who "works" here is a "producer." We have no "four-flushing" floor walkers, window trimmers, no expensive "advertising man," who "takes the dough all out" and "puts" none in the cash register, which add nothing but expense to your clothes. Just go into those high-priced clothing stores, where they "slam out" those $50, $65 and $75 suits at you. "Shock absorbers" are not necessary here. Play our "close-to-the-shore-profits" policy; all we ask of you, "go shopping around" first and come here last, and if we don't get your "dough" you certainly must have "Dr. Sweeney" examine your head. We are the only store in St. Louis showing "real" plain and silk-lined $30 and $35 blue, green, brown flannel waist-line suits at these prices: $19.98, $21.98, $22.98, $24.98 and $27.98. Don't spend "a dollar for clothes" until you see our "spring line." "Pay less; buy more." To the "Drummers' Sample Clothes Shop." Five big stores in one; 6c fare saves you $5 to $7.50; Vandeventer, Market, Sarah, Manchester, Chouteau and all other lines transfer to our door. "We've got the place, the goods at the price." A "price concession to our returning soldiers." "Sample suits," $13.30, $14.44, $16.66, $18.39, $19.45, $21.89, $24.85. Mohair suits, $12.98, $14.98; Palm Beach, $8.98 and $9.98. What the Drummers' Sample Clothes Shop means to you: These fine garments are made by the manufacturers for display or modeling purposes for traveling salesmen; they are made much better than the regular goods; after they show them off, we buy them at a big discount; we give you the benefit of our immense buying capacity; this policy enables us to save you $5 to $7.50. Sample pants, $2.48, $2.98, $3.46, $4.98; tailor-made suits cost up to $35; our price, $19.50, $22.50, $26.75. We again announce our "Trade-in-Sale" Department. We will make you a liberal allowance on your old clothes for new ones. "The place to buy clothes," 926 S. Vandeventer av., near Chouteau. Liberty bonds accepted. (c)

AMERICAN LEADERSHIP IN MUSIC IS PLANNED

President Conroy Tells of Intensive Campaign to Be Made by National Body.

To make the United States the foremost country in all things pertaining to music of all kinds, was declared to be the aim of the National Association of Music Merchants, at its convention at the Congress Hotel, Chicago, last week, and before adjournment steps were taken for a nation-wide campaign of education which is to be gotten under way at once.

P. E. Conroy of St. Louis, was reelected president of the organization, and it was on his motion that it was decided to hold a mammoth musical display in New York in February, at the Commodore Hotel, immediately after the automobile show. It is planned to have the best available vocal and instrumental talent obtainable as attractions at the exhibit, and manufacturers and dealers everywhere are expected to help provide a large guarantee fund.

President Conroy, who has just returned from the convention, says now is the most favorable time to get the public interested in music, and with the co-operation that will come from the people the United States will quickly show the rest of the world the way in all things musical. "Our convention," Conroy said, "entered into this plan wtih real enthusiasm, and we are going to work along intensive, practical lines to put music where it has had little chance to get in the past. The war is over and the people are now in a mood to take to music and enjoy its uplifting influence. While we were holding our convention the Chamber of Commerce of Musical Industries was also in session and our campaign will be handled with every interest participating.

Self-Imposed Tax.

"Our organization pledged itself to paste a 25-cent stamp on every piano its members sell, which will represent a tax that we assume ourselves for the expense of our campaign propaganda. As there are 400,000 pianos sold yearly, we thus have a fund of $100,000 from this source alone, and the manufacturers will also guarantee substantial aid. We do not intend to wait for the big show in New York next February, but will organize wherever there is fruitful soil, to encourage and support those who are creating an interest in music. We are not going to specialize on the subject, but will work for music in its broadest sense and will co-operate with all the symphony organizations, conservatories, singing societies and musical clubs, as well as dealers in pianos, phonographs and everything else that suggests music.

"That we mean to furnish substantial encouragement can be gathered from our agreement to take 100 season tickets for our St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, which is recognized as one of the most artistic of its kind in the country. Such organizations must be encouraged, as they have an important mission to perform in bringing the public taste and desire to good music. Then we hope to have the schools go into the subject more emphatically, and allow pupils who pursue this study credits on the same basis as are allowed for other courses. Children who have had no chance to hear good music are to be given that opportunity with the development of our plan, and the refining influence that goes with such training will be reflected in the years to come in better men and women.

Obligation Shifted to United States.

"The United States, on account of the more or less chaotic condition in Europe resultant from the war, will have to take the responsibility of conserving all things musical for many years to come, and perhaps indefinitely. These conditions are understood and it is, of course, up to us to do our part. We must develop the love of music to a higher level than ever before, and the field is here and now."

The proposal to establish national conservatories in different parts of the country, under Government auspices, is warmly supported by the association, but the St. Louis dealers insist that one of the establishments should be in this city. "We hope," said President Conroy, "to make the United States the center of music for the entire world and to make St. Louis the center for the United States. That is an outcome certainly worth going after."

The next convention of the national association will be held in New York during the show week, which, it is claimed, will be the most important event ever attempted in this country by the artists and musical interests.

SISSON ATTACKS RAYMOND ROBBINS

Declares Latter Was Hostile to Search for Truth About Bolsheviks.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—In a letter to the editor of the Washington Star, Edgar Sisson, who, as representative of the Committee on Public Information, went to Russia and obtained documents purporting to show a conspiracy between Germany and the Russian Soviet Government, sharply attacks Raymond Robins, former Red Cross Commissioner to Russia, for "blind support of the Bolsheviks."

Sisson declares that, in his search for the truth about the Bolsheviks, he had the hostility of Robins, but the "complete support of Ambassador Francis."

"Robins," he says, "refused to take part in any inquiry which might incriminate the Bolsheviks. So I went on without him, woefully disappointed in him and obliged to guard my work from him.

"Robins and I did not speak in the last weeks he was in Petrograd, he stalking from my room one night in anger, when I sought to reason him out of his position, and I, after a final effort, determining that the situation he created should last through all time. I dug then into German-Bolshevik conspiracy until I had the bones of it.

"Within two weeks photographs of matter I wanted were being made daily in the file rooms at Smolny, the headquarters of the Bolsheviks. Then the week of panic came, the week preceding the signing of the final Brest-Litovsk treaty, the week the Germany army threatened Petrograd, and with panic came opportunity to get the original letters set forth as such in my report.

"Robins knows nothing of that week. He was gone from Petrograd, having hitched his car onto the train which carried Ambassador Francis to Vologda. The departure of the Ambassador and the Consulate was necessary, as it would have been senseless to give the Germans an opportunity to laugh over the capture of high American officials.

"But why Robins took the Red Cross away, I do not know. He did not return to Petrograd until the middle of the next week, after the Brest-Litovsk treaty had been signed, and Petrograd was again safe enough for anyone. Even then he stayed only a day or so.

"In that week, when the files of the Bolshevik secret department were being packed at Smolny for shipment to Moscow, I made the plan to get the originals, and brave and skillful Russians carried it through to success."

Sisson asserts that no legitimate contention against the authenticity of the documents has been made, or even can be made.

"They are the truth," he continues, "and so attested by the National Board for historical service, so accepted by Russian scholars in Europe and conceded in Germany itself.

"The cynical Bolsheviks in Russia never would have denied the allegations if they had not known that their dupes would go shrieking through the world denying them.

"Prof. Hans Vorst, over his signature stated in the Berlin Tageblatt that after inquiry in Russia at the scene itself he was obliged to admit 'reluctantly' that the documents were authentic; that the German General Staff had a branch in Petrograd from the beginning of the Bolshevik revolution and that the orders it gave were carried out with alacrity by Lenine and Trotsky.

All World Knows.

"All the world except America seems to appreciate the full of the German-Bolshevik plan, how its efforts for anarchy in all Entente and friendly neutral countries, as well as in Hungary and Austria, were intensified immediately after the armistice and how the sinister assault continues. Yet in America, too, the truth about Bolshevism is to become a target for abuse and innuendo."

Sisson declares that his report did its work on the night of May 9, 1918, when, within a few hours of his arrival in Washington, and months before the report was given to the newspapers, it first was placed in the hands of President Wilson.

"The campaign for recognition of the Bolsheviks," he adds, "was assured that night of perpetual defeat."

Sisson says that the documents are now in Government keeping, in one sealed package, and not as had been reported, "a part of 200 mail bags" at the State Department.

A NEW COLUMBUS CROSSES THE ATLANTIC

The Santa Maria's first venturesome voyage of discovery and the triumphant air crossing by NC-4, though separated by 427 years of time, meet at this point: When Lieut. Commander A. C. Read brought the American navy's winning Transatlantic seaplane from the Azores to Lisbon his landfall might have been with but slight divergence the little Spanish port of Palos, on that same Iberian coast, whence Christopher Columbus set out for the conquest of new worlds in 1492. The NC-4 made the final hop to Plymouth, England, a glowing reminder that next year is the three hundredth anniversary of the Mayflower's landing at Plymouth, Mass.

THE BOMBPROOFER.

Soft? Say, listen, you with the golden stripe
  Showin' a piece of flyin' shrapnel bit you;
Me, I'm talkin', got a few words to pipe,
  Though if I done the way I felt, I'd hit you;
Soft I've had it, 'twasn't no fault of mine,
  It was for soldier's work I joined this army,
Not to be anchored miles from the battle line,
  Where there is nothin' comes along to harm me.

    Orders is orders, yours for a trench,
    Mine to stick here 'cause I parleyed the French,
    I didn't want it, but that was my stunt,
    Me, who had dreamed about life at the front!

Soft? Say, Buddy, maybe you think it's fun
    When I return, with fellers that's been in battle,
Meet my folks an' tell 'em that all I done
  Was stayin' here, interpretin' Frenchies' prattle;
Ask for transfer? I've tried every way on earth,
  Told my Captain, "I wanted to fight in France, sir,
Not to linger, fillin' a bombproof berth!"
  "This is the place you're needed," was my answer.

    Orders is orders; yours to the spot
    Where all the shells an' the gas make it hot,
    Mine to be doin' a job that is tame
    Wishin' to hell I was playin' the game!

Soft is right; but not what I came here for,
  Me that was sick of things I was doin' daily,
Me, expectin' a different life in war,
  Me, who, seekin' for thrills, enlisted gayly.
Soft, you said it. I sleep in a comfy bed,
  Dreamin' of war, wishin' that I was in it,
Soft for me, who'd rather be up there, dead,
  Than in this job, hatin' it every minute.

    Orders is orders—you got your chance,
    Glory an' hardship of service in France,
    I've et my heart out with envyin' you,
    See the point, Buddy? All right, then, I'm through!

NIGHT AT THE FRONT.

Night at the front—an' star shells soarin',
  Lightin' up No Man's Land,
Mutter of men, an' the big boys roarin'
  Back where the gunner's stand;
Squelch of the mud, for the skies are pourin'.
  Rotten—but ain't it grand?

Night on the front—an' the rockets glarin'
  Signals, I guess, an' now
Up through the dark our planes are tearin',
  There goes a gas shell "pow!"
Look where the night barrage is flarin'
  Makin' a fearful row!

Night on the front—an' you slip an' tumble
  Huntin' the place you're bound.
Jerry's batteries roll and rumble,
  Searchin' our hidin' ground,
Archie chatters, an' "bumble, bumble"
  Gothas are dronin' round!

Night on the front—an' the front is seethin'
  Bubblin' with death an' hate,
Stretched along like a dragon, breathin'
  Flames of a fiery fate,
Or one of them Moloch gods that's heathen,
  Cruel an' fierce, but great!

Night on the front—an' machine guns drummin',
  Spatterin' mud, lay low!
Wow! Hear that? It's a big one hummin'.
  Lord, what a gorgeous show!
Night on the front—our relief is comin'
  Pick up your pack, let's go!

THE LITTLE GUY.

You never can tell by a Frenchy's looks
  What kind of a fightin' man he is,
The hero bird that you meet in books
  Is a husky guy with a noble phiz,
But I went to a vaudeville show last night
  An' I bought a drink from the waiter there,
He was four feet seven or so in height,
  But the son of a gun had the Croix de Guerre!

He was just a kid with a girlish face
  An' his weight was ninety or ninety-five,
His figger hadn't no manly grace,
  His eye was gentle, but man alive!
Though he looked too fragile to pack a gun
  He'd croaked 10 boches, that was his share,
An' got six wounds in that hell, Verdun;
  So the son of a gun had the Croix de Guerre!

With fifty pounds on his slender back
  He'd marched for days till he reached the front,
You'd swear he couldn't of borne a pack,
  But somehow or other he did the stunt;
In gas an' shell fire he'd stood the gaff,
  An' gone through things that 'ud raise your hair,
His meek appearance would make you laugh;
  But the son of a gun had the Croix de Guerre.

So I sits and looks at that puny chap
  And I says to myself, and knows it's true:
"It ain't your body that wins a scrap,
  It's the spirit in you that sees you through,
And the soul of that kid is the soul of France
  The world's great hope and the Hun's despair,
The boy's not much to a careless glance;
  But the son of a gun has the Croix de Guerre!"

FRENCHY.

They called us Yanks and we called them Frogs.
  But what is there in a name?
In summer's dust and in winter's bogs
  We'd seen how they played the game.
We'd watched 'em march with a slouchin' gait—
  Their packs was a holy fright;
They rattled an' banged like a local freight,
  But Lord, how those Frogs could fight!

'Twas "no comprenny" an' "ne parlais"
  With most of the birds we met;
But we liked each other a lot, I'll say,
  Them poilus is men, you bet.
Their uniform fit like a burlap bag,
  Their caps are a joke, for fair,
Their belts are loose an' their trousers sag,
  But the Frogs in a scrap are there.

No, they ain't so much when it comes to style,
  They're stubby an' short an' small;
But there's something fine in their sunny smile,
  An' the light in their eyes, an' all,
That sure did get us, an' though their ways
  We couldn't quite understand,
We found, in the worst of our fightin' days
  The poilus were right on hand.

We called 'em Frogs an' they called us Yanks,
  But brothers we was, ah oui;
An' we didn't laugh at their shamblin' ranks
  When we thought of their pedigree.
We fought beside 'em against the boche
  Till all of the war was through,
An' the feller that rides the Frogs, b'gosh,
  Will mix with the doughboy, too!

THE SHAVETAIL.

To them I'm a "Louie," that's all,
  They bear me with patience and phlegm,
While I—well at heart I just fall
  In something like worship of them;
There never were such boys before,
  It may be there won't be again,
My smiling, unscarable, gentle and terrible,
  Bully American men!

    It's "Come to salute" when we meet
    In barrack and billet and street,
    But if I should do as I felt,
    In spite of my bar and my belt,
    I'd hug 'em like brothers, and then,
    I'd take off my cap to my men.

They view me as sort of a joke,
  Obey me because it's the code;
But I sort of swallow and choke
  When seeing them march up a road;
Oh boy, they're so big-limbed and strong,
  So calm and so cheerful, that when
I march with a crowd of them, I'm so darned proud of them
  I want to cheer for my men.

They'll plunge into hell at the word,
  Come out of it, half of them gone,
And then, as though nothing'd occurred,
  Pick out a fresh hell—and go on!
They're humorous, tender and stern,
  And, oh, but it's great to have been
Along with these cootie-full, muddified, beautiful,
  Gorgeous American men!

    It's "Louie" they call me, but who
    Is likely to mind if they do?
    They've done the real work in this show,
    I'll say that they have, and I know,
    And, take it from me once again,
    There's nothing on earth like my men!

MUD.

No, it isn't the shells or the horrible smells
  (Though they give us quite trouble enough),
And it isn't patrol that brings chills to the soul,
  Nor the danger and all of that stuff;
It isn't the "whee!" of the flying H. E.,
  Nor the bullet which lands with a thud,
That makes of the front such a nerve-racking stunt,
  It's the mud, yes, believe me, the mud!

        Oh, Bud!
      You'll certainly swear at the mud;
        The gummy and gluey
        And scummy and gooey
      Result of continued flood,
        The swamp-and-muck blend of it,
        World-without-end of it,
          Mud!

Oh, it gets everywhere, in your eyes and your hair,
  Your mess kit, your mask and your gun;
You're caked with its slime three-fourths of the time,
  Each shoe weighs exactly a ton.
The duckboards sink deep in the stuff, and you sleep
  Where it fairly soaks into your blood,
That's what we abhor, in this weary old war,
  The mud—boy, you said it—the mud.

        Oh, Bud,
      You chew it like cows do a cud;
        This grimy, eternal
        And slimy, infernal
      Admixture that comes with the flood,
        This worst-of-all-things to us,
        Gosh, how it clings to us.
          Mud.

Peace Makes Busy Times for Stamp Collectors

FOR the first time in 20 years the United States Government has especially prepared a series of its postage stamps for use in a foreign land. On account of the confusion associated with the price of silver today, such franking labels are to be put in circulation in China.

Not since the days of the Spanish-American War have United States stamps with overprinted markings, which philatelists call "surcharges," been put into use in territory outside of the United States. During that period, surcharged American adhesives were dispatched to Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines and Guam for temporary or provisional use on mail originating in those former Spanish possessions.

The stamps now being prepared by order of the Postoffice Department are to be sold only through the United States postal agency at Shanghai, and for the prepayment of postage only on mail which is deposited through that agency for transmission to addresses in the United States and colonies. The prices at which these adhesives will sell in Shanghai differ in that it will require twice as much Chinese silver money, to buy one stamp, as the purchaser will have to surrender if he makes payment in gold.

It is to simplify this method of payment that the Government decided to incorporate in the text of the surcharge an additional value which amounts to twice the face value of each stamp. To illustrate, the overprint on the 1-cent label will read—"Shanghai—2 cent—China" in three lines, while the new value of the 4-cent stamp will read "8 cent." Similarly the 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 12, 15, 20, 30 and 50 cent and $1 denominations are being overprinted with the name of city and country and an additional value. The 10-cent special delivery stamp also is treated in this manner. Of the current series, only the 11 and 13 cent denominations are not to be thus surcharged.

In a circular issued to Postmasters throughout the country, A. M. Dockery, Third Assistant Postmaster-General, alluding to the Shanghai issue, states that the overprinted text is to be black on all the stamps except the 7-cent and $1 denomination, on which it is to be red, for the reason that the 7-cent itself is black and the $1 is violet-brown. The circular adds:

"The Shanghai surcharged stamps will not be issued to Postmasters in the United States."

The effect of this order is that philatelists probably will not be able to enter postoffices in this country and purchase the stamps of this novel issue. Instead, it is apparent they will have to wait until the Postoffice Department has dispatched the labels all the way to China, where dealers' agents will at once purchase large quantities and send them back to the United States for sale to collectors.

The reconstruction period in Europe is producing many new postage stamps. Hundreds of these already have appeared, and the philatelic albums and catalogues of the future will contain sections under names which do not now appear in these collectors' volumes.

From Czecho-Slovakia alone there have emanated several score of varieties since the dual monarchy, Austria-Hungary, disintegrated under war pressure. Jugo-Slavia has issued at least 30 different ones for use within that new country, not to mention many others which the Jugo-Slavs put in circulation within the history-making port of Fiume. The Hungarian republic has put forth 28 for temporary use until a permanent series can be printed. Italy has issued, for se in Fiume, approximately 40 varieties, and it is conjectured whether these will still be allowed in use should Fiume become a free city. Esthonia has established philatelic identity, with at least four varieties; as have Livonia, with 11; Ukraine, with about 30; South Russia, 4, and the Republic of Poland, with more than 60. The reconstruction period has affected also the philately of Bulgaria, Rumania and probably Serbia. And in one sense the reconstruction era may be said to embrace various "victory stamps," including the one issued by the United States, a series by Siam, and those to come from Japan, Canada and other countries; and a commemorative set in Belgium.

The news dispatches from England that the mail pouch on the Sopwith airplane in which Harry G. Hawker and Commander Mackenzie Grieve attempted their transatlantic flight was salvaged is of interest to philatelists. In this pouch it is understood that there were 110 letters, each bearing a 3-cent Newfoundland stamp, with the surcharge "First Transatlantic Air Post, April 1919," in five lines. "April" appears in the overprint because it had been expected the birdmen would start during that month. The sinking of the mail pouch would have lost to collectors what may be destined to become some of the rarest of stamps. Collectors in England are on the watch to obtain the canceled copies of this issue, which, of course, is an unprecedented one. It is reported only 200 copies were printed, 23 being spoiled during manufacture and the Postmaster-General of Newfoundland retaining 66 in his possession.

The Strange Case of Cavendish

"A great lead! By God, it is! Now to prove it, Stella"—Farriss always resorted to first names—"you drop everything else and go to this, learn what you can, spend money if you have to. I'll drag Willis off police, and you work with him. And, damn me, if you two spend money, you've got to get results! I'll give you a week—when you've got something, come back!"

CHAPTER V.

ON THE TRACK OF A CRIME.

IN THE city room of the Star, Farriss, the city editor, sat back in his swivel chair smoking a farewell pipe preparatory to going home. The final edition had been put to bed, the wires were quiet, and as he sat there Farriss was thinking of plunging "muskies" in Maine streams. His thoughts were suddenly interrupted by a clatter of footsteps, and, slapping his feet to the floor, he turned to confront Willis and Miss Donovan.

"Great God!" he started, at their appearance at so late an hour.

Miss Donovan smiled at him. "No; great luck!"

"Better than that, Mr. Farriss," echoed Willis. "We've got something; and we dug all week to get it."

"But it cost us real money—enough to make the business office moan, I expect, too," Miss Donovan added.

"Well, for Pete's sake, shoot!" demanded Farriss. "Cavendish, I suppose?"

The two nodded. Their eyes were alight with enthusiasm.

"In the first place," said the girl, with grave emphasis, "Frederick Cavendish did not die intestate as supposed. He left a will."

Farriss blinked. "By God!" he exclaimed. "That's interesting. There was no evidence of that before."

"I got that from the servants of the College Club," Willis interposed. "The will was drawn the night before the murder. And the man that drew it was Patrick Enright of Enright & Dougherty. Cavendish took away a copy of it in his pocket. And, Mr. Farriss, I got something else, too—Enright and young John Cavendish are in communication further. I saw him leaving Enright's office all excited. Following my hunch, I cultivated Miss Healey, Enright's stenographer, and learned that the two had an altercation and that it was evidently over some document."

Farriss was interested.

"Enright's in this deep," he muttered thoughtfully, "but how? Well—what else?"

Stella Donovan began speaking now:

"I fixed it with Chambers, the manager of the Fairmount, to get Josetta La Beaume—she's Valois' fiancee, you remember—into the hotel as a maid. Josette 'soaped the keyhole' of the drawers in John Cavendish's rooms there. I had a key made from the soap impression, and from the contents of the correspondence we found I learned that Celeste La Rue, the blonde of the Revue, had got some kind of hold on him. It isn't love, either; it's something stronger. He jumps when she holds the hoop."

"La Rue's mixed up in this deeply, too," Willis cut in. "Neither of us could shadow her without uncovering ourselves, so we hired an International operative. That cost $10 a day—and expenses. What he learned was this—that while she was playing with young Cavendish and seeing him almost daily, the lovely Celeste was also in communication with—guess who!"

"Enright?" Farris ventured.

"Exactly—Enright," he concluded, lighting his half-smoked cigarette.

"Well," the city editor tapped his desk; "you two have done pretty well, so far. You've got considerable dope. Now, what do you make of it?"

He bent an inquiring gaze on both the girl and the youth.

"You do the talking, Jerry," Miss Donovan begged Willis; "I'm very tired."

Willis was only too eager; Willis was young, enthusiastic, reliable—three reasons why the Star kept him.

"It may be a dream," he said, smiling, "but here is the way I stack it up. The night after he quarreled with John, Frederick Cavendish called in Enright and made a will, presumably cutting John off with practically nothing.

"Immediately after Frederick's departure, Enright calls Carlton's Cafe and talks to John Cavendish, who had been dining there with Celeste La Rue.

"It is reasonable to suppose that he told him of the will. Less than five hours afterward Frederick Cavendish is found dead in his apartments. Again it is reasonable to suppose that he was croaked by John Cavendish, who wanted to destroy the will so that he could claim the estate.

"These Broadway boys need money when they travel with chorines. Anyhow, the dead man is buried, and John starts spending money like water. One month later he receives a letter—Josette patched the pieces together—asking him to call at Enright's office.

"What happened there is probably this: Young Cavendish was informed of the existence of the will, and it was offered to him at a price which he couldn't afford to pay—just then.

"Perhaps he was frightened into signing a promise to pay as soon as he came into the estate—tricked by Enright. Enright, as soon as he heard no will had been found in Frederick's effects, may have figured that perhaps John killed him, or even if he did not, that, nevertheless, he could use circumstances to extract money from the youngster, who, even if innocent, would fear the trial and notoriety that would follow if Enright publicly disclosed the existence of that will. John Cavendish may be innocent, or he may be guilty, but one thing is certain—he's being badgered to death by two people, from what little we know. One of them is the La Rue woman, the other is Enright.

"Now I wonder—Mr. Farriss, doesn't it occur to you that they may be working together, like the woman and the man in the Skittles case last year? You remember then they got a youngster in their power and nearly trimmed him down to his eyeteeth!"

Farriss sat reflecting deeply, chewing the stem of his dead pipe.

"There's something going on—that's as plain as a red banner-head. You've got a peach of a start, so far, and done good pussyfooting—you, too, Stella—but there's one thing that conflicts with your hypothesis"——

The two leaned forward.

"Valois statement that he was almost positive that the dead man was not Cavendish," the city editor snapped.

"I now believe Valois is mistaken, in view of developments," said Willis with finality. "So does Stella—Miss Donovan, I mean. Remember the body was charred across the face and chest—and Valois was excited."

Farriss was silent a moment.

"Stick to it a while longer," he rapped out; "and get La Rue and Cavendish together at their meeting place, if you can discover it."

"We can!" interjected Willis. "That's something I learned less than an hour ago. It's Steinway's Cafe, the place where the police picked up Frisco Danny and Mad Mike Meighan two years ago. I followed them, but could not get near enough to hear what they said."

"Then hop to it," Farriss rejoined. "Stick around there until you get something deeper. As for me—I'm going home. It's 2 o'clock."

La-May Face Powder Stays On Better Than Any Other

Now you can use a pure face powder that beautifies your complexion wonderfully and is guaranteed not to injure the most delicate baby skin. And it really stays on better than any other face powder. It does not contain white lead or starchy rice powder (Poudre de Riz) to make it stick. White lead poisons the skin and rice powder turns into a gluey paste that encourages enlarged pores, blackheads and rice powder pimples. The specialist who makes this improved powder uses a medicinal ingredient that doctors use to heal the skin. In fact, this new powder helps to prevent and reduce enlarged pores and pimples. It is also astringent, discouraging flabbiness, crows' feet and wrinkles. Because it is pure and because it stays on so well this La-may powder (French, Poudre L'Ame) is now used by over a million American women. The large size is only fifty cents and the trial size is twenty-five cents. Remember, La-may is guaranteed absolutely pure. Five thousand dollars reward is offered any chemist who finds it contains any white lead or rice powder. Refuse substitutes. Your common sense will tell you that when you are offered a substitute it is sure to be a demonstrator trying to sell an inferior powder that pays a big commission. When you use this absolutely pure La-may and see how splendidly it beautifies your complexion, you will understand why it so quickly became the most popular beauty powder sold in New York. Save this notice.

First Story of the "Mouse Trap," Uncle Sam's Most Secret and Carefully Guarded War Factory

Plant where one thousand men were isolated to make a liquid of almost incredible deadliness—Work so dangerous that by armistice day practically all had been in the hospital —Immense quantity of "gas" ready for spring drive, but actually none of it was used in battle — All has now been destroyed :-: :-:

By HARRY A. MOUNT.

ALL honor to the man who had the fearless courage to charge single handed a Hun machine-gun nest, and single handed, wipe it out. But not all of our heroes of the great war were found on the battlefields.

Some of them worked for months under conditions more hazardous than service in the front-line trenches and so far their heroic acts, which would have won medals overseas, have remained unrecorded. Thousands of them have returned quietly to civil life bearing merely as their reward the silver chevrons that denote service at home.

Among them were workers in poison gas factories. One thousand men toiled for nearly a year behind a barbed-wire stockade, guarded day and night, denied even the freedom of talking of their work with outsiders. They could not even tell wives and mothers where they were and the work was so hazardous that a 60-bed hospital provided for them was at times overcrowded. It is said not a single man escaped a trip to the hospital.

Denied even the ordinary pleasures of camp life, they worked like madmen until some of them actually collapsed, physically. They were urged on by the thought that the thing they were making meant the absolute destruction of a great part of the German army and a speedy termination of the war. On their efforts hung the lives of thousands of our boys overseas.

The thing they were making was "Methyl," a new poison gas, the most deadly substance known to man.

"Methyl," like "mustard gas," is really not a gas, but a heavy liquid, with almost the consistency of maple syrup. It is a light amber in color and has the fragrance of geranium blossoms. And yet it is so deadly that a single drop on the palm of a man's hand quickly penetrates to the blood and an agonizing death surely results in a few hours. There is no known way to stop its action.

Scientists of the Chemical Warfare Service—and that is the organization to which these men belonged—estimate that Methyl is 72 times more poisonous than mustard gas, and the latter was by far the most effective gas used on the battlefields.

Methyl was never used in battle, but it is betraying no military secret now to say that it would have been used as the chief element of surprise in the allies' spring offensive, had the armistice not been signed.

The plant at Willoughby, a little town about 10 miles east of Cleveland, was producing 20 tons a day of the stuff when the armistice was signed, and their schedule called for delivery of 3000 tons of Methyl on the battle line by May 1.

It was planned to use practically the whole amount in a giant bombardment of the German lines from the sea to the Swiss border and officers who are familiar with the gas firmly believe a great part of the German army would have been wiped out in a day.

Most of it was being loaded in high-explosive shells, each of which would have sprayed its deadly contents over a wide area. And few men within that area would have escaped. The gas mask is no protection against Methyl, because it penetrates the clothing readily and certain death follows.

The story of how Methyl came to be sounds like an H. G. Wells novel. The full history has not been revealed, but this much can be told:

The deadly fluid was accidentally discovered many years ago by an American chemist, who was studying in Italy. He made a few experiments with the fluid, discovered its terrible possibilities and immediately destroyed his formulas and the few drops he had produced.

When the war broke out, this chemist, then an old man, recalled his discovery in Italy, asked the assistance of a professor in a nearby university and together they again worked out the formlua. Then it was offered to the Chemical Warfare Service.

Experiments were carried a little further in the experimental laboratories of an American university, under the direction of Maj. J. B. Conant. Then it was decided to go ahead and the problem was turned over to Col. F. M. Dorsey, chief of the Development Division of the Chemical Warfare Service, with headquarters in Cleveland. An abandoned automobile plant at Willoughby was found suitable, and on July 19, 1918, the plant was taken over by the Government. On July 20 Maj. Conant arrived with his laboratory equipment packed in trunks and shipped as personal baggage, and on the same day a force of 25 men was set at work remodeling the plant.

A worker in the "mouse trap."

This force was increased from day to day until a thousand men, all drafted into the Chemical Warfare Service from every section of the country, were at work. These chemists received the pay of army privates—$30 a month. Space does not permit detailing here all of the obstacles met and overcome, but they were legion.

Not every Tom, Dick and Harry could get into this branch of the service. In the first place, they had to be men who, without the slightest question, could be thoroughly trusted. Next their station in life had to be such they could freely volunteer for as long a time as their labor might be required. The possibility of sick wives, children, business matters or anything else which might prompt a man to ask for a long furlough was a prime consideration. And each man, before being accepted for this most secret of war factories, was given to understand that he was going to be isolated from the world for a good long time—without any definite promise of release.

The greatest secrecy was maintained. The few officers who were allowed outside the plant were not allowed to divulge the nature of the product or even the existence of the plant.

Men at the headquarters of the Development Division were forbidden to even inquire what was going on at Willoughby. One man who was so indiscreet as to ask one of the guards of the plant what was being made was promptly arrested and quite as promptly transferred to Willoughby. He found out.

From this incident the plant became known among men in the service as the "Mouse Trap."

All mail from the plant was censored to see that no information leaked out and all of it was received through a lock box address at Cleveland. The men were not allowed to send or receive telegrams or other communications at Willoughby.

At first the men were not allowed outside the barbed wire. But later they were allowed some freedom within the town under the promise to tell nothing of their work. It is a remarkable fact that not a single instance of a breach of this trust was found.

To further safeguard the secret, the process of manufacture was divided into five steps and one workman was allowed to know only the step in which he was directly engaged. The process is very complicated, so there is no fear that it will ever be duplicated by men employed at Willoughby.

A system of alarms was installed and regular gas drills were held. So efficient was the system that while there were many casualties there were no deaths. This is due largely to the remarkable work of Lieutenant-Colonel W. G. Wilcox, who was superintendent of the plant.

The men worked in oiled suits of a special material and gas masks were constantly carried in the "alert" position. While gas masks are no protection against the finished product, they are necessary in the processes of manufacture. The work was hard and there was no recreation. But patriotic men and women of the neighborhood, knowing something was being done there for their country, furnished a victrola, records and even a grand piano. The workers also received many dainties for their tables.

At first the plant had no barracks or mess hall and all sorts of makeshifts had to be employed until they could be erected. But the work went on without interruption, and when the armistice was signed the plant was two months ahead of its production schedule.

Then it became a problem of what to do with the many tons of the deadly material that had accumulated at Willoughby. It could not be dumped in Lake Erie, for fear of contaminating the city's water supply, and it could not be kept in storage.

Finally, it was all loaded on a special train, which was carefully routed across country by night. At an Atlantic seaport the big steel casks which held the gas were gingerly transferred to a waiting barge. Then the barge was towed to a lonely spot in the Atlantic and all of it dropped into the sea.

Today there is not a single drop of methyl within the reach of a man's hand. The plant is dismantled and the machinery carefully stored in Government warehouses. The plans and formulas are hidden away in big War Department vaults at Washington.

The other day Col. Dorsey received word he had been awarded the Congressional Distinguished Service Medal.

lis, in the preparation of her family history, a copy of which I was fortunate enough to obtain. This shows that her father, Elijah Stanton, was born in 1760 and joined the Revolutionary forces in 1776 in which he served to the end. It also tells how he was wounded and how Gen. Washington jumped from his horse and helped him to the rear of the field. Following the war a cousin of Gen. Washington married a cousin of her father. This record and the Bible give the same date of her birth, which was at Eaton Bush, Herkimer County, N. Y., Jan. 5, 1810. It also shows that she joined the Methodist Church when she was a young girl, making her the oldest member in the world. Her father died in 1854 at the age of 94 years.

"She has always been fond of company and took a lively interest in everything that passed on about her. Her daughter-in-law delights to tell of a recent visit of a Methodist preacher who called for the purpose of gathering the material for a sketch of Grandma Nellis for a church publication. When he was ushered in and presented, he asked:

"'Are you a church member?'

"'I have been a Methodist for 90 years,' she replied.

"'I am a Methodist minister,' he announced.

"'Well,' she exclaimed, 'we can all have an old-time Methodist meeting,' and she joined heartily in the laugh that followed.

"I do not know that it will be given to this very interesting woman to celebrate her 110th anniversary, as the reports I have recently received tell of increasing infirmities that are bound to come to one so aged. Still, it would be nice to round out the year. Before her last birthday she seemed in good health and was in splendid spirits. She told the folks that she was going to have a very quiet birthday, but her neighbors would not let the day pass without some recognition of the occasion, and the little party that was planned was given and the honor guest enjoyed it as much as any of those who sought to make it a memorable affair. With the exception of a slight deafness she has retained her faculties to a remarkable degree, excepting her memory. Her husband, John D. Nellis, died on the same farm place 34 years ago. Her family now find it necessary to keep a close watch on her, as she is becoming more feeble every day. Still, she may see her next anniversary day, when she will have passed the biblical allotment of three score and ten by the very wide margin of 40 years."

sition and even hostility, was classed as a Utopian who would put into practical operation the best of the various schemes of government advocated by the long line of reformers who have taken up the Plato plan as a basic. Like all the others, Dowie chose a religious formula to bind and hold his followers together, as it is taken for granted that without such an appealing force such communities would collapse through such frailties as jealousy and greed for possessions. The Dowie colony has very valuable farm and other property and barring an occasional clash with the authorities, seems to get along after a fashion. Its present overseer, Voliva, has greatly increased the holdings of the community since the passing of the original founder. The discipline among the followers is very strict, and obedience to the laws of the community is strictly enforced.

One of the newest of the communities which claim to be entitled to a place in the sun of Utopianism is at Benton Harbor, Berrien County, Mich., directly across the lake from Chicago. The members of this community call themselves the "Israelites of the Flying Roll" and they have several chapters in the Bible to prove that they are flying in the right direction. They have a very large farm, several factories and maintain a large park, which is visited by thousands of excursionists from Chicago, particularly on Sundays, when the boats offer inducements for such travel. The "Holy Rollers," as this colony is better known, has a code governing its members which is strictly enforced by the head of the organization and his wife, who seem to rule with equal authority. Those who join are required to give all their earthly possessions to the organization and practice the same sort of self-denial that is expected from the poorest in the fold. This colony had its inception in Australia and came to this country presumably in obedience to some sort of a revelation. Since it became prosperous it has sent missionaries to Australia and brought out many additional members. At the outset it had some minor difficulties with the authorities, but it is now claimed that it is in thorough harmony with all the laws of the country, State and county.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Mrs. Samantha Stanton Nellis of Naples, New York, is the only surviving daughter of the American Revolution, the oldest living Methodist and the most venerable Red Cross member —Honors visited on this remarkable woman in commemorating her 109th anniversary — Her father was at Washington's side at Valley Forge and crossed the Delaware with the intrepid Continental Army :: :: :: ::

Mrs. Samantha Stanton Nellis.

PERTINACITY in clinging to life has served to crowd remarkable honors on Mrs. Samantha Stanton Nellis, who has passed her 109th birthday and who, next January, will be five score and ten.

Mrs. Nellis is the oldest living Methodist in the entire world and besides she is the only living daughter of the American Revolution—at least, she is the only survivor so far as known. Two weeks ago all the Protestant churches of her home city of Naples, N. Y., joined in a community service in her honor, and letters and telegrams carrying greetings and congratulations fairly dazed this remarkable woman, who has lived through every war that has engaged the United States since the American Revolution. These have come regularly on her anniversary days, and she has become quite accustomed to the special attention shown her on these annual occasions. In her collection and among the highest-prized is the following, sent to her when she was 105 years of age:

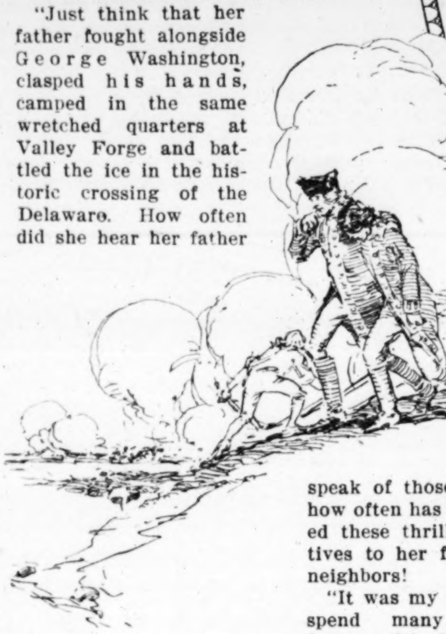
> My Dear Mrs. Nellis: It is with the greatest interest that I learn of your approaching 105th birthday. I want to send you just a line of sincere congratulation and to express the hope that for years still to come you will be vouchsafed life and the power to enjoy it. Cordially yours, WOODROW WILSON.

At the community service arranged in her honor by the people of Naples the Rev. Dr. Frederick T. Kenny, executive secretary of the Centenary movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the Buffalo district, presided and delivered a most impressive sermon, in which he reviewed the church activities of Mrs. Nellis, which began in her childhood and extended over almost a complete century. The entire town turned out in her honor and the ordeal of the reception seemingly occasioned her very little fatigue. She was thoroughly at home in her role of honor guest and responded as appropriately as her condition would permit to every felicitation offered. It was the opinion of the ministers who participated in the joint service that she was entitled also to the distinction of being the oldest white woman in the country. When she was 108 many of her friends who had formed a Red Cross chapter formally inducted her as a member and gave her still another honor in being the oldest member of that beloved organization.

An old friend and former neighbor of this virile old lady who thus defies the ravages of time, is Mrs. Carolyn B. Parker, who resides at 5745 Helen avenue, on the outskirts of St. Louis. Mrs. Parker has spent many days in the company of Mrs. Nellis and has furnished much of the material for this article. "Mrs. Nellis," she wrote, "is well entitled to all the honor that has been shown her and I trust she will continue to enjoy the health that will permit her to acknowledge such attentions. When you stop to think what has transpired in her day and what it has been ordained for her to witness, you cannot help but wonder. There is not the slightest doubt that her age is accurately given. In the old Bible back in her home at Naples, yellow with age and ragged from constant use, you will find this entry standing out boldly in the family history of the Stantons:

"'Samantha—Jan. 5th, 1810.'

"Just think that her father fought alongside George Washington, clasped his hands, camped in the same wretched quarters at Valley Forge and battled the ice in the historic crossing of the Delaware. How often did she hear her father speak of those days and how often has she repeated these thrilling narratives to her friends and neighbors!



"It was my pleasure to spend many pleasant hours with Mrs. Nellis and enjoy her recitals. Her father was a Continental—the term used to distinguish the regular soldiers of the Revolution from those drawn from the militia bodies. He was Elijah Stanton, and he came from illustrious stock which furnished its men most willingly to the great cause of American independence. He entered the army at the age of 16 and was ready when the first gun was fired at Lexington. He remained with the army until the last gun was fired and the cause for which he so gladly fought was recognized and thus vindicated. He was at the Brandywine and was in the army that took part in the battle of Germantown, where he was wounded and had to be carried to the rear. It was on this occasion that Gen. Washington himself, according to a tradition in the family, assisted in taking him out of action. When Samantha was a child she often heard her father speak of the stirring days of the war and she was proud to know that he was not only in the Continental army, but that he knew and loved Gen. Washington.

"Mrs. Nellis is a D. A. R. and her picture hangs among those entitled to special honor in the hall at Washington. She is a member of Astenoygan Chapter, which she joined in 1899. She is the possessor of two gold spoons given her on each passing half century in recognition of her father's services as one of Gen. Washington's body guards, in the early history of the colonies. She lives in a large farmhouse and through her own choice sleeps in a cold room off from the kitchen. The house and grounds are neatly kept and the place has a homelike air. Her memory, the last time I saw her, was playing her pranks, but the big, impressive events were still fresh in her mind. All of her children have passed away, but she has her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, who are a real comfort to her. When her memory begins its flights she makes very odd misstatements and in her chats with her callers tells some that she is just 16 years old, while others are told that she is 1000. Up to quite recently she always did her little tasks about the place and took a pride in her chickens and saw to it that they were fed and given fresh water. Her appetite has always seemed good and she thoroughly enjoys her meals and the company at the table. She was the youngest, save one of a family of 10 children. Of her own children, three were boys and there was one girl, all of whom are survived by the wonderful mother.

"When she was in a reminiscent mood she used to recall incidents of her childhood, and then she would let us all know about her father's part in the war that made the United States a reality. A story she used to like to tell was about a girl who attended the same village school, and who for some slight infraction of the rules, was ordered to remain after the other children were dismissed. The girl waited until the master's back was turned and then she jumped through the open window and ran to her home, just as well as might be expected of any boy. Mrs. Nellis used to tell us this to illustrate her point that the girls of that day could very well take care of themselves.

Her recollection of the bigger happenings was very keen up to a few years ago, but I gather from recent news from the old town that her memory is cracking under the strain of her 109 years. When one stops to think that she was here, though a very small child, when the battle of New Orleans was fought, when Napoleon met with his Waterloo and was able to read of the great speeches of Webster, Clay, Quincy Adams and Calhoun, we marvel indeed that she is still here—here in person, though living in the past.

"When Mrs. Nellis celebrated her 106th anniversary she assisted her daughter-in-law, Rhoda Wheeler Nel-

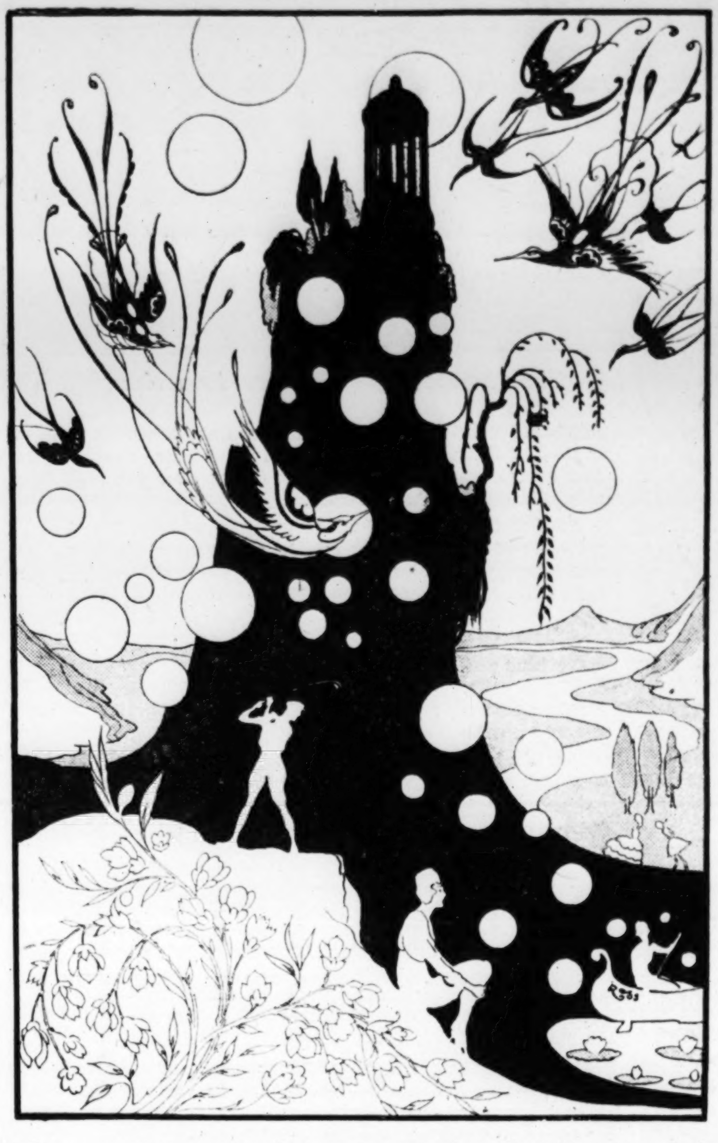
Man's Ceaseless Quest for Untold Centuries to Evolve a Flawless Form of Government

Since the day of Plato who first wrestled with the millennium, there have been others who would establish ideal brotherhoods—Sir Thomas More and Bacon had notions that proved popular—Some of the communities organized in this country in furtherance of Utopian principles, and how they have fared :: :: ::



"An acre in Middlesex is better than a principality in Utopia."

SUCH was the observation of Macaulay on the Utopian dream of the great philosopher, Francis Bacon. Having such an opinion of the Baconian plan of uplifting mankind, it is not difficult to guess what Macaulay would think of the Bolsheviki were he here today, to speak for himself. Since the apologists for the Lenine-Trotzky plan of government persist in calling it a sort of workable Utopia, that these worthies are trying to bring about, with methods far removed from the accepted Utopian notion of things, it is very fair to assume that the great English historian and word painter would find himself in straits seeking expressions of sufficient force to adequately picture his loathing of the Soviet scheme of readjusting the problems of life.

Since the time of Plato, pupil of Socrates and philosopher extraordinary, who is the acknowledged pioneer of things Utopian, there have been many imitators, and among these was the wonderfully gifted Bacon. In his literary expedition into the realm of Utopia, Bacon followed the ideas generally promulgated some 2000 years before by Plato, and since then other dreamers have come to the fore with schemes more or less visionary. Some of these have been put into being on a small scale in various parts of the world, and there are colonies still existent, whose founders were animated by the same yearnings felt by Plato, Bacon and Sir Thomas More, who likewise belongs in the foreground of Utopia.

Notwithstanding the jibes of the scoffers and the sallies of those who would offer discouragement in the form of ridicule, your Utopian is by no means so easily suppressed. He has plodded along, and he has had his place in all histories since Herodotus began setting it down, so that those who felt so inclined might read. Even before that early day, he had his place in the legends and traditions that came down in the days of Socrates and Plato from a period 9000 years back. Plato tells of dreams that had been entertained in that remote era and a repetition of these fanned the hopes and fed the imaginations of those who sought the earthly millennium, where want and misery would be unknown, where there would not be the slightest excuse for crime, where justice would be infallible and happiness universal. Though standards of human happiness and even contentment have greatly changed with succeeding centuries, man continues to seek the same goal in life: pursuit of happiness and ample latitude for thought and action, were as anxiously striven for by the ancients as they are by the people of the present day. Because the character of man appears in the state unchanged, though in the larger form, Plato pictured Socrates as studying the ideal man himself through the ideal or Utopian state. In one of the dialogues Critias undertakes to explain what had been revealed to him by his venerable grandfather, Dromides. This revelation told of a republic such as Socrates had imagined, which covered a large area, with Athens as the center. The climate was ideal, the people wise and courageous, with the highest and most thoroughly unselfish ideals. Justice was done to all, and the people lived in blissful contentment until the sad day of the invasion of the strange people from the great Island of Atlantis.

This island was greater than all of Libya and Asia combined, and lay west of the Atlantic Ocean. Thus it was that America was dreamed of thousands of years before it occurred to Columbus that there was something worth while awaiting discovery. The revelation of Critias told how the ideal government was destroyed by this invasion of the grasping Kings of the Island of Atlantis, and how later on the whole world was destroyed by floods and earthquakes. But this was only tradition and that was as far as the revealer could go with the stories given him by Dromides.

The republic as it occurred to Plato was the guiding inspiration of the distinguished Utopians who came later. This philosopher made justice the basic and ruling civic virtue, that would secure perfect government for the sons and daughters of men. This equity for all, would be guaranteed by the ruling or governing class, to be composed of magistrates who would have the dignity of office thrust upon them rather than acquiring the same by self-solicitation. Necessarily, they should be of such wisdom and probity as to be far above corruption and their lives and acts should be such as to make their rulings in all things final, without recourse to written enactments. His soldiers would be patriotic, courageous men, who would serve merely for the protection of the model republic and never be employed for the purpose of conquest or punitive raids on other lands or peoples. Then, to make things stable among the people, he would have everybody in comfortable circumstances, with no extreme wealth on one side or wretched want on the other.

Sir Thomas More's "Utopia" was given to the world in 1516, more than 100 years before Bacon went into the philosophy of the subject. More had been Chancellor of England and got his inspiration while he was traveling on diplomatic errands. He was familiar with the history of Columbus and Amerigo Vespucci and their discoveries, and the new possibilities opened by their voyages had made a profound impression in England, which, no doubt, had much to do with the fanciful picture presented by this statesman. He wrote of a number of cities formed on communistic or Utopian principles where all was peace, harmony and contentment among their inhabitants. In his scheme he recognized the existence of slavery, as in his groups or families he had two bondmen assigned to each. He had all of his cities uniform in size and population and had enough agricultural land assigned to each city to supply the food necessary for its sustenance. Each family was limited to 40 persons, and when it grew beyond that limit by additional arrivals of children, some of the excess was given to families that were short of the established limit. His plan surrounded marriage with formalities and made infidelity punishable by slavery. While he had religious liberty established in his Utopia, those who did not believe in the existence of a Supreme Being and the immortality of the soul could not receive employment in the Utopian establishments. His men were peaceful, and if war had to be waged in self-defense, they would simply employ mercenaries to do the fighting. There were many other features involving the condition of the laborers, the protection of children and hygienic requirements to conserve the public health.

More's plan of making a model government created such an impression in Saxony that Thomas Muezner, a Protestant preacher, understook to form a settlement with all the principles outlined in More's book, but before going very far he added some of his own. He raised a following and going forth promptly found what he was looking for, and that was a very severe battle, in which he suffered ignominious defeat. He was tortured, beheaded, and when he was thus disposed of, there were the Anabaptists left as a heritage. This band scattered all over Switzerland, Holland, North Germany and Moravia, under the leadership of Matthias, a banker, who soon collapsed under the strain and passed the task to an innkeeper known as John of Leyden.

The new leader, like the others, claimed to be acting under heavenly inspiration, and during his meteoric career annexed some 15 wives, which was certainly not permissible under the More system, in addition to acquiring a throne and a uniformed escort. He was finally seized, exhibited in an iron cage and then beheaded. These Anabaptists announced at the beginning that the world would have to accept their doctrines, just as Lenine and Trotzky have been saying since they deposed Kerensky, took over Russia and converted it into a near madhouse. Getting away from the basic principles of Utopianism seems to be a besetting evil with those who start out to revolutionize governments and society; and in this respect the soviet leaders who are furnishing anarchy in lieu of order are merely following in the wake of some of those who undertook to develop the theories of Plato, Sir Thomas More and Francis Bacon.

Bacon was not quite as replete with detail as was More. In his ideal world of "The New Atlantis" he placed his brotherly love commonwealth in the far Pacific, where a great continent was even then supposed to be awaiting the discoverer. Thus the modern Atlantis implied the coming of Australia as the ancient Atlantis suggested the existence of America. In his ideal world, Bacon essayed through experimental science, the dominion of men over things. Science was made the great civilizer and men were brought together in a community of love and co-operation.

Since the days of More and Bacon there have been many other schemes classified as Utopian, but not a great number of these progressed to the stage of actual experimentation. The Incas of Peru had a working Utopia that antedated More, and were getting along nicely until they were discovered by the gold-seeking Spaniards, led by the ruthless Pizarro, who promptly removed the government as well as the treasure. These adventurers may or may not have heard of the meaning of Utopianism, but money in hand appealed to them more forcibly than any theories involving ideal government, with the brotherhood of man an established institution. Whatever ideals the Incas may have cherished were very quickly dispelled after their barbarous mistreatment by the invaders from Europe. And the Montezumas went in the same way. They had gold, which was very much sought after, and the Indians and their government had to get out of the way.

Of the more modern Utopias, there are several still surviving in this country, and, like nearly every movement of the kind, they are most intimately associated with some religious motive, based on biblical interpretation. The oldest is the Shaker colony, established as early as 1794, whose pioneers brought their own theology and industry with them. They are strong Spiritualists and assert that the second coming of Christ has been, and that theirs is the only true church. They are strong believers in celibacy, oral confession, community of interest, peace, nonresistance and retirement from the busier parts of the world. They have moved about some and many of their followers have gotten away to help in the formation of other sects, which have been particularly active in Pennsylvania.

The Oneida Community, which has run a sort of a model self-repressed colony in Oneida County, N. Y., for many years, has prospered very much in material things. Its manufactured products are known all over the world and rank high in design and quality.

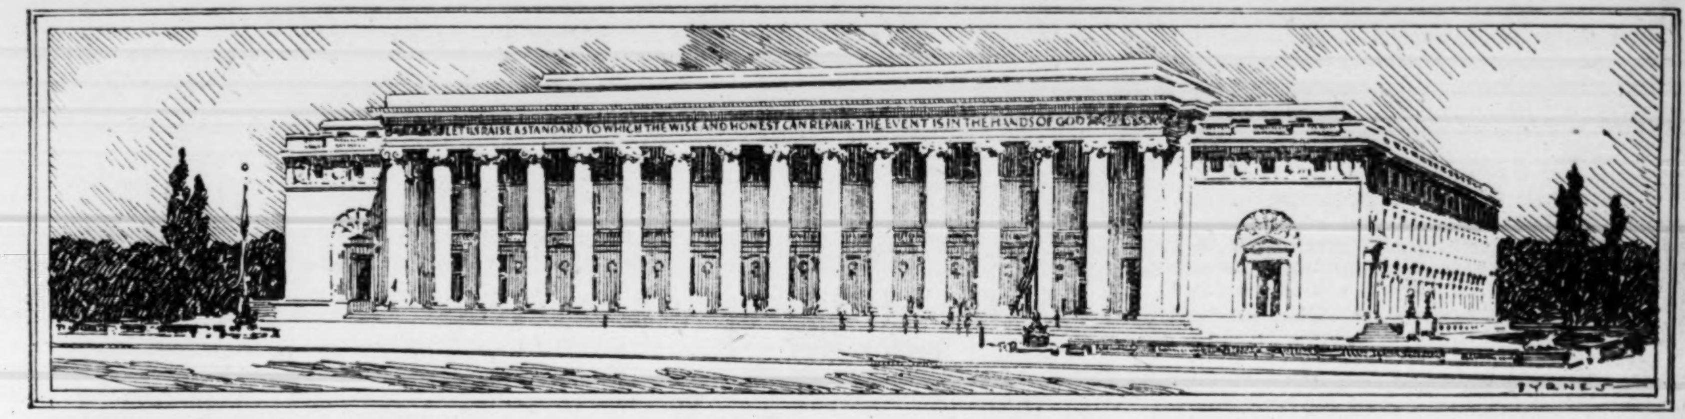
Memorial George Washington Planned in His Will to Be Completed Now



LET US RAISE A STANDARD TO WHICH THE WISE AND HONEST CAN REPAIR · THE EVENT IS IN THE HANDS OF GOD
BYRNES

The $10,000,000 National Memorial to be erected at Washington in honor of all American fighting men, and for which the first donation was made by George Washington.

First donation toward building temple at Washington consisted of $25,000 of stock bequeathed by the father of his country — Will commemorate deeds of all fighting men of this country since Nation's birth — May be meeting place for League of Nations — Design accepted and part of money raised

THE quaint inscription which will appear on the front of the Memorial, extending along virtually the entire length of the building, will read: "Let Us Raise a Standard to Which the Wise and Honest Can Repair. The Event is in the Hands of God."

A GREAT memorial temple, in honor of all American fighting men, living and dead, is to be erected at Washington, and, strangely enough, the original suggestion, as well as the first contribution to the building fund, came from George Washington himself!

It was in his will that Washington set aside $25,000 in stock certificates to be used as a cumulative fund for the diffusion of knowledge. However, those were turbulent times in the history of the young republic; the people were too busy developing the resources, improving the laws and attending to the pressing needs of national growth generally to carry on the project.

Eventually the stock lost its value and one of the dying wishes of the father of his country seemed in a fair way to remain forever unfulfilled. It was nearly a century later that a movement was started to carry out this last request of the first President. A society was formed and various proposals were advanced. Some favored the foundation of a university, but this was obviously unfit, as each state had its own university, as well as many others.

Nothing much of any importance was done until the presidency of the George Washington Memorial Association was given to Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, sister of William C. Whitney, who, as Secretary of the Navy, won the sobriquet of "father of the American navy."

With characteristic Whitney energy she set about getting something accomplished. She gathered about her many associates who were in a position to give this movement impetus, and, by way of making it interesting, also gathered contributions of about $350,000 in cash, as well as contingent subscriptions.

Obviously, one of the most important things was a suitable site, and Congress was importuned to furnish it, which resulted in the granting of the tract of land formerly partly occupied by the Pennsylvania Station, between Sixth and Seventh streets, and backing up against B street. This probably is the most attractive unoccupied site in Washington—unoccupied save for temporary buildings of the War Department, which will be torn down.

That done, next was the design, and Mrs. Dimock arranged for a competition by a dozen leading architects. The committee selected the design of Tracy & Swartwout, a New York firm, and no criticism of that decision has been heard. It provides for a rectangular, four-story, white marble structure, the principal feature of which will be an auditorium capable of seating 7000 persons.

It is planned to make this the national meeting place. Conventions of national or international character, inaugural receptions, concerts and the like may be held there, and it already has been suggested that it would form an ideal place for the official meetings of the league of nations.

Thus, the memorial would become "the community center of the world," and it is pointed out that no more fitting memorial could be erected to the men whose heroism and sacrifice made possible the peaceful settlement of the world's affairs, than a temple where those settlements would be made.

The great oval auditorium on the first floor will occupy a space of 38,500 square feet, with a gallery of 10,000 square feet, while around its sides, much in the fashion of baby chicks hovering against the mother hen, will be smaller halls and rooms, large enough to accommodate meetings of small patriotic, scientific, educational or military organizations.

Some of these halls will be capable of housing small conventions.

A banquet hall with serving rooms, where 600 persons may sit at once, will occupy much of the second floor space. Here, also, rooms will be set aside for the permanent headquarters of those patriotic or other societies whose character and aims entitle them to homes in the National Memorial.

Undoubtedly, the third and fourth floors will prove the most interesting of all to visitors, because they will contain precious relics, souvenirs of war, books on the science of war and histories and paintings of our great soldiers. Mementoes from all our wars, back to the days when the pioneers battled from the blockhouses against the Indians, will be found here.

It is a long trail from the stone-headed club to the aerial torpedo, and from the aboriginal shield of hide to the latter-day gas mask, but all of these, and all that came between, will be on exhibition there.

The National Museum and the Congressional Library contain a wealth of exhibits that can very properly be spared for the Memorial Museum. Letters written by Washington at Valley Forge, instructions sent by Lincoln to Grant, original copies of historic orders issued at crucial points in our history—all will find a natural and accessible repository in the memorial.

Strictly American, is the conception of the structure, according to the architects, Evarts Tracy and Egerton Swartwout, who declared that, in working out their ideals in the design, they absolutely disregarded European ideas and conventions. Incidentally, they are the architects who designed the Missouri State Capitol.

Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, who set about fulfilling Washington's wish, and who is having success in the effort.

Swartwout said that the United States is undergoing a renaissance in architecture.

"Good work, of an originally national character, was done early in our history, of which the best examples to be found are the Capitol at Washington and the New York City Hall," he said. "After that, we fell under the blighting influence of the Victorian period, with its ugly, ungraceful expression, and we are just beginning to recover.

"Architecture is necessarily consequent upon the spiritual development of its people, and the dominant characteristics of a people always crop out in their architecture, witness the Greeks, Egyptians, Goths, Normans and others. As our distinctly national traits become more clearly defined, so will our architecture." Others have pointed out that this process of crystallization has been tremendously hastened by the war. The American doughboy was a character peculiar to himself, nor did he change under contact with men of other nations.

As the Memorial Building is strikingly national, all Americans will have an opportunity to aid in erecting it. A campaign to raise $9,000,000 by popular subscription will be started June 23 and solicitors for this fund will receive credentials from the headquarters of the association in Washington. About $1,000,000 has been raised.

Mrs. Dimock has said that she would prefer that the fund be made up of pennies, dimes and quarters, if possible, although, of course, some who are able and eager to contribute to such a cause will make larger subscriptions. This amount not only will pay the cost of construction, but will leave a fund from which the memorial may be maintained.

Governors of all the states have pledged their support to the completion of the project, as have the Mayors of scores of cities.

The names of all who give to the fund will be placed on the records of the institution, and, in addition, each child who gives will receive a button with the inscription, "This pin means a brick in the Memorial Building."

It is doubtful that any project of a similar character has had a more imposing list of sponsors, who are not distinguished by party or class. On the Advisory Council of the association are Elihu Root, Dr. William Welch, Gen. Horace Porter, Dr. Charles D. Walcott, William H. Taft, Dr. Ira Remson, Prof. Fairfield Osborn, Dr. Charles D. Dabney, Charles J. Bell, Dr. John A. Weyth, Dr. Thomas Nelson Page and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Mrs. Dimock has received from Gen. Pershing a cablegram in which he states that he indorses, "in strong terms," the Memorial movement, pointing out that it will serve as an ideal spot for meetings held to honor the memory of those who have served their country.

A competent organization already has been formed in Missouri to aid in the campaign. Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis, president of the National Council of Women; Mrs. B. F. Bush of the Women's Committee, Council of National Defense, and Mrs. George Still of Kirksville, president of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, are heading the movement in the State.

The Strange Case of Cavendish

"Possibly not," he said, with quiet, sinister gravity. "It was probably destroyed and it was to gain possession of that will that Frederick Cavendish was killed."

John leaped to his feet, his face bloodless: "My God!" he muttered aghast, "do you mean to say"——

"Sit down, John; this is no cause for quarrel. Now listen. I am not accusing you of crime; not intentional crime, at least. There is no reason why you should not naturally have desired to gain possession of the will. If an accident happened, that was your misfortune. I merely mention these things because I am your friend. Such friendships leads me first to inform you what had happened over the phone. I realized that Frederick's hasty determination to devise his property elsewhere was the result of a quarrel. I believed it my duty to give you opportunity to patch that quarrel up with the least possible delay. Perhaps this was not entirely professional on my part, but the claims of friendship are paramount to mere professional ethics."

He sighed, clasping and unclasping his hands, yet with eyes steadily fixed upon Cavendish, who had sunk back into his chair.

"Now consider the situation, my dear fellow. I have, it is true, performed an unprofessional act which, if known, would expose me to severe criticism. There is, however, no taint of criminal intent about my conduct and, no doubt, my course would be fully vindicated, were I now to go directly before the court and testify to the existence of a will."

"But that could not be proved. You have already stated that Frederick took the will with him; it has never been found."

"Quite true—or rather, it may have been found and destroyed. It chances, however, that I took the precaution to make a carbon copy."

"Unsigned?"

"Yes, but along with this unsigned copy I also retain the original memoranda furnished me in Frederick Cavendish's own handwriting. I believe, from a legal standpoint, by the aid of my evidence, the court would be very apt to hold such a will proved."

He leaned suddenly forward, facing the shrinking Cavendish and bringing his hand down hard upon the desk.

"Do you perceive now what this will means? Do you realize where such testimony would place you? Under the law, providing he died without a will, you were the sole heir to the property of Frederick Cavendish. It was widely known you were not on friendly terms. The evening of his death you quarreled openly in a public restaurant. Later, in a spirit of friendship, I called you up and said he had made a will practically disinheriting you. Between that time and the next morning he is murdered in his own apartments, his safe rifled and yet, the only paper missing is this will, to the existence of which I can testify. If suspicion is once cast upon you, how can you clear yourself? Can you prove that you were in your own apartments, asleep in your own bed from 1 o'clock until 8? Answer that."

Cavendish tried, but although his lips moved, they gave utterance to no sound. He could but stare into those eyes confronting him. Enright scarcely gave him opportunity.

"So, the words won't come. I thought not. Now listen. I am not that kind of a man and I have kept still. No living person—not even my partner—has been informed of what has occurred. The witnesses, I am sure, do not know the nature of the paper they signed. I am a lawyer; I realize fully the relations I hold to my client, but in this particular case I contend that my duty as a man is of more importance than any professional ethics. Frederick Cavendish had this will executed in a moment of anger and devised his estate to a number of charities. I personally believe he was not in normal mind and that the will did not really reflect his purpose. He had no thought of immediate death, but merely desired to teach you a lesson. He proposed to disappear—or at least, that is my theory—in order that he might test you on a slender income. I am able to look upon the whole matter from this standpoint, and base my conduct accordingly. No doubt this will enable us to arrive at a perfectly satisfactory understanding."

The lawyer's voice had fallen, all the threat gone, and the younger man straightened in his chair.

"You mean you will maintain silence as to the will?"

"Absolutely; as a client your interests will always be my first concern. Of course I shall expect to represent you in a legal capacity in settling up the estate, and consequently feel it only just that the compensation for such services shall be mutually agreed upon. In this case there are many interests to guard. Knowing, as I do, all the essential facts, I am naturally better prepared to conserve your interests than any stranger. I hope you appreciate this."

"And your fee?"

"Reasonable, very reasonable, when you consider the service I am doing you, and the fact that my professional reputation might so easily be involved and the sums to be distributed, which amount to more than a million dollars. My silence, my permitting the estate to go to settlement and my legal service combined, ought to be held as rather valuable—at, let us say, a hundred thousand. Yes, a hundred thousand; I hardly think that is unfair."

Cavendish leaped to his feet, his hand gripping his cane.

"You damned black"——

"Wait!" and Enright arose also. "Not so loud, please; your voice might be heard in the outer office. Besides, it might be well for you to be careful of your language. I said my services would cost you $100,000. Take the proposition or leave it, Mr. John Cavendish. Perhaps, with a moment's thought, the sum asked may not seem excessive."

"But—but," the other stammered, all courage leaving him, "I haven't the money."

"Of course not," the threat on Enright's face changing to a smile. "But the prospects that you will have are unusually good. I am quite willing to speculate on your fortunes. A memoranda for legal services due one year from date—such as I have already drawn up—and bearing your signature, will be quite satisfactory. Glance over the items, please; yes, sit here at the table. Now, if you will sign that there will be no further cause for you to feel any uneasiness—this line, please."

Cavendish grasped the penholder in his fingers, and signed. It was the act of a man dazed, half stupefied, unable to control his actions. With trembling hand, and white face, he sat staring at the paper, scarcely comprehending its real meaning. In a way it was a confession of guilt, an acknowledgment of his fear of exposure, yet he felt utterly incapable of resistance. Enright unlocked the door and projected his head outside, comprehending clearly that the proper time to strike was while the iron was hot.

Calling Miss Healey, one of his stenographers, he made her an official witness to the document and the signature of John Cavendish.

Not until 10 minutes later, when he was on the street, did it occur to John Cavendish that the carbon copy of the will, together with the rough notes in his cousin's handwriting, still remained in Enright's possession. Vainly he tried to force himself to return and demand them, but his nerve failed, and he shuffled away hopelessly in the hurrying crowds.

CHAPTER IV.

A BREATH OF SUSPICION.

AS FRANCOIS VALOIS trudged along the night streets toward his rooming house his heart was plunged in sorrow and suspicion. To be discharged from a comfortable position for no apparent reason when one contemplated no sweet alliance was bad enough, but to be discharged when one planned marriage to so charming a creature as Josette La Beaume was nothing short of a blow. Josette herself had admitted that and promptly turned Francois' hazards as to young Cavendish's motive into smoldering suspicion, which he dared not voice. Now, as he paused before a delicatessen window, realizing that unless he soon obtained another position its dainties would be denied him, these same suspicions assailed him again.

Disheartened, he turned from the pane and was about to move away, when he came face to face with a trim young woman in a smart blue serge. "Oh, hello!" she cried pleasantly, bringing up short. Then seeing the puzzled look upon the valet's face, she said: "Don't you remember me? I'm Miss Donovan of the Star. I came up to the apartments the morning of the Cavendish murder with one of the boys."

Valois smiled warmly; men usually did for Miss Donovan. "I remember," he said dolorously.

The girl sensed some underlying sorrow in his voice and with professional skill learned the cause within a minute. Then, because she believed that there might be more to be told, and because she was big-hearted and interested in everyone's troubles, she urged him to accompany her to a nearby restaurant and pour out his heart while she supped. Lonely and disheartened, Valois accepted gladly and within half an hour they were seated at a tiny table in an Italian cafe.

"About your discharge?" she queried after a time.

"I was not even asked to accompany Mr. Frederick's body," he burst out, "even though I had been with him a year. So I stayed in the apartment to straighten things, expecting to be retained in John Cavendish's service. I even did the work in his apartments, but when he returned and saw me there he seemed to lose his temper, wanted to know why I was hanging around, and ordered me out of the place."

"The ingrate!" exclaimed the girl, laying a warm, consoling hand on the other's arm. "You're sure he wasn't drinking?"

"I don't think so, miss. Just the sight of me seemed to drive him mad. Flung money at me, he did, told me to get out, that he never wanted to see me again. Since then I have tried for three weeks to find work, but it has been useless."

While she gave him a word of sympathy, Miss Donovan was busily thinking. She remembered Willis' remark in the apartments: "Are you sure of the dead man's identity? His face is badly mutilated, you know;" and her alert mind sensed a possibility of a newspaper story back of young Cavendish's unwarranted and strange act. How far could she question the man before her? That she had established herself in his good grace she was sure, and to be direct with him she decided would be the best course to adopt.

"Mr. Valois," she said kindly, "would you mind if I asked you a question or two more?"

"No," the man returned.

"All right. First, what sort of a man was your master?"

Valois answered almost with reverence:

"A nice, quiet gentlemen. A man that liked outdoor and outdoor sports. He almost never drank, and then only with quiet men like himself that he met at various clubs. Best of all, he liked to spend his evenings at home reading."

"Not much like his cousin John," she ventured with narrowing eyes.

"No, ma'am, God be praised! There's a young fool for you, miss, crazy for the women and his drinking. Brought up to spend money, but not to earn any."

"I understand that he was dependent upon Frederick Cavendish."

"He was, miss," Valois said disgustedly, "for every cent. He could never get enough of it, either, although Mr. Frederick gave him a liberal allowance."

"Did they ever quarrel?"

"I never heard them. But I do know there was no love lost between them, and I know that young John was always broke."

"Girls cost lots on Broadway," Miss Donovan suggested, "and they keep men up late, too."

Valois laughed lightly. "John only came home to sleep occasionally," he said; "and as for the women—one of them called on him the day after Mr. Frederick was killed. I was in the hall, and saw her go straight to his door—like she had been there before. A swell dresser, miss, if I ever saw one. One of those tall blondes with a reddish tinge in her hair. He likes that kind."

Miss Donovan started imperceptibly. This was interesting; a woman in John Cavendish's apartment the day after his cousin's murder! But who was she? There were a million carrot blondes in Manhattan. Still, the woman must have had some distinguishing mark; her hat, perhaps, or her jewels.

"Did the woman wear any diamonds?" she asked.

"No diamonds," Valois returned; "a ruby, though. A ruby set in a big platinum ring. I saw her hand upon the knob."

Miss Donovan's blood raced fast. She knew that woman. It was Celeste La Rue! She remembered her because of a press-agent story that had once been written about the ring, and from what Miss Donovan knew of Miss La Rue, she did not ordinarily seek men; therefore there must have been a grave reason for her presence in John Cavendish's apartments immediately after she learned of Frederick's death.

Had his untimely end disarranged some plan of these two? What was the reason she had come in person instead of telephoning? Had her mysterious visit anything to do with the death of the elder Cavendish?

A thousand speculations entered Miss Donovan's mind.

"How long was she in the apartment?" she demanded sharply.

"Fifteen or 20 minutes, miss—until after the hallman came back. I had to help lay out the body and could not remain there any longer."

"Have you told anyone else what you have told me?"

"Only Josette. She is my fiancee. Miss La Beaume is her last name.

"You told her nothing further that did not come out at the inquest?"

Valois hesitated.

"Maybe I did, miss," he admitted nervously. "She questioned me about losing my job, and her questions brought things into my mind that I might never have thought of otherwise. And at last I came to believe that it wasn't Mr. Frederick who was dead at all."

The valet's last remark was crashing in its effect.

Miss Donovan's eyes dilated with eagerness and amazement.

"Not Frederick Cavendish! Mr. Valois, tell me—why?"

The other's voice fell to a whisper.

"Frederick Cavendish, miss," he said hollowly, "had a scar on his chest—from football, he once told me—and the man we laid out, well, of course, his body was a bit burned, but he appeared to have no scar at all!"

"You know that?" demanded the girl, frightened by the import of the revelation.

"Yes, miss. The assistant in the undertaking rooms said so, too. Doubting my own mind, I asked him. The man we laid out had no scar on his chest."

Miss Donovan sprang suddenly to her feet.

"Mr. Valois," she said breathlessly, "you come and tell that story to my city editor, and he'll see that you get a job—and a real one. You and I have started something, Mr. Valois."

And, tossing money to cover the bill on the table, she took Valois's arm, and with him in tow hurried through the restaurant to the city streets, on one of which was the Star office, where Farris, the city editor, daily damned the doings of the world.

That night when Farris had heard the evidence his metallic eyes snapped with an unusual light. Farris, for once, was enthusiastic.

"Miss La Rue is as good as any of your friends any day."

CHAPTER I.

THE REACHING OF A DECISION.

FOR the second time that night Frederick Cavendish, sitting at a small table in a busy cafe, where the night life of the city streamed continually in and out, regarded the telegram spread out upon the white napery. It read.

"BEAR CREEK, Colo., 4—2—15.

"Frederick Cavendish, College Club, New York City:
Found big lead; lost it again. Need you badly.
WESTCOTT."

For the second time that night, too, a picture rose before him, a picture of great plains, towering mountains, and open spaces that spoke the freedom and health of outdoor living. He had known that life once before, when he and Jim Westcott had prospected and hit the trail together, and its appeal to him now, after three years of shallow sightseeing in the city was deeper than ever.

"Good old Jim," he murmured, "struck pay dirt at last, only to lose it, and he needs me. By George, I think I'll go."

And why should he not? Only 29, he could still afford to spend a few years in search of living. His fortune, left him at the death of his father, was safely invested, and he had no close friends in the city and no relatives, except a cousin, John Cavendish, for whom he held no love, and little regard.

He had almost determined upon going to Bear Creek to meet Westcott and was calling for his check when his attention was arrested by a noisy party of four that boisterously took seats at a nearby table. Cavendish recognized the two women as members of the chorus of the prevailing revue, one of them Celeste La Rue, an aggressive blonde with thin lips and a metallic voice, whose name was synonymous with midnight escapades and flowing wine. His contemptuous smile at the sight of them deepened into a disgusted sneer when he saw that one of the men was John Cavendish, his cousin.

The two men's eyes met, and the younger, a slight, mild-eyed youth with a listless chin, excused himself and presented himself at the elder's table.

"Won't you join us?" he said nervously.

Frederick Cavendish's trim, bearded jaw tightened and he shook his head. "They are not my people," he said shortly, then retreating, begged: "John, when are you going to cut that sort out?"

"You make me weary!" the boy snapped. "It's easy enough for you to talk when you've got all the money—that gives you an excuse to read me moral homilies every time I ask you for a dollar, but Miss La Rue is as good as any of your friends any day."

The other controlled himself. "What is it you want?" he demanded directly. "Money? If so, how much?"

"A hundred will do," the younger man said eagerly. "I lost a little on cards lately, and have to borrow. Tonight I met the girl"——

Frederick Cavendish silenced him and tendered him the bills. "Now," he said gravely, "this is the last, unless—unless you cut out such people as Celeste La Rue and others that you train with. I'm tired of paying bills for your inane extravagances and parties. I can curtail your income, and, what's more, I will unless you change."

"Cut me off?" The younger Cavendish's voice took on an incredulous note.

The other nodded. "Just that," he said. "You've reached the limit."

For a moment the dissipated youth surveyed his cousin, then an angry flush mounted into his pasty face.

"You—you"—he stuttered—"you go to hell."

Without another word the elderly Cavendish summoned the waiter, paid the bil. and walked toward the door. John stared after him, a smile of derision on his face. He had heard Cavendish threaten before.

"Your cousin seemed peeved," suggested Miss La Rue.

"It's his nature," explained John. "Got sore because I asked him for a mere hundred and threatened to cut off my income unless I quit you two."

"You told him where to go," Miss La Rue said, laughing. "I heard you, but I don't suppose he'll go—he doesn't look like that kind."

"Anyhow, I told him," laughed John; then producing a large bill, cried: "Drink up, people, they're on me—and goody-goody Cousin Fred."

When Frederick Cavendish reached the street and the fresh night air raced through his lungs he came to a sudden realization and then a resolution. The realization was that since further pleading would avail nothing with John Cavendish, he needed a lesson. The resolution was to give it to him. Both strengthened his previous half-hearted desire to meet Westcott into determination.

He turned the matter over in his mind as he walked along until reflection was ended by the doors of the College Club, which appeared abruptly and took him in their swinging circle. He went immediately to the writing room, laid aside his things and sat down. The first thing to do, he decided, was to obtain an attorney and consult him regarding the proper steps. For no other reason than that they had met occasionally in the corridor he thought of Patrick Enright, a heavy-set man with a loud voice and given to wearing expensive clothes.

Calling a page boy, he asked that Enright be located if possible. During the ensuing wait he outlined on a scrap of paper what he proposed doing. Fifteen minutes passed before Enright appeared, suave and apparently young except for growing baldness.

"I take it you are Mr. Cavendish," he said, advancing, "and that you are in immediate need of an attorney's counsel."

Cavendish nodded, shook hands, and motioned him into a chair. "I have been called suddenly out of town, Mr. Enright," he explained, "and for certain reasons which need not be disclosed I deem it necessary to execute a will. I am the only son of the late William Huntington Cavendish; also his sole heir, and in the event of my death without a will, the property would descend to my only known relative, a cousin."

"His name?" Mr. Enright asked.

"John Cavendish."

The lawyer nodded. Of young Cavendish he evidently knew.

"Because of his dissolute habits I have decided to dispose of a large portion of my estate elsewhere in case of my early death. I have here a rough draft of what I want done." He showed the paper. "All that I require is that it be transposed into legal form."

Enright took the paper and read it carefully. The bulk of the $1,000,000 Cavendish estate was willed to charitable organizations, and a small allowance, a mere pittance, was provided for John Cavendish. After a few inquiries the attorney said sharply: "You want this transcribed immediately?"

Cavendish nodded.

"Since it can be made brief I may possibly be able to do it on the girl's machine in the office. You do not mind waiting a moment?"

Cavendish shook his head, and rising, the attorney disappeared in the direction of the office. Cavendish heaved a sigh of relief; now he was free, absolutely free, to do as he chose. His disappearance would mean nothing to his small circle of casual friends, and when he was settled elsewhere he could notify the only two men who were concerned with his whereabouts—his valet, Valois, and the agent handling the estate. He thought of beginning a letter to John, but hesitated, and when Enright returned he found him with pen in hand.

"A trifling task," the attorney smiled easily. "All ready for your signature, too. You sign there, the second line. But wait—we must have witnesses."

Simms, the butler, and the doorman were called in and wrote their names to the document and then withdrew, after which Enright began folding it carefully.

"I presume you leave this in my care?" he asked shortly.

Cavendish shook his head. "I think not. I prefer holding it myself in case it is needed suddenly. I shall keep my rooms and my man Valois will remain there indefinitely. Now as to your charges."

A nominal sum was named and paid, after which Cavendish rose, picked up his hat and stick and turned to Enright.

"You have obliged me greatly," he smiled, "and, of course, the transaction will be considered as strictly confidential." And then seeing Enright's nod bade him a courteous "good-night."

The attorney watched him disappear. Suddenly he struck the table with one hand.

"By God!" he muttered, "I'll have to see this thing a little further."

Wheeling suddenly, he walked to a telephone booth, called a number and waited impatiently several moments before he said in intense subdued tones: "Is this Carlton's Cafe? Give me Jackson, the head waiter. Jackson, is Mr. Cavendish—John Cavendish—there? Good! Call him to the phone, will you, Jackson? It's important."

CHAPTER II.

THE BODY ON THE FLOOR.

THE early light of dawn stealing in faintly through the spider web of the fire escape ladder found a partially open window on the third floor of the Waldron Apartments and began slowly to brighten the walls of the room within. There were no curtains on this window as upon the others, and the growing radiance streamed in revealing the whole interior. It was a large apartment, furnished soberly and in excellent taste as either lounging room or library, the carpet a dark green, the walls delicately tinted, bearing a few rare prints rather somberly framed, and containing a few upholstered chairs; a massive sofa and a library table bearing upon it a stack of magazines.

Its tenant evidently was of artistic leanings, for about the room were several large bronze candlesticks filled with partially burned tapers. A low bookcase extended along two sides of the room, each shelf filled, and at the end of the cases a heavy imported drapery drawn slightly aside revealed the entrance to a sleeping apartment, the bed's snowy covering unruffled. Wealth, wretches can't follow us—at least, not for a day or two, anyhow, and by that time we ought to reach our friends."

"A day or two!" Edith exclaimed. "I thought it was only two or three miles. Surely we shan't be all that time getting through the forest?"

"Well, we may or we may not," Manning said cheerfully. "If we take the wrong turning, it may be a week."

He spoke easily enough, and with a certain indifference that he was far from feeling. He knew only too well, sportsman and wanderer as he was, what it meant to get off the track even in four or five square miles of that dense forest. He had heard of natives, men accustomed to the woodland life, who laid down there and died of starvation within half a mile of their own huts. It was the time of year, too, when the vegetation grew with almost savage luxuriance, so that Manning could see almost at a first glance how all trace of track and path had disappeared. They were only a mile or two from safety, but then he had heard and seen enough of that wild country on the other side of the ravine to know the danger in which they stood.

But of this he said nothing. There would be time enough for that when the dread catastrophe stared them in the face. He had no guide or compass, nothing but his own instinct and the memory of one journey through that dense forest. Here and there was a patch of clear ground, and in one of these they camped presently and partook of a meal. It was late in the afternoon before Manning made his first attempt at progress, only to find himself driven back presently on to the clearing, with a cold sensation at his heart and the knowledge that he and his companion were in deadly peril. For there was no sign of a track to be seen anywhere, and though there were openings here and there, they were breast-high in a sea of grass and luxuriant foliage. To go back was impossible, to go forward something like madness. And as the day went on and night came, followed by another dawn, Edith Carson began to see that Manning was keeping something from her. Up to now she had undergone no hardships particularly, for the nights were mild enough, and her thin evening dress, together with Manning's coat, had been sufficient to protect her.

She turned to him suddenly.

"You are afraid?" she challenged.

"Not for myself," Manning replied. "At a pinch I could do a few miles downstream and swim the ravine. I have matches and some cartridges, and I am used to this sort of life, as you know. But—yes, I might just as well tell you, we're in terrible danger, and I am to blame."

"You are not!" the girl cried. "We may be in terrible danger, but nothing like the peril I should have had to face if you had not come to my assistance."

"I am glad you understand that," Manning said curtly.

"Oh, I do! Del Sartes stirred up that strike. There would have been no trouble but for him. And he did it because—because—oh, I cannot say it!"

"Because he wanted to get hold of you," Manning interrupted. "His idea was that no one on the estate should survive last night's work. And if I had not heard of this and hastened to the spot, he would have succeeded. At any rate, he has paid the price. I saw to that."

"You killed him?" Edith cried.

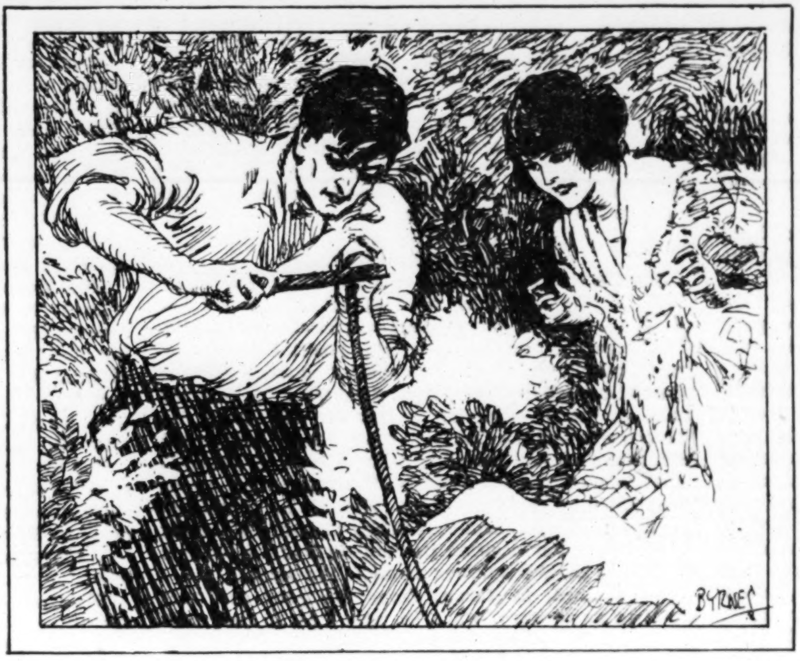
"I shot him, certainly. On my side, at any rate, it was a fair fight. But what does it matter? Why go into all that? It is the future we have to think of."

Edith Carson bent her head in shame. She remembered now the warnings that Manning had given her, and how she had flouted them. The spoilt child of a rich American father, she had traveled the world as she pleased, making friends here and there, and living her own self-centered life until Manning had drifted across her horizon. Perhaps, if his admiration had been a little less manifest, if he had not wooed her quite so humbly, she might have given him her heart long ago. And because he had followed her half across the world, it had been her mood to treat him with a certain good-humored contempt. But that was not her feeling now.

She turned to him suddenly, with a look in her eyes that a little while before would have filled him with gladness. "I am responsible for all this," she said. "How foolish I have been, how blind! And yet I meant nothing. Now tell me the truth—tell me, are we standing here face to face with death? I am not without courage, Tom. I shall dread things a lot less if I really know."

"Well, then, we are," Manning said. "We can't go back, and I don't know the way forward. It's only a mile or two, if I knew the right direction, but it might be a continent as far as we are concerned. And I am afraid to leave this clearing. There are all sorts of dangers round us—snakes and wild beasts and all that kind of thing. We have enough food for two days, with care, and I have my gun. Good heavens, how helpless a man is at times like this!"

They made more than one attempt to find an avenue of safety down those tangled green lanes, but each evening, before dusk fell, they were forced back again into the opening, where they sat, sharing the rapidly-decreasing stock of provisions, augmented from time to time by Manning with his gun. They kept up a good fire, there in the heart of the forest; and long after Edith had fallen asleep, to dream fitful dreams, Manning sat moodily looking into the gloom beyond the ring of the firelight, and catching the amber glow in more than one pair of restless, savage eyes. And so it went on, until there was barely enough food left for another day or so, and Manning was down to his last handful of cartridges. His clothes hung about him in rags, his face was grimy, and his chin black with a four days' growth of beard. And, in sooth, Edith Carson was in little better case. Manning had saved her as much as possible, but that filmy evening dress of hers was all in shreds, the diamonds—which she still wore in her dusky hair—looked grotesquely out of place. And so the fourth evening came, with Edith sleeping a few yards away, and Manning hunched up by the side of the fire, his empty pipe in his mouth and a look on his face that was not good to see. He was tired and worn out, and very near the breaking point with fatigue and anxiety. Presently he began to nod, and was drifting off subconsciously into the realm of dreams, when a voice struck on his ear.



Manning then slowly and patiently proceeded to saw through the steel hawser with a file.

It was a strange, hoarse voice, hardly human, a croaking, mocking sort of voice from somewhere overhead, so that Manning opened his eyes with a sudden feeling that he was either dreaming or that he was on the verge of madness. He took a pull at himself and wiped the cold moisture from his forehead.

"I am going dotty!" he murmured. "I mustn't do that—I mustn't do that!"

Then the voice came again, clearly enough this time, and Manning knew beyond question that he was listening to it, cold and trembling, but with all his senses about him.

"Have a drink! Have a drink!" the voice said from somewhere overhead. "Have a lemon and seltzer!"

Manning also laughed. A queer, hysterical feeling gripped his throat. Edith Carson sat up suddenly.

"Did you hear that?" she whispered. "Was it real?"

"It must be real if we both heard it," Manning said.

"I heard it last night," Edith went on. "Just the same words, only I thought I was dreaming, and didn't like to say anything about it."

The voice came no more, and daylight failed to afford any trace of a human footstep. And then, next day, towards evening, just as it was getting dark, the mysterious voice was heard once more in the dense mass of foliage overhead. At the repetition of the familiar suggestion Manning broke into a peal of unsteady laughter. He pointed upwards.

"Do you know what it is?" he asked. "It's a parrot—a parrot evidently escaped from somewhere close by, and beyond question belonging to some Englishman. Now, I wonder if that bird belongs to Addison? He's got any amount of birds there—in fact, birds are his particular hobby. He can do anything he likes with them. It's any money this parrot belongs to him."

"It must," Edith said. "But I don't see how this is going to help us."

Manning sat there furiously thinking. He moved presently a little further into the open, then beckoned Edith to his side. Silently he pointed upwards. And there, on a branch a few feet above their heads, was a great gray parrot, eyeing them with a sort of solemn friendliness, and a peculiar twinkle in that beady little black orb of his.

"Lemon and seltzer!" he said. "Come and have a lemon and selter! Help yourself, my boy!"

"If we could only get hold of him!" Edith whispered.

"Ah, if we only could!" Manning said, with a deep breath. "Look at him! There isn't a feather out of place. He's too sleek and well fed to have escaped of his own accord. He's one of Addison's pets, and is probably allowed to fly about the forest as he likes. If we can only get hold of him, we are saved."

"Are we?" Edith asked eagerly. "How?"

"Well, the rest would be easy. We could write a little note to Addison and tie it around the bird's claw, telling him exactly where we are, and the rest is easy. Addison knows every inch of this ground, and he could reach us without the slightest trouble. It's any odds that bird goes back home some time or another, once a day to be fed, certainly. Here, Polly! Pretty bird!"

As the familiar tongue struck upon the bird's ear, he burst into a laugh and hopped down two or three branches till he was almost within grasp.

"Addison's bird for a million!" Manning cried. "That's his laugh to a note. Come along, Polly!"

But the parrot refused to come any closer. It was only when Manning produced a small portion of his precious food that the gray bird showed further signs of friendliness. It was maddening to have him just one yard out of reach, when the absolute salvation of two human lives lay, so to speak, across those glossy gray wings. Manning and his companion stood there silent and motionless and hardly breathing in the tension of the moment. Then the parrot fluttered to the ground, croaking and snapping his beak at the tempting food. Manning dropped on his hands and knees and crawled cautiously forward, knowing that two lives depended upon the next moment. Then he took his coat from his back, and, reaching forward, dropped it quietly over the shining mass of gray feathers. There was a little struggle and a volley of oaths in the Spanish tongue and then the bird was safe in Manning's grasp.

"Take my pocket book out of my pocket," he said, with the sweat pouring down his face. "Just write a few lines to Addison, explaining where we are. It's our only chance."

The note was written shakily enough, and then wound round one of the bird's claws and carefully tied with some strands of silk taken from Edith Carson's dress. After that Manning pitched the parrot high into the air, and he sailed away high over the tree tops, screaming and chattering vehemently at the treatment to which he had been subjected.

"I hope to heaven he is going straight home," Manning said. "If so, we are saved, though I expect we shall have to wait till morning."

They sat around the fire now, talking freely enough, for their hearts were full of hope, and, moreover, before they settled down to sleep they had come to a perfect understanding.

The sun was climbing high before Manning opened his eyes and when he did so he saw the kindly eyes of his naturalist friend looking down upon him from behind his gold-rimmed spectacles. There were other men besides the famous naturalist gazing eagerly at the strange scene before them.

"You can tell me all about it presently, old man," Addison said. "Meanwhile, come along and bring the lady with you and get a bath and change of clothing. You have had a close call evidently. If it hadn't been for the parrot"——

"Lemon and seltzer! Lemon and seltzer!" croaked a voice overhead. "Help yourself!"

"Oh, I could do with one, Polly!" Manning laughed unsteadily. "You are a wise bird." (Copyright.)

Hawaiians Rapidly Becoming Extinct

THERE are probably not 10,000 pure-blooded Hawaiians living today, says Prof. Vaughan MacCaughey of the College of Hawaii, in the Journal of Heredity. In 1778 there were about 300,000, in 1823 there were only 142,000, in 1833, 130,000; in 1869, 44,000; in 1900, 30,000; in 1910, 26,000.

Prof. MacCaughey says a large number of those listed in recent censuses as pure-blooded Hawaiians are really halfbreeds.

This rapid disappearance of "one of the finest physical types known in the history of the human race" is due to the introduction by white men of alcohol, plague, measles, leprosy, tuberculosis, pneumonia and the most terrible of blood diseases, none of these having been known in Hawaii before the advent of the white man.

taste and comfort were everywhere manifest.

Yet, as the light lengthened the surroundings evidenced disorder. One chair lay overturned, a porcelain vase had fallen from off the table top to the floor and scattered into fragments. A few magazines had fallen also, and there were miscellaneous papers scattered about the carpet, one or two of them torn as though jerked open by an impatient hand. Still others lying near the table disclosed corners charred by fire, and as an eddy of wind whisked through the window and along the floor it tumbled brown ashes along with it, at the same time diluting the faint odor of smoke that clung to the room. Back of the table a small safe embedded in the wall stood with its door wide open, its inner drawer splintered as with a knife blade and hanging half out, and below it a riffle of papers, many of them apparently legal documents.

But the one object across which the golden beams of light fell as though in soft caress was the motionless figure of a man lying upon his back beside the table near the drapeless window. Across his face and shoulders were the charred remains of what undoubtedly had been curtains on that window. A three-socketed candlestick, filled partially with burned candles which doubtless had been knocked from the table was mute evidence of how the tiny flame had started upon its short march. As to the man's injuries, a blow from behind had evidently crushed his skull and, though the face was seared and burned, though the curtain's partial ashes covered more than a half of it, though the eyelashes above the sightless eyes were singed and the trim beard burned to black stubs, the face gave mute evidence of being that of Frederick Cavendish.

In this grim scene a tiny clock on the mantel began pealing the hour of eight. As though this were a signal for entrance, the door at the end of the bookcase opened noiselessly and a man, smooth-faced, his hair brushed low across his forehead, stepped quietly in. As his eyes surveyed the grewsome object by the table, they dilated with horror; then his whole body stiffened and he fled back into the hall, crashing the door behind him.

Ten minutes later he returned, not alone, however. This time his companion was John Cavendish but partially dressed, his features white and haggard.

With nervous hands he pushed open the door. At the sight of the body he trembled a moment, then, mastering himself, strode over and touched the dead face, the other meanwhile edging into the room.

"Dead, sir, really dead?" the late comer asked.

Cavendish nodded: "For several hours," he answered in an unnatural voice. "He must have been struck from behind. Robbery evidently was the object—cold-blooded robbery."

"The window is open, sir, and last night at 12:20 I locked it. Mr. Cavendish came in at 12 and locking the window was the last thing I did before he told me I could go."

"He left no word for a morning call?"

Valois shook his head. "I always bring his breakfast at 7," he explained.

"Did he say anything about suddenly leaving the city for a trip West? I heard such a rumor."

"No, sir. He was still up when I left and had taken some papers from his pocket. When last I saw him he was looking at them. He seemed irritated."

There was a moment's silence, during which the flush returned to Cavendish's cheeks, but his hands still trembled.

"You heard nothing during the night?" he demanded.

"Nothing, sir. I swear I knew nothing until I opened the door and saw the body a few moments ago."

"You'd better stick to your story, Valois," the other said sternly. "The police will be here shortly. I'm going to call them now."

He was calm, efficient, self-contained now as he got Central Station upon the wire and began talking.

"Hello, Lieutenant? Yes. This is John Canvedish of the Waldron Apartments speaking. My cousin, Frederick Cavendish, has been found dead in his room and safe rifled. Nothing has been disturbed. Yes, at the Waldron, Fifty-seventh street. Please hurry."

Half an hour later the police came—two bull-necked plain clothes men and a flannel-mouthed "cop."

With them came three reporters, one of them a woman. She was a young woman, plainly dressed and, though she could not be called beautiful, there was a certain patrician prettiness in her small, oval, womanly face with its gray, kind eyes, its aquiline nose, its firm lips and determined jaw, a certain charm in the manner in which her chestnut hair escaped occasionally from under her trim hat. Young, aggressive, keen of mind and tireless, Stella Donovan was one of the few good women reporters of the city and the only one the Star kept upon its pinched payroll. They did so because she could cover a man-size job and get a feminine touch into her story after she did it. And, though her customary assignments were "sob" stories, divorces, society events and the tracking down of succulent bits of general scandal, she nevertheless enjoyed being upon the scene of the murder even though she was not assignd to it. This casual duty was for Willis, the Star's "police" man, who had dragged her along with him for momentary company over her protest that she must get a "yarn" concerning juvenile prisoners for the Sunday edition.

"Now, we'll put 'em on the rack." Willis smiled as he left her side and joined the detectives.

A flood of questions from the officers, interspersed frequently with a number from Willis, and occasionally one from the youthful Chronicle man, came down upon Valois and John Cavendish, while Miss Donovan, silent and watchful, stood back, frequently letting her eyes admire the tasteful prints upon the walls and the rich hangings in the room of death.

Valois repeated his experience, which was corroborated in part by the testimony of John Cavendish's valet whom he had met and talked with in the hall. The valet also testified that his employer, John Cavendish, had come home not later than 12 o'clock and immediately retired. Then John Cavendish established the fact that 10 minutes before arriving home he had dropped Celeste La Rue at her apartment. There was no flaw in any of the stories to which the inquisitors could attach suspicion. One thing alone seemed to irritate Willis.

"Are you sure," he said to Cavendish, "that the dead man is your cousin? The face and chest are pretty badly burned, you know, and I thought perhaps"——

A laugh from the detectives silenced him while Cavendish ended any fleeting doubts with a contemptuous gaze.

"You can't fool a man on his own cousin, youngster," he said flatly. "The idea is absurd."

The crime unquestionably was an outside job; the window opening on the fire escape had been jimmied, the marks left being clearly visible. Apparently Frederick Cavendish had previously opened the safe door—since it presented no evidence of being tampered with—and was examining certain papers on the table, when the intruder had stolen up from behind and dealt him a heavy blow, probably, from the nature of the wound, using a piece of lead pipe. Perhaps in falling Cavendish's arm had caught in the curtains, pulling them from the supporting rod and dragging them across the table, thus sweeping the candlestick with its lighted tapers down to the floor with it. There the extinguished wicks had ignited the draperies, which had fallen across the stricken man's face and body. The clothes, torso and legs had been charred beyond recognition, but the face, by some peculiar whim of fate, had been partly preserved.

The marauder, aware that the flames would obliterate a portion, if not all, of the evidence against him, had rifled the safe in which, John testified, his cousin always kept considerable money. Scattering broadcast valueless papers, he had safely made his escape through the window, leaving his victim's face to the licking flames. Footprints below the window at the base of the fire escape indicated that the fugitive had returned that way. This was the sum of the evidence, circumstantial and true, that was advanced. Satisfied that nothing else was to be learned, the officers, detectives, Willis and Miss Donovan and the pale Chronicle youth withdrew, leaving the officer on guard.

The same day, young John, eager to be away from the scene, moved his belongings to the Fairmount Hotel, and, since no will was found in the dead man's papers, the entire estate came to him, as next of kin. A day or two later the body was interred in the family lot beside the father's grave, and the night of the funeral young Cavendish dined at an out-of-the-way roadhouse with a blonde with a hard metallic voice. Her name was Miss Celeste La Rue.

And the day following he discharged Francois Valois without apparent cause, in a sudden burst of temper. So, seemingly, the curtain fell on the last act of the play.

CHAPTER III.

MR. ENRIGHT DECLARES HIMSELF.

ONE month after the Cavendish murder and two days after he had dispatched a casual, courteous note to John Cavendish, requesting that he call, Mr. Patrick Enright, of Enright & Dougherty, sat in his private office on the top floor of the Collander Building in Cortlandt street, waiting for the youth's appearance. Since young Cavendish had consulted him before in minor matters, Mr. Enright had expected that he would call voluntarily soon after the murder, but in this he was disappointed. Realizing that Broadway was very dear to the young man, Enright had made allowances, until, weary of waiting, he decided to get into the game himself and to this end had dispatched the note, to which Cavendish had replied, both by telephone and note.

"He ought to be here now," murmured Mr. Enright sweetly, looking at his watch, and soon the expected visitor was ushered in. Arising to his feet the attorney extended a moist, pudgy hand.

"Quite prompt, John," he greeted. "Take the chair there—and pardon me a moment."

As the youth complied Enright opened the door, glanced into the outer room and gave orders not to be disturbed for the next half-hour. Then, drawing in his head, closed the door and turned the key.

"John," he resumed smoothly, "I have been somewhat surprised that you failed to consult me earlier regarding the will of your late Cousin Frederick."

"His—his will!" John leaned forward amazed, as he stared into the other's expressionless face. "Did—did he leave one?"

"Oh! that's it," the attorney chuckled. "You didn't know about it, did you? How odd. I thought I informed you of the fact over the phone the same night Frederick died."

"You told me he had called upon you to prepare a will—but there was none found in his papers."

"So I inferred from the newspaper accounts," Enright chuckled dryly, his eyes narrowing, "as well as the information that you had applied for letters of administration. In view of that, I thought a little chat advisable—yes, quite advisable, since on the night of his death I did draw up his will. Incidentally, I am the only one living aware that such a will was drawn up. You see my position?"

Young Cavendish didn't; this was all strange, confusing.

"The will," resumed Mr. Enright, "was drawn in proper form and duly witnessed."

"There can't be such a will. None was found. You phoned me shortly before midnight, and 20 minutes later Frederick was in his apartments. He had no time to deposit it elsewhere. There is no such will."

Enright smiled, not pleasantly by any means.

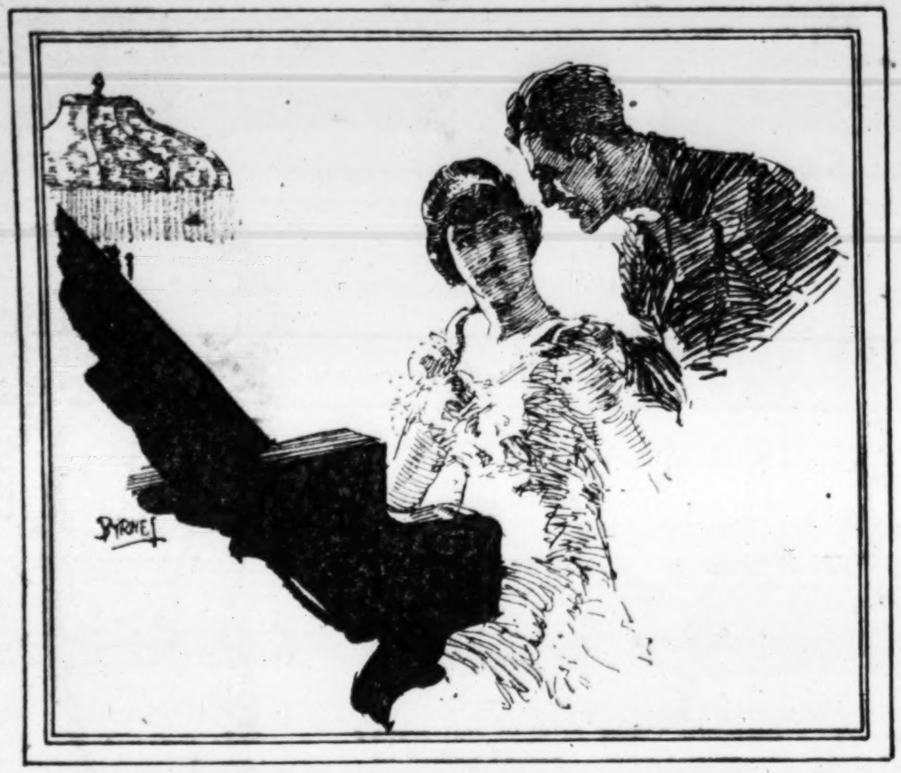
"Dead, sir, really dead?" the late comer asked.

THE PARROT'S CRY

By FRED M. WHITE



"Come along!" he said. "There is not a moment to be lost. Come without a word!"

AS MANNING fell headlong into the room, full of one single, determined purpose, he was conscious of the amazing contrast between the conditions inside and out. He was half aware of what he saw, like one who dreams uneasily and illogically. For there, all was peace and refinement, and the little odds and ends of luxury that go to make up the thing we call home.

To begin with, Edith Carson was sitting at the piano, playing some soft, elusive music to herself. There was just the suggestion of a smile on her face. The light from the subdued lamps reflected on the white blur of her dress and the diamonds in her dusky hair. Then she caught sight of Manning and her expression changed to a sort of haughty amazement.

"Mr. Manning," she said, "what does this mean?"

Mr. Manning strode across the room and laid a heavy hand upon the girl's shoulder.

"Come along!" he said. "There is not a moment to be lost. Come without a word!"

Edith Carson rose to her feet.

"Really!" she protested. "Really!"

"Oh, there's no time for anything of that sort," Manning said bitterly. "I am not welcome, I know, but that's not the point. I will explain as we go along."

"You will explain now," the girl said coldly.

"Very well, then," Manning said between his teeth. "Those blackguards have risen at last. There's not a man on the estate who is loyal to Adair. I told you what they were—I warned you not to come here, in the disturbed state of the country. This isn't Europe; it's a little pocket-handkerchief state in No Man's Land. You ought to have stayed in the town. And now, to put it mildly, your life is in danger."

Still the girl failed to comprehend. She elevated her eyebrows daintily and scornfully.

"I stay here till the Adairs come back," she said.

Manning lost no time in further argument. He slipped his arm round the girl's waist and fairly lifted her off her feet as he carried her on to the balcony. Then he switched off the electric lights.

"Look," he said, "and listen!"

It was all soft, velvety darkness outside, a tranquil summer night, fair as the stars powdering the sky overhead. But here and there lights glowed against the sky, and ever and again flashes of flame stabbed the darkness. And then there came in quick succession the sound of shots.

"There are over 500 of the devils there," Manning said hoarsely, "looting and burning—yes, and murdering! And they are coming here! Now you are beginning to understand?"

Edith Carson drew a deep breath. It was coming home to her now, right enough. But even then, in that moment of peril, she was conscious of the feeling of resentment in her heart against the man by her side. For he had warned her of this—warned her of the danger of coming so far from the town at a time of great unrest—and he had been right. He had always been right, in his simple, dogged way, even from the moment, two years ago, when he had asked her to marry him, and she had laughed him to scorn. And now here they were, side by side, face to face with a terror all the more alarming because neither of them knew in what form it had come.

"Where are the Adairs?" Edith asked.

"In Adigo by this time," Manning said. "I managed to warn them, as they came along in the car, and they turned back. They could do nothing by coming along, and I promised to look after you. Even then we had to fight for it. But the car is outside, and I am waiting. If you have the slightest regard for your safety, come with me at once."

Still the girl sat there hesitating.

"Where is Senor del Sartes?" she asked. "He would be able to stop all this, I am sure."

Manning smiled grimly under cover of the darkness. It was not for him to say just then that Del Sartes lay out there in the garden, with a bullet through that black heart of his, and that the hand that fired the shot was still half clasped about the waist of her who asked the question.

"I cannot tell you," Manning said simply, "except that he is dead. But I can tell you this—Miguel del Sartes was no friend of yours. Oh, I know what you think. You think I was jealous of him, and perhaps I was. And I know that he had fascinated you with those beautiful manners of his, to say nothing of his handsome face. If he had been here half an hour before me, we should never have met again!"

"Senor del Sartes was a gentleman," Edith said.

"He wasn't," Manning said, doggedly. "He was a black-hearted scoundrel. I couldn't tell you this before, because I was not sure, and I don't think you would have believed me, anyway. But this I can tell you—he had a wife up there in the mountains, in that lonely hacienda of his, a poor creature who had lost her reason because of his treatment of her. And now do you begin to understand? Now perhaps you will believe me when I tell you that this uprising was engineered by him—well, because he has a wife, and because he dared to raise his eyes to you."

No words came from Edith Carson's lips, though she tried to smile, but she knew very well, deep down in her heart, that this was a true thing. And she knew that Manning had come all this way, taking his life in his hands, for her sake. Another shot or two rang out, and somewhere in the garden the two standing on the balcony could hear the patter of stealthy feet. Manning waited for no more. He lifted the girl in his arms and staggered out into the night. He blundered down the path through the garden, and out into the road, where the car was waiting. He placed his burden inside and started the engine, after which he switched on the light. Then for a quarter of an hour or more the little car raced down the mountain road unmolested, save that every now and then a little flash of light from a rifle struck in the darkness. But they were through at length, and presently the car pulled up by the side of a deep ravine.

"We are fairly safe now," Manning said. "At least, we shall be till morning; and, after that, it largely depends upon your coolness and courage. We can't go back—any attempt to reach Adigo would be madness. The whole country will be in a state of chaos for days, and any English man or woman caught by those madmen would—well, you ought to know by this time."

They sat there, talking more or less fitfully, till the night began to fade, and then suddenly the sun shot up over the mountain peaks in a blaze of golden glory. It was wonderfully still and quiet there, with the snow-capped mountains behind them and the deep river cutting its way through the rocky gorge, lay at their feet. It was only a narrow gorge, not more than 60 or 70 feet at the outside, and the stream ran between, with a steep precipice on either side. On the further bank the virgin forest began, a glorious tangle of tree and undergrowth, stretching back for a mile or two till the plains were reached, and it was for these plains that Manning was making.

"Perhaps I had better tell you what I am trying to do," he said. "We can't go back, because that is impossible. We should never get through to Adigo. And if we cross the river, we may reach that little station where Addison and his assistants have established themselves. You have met Addison?"

Edith nodded. She had met the distinguished naturalist more than once at the Adairs' hacienda, and, indeed, she rather liked the somewhat eccentric individual who had come all those miles from home in the interest of science.

"We shall be all right there," Manning said, "if we can only reach the place. There are half a dozen good men with Addison, and I know they have got at least one machine gun there. But we haven't done with the danger yet. We have got to get through two miles of virgin forest, unless we go down the river's bank on the far side, and that might take at least a week. I have crossed that belt of forest only once before, and if I lose my way, we can just sit down and starve."

"Oh, I am ready, if you are," Edith said. "And I am very sorry, Tom. I have behaved very badly to you, and I want to tell you so. I suppose I was angry because you were right."

"Oh, we can go into all that presently," Manning said, almost roughly. "We have something else to think about now besides apologies. Those people are sure to follow us, even if it is only for the sake of getting hold of the car. What we have got to do now is to get across the river and cut off our retreat."

Across that rocky gorge, from one side to the other, with the river running 200 feet below, was a slender steel rope, a kind of endless band running over wheels at either end. Suspended by this was a sort of basket arrangement by means of which the natives of those parts crossed the ravine. Edith looked at it and shuddered. She was plucky enough, as a rule, but the idea of crossing in that basket filled her with dismay.

"Is that the only way?" she faltered.

"Absolutely," Manning said. "It's quite safe. Now, I am going to put you in the basket, and I shall stand over you, with my feet on either side. Now, then, screw your courage up. Think what would happen if any of those people were following us, and it's any money some of them are doing so. I think I had better blindfold you."

"No, no!" Edith cried. "That would be horrible. How brave you are, Tom!"

Manning grunted. He was in no smiling mood. He loved the girl by his side, but he could not altogether smother a certain resentment against her because she had quite willfully placed herself in this position. He lifted her without ceremony in his arms and dumped her down in the bottom of the basket. He stood with his feet on either side, swaying perilously, and then began to work the steel rope over the wheels. It was a long and arduous task with the double weight, and Manning's muscles felt as if they were on fire by the time he had reached the other side and placed the girl safely on the cliff.

"You must sit there," he said, "and wait till I come back. Oh, yes, I must go. You are all right here. You see, I have got my rifle and cartridges to fetch, and I managed to get hold of a certain amount of food last night, which is in the car. I planned all this out as I came along. I knew, if I got to the hacienda before Del Sartes, that we should have a good sporting chance. And, thank God, I was not too late!"

Manning came back presently with the basket loaded to the top, and then slowly and patiently proceeded to saw through the steel hawser with a file. It was tedious work, but presently the last strand snapped, and the wire rope disappeared in the bed of the river. With the snapping of the last strand something seemed to give way in Manning, too, for he wiped the heavy drops from his hot face, and for the first time since they started his features relaxed into a smile.

"I think we are all right now," he said. "The Character Sketches

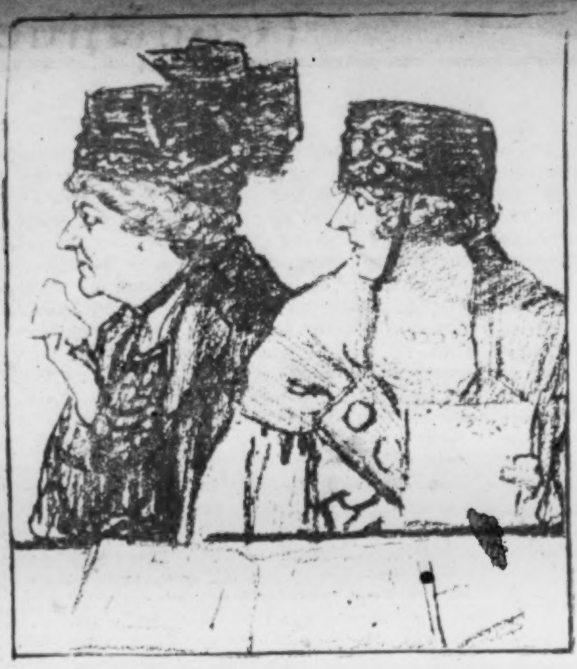
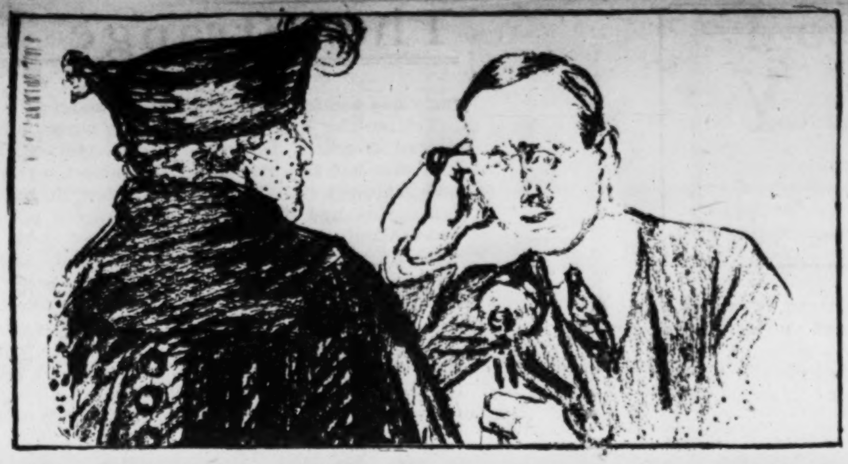
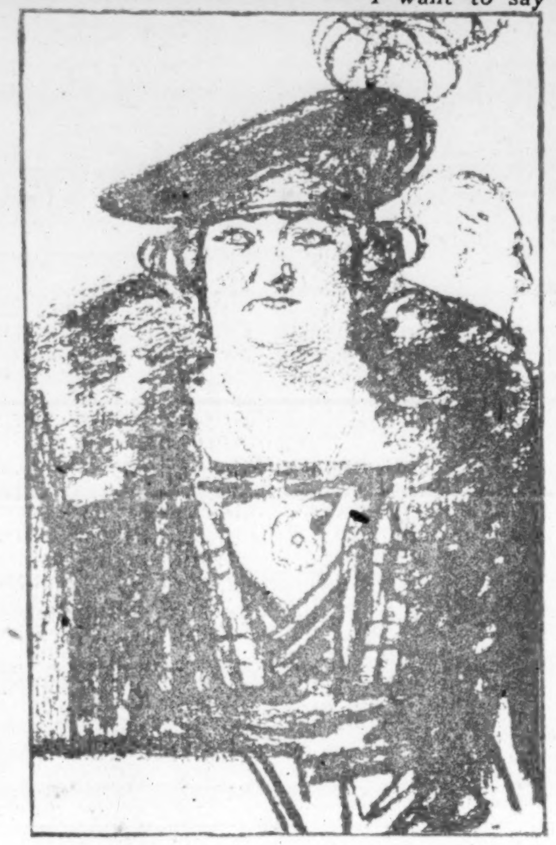
By W. E. HILL



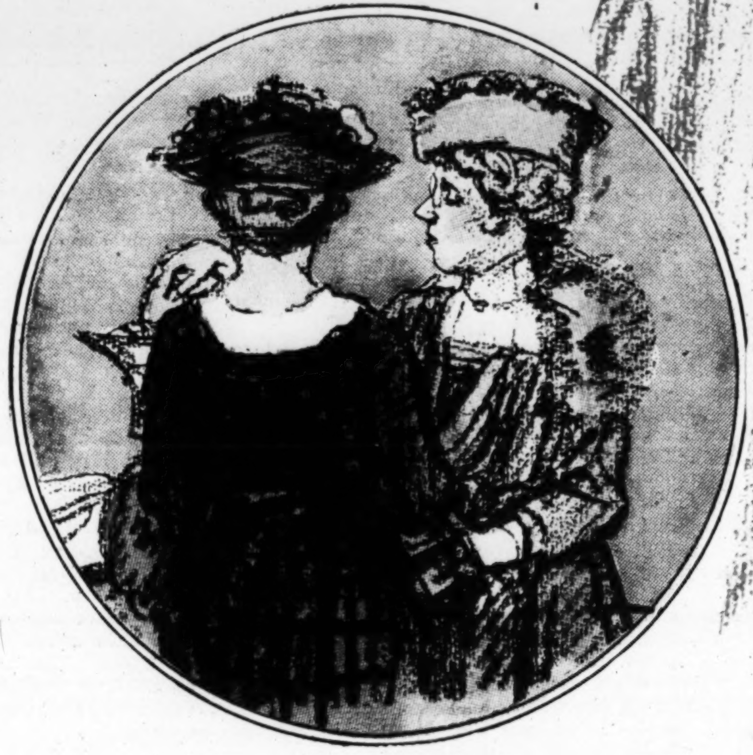
The mere sight of the wedding invitations at the stationery counter is too much for "Momma," who is afraid Angie doesn't care one little teeny bit about leaving her poor little "Momma" and going away with Fred. Angie, who has been shopping all day, and whose arches hurt her, is not sympathetic.



The irate lady customer and the wily salesman, who is making believe the errand boy at the other end of the 'phone is the head of the firm. With tears in his voice he is saying: "This lady was promised her bar pin would be ready today and now you say, etc. I want to say that some one is guilty of grossest negligence, etc."

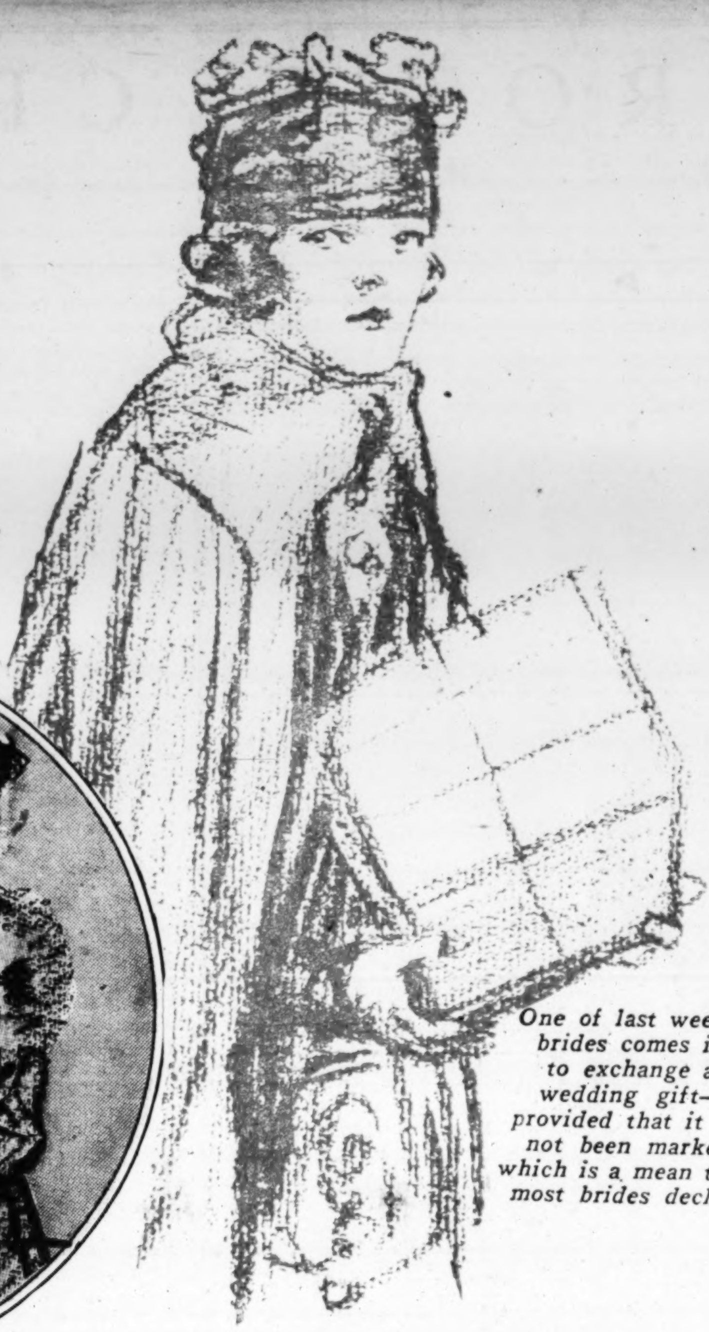


Mrs. Hubbel, whose husband has had a good week in the real estate line, is in search of a bar pin.

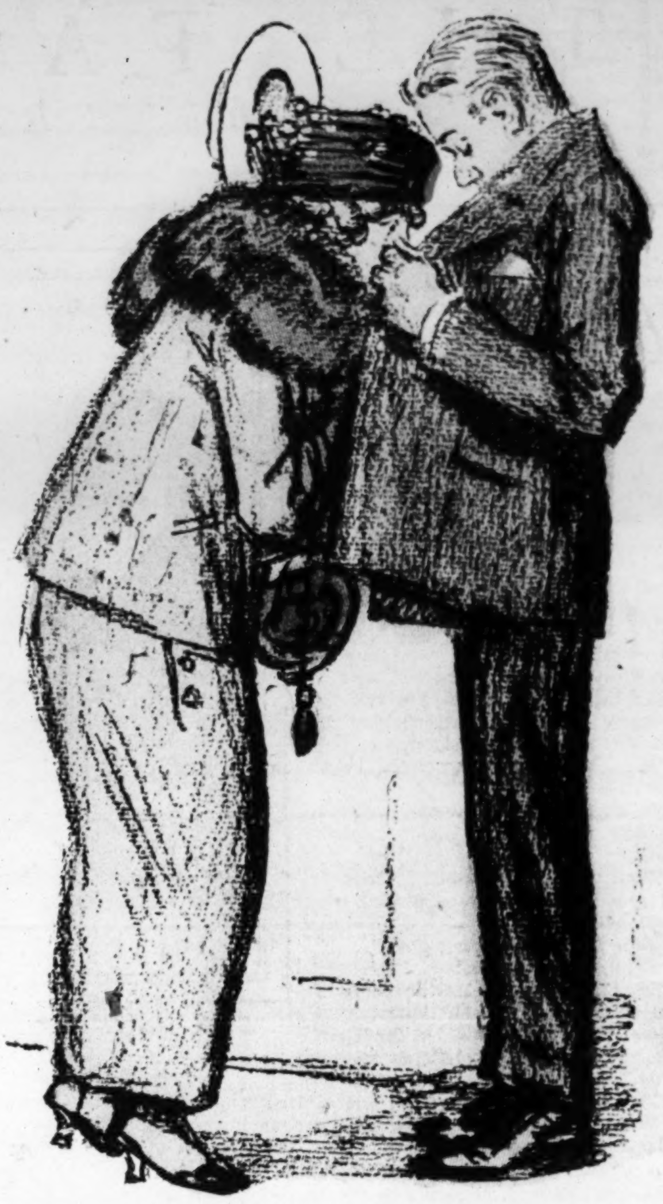


WEDDING PRESENTS

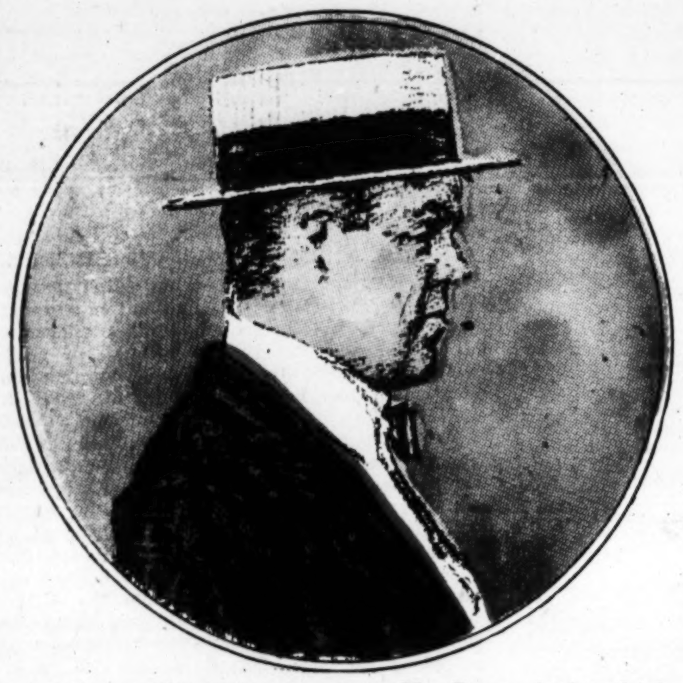
"The bread dish is nice enough, but this pansy holder looks more, and it's the same price."



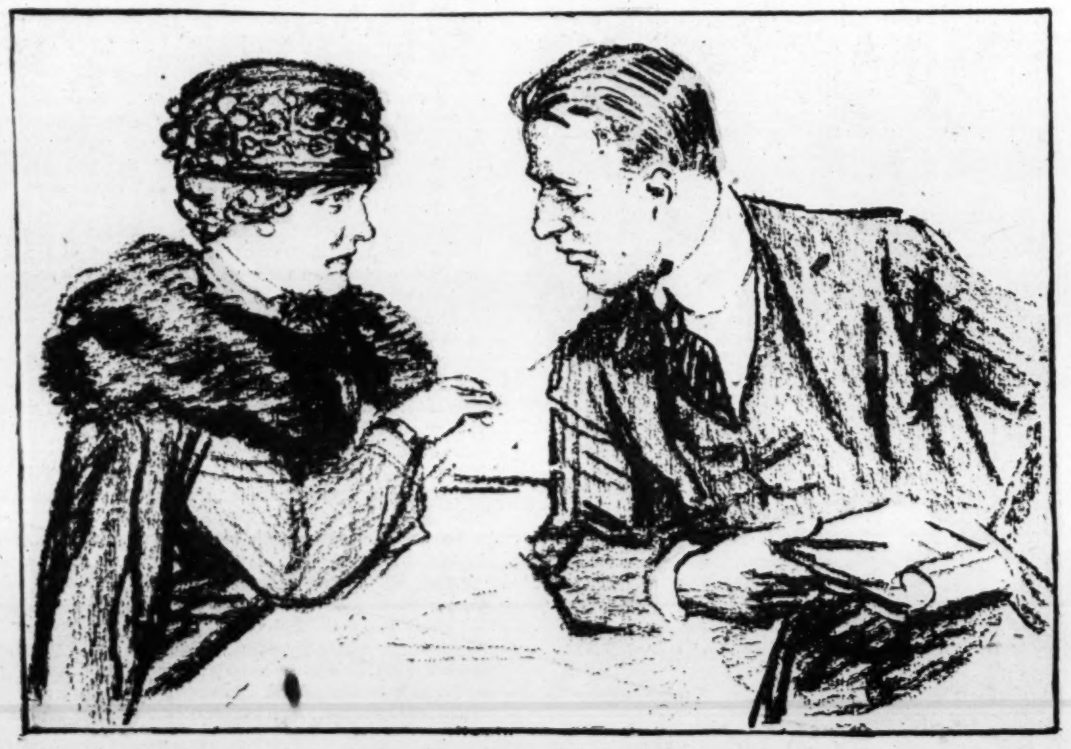
One of last week's brides comes in to exchange a wedding gift—provided that it has not been marked, which is a mean trick, most brides declare.



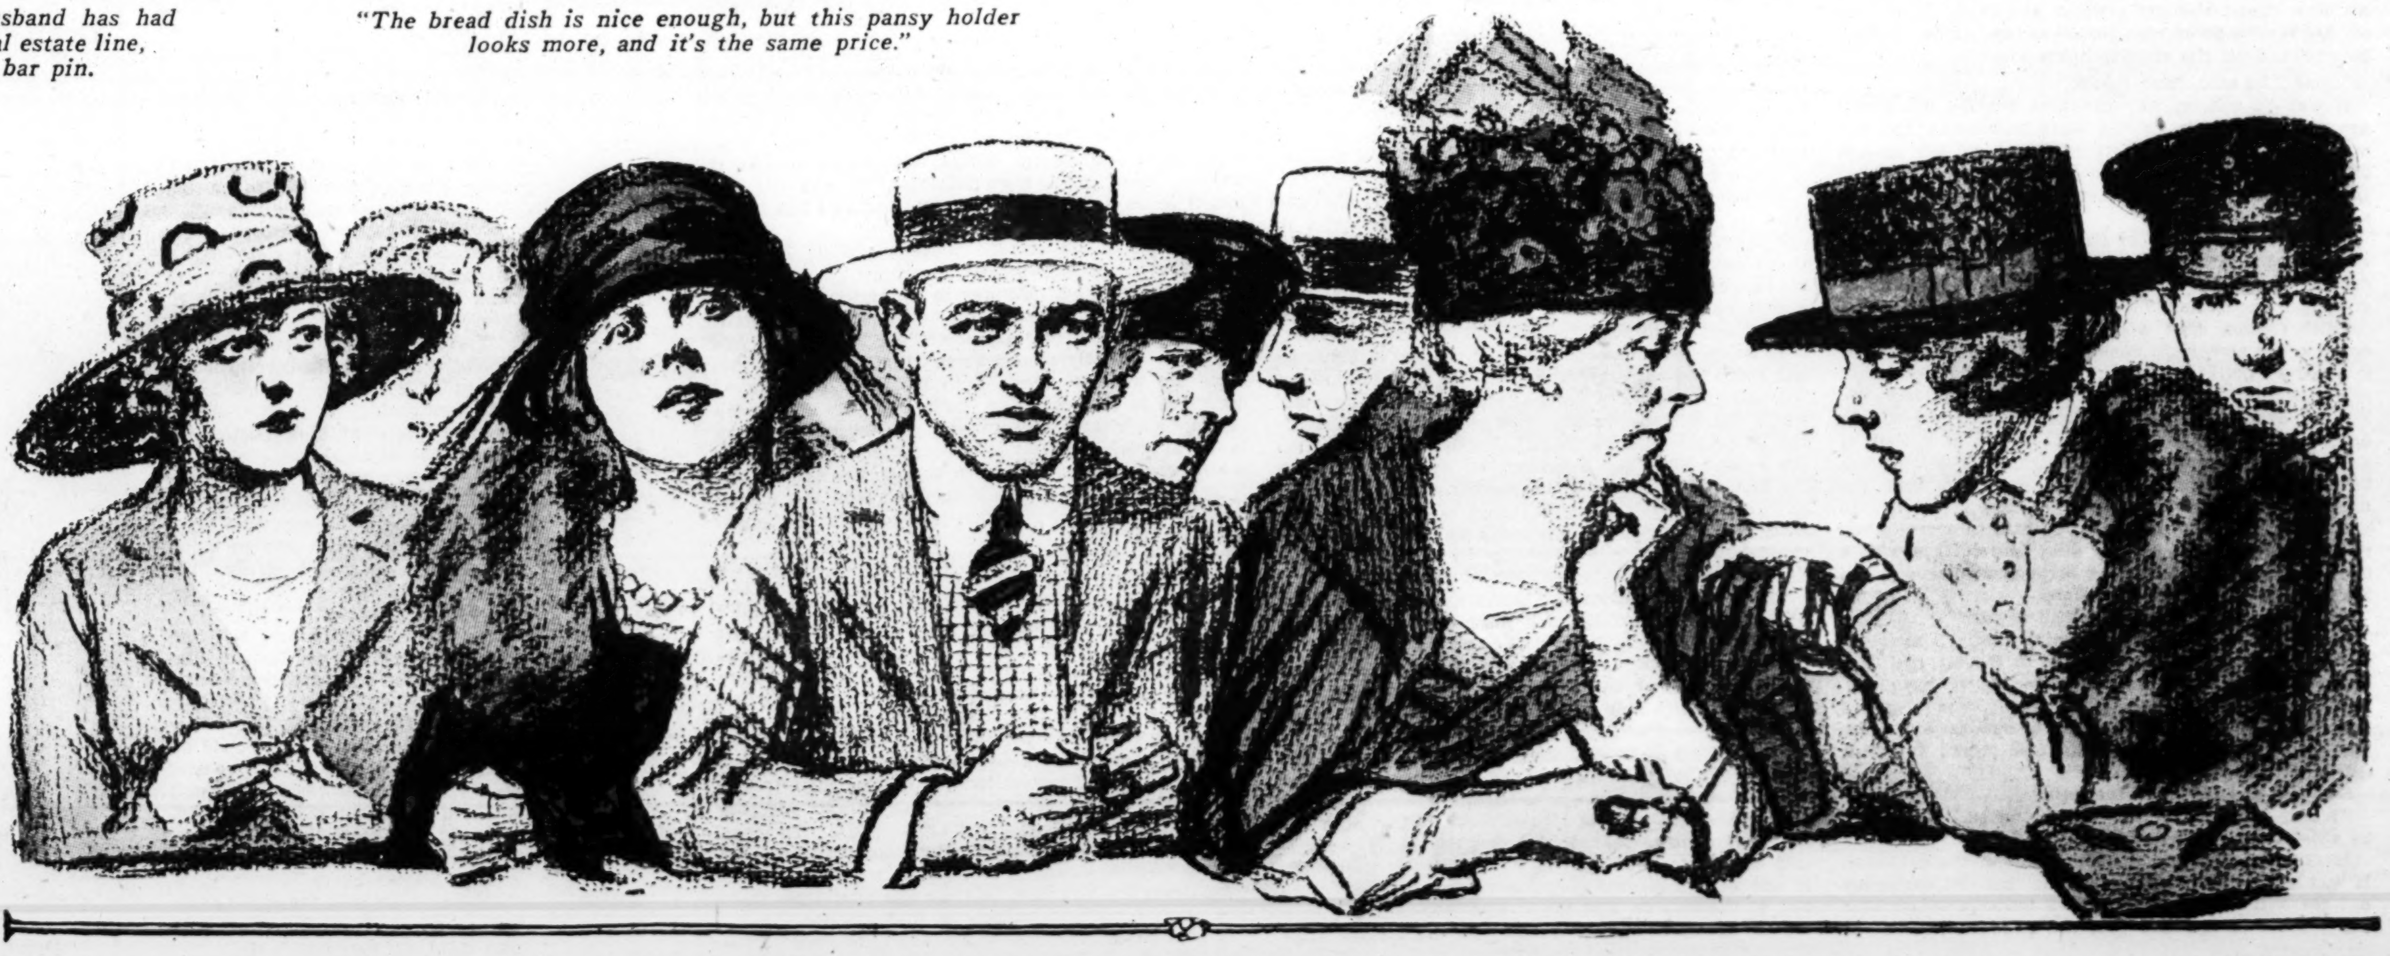
No dark closet being at hand, Dearie is helping Walton test the illuminated face on his new wrist watch.



At the wedding ring counter. Mr. Boggs insists he is "just lookin' at 'em for a friend—that's all."



"I can't understand what can be the matter with it. A friend of mine said it would keep perfect time if I dipped it in listerine now and then, but it hasn't helped it a bit."



At the repair counter, showing the people who have taken their wrist watches into the bathtub.

Pompeian
BEAUTY POWDER

"LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT"

Her beauty instantly captivates him, for there is only admiration for the woman who applies her cream, powder and rouge correctly. Beauty in an instant comes from the Pompeian method.

First, a touch of fragrant Pompeian DAY Cream (vanishing). It softens the skin and holds the powder. Work the cream well into the skin so the powder adheres evenly.

Then apply Pompeian BEAUTY Powder. It makes the skin beautifully fair and adds the charm of delicate fragrance.

Now a touch of BLOOM for youthful color. Do you know that a bit of color in the cheeks makes the eyes sparkle with a new beauty?

Lastly, dust over again with the powder in order to subdue the BLOOM. Presto! Such beauty and cool freshness in a few moments!

Note. Don't use too much BLOOM. A natural result is all important.

These three preparations may be used separately or together (as above) as the "Complete Pompeian Beauty Toilette." Pompeian DAY Cream (vanishing). Removes face shine. Pompeian BEAUTY Powder, a powder that stays on—flesh, white, brunette. Pompeian BLOOM, a rouge that won't break—light, dark, medium. At all druggists, 50c each. Guaranteed by the makers of Pompeian MASSAGE Cream, Pompeian NIGHT Cream, Pompeian HAIR Massage.

Guarantee: The name Pompeian on any package is your guarantee of quality and safety. Should you not be completely satisfied, the purchase price will be gladly refunded by the Pompeian Co., at Cleveland, Ohio.

To smooth your cuticle, work around each nail base with Cutex
For snowy nail tips, a touch of Cutex Nail White under each nail
For brilliant nails, finish with Cutex Nail Polish.
"I have found Cutex the most effective way of taking care of my nails."
Alice Brady

How to give yourself a "professional" manicure

A few minutes' care once or twice a week keeps your hands flawless

ALWAYS—day and night—are you proud of the appearance of your hands?

With the least bit of time, the least bit of trouble and expense, your hands can always be as well-groomed as though you had just come from the manicurist.

To make the cuticle smooth

The most important part of a manicure is the care of the cuticle. Never cut it. Beauty specialists agree that such cutting causes hangnails and rough, uneven cuticle.

Wrap a bit of cotton around the end of an orange stick (both come in the Cutex package). Dip it into the Cutex bottle and work the stick around the base of the nail, gently pushing back the dead cuticle. Wash the hands thoroughly in soap and water to remove the dead surplus skin.

To whiten nail tips and polish nails

Next, apply Cutex Nail White underneath the nails. This leaves the nail tips snowy white.

Finally, rub Cutex Cake Polish on the palm and pass the nails briskly over it.

Whenever you dry your hands, push back the cuticle with a towel. Then regularly once or twice a week give them a quick Cutex manicure. In this way, you can keep your nails always lovely.

Six "professional" manicures for only 20c

Mail the coupon below with 20c, and we will send you a complete Midget Manicure Set, which contains enough of each of the Cutex products to give you at least six wonderful manicures. Send for it today!

Pevely Babies

Baby's health and Pevely Milk are so closely allied—almost synonymous in fact—that it was with the pride of accomplishment that we surveyed the five hundred pictures of splendid healthy babies, each a tribute to Pevely Purity, which were entered in our Contest for "Babies Reared on Pevely Milk."

In selecting the winners, the first group of which were published two weeks ago, Honorable Mention was awarded each of these ten by the following Judges:

MR. H. E. MORTLAND,
Secretary St. Louis Pure Milk Commission.

MRS. EUGENE T. SENSENEY,
